MUSCLE SHOALS

For Proposal Versus Congressional Record

CHAPTER I.

Senator Brookhart said in the Senate recently:

"I believe that if those voters knew how the figures of this Ford proposition are juggled in the majority report made in favor of the bill, they would all vote the other way."

The Facts In The Case.

Statements recently made by some of those interested in the Ford offer have criticised this company for having submitted its offer; for the part it has played or failed to play in the development of the state; the making by this company of a contract with the government during the war and other matters.

But it is becoming well understood by the public that behind the attacks on this company is the selfish ambitions of property owners at Muscle Shoals who will be directly benefited by the proposed Ford developments. They have from the first waged an industrious campaign of abuse, threats and villification against this company and against individuals in public or private life who dared to criticise the Ford offer in public or to oppose it as being contrary to the public interest.

There are some who believe that the Ford offer is best for the public, but very few have examined it or know just what it means to the public.

The Gorgas Contract.

The war-time contract of this company with the government made in 1918 gave the government the right to enter upon the company's land and construct an addition to its Gorgas plant and build a transmission line on its right of way 90 miles long to Muscle Shoals to supply power to the nitrate plants. In this the government expended $4,700,000.00 and the Power Company agreed to purchase the government's property after the war at its fair value. In due course this value was fixed by two government boards in 1923 at $3,472,487.25, and was paid to the government in cash by this company in September last. This was 75 per cent of the war cost, a greater percentage than the government received from any war-time expenditure made by it so far as any records have been published. Statements made which question the fairness of that contract have heretofore been denounced by this company as false and untrue and made in reckless disregard of the facts, and that statement we now repeat.

Those interested in putting the Ford offer through Congress have for their own political and selfish motives attacked that contract, but that is merely a subterfuge to draw the public attention away from the real issue.

Those Who Are Informed Say—Secretary of War.

"I think the Alabama Power Company, which is under the Public Service Commission of Alabama, would be inclined to take a broad and generous view of any matter in which the government would be involved. Their record seems to indicate that. They turned over property at Muscle Shoals to the government at the beginning of the war, which has cost something like $500,000, and as far as I have been able to observe, I do not think they would be contentious about those matters."

Major General Williams, Chief Of Ordnance:

"The government found itself very greatly in need of power. The Alabama Power Company had already projected this extension and all plans had been drawn and they came to the assistance of the government at a critical time, putting at its disposal their facilities and the plans which they had already made." (All officials of the government who had anything to do with the contract or any negotiations with this company have never spoken otherwise.)

Rep. Hill, of Maryland:

"A few years ago the secretary of war, Mr. Baker, considered the Alabama Power Company 'generous and public spirited.' Today it is attacked as a greedy corporation by some of those who have advocated the Ford offer. I wonder how Ford will be regarded five years from now if you accept his offer with a possible profit of 8 per cent on fertilizer alone?"

(Mr. Hill then read the letter from the Power Company to the government donating the Muscle Shoals dam site to the government on which the Power company had expended about $500,000.)

"I never saw Mr. Martin before he came to our committee. I have never seen him except in relation to hearings on Muscle Shoals. I do not know whether he claims to be a philanthropist or not, but here are the thanks of Secretary of War Baker to his company."

Senator Heflin need not worry over any Republican doing him bodily harm. He is the best political aid the Republicans have outside their own ranks.

Why it is that people want to get married on the day the papers go out, we do not understand. Looks like they would make it a day earlier or else make it a few days later, so that the papers might be able to publish the event before it gets stale. So hereafter, if you want to marry, please do the papers a favor by setting the date some other day besides Thursday. We thank you.

Next Saturday, April 12th, is the last day in which candidates will be allowed to announce in the Republican party in Chilton county for county offices. We have at present six candidates for commissioner from the fourth district, three candidates for commissioner from the third district, six for county treasurer and three for member of the school board. If anyone else wants to put his name in the pot he had better do it before Saturday night.

Chairman Hull of the Democratic National Committee has announced the formation of an advisory subcommittee of Democratic women to formulate plans on social welfare legislation. The name of Roxie Stinson does not appear in the membership. Where is the much-touted Democratic chivalry and gratitude? Miss Roxie supplied the party with more campaign material than any other woman in recent political history. The fact that it was all bunk makes no difference. It measured up to the standard of most Democratic ammunition, and in the awful drought of issues in this Presidential year it was invaluable. Miss Roxie has earned and should demand a place high in the Democratic councils, and with a good, fat salary attached to it, too.

One by one, the officers apprehend the bootleggers and catch them in their well woven net of conception. Some of those who have been engaged in dodging around the corners and in defiance of the law of the land disposing of their drugs, very often deadly poisonous, are mighty well experienced in the traffic, but the day of all of them is coming sooner or later. The officers have studied their tricks and have watched their maneuvers until they are able to apprehend their movements and sack them, even though they are tricky and experienced. The bootleggers of this country are one of the worst enemies we have. The stuff which they peddle is as deadly as a rattle snake and makes beasts out of men. In our conception, our laws are entirely too lenient on law-breakers of this class. If there was no way for them to pay out except by hard labor, it would be more serious for them to be caught under this charge. By and by the law will be strengthened, and may God hasten the day.

The program for finishing up tick eradication in Chilton County, under the supervision of Dr. Don B. Strickler of Selma, will be arranged and put in motion within a few days. The cattle in the county which have ticks are going to have to be dipped in order that the ticks may be destroyed, so the best way out of it is for everybody to co-operate with the commissioners and inspectors of the various districts and do as best you can what you are directed to do. Dr. Strickler has worked in our county before as well as a number of other counties in the State, and he has always been found to be a man who does his best to give everyone justice. Of course, there are laws and regulaitons under which Dr. Strickler works, which laws he will respect and which he will expect everyone else to respect likewise, but at the same time, he will make the program operate with as little inconvenience as possible to everybody concerned. So, in order that as little expense as possible be created against the county and in order that we may get rid of ticks and of tick eradication, let everybody co-operate in the work and have as little confusion and as little trouble and expense as possible.

UNCLE TED'S BED-TIME STORIES

The President of the United States

It was a flare-back from a slightly too anxious spring. There had been a week of almost balmy Florida sunshine and soft breezes. Golf links were opened. Boat owners started getting out paint and sandpaper and several robins started off the early morning with their beautiful songs.

But—the world awakened suddenly to see a solid sheet of white and it continued coming down, all day long, covering everything in sight like a big, clean sheet. School was dismissed early so that all the kiddies could make their way home before dark, and for once the storm was so great that even jack and Ruth preferred to stay in the house, once they were there with dry clothes and a hot supper.

Now the three pals, Ruth, Jack and Uncle Ted were gathered before the big open fire, a fireplace that only the day before, mother had jack clean out and make ready to desert until next fall.

"Please tell us a story and let us stay down here tonight to listen," teased Jack. "It's cold up stairs and any way its much more fun here."

"All right," answered Uncle Ted, "I'll tell you a story down here tonight. I want to talk about the President of the United States, not necessarily President Coolidge, but any President. This is election year and we should give some consideration to government problems. Few of us really know just what the President's job is and how great his responsibilities. When we look in the Congressional Directory we find the first thing listed after the word 'Executive' is, "The White House, Pennsylvania Avenue, Fifteenth and Seventeenth Streets, Phone Main 6." That is the correct address of the home of the President of the United States—the man who has more power and more responsibility than any other person in the world. In fact whoever that man be he is the greatest ruler, if you can use the word ruler, on the face of the globe.

"Yet under our form of Government, with its Constitutions, this man must serve the people as any President or head of a big business might serve his board of directors and stockholders. He is the choice of the people through the ballot box. A new President comes into office and the old President goes out with no trouble of any kind. All abides by the results of the election. You see the old dynasties, most of which have crumbled long ago, were created by force and when our new system of government was launched the rest of the world was quite sure it would never succeed. The proof that it was sound has been shown through all these years when we have had thirty Presidents and not one has ever hesitated about stepping down and making way for the next man, elected by the people.

"The great contrast offered by the power of the President of the United States and the man himself is one of the most interesting things in the politics of the world. Today we find a man at the head of what almost become the Capital of the World, who only a short time ago, at the death of President Harding, took the oath in a little farm house in the Vermont hills, far from the rush of the world; the oath being given by his own father, a notary public, by lamp light. And when this happened, one of the President's sons was working on a farm at the large wage of $3.50 a day and he went on working. That is typical of our democracy.

"Let us look a moment at some of the duties our President must perform. Congress makes our laws but even before that it is necessary for the President under the Constitution to address Congress, telling the conditions of the Nation and advertising what laws be passed. Then after the bills are passed they can not become laws until the President signs them. If he does not like a bill he can refuse to sign his name. That is known as a vote. The bill then goes back to Congress to go through the same channel, starting either in the House or the Senate as it did before. By a two thirds majority the bill can be passed over the President's veto. If a President fails to take any actions on a bill, neither signing or refusing within 10 days time, it automatically becomes a law.

"How about the Cabinet?" asked Jack. "Don't they take a lot of work off the President's shoulders?"

"The Cabinet Jack is made of the heads of the Government departments, appointed by the President. They meet twice a week at the White House and talk over with him the needs of the Government. But they have little power of their own and the President need pay no attention whatever to their suggestions if he dosn't so desire. But on the other hand he is largely responsible for work piled upon the President is becomming greater and greater. He must meet and talk with thousands of visitors. He must make speeches throughout the land as well as those to Congress. He must listen to the advice of men in the legislative branch of the Government. He must see that thousands of letters addressed to him are answered. He autographs hundreds of photographs for people who want a signed picture of the President of the United States. Just think, about 3,000 letters and telegrams pour into the White House every day. There have been as many as 30,000 people pass through the White House Executive offices in one month to shake the President's hand. All of these things combine to make the President the greatest servant in the world. His time is not his own and the strain soon begins to tell. It has been felt that this hastened the death of the Late President Harding and since that time many suggestions have been made that an Assistant to the President be placed in the White House to assume some of these burdens.

"I thought we do have a Vice-President," said Jack.

"We do Jack. Rather, we generally do. Just now we don't because President Coolidge was Vice-President. The next man in line for the Presidency should anything happen to President Coolidge before the term is up,would be Secretary of State Hughes. But even so, a Vice-President is of little aid to the President. He must preside over the Senate and his duties are almost altogether with the legislative branch. Later on I will tell you more about the President's work. But for tonight we must stop. Good-night."

J. N. Dennis will order any kind of seed for you that you need.

MUSSOLINI MUTTERS

Premier Mussolini is said to have notified the king and queen of Roumania that their proposed visit to Rome must be postponed until the Roumanian government gives some satisfaction to private Italian creditors to whom it owes some $16,000,000. It is understood the essence of the Mussolini note was, "If you do not wish to pay your debts you can keep your royal family at home."

This is an interesting precedent. Suppose the king and queen of Italy wished to visit the United States, would Mr. Mussolini relish a curt order from our Government that they remain at home until American taxpayers had been given some assurance of repayment of the Italian debt to them of about $2,000,000,000? That obligation has been owed for more than five years, during which time hardly a dollar of interest has been paid. Our own debt refunding commission has made repeated request of the Italian government that arrangements be made for refunding the obligation and providing for its eventual repayment, but the only reply has come from leading Italian statesmen to the effect that Italy never would repay the huge loan advanced to her at great sacrifice by our own people.

THE FOUR PER CENTS

The recent offer of four per cent Treasury Certificates of indebtedness attracted subscriptions of over $662,000,000. The allotments were $400,000,000. Despite the fact that never since the war have government securities been floated at a lower rate than four per cent, the national credit is in such excellent condition that there is keen competition among the buyers. Yet the man who is responsible more than any other individual for this improvement, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, is being hounded by the Senate coalition of Democrats and Radicals. Under a more legal technicality they hope to drive him from office, and deny the country his exceptional ability.

VANDERLIP IN RIGHT

Mr. Vanderlip insists that, for the time being, he is under the direction of Senator Wheeler. "Wheeler and I are working in close co-operation." Judging from the war annals of the Montana Defense Committee, there was some pretty close co-operation between Wheeler and a lot of I. W. W.'s. Mr. Vanderlip can derive what satisfaction he pleases from his associations.

MAN HAS MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

"I was told by our family physician that I could not live without an operation, as my liver and gall sack were in such a condition. I set the day to go t othe hospital, but then I saw the advertisement of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. Since taking it I am feeling like a two-year-old. I am sure I never could have survived an operation." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicits. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Alred Drug Co., Clanton, Ala., and all good druggists everywhere.

Would You Destroy These?

Mining, Manufacturing and Agriculture are the basic industries of the nation. The progress and prosperity, yea the very existence of each and all of these, hinge on adequate transportation—of which the railroads furnish the greater part.

Those who thru ignorance and prejudice or from other motives, seek to further hamper the railroads by radical and destructive legislation, would at the same time undermine the very foundation of our basic industries. Destroy our railroad systems and you destroy Mining, Manufacturing, Agriculture. Impair the efficiency of the railroad systems and you retard the development and progress of these and all other sources of the country's economic well-being.

Study the facts and you will find that it is to your interest to give the railroads fair play.

Ford

$295 F.O.B. DETROIT

An Exceptional Value!

It requires no technical knowledge of automobiles to appreciate the outstanding value of the Ford Touring Car.

Not only is it the lowest priced five-passenger car on the market, but it is also a car that costs little to operate, little to keep in condition and has an unusually high resale value after years of service.

All Ford Cars are sold on convenient deferred terms, or may be purchased under the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

5 Passenger Sedan

f.o.b. Toledo

Now you can afford to make that dream a reality! To own and drive this luxurious sedan, powered by the same type of engine used in Europe's finest cars. Silently gliding sleeve valves instead of hammering cams and clicking poppet valves. An engine that improves with use! An all-season car you'll want to drive season after season. For no Willys-Knight engine has ever been known to wear out.

Never neglect a cough

PUT an end to it at once with Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. Loosens hard-packed phlegm, soothes inflamed tissues, restores normal breathing. Made of the same medicines your own doctor prescribes, combined with the good old standby — pine-tar honey. You'll like its taste, too. Keep Dr. Bell's on hand for all the family.

All druggists. Be sure to get the genuine.

PRETTY GOOD FOR ONLY A 2-YEAR OLD?

STURDY, lithe and well proportioned—little 2-year old Mary June Beard of Los Angeles, California, is daily adding many to her scores of admirers. Though not a drop of blood flowing through her veins comes from acrobatic ancestry, her unusual and difficult pose here shows her to possess all the "earmarks" of an embryo trapeze artist.

"Milk did the trick," said her proud father, W. M. Beard, a Los Angeles policeman. And as he spoke, he picked up the athletic little Mary June, took hold of her muscular ankles and swung her around. When she had completed three-quarters of a circle, at a point just above her daddy's head, she held her muscles taut and straightened out, balancing perfectly on her father's hands. Those who saw the performance, marveled at the tot's unusual strength.

BEN ROBERTS ARRESTED ON STREETS LAST SUNDAY

Quite a flurry resulted Sunday afternoon when G. D. Retherford, Chief of Police of Clanton, attempted to arrest Ben Roberts for public drunkness. Roberts was just drunk enough to want to fight and raise sand, so when Mr. Retherford went to arrest him, he drew a big 10-inch barlow and defied anyone to bother him. After worrying with Roberts a while Mr. Retherford called to his assistance Deputy Culp and these two, with the help of Alfonza Robinson, succeeded after quite a scuffle in handcuffing Roberts. Even after the man had been handcuffed, the officers had a rather hard time in getting him to jail, the officers as well as the arrested man getting several bruises and scratches in the scuffle. After Roberts was gotten to the jail the officers had to summon extra help to get him inside, so Mr. Kin Vinson assisted them in getting Roberts locked up. After Roberts was put in jail, he walked up to one of the glass windows and taking his fist knocked the window out, sustaining some ugly cuts on his hand and arm. Dr. Gragg was called to the scene to dress Roberts' wounds.

Roberts will be tried in mayor's court next Saturday under the double charge of public drunkness and resisting officers.

ABOUT MR. WALKER

Maplesville, Ala., April 7, 1924.

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me space in your paper to say a few words about Mr. C. T. Walker, who is out for county commissioner from the Third District?

Mr. Walker has made the best commissioner we have had in a number of years. I have known him for some time and he is a good reliable man and does all he can for the best interest of the county. When he went into office the county did not have anything to do anything with, but he and the other commissioners have got the county on its feet again.

I ask the voters to put him in office again as I think he deserves it for another term. He has done work in different places in the Third District that no other commissioner has ever done. He has given the people a fair deal.

Some do not like the new road law, but I will ask, can we work the roads in 1924 like we did in 1874, and keep them in good shape? The commissioners had to change. There is so much more traveling now than there was in 1874, and the old pick and shovel can't do much work. Let us all fall in line and build some roads. We have got a good plan if everyone will put his shoulder to the wheel.

Some people would talk and criticise if the Lord were building the roads. We people in the Third District know what Mr. Walker will do and we don't know what the other's will do. We had rather have him than anyone who has announced yet.

So don't forget the primary on May 13th.

Yours truly,
C. J. MITCHELL.

LETTER FROM MR. J. BICE

Thorsby, Ala., April 4, 1924.

Editor Union-Banner:

Some cowardly political enemy of mine is telling that when I went to your office to make my announcement as a candidate for County Treasurer, you asked me which party I wanted to make my announcement in. I want the people to know that this is absolutely false. You treated me courteously and I am asking you to also state that no such question was asked me.

Besides this, I am being criticized by some because of the fact that my announcement appeared in the Chilton County News, a Democratic paper. Any person with reasonable judgment knows that a Democrat is not going into a Republican primary. My reason for doing this was simply that I wanted my announcement to reach all over the county, and being financially unable to go over the county to see all the pepole and knowing there are many Republicans who subscribe t othe Chilton County News simply to get all the news of both papers, I bought the service of this paper. It was a paid political advertisement as every one would know. Don't those who are critizing this act of mine trade with Democrats—buy goods from Democrats? Aren't there just as good Democrats as Republicans, and vice versa? There are good Christian people in both political parties. All the difference there is, is a difference of political opinion on how the government should be run. We are all brethren using our best judgment as to how we can serve our country and its people best.

Yours truly,
J. BICE.

Note.—The above statement of Mr. Bice as regards this paper is correct. —EDITOR.

Wheat is the Fuel of Life

You can get the most food value out of wheat by eating bakings that are made from good plain flour. A dependable baking powder must be employed or you do not get the full nutritious value of the wheat—nor will your bakings be as palatable and easily digested.

The same results cannot be had if you use Self Rising Flours, which are improperly packed in porous sacks or bags, thus allowing absorption of moisture from the air. Food authorities and physicians agree that bakings that do not raise properly are bad for health. Such foods are hard to digest and in time cause stomach trouble.

Mothers who are interested in the proper growth and health of their children (and all mothers are) should never use anything but a good brand of plain flour and a time-tested leavener such as Calumet—the economy Baking Powder.

Calumet has more than the ordinary leavening strength. It raises every baking to its height of nutritious value. It is pure and dependable—do not look for a substitute—there is none.

Use Calumet and be positive of wholesome nutritious and economical foods.

COOLIDGE LEADING JOHNSON 2 TO 1 IN MICHIGAN VOTE

Detroit, April 7.—One thousand, one hundred and sixty-seven precincts out of 2,890 in the State give President Coolidge, Republican, 83,-007; Johnson, Republican, 37,962; Simpson, Republican, 3,259.

One thousand, one hundred and twenty-three precincts give for Democratic preference: Ford, 12,843; and Ferris, 10,405.

With one-third of the State represented in scattering returns tabulated at 9:30 o'clock tonight, Calvin Coolidge had more than two-to-one lead over Hiram Johnson in today's state-wide presidential primary election.

The tabulation did not include returns from Wayne county (Detroit) which gave Johnson a majority over a field of six candidates in the 1920 primary, which he won.

The vote with 651 of the state's 2,890 precincts reported, showed: Coolidge, 45,709; Johnson, 20,456; Wm. G. Simpson, Detroit civil engineer, received 1,904 votes.

NEW CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING ORGANIZATION

In Montgomery, on the first and second days of this month, there was formed a state-wide organization of poultry producers, for the purpose of marketing their products. Delegates from every county in the state were invited to attend the meeting. O. H. Mastin, delegate from Chilton County reported every county in the state represented except three, and states that everyone present was enthusiastically in favor of the new organization.

The new association will be known as the "Alabama Farm Bureau Poultry Producers Co-operative Association," as it is sponsored by the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation and will be conducted on the same plan as is used by the very successful poultry producers marketing organization in California, Oregon and Virginia.

The membership campaign will begin in the near future in every county in the state. The campaign in this county will be in charge of O. H. Mastin and everyone who is interested should see him.

Actual marketing of eggs will not begin until the eggs from at least 100,000 hens are pledged to the association. It is hoped to have two or three times that many signed up by early fall. Marketing of eggs will probably begin about September 1st.

Every farmer in the state should line up in this association for it will enable him to get more for the eggs produced by the hens he now has and will also give him an incentive to increase his flock of hens because of the fact that he will be sure of a profitable market for his eggs every week of the year. During the period of greatest production many eggs will be put in storage and held for better prices. During the past winter, storage eggs sold for from forty to forty-five cents per dozen in Montgomery and Birmingham. The producers probably received fifteen to twenty cents per dozen for these eggs. Under the new plan the producer will receive the profit secured from holding the eggs until prices are higher.

The above is but a very brief statement in regard to the new poultry producers organization. More information may be secured from articles in this paper that will appear in future issues.

SOCIETY and Club

Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Editor

Handkerchief Shower.

Quite an interesting meeting of the Civic Club was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hodges. The business meeting was called early because of the invitation to the handkerchief shower extended to the ladies, which was given in honor of Mrs. J. J. Pickens, a much loved co-worker of the Club who is now in Denver. This affair was thoughtfully planned by the president, Mrs. McDavid and lovingly responded to by the club members, to show this little token of love to their esteemed fellow member, who not only retains her membership in the club but is still loyal to its principles. The many dainty and lovely 'kerchiefs given showed how lovingly Mrs. Pickens is held in the hearts of those who made up her club and how deeply they appreciate the fine spirit of service always manifested by her. Delightful refreshments were served.

Study Club Entertained.

An enjoyable meeting of the Study Club was held at the home of Mrs. J. P. Hayes on last Friday afternoon. A business session was held during which the election of officers took place. The officers were all re-elected except Mrs. VanDerveer who resigned her office as treasurer and was filled by Mrs. Guy Roberts. Others are: president, Mrs. N. S. Johnson; vice-president, Mrs. Grady D. Broadhead; and secretary, Mrs. Victor J. Heard.

The apartments were fragrant with bowls of vari-colored hyacinths and jonquils. Late in the afternoon the hostess served a tempting salad plate with hot tea. There were 18 members present. Mrs. Watts Moore and Mrs. W. K. Mullins were visitors to the club.

Spend-the-Day Party for Visitor.

Mrs. Luckie's home was thrown open on last Wednesday to a spend-the-day party, given in honor of her house guest, Mrs. S. E. Alverson. A delightful profusion of spring blossoms were used throughout the apartments and Easter decorations were emphasized in the dining room. A basket of Easter eggs tied with white tulle, guarded on either side by a rabbit formed the central table decoration. The same idea used for place cards and places were marked for the honoree, Mesdames Macy F. Jones, Willie Jones, Watts Moore, T. C. McSwain, Bama Cox, John Armstrong, Mallie White, Marion Gore, Barney Roberts and George Polk.

Flower Vandalism.

Do not be a participant in the flower vandalism so prevalent during this beautiful season. Just now, while the woods are a scene of ravishing beauty and the many pretty wild blossoms are nolding their perfumed loveliness to every passer-by, do not be a "hoggly woggly," as Spang cartoons it, and destroy those precious thoughts of God's handiwork for the few fleeting hours of pleasure they will give you. Let every person be a valient committee with this motto: "Leave the flowers for others to enjoy." If you must pluck them, go at least six yards from the roadside to do so.—Civic Conservation Committee.

Messrs. Rogers and Stewart, accompanied by their wives, from Spigener's were in Clanton Tuesday prospecting for a cotton mill here and were guests of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon at the Exchange hotel, with Mesdames. Will Undo Much Evil
By Dr. V. M. Pierce

Knowing the vast amount of harm wrought by diseases of the kidneys, and having had opportunity to observe the analyses and the successful methods of treatment in thousands of cases of kidney trouble at the Invalids' Hotel, I have recently given to the public the latest and perhaps most important of the Dr. Pierce home remedies, "An-uric" (anti-uric-acid) Tablets, which I now recommend to those who suffer with kidney backache, irregularity of urination and the pains and disturbances that come from excess of uric acid in the blood.

"An-uric" can be had now at all the drug stores. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning and a little "An-uric" before every meal should bring remarkably quick improvement. You may have kidney trouble and not know it. The danger signals to be watched for and quickly heeded are backache, depression, aches, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

Big Cotton Mill Now In Sight For Clanton

Enthusiastic Meeting Held at Court House Tuesday night—Many Offer Sites for Industry.

The Clanton Chamber of Commerce called a meeting at the court house in Clanton Tuesday night of this week for the purpose of discusing the plans of getting the proposed cotton mill located in Clanton. Everybody interested in the proposition was invited to attend this meeting and in response about a hundred citizens of and near Clanton were present.

The correspondence which has been carried on between Messrs. Steward and Rogers of Spigner and the Chamber of Commerce was read by the secretary, Mr. V. J. Heard, and Mayor Gragg, W. W. Fox and others explained the need of a cotton mill and the plans of going after it. The entire meeting was very enthusiastic, and from all indications, the chances for locating the proposed mill here are good. The citizens of Clanton and surrounding territory realize the advantages we would derive from its location here, and everyone seems to be willing to do anything reasonable to get the promoters interested in locating in our town.

There were some fifteen or twenty landowners present who offered to furnish sites for the mill. The Chamber of Commerce took options on these tracts, which are located near Clanton and on either side of the railroad both north and south of the city. The Chamber took descriptions of the various sites and when the promoters come here they will be carried out and shown over the prospects. Whichever site they select, which must contain at least forty acres, will be bought by the citizens of and near Clanton and donated to the mill.

The prospects for the mill look mighty good for Clanton, and the enthusiasm among the citizens here is such that everything within reason will be done to have the mill come here. Some other town is splitting its shirt for the location of this mill, but there is no other place in Alabama that offers the advantages which Clanton furnishes. Healthy climate, good water, good labor and abundant electric power are what cotton mills want, and Clanton has all these galore. We can't afford to let this opportunity pass. Everybody talk cotton mill until we are assured of it.

DISGUSTED WITH CAN'T

A newspaper headline says that "The Public is disgusted with investigations." The statement is undoubtedly true, with proper limitations. The public is not disgusted with investigations are necessary to bring out pertinent facts, but they have become disgusted with that kind of investigation which goes far afield from the real subject and for no other apparent purpose than fartisan advantage, calls for testimony of a hearsay nature from witnesses whose past reckord throughly disqualify them and whose testimony, even if true, has no bearing on the real questions at issue.

Mr. McAdoo is quoted as saying that the Presidency has no charm for him. Strange, then, that he should be willing to pay so high a price for it.

LOOKING FOR LOCATION FOR A COTTON MILL

Messrs. Steward and Rogers of Spigener were in Clanton one day last week looking over the situation around Clanton with the view of locating a cotton mill here. Mr. Steward is manager of the State's cotton mills at Spigener and Kilby and Mr. Rogers is a wealthy merchant at Spigener. These two gentlemen are backed by textile interests in the north-east, and they are going to locate a cotton mill somewhere on the L. & N. railroad between Birmingham and Montgomery.

The Clanton Chamber of Commerce entertained the men while they, together with their wives, were in Clanton, they being shown several attractive sites a few miles north of town. These two gentlemen seemed to be very favorably impressed with prospects around Clanton and accepted the invitation to come back up here and look over some more prospective sites this week.

The men want a forty-acre tract of land, which the Chamber of Commerce guaranteed would be donated to them. They propose to build a $300,000 mill with 5,000 spindles, and it is a settled fact that wherever they locate their cotton mill a shirt factory will follow. Every inducement possible is offered these gentlemen by the Chamber of Commerce and Clanton in general, and it is hoped that they can see their way clear to locate here.

WALNUT CREEK SINGING

The Walnut Creek soiging society met in regular session Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the spaceous church filled to its capacity. Chairman R. E. Powell called the house to order and sung one song, after which Bro. L. N. Henderson led in prayer. Then the following directors led two songs each: S. M. Yates, J. R. Robinson; quartet by O. L. Devaughn, L. T. Grant, W. M. Devaughn and Ralph Grant; L. F. Cleckler, W. M. Devaughn, O. L. Devaughn, L. T. Grant, J. Z. Mims; quartet by Clydie Mims, Willie Mims, Virgie Mims and Marion Thompson; Ralph Grant, J. A. W. Mims; quartet entitled "Will you Be There?" by the Cooper Quartet. Organists for the afternoon were: Lee Grant, Everee Maddox, Ralph Grant, Mrs. Jesse Baker.

Several other directors were present but on account of lack of time were not used on the program. We invite you to come again and will place you on the program. Everyone present seemed to enjoy the singing to the utmost especially the splendid selections rendered by the two quartets. We were especially glad to have the Cooper Quartet with us and give them a cordial invitation to come again. Also the singing visitors the names of whom we do not know.

We had several short but interesting talks during the afternoon by L. N. Henderson, John Baker, Jr., and O. R. Robinson. Space is inadequate for one to tell all the good things said and done in the society. We invite you every one to come again.

THE PLACE FOR THE SICK; CENTRAL ALA. HOSPITAL, CLANTON

By Rev. P. G. Carter, Former Pastor of The Clanton Baptist Church.

A little more than two years ago it was my privilege to help promote the Central Alabama Hospital, and to inscribe my name as a charter member. The two years record of the unparalleled success of this splendid institution has more than justified its existence, and demonstrated the fact that this is one of the best places in the State for the care of the sick. Frequently the hospital is the place where people go expecting to recover their health, but through incompetency, mismanagement, or neglect they go there to die. Not so with Central Alabama Hospital. It is one of such institutions in the State rapidly becoming recognized where its patrons go to get well. Indeed it is possible that some through lack of confidence, prejudice or ill advice went to the larger hospitals of the State only to meet their death might have been living today as the result of the individual careful attention and treatment that is administered by the efficent local hospital. Walking living monuments are in Clanton today whose lives have been saved through the local hospital if for no other reason than when seriously sick they were able to avoid the terrible strain and danger of a long railroad journey, and the vibration of the ambulances in transit to some city hosptial. Can anything be more convincing to the unbiased or unprejudiced mind than the following statistics for the past two years up to April 12th, 1924—Number of cases treated:

Eye, ear, nose and throat	42
Obstetrics	16
Pelvic surgery	24
Appendicitis	57
General surgery	119
Medical cases	101
Children born	17
Total	376

Notwithstanding all these cases treated there have only been 25 deaths during its entire history. An analysis of these deaths will show that in most cases they were hopeless from the beginning, some of them being in a dying condition when they reached the hospital, and passing out shortly after reaching the institution. This was true for example of two diptheria cases, four appendicitis cases, and two cancer cases that were hopeless. Various others could be mentioned in detail if space permitted, and the records are open for proof at any time by proper inquiry. Indeed it is just to say that if the circumstances of the deaths that have occurred were thoroughly investigated there is not a hospital in the State with such a record as this in its low percentage of mortality. With this unparalleled success it is a matter of surprise that the hospital is not taxed to its full capacity all the time. If because of the general good health of the people who live in the territory it serves then the citizenship have reason to be thankful. If because of the rapidity of the recovery of those who have patronized this hospital, then it is a strong recommendation for the efficiency and service. If through the lack of co-operation or prejudice on the part of the medical fraternity then it surely is time for this to cease in the best interests of those who should be the recipients of the splendid humanitarian service now being rendered.

There are some things that are essential to the success of such an institution. One is a competent efficient staff. The statistics quoted distinctly show that in Dr. V. J. Gragg as the Head Surgeon the Central Alabama Hospital has one who is establishing for himself an enviable record for the remarkable success, not only of his surgical operations, but for the medical care of those to whom he has ministered. Of the 258 surgical operations, major and minor, only nine have died which were performed by the different surgeons. These were recognized as hopeless cases from the beginning, and only performed at the insistence of the patient as the last ray of hope for a possible recovery. The facts show that there is no operation of whatever kind, or however important, whether it be appendicitis in its acutest form, tumors, intricate maternity cases or of whatever nature, but that this skilful surgeon has mastered them all. Not to be misunderstood, however, it should be noted that other doctors, both local and visiting, have performed some of the operations tabulated. With the efficiency of the head surgeon, one who is entitled to honor in his own country, must also be conceded the medical skill and surgical knowledge and experience of Miss Annie H. Gardner, a full graduate nurse of extensive culture and training who is the Superintendent of the Hospital, and has held and can hold similar positions in any of the large hospitals of the State. These two make a great team. As a personal inmate for three weeks I can testify to the culture and splendid personnel of the faithful, attentive and loyal staff of nurses that are employed. In fact the whole institution seems to run in perfect harmony and fine business executive. None but a grouch could reasonably be dissatisfied in any way with the service and attention given.

These facts should be sufficient to convince any unbiased mind and to break down all barriers of personal prejudice or pecuniary purpose.

I have written this article of my own volition without any solicitation from other sources with the sole purpose in view of letting the public know, and especially suffering humanity, of the splendid service now being rendered at the minimum of expense by the wonderful Central Alabama Hospital located at Clanton, Alabama.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT NOW INSPECTING BIDS ON CHILTON PROJECT

Contract For Birmingham-Montgomery Gap Expected to Be Let Today or Tomorrow

Montgomery, Ala., April 14.—The state highway commission will hold an important session here Thursday and Friday, at which time it is expected that a contract for the construction of the section of the Birmingham-Montgomery highway through the northern half of Chilton county will be awarded. Bids will be opened Thursday for furnishing cement for the project, and Friday for the road work itself. Bids on the road work were called for upon two conditions, one that the contractor shall furnish the cement, the other option being that the cement be furnished by the state. Thus if the commission finds it more economical to buy the equipment on which bids are to be opened Thursday and furnish it to the contractors, it can do so.

The section of highway on which the bids have been called is about 17 miles long, extending from the Shelby county line to within three miles of Clanton.

COMMISSIONERS COURT IS ADJUSTING TAXES

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County was in session the first of this week with the Board of Review working on the tax valuations of the county. The tax adjustments are being made this year under the new law created py the last State Legislature. After the valuations are fixed, the court will be in session again in a few weeks to hear complaints bf the property owners.

CHANGES IN RURAL ROUTES

Beginning the first of this month the people of Providence community, who have heretofore been served by Rural Mail Route No. 2 from Verbena were put on Clanton Route 1. Verbena Route 2 stops now down at the old Jim Robinson place. Clanton Route 1, which did turn north on top of Iron Ore Hill now goes to Lige Wyatt's place and retraces itself back to Iron Ore Hill, where it resumes its former course.

POULTRY AWAITS BETTER MARKET

Auburn, Ala., April 14.—That poultry development in Alabama must mark time or remain at a stand-still until a better market is provided for eggs is the definite conclusion of John E. Ivey, poultry specialist for the Extension service, after making a thorough investigation of the situation.

Assigning as his first reason for this conclusion Mr. Ivey states that high egg production invariably comes when the prices are lowest and under the present system of marketing the producer receives no benefit from later advances because his or her eggs are sold soon after they are produced. A co-operative egg marketing association which can take advantage of the strong markets by storing eggs when the price is low and selling them orderly throughout the year is necessary.

Under existing egg marketing practices little or no premium is paid for high quality eggs. They the bought from producers on a "hog-round" basis and in that way the producer of good eggs is penalized in order to take care of inferior eggs.

Another weakness of the present egg marketing method is that it is cumbersome and burdensome in that eggs do not go by the shortest and most economical route from the producer to the consumer. It is believed that a co-operative egg marketing association which is now proposed by the Alabama Farm Bureau will bring about needed improvements and thereby benefit both producers and consumers. For this reason the county agents, home demonstration agents, and other Extension service workers will assist farmers in organizing and operating this association.

Pres. Coolidge Strong In His Senate Fight

FOURTH DISTRICT COMMITTEE MEETS IN SESSION AT CALERA

Calera, Ala., April 15, 1924.—The Republican Executive Committee of the Fourth District of Alabama met in session in the Wade Hotel at Calera Tuesday morning, April 15th. The counties composing the Fourth District are: Calhoun, Chilton, Cleburne, Dallas, Shelby and Talladega, and the committeemen from each of these counties were in Calera at this meeting.

By direction of this committee, a Republican District Convention was called to meet in Birmingham on May 19th at 1:00, p.m., for the purpose of electing one delegate and one alternate delegate from the Fourth Distrist to the Republican National Convention to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, on June 10th, 1924, and for the purpose of nominating Rupublican candidates for presidential electors, nominating a Congressman to represent this district and candidates for all other offiecrs from said district to be elected at the general election in November, 1924.

Besides the Committeemen, several other prominent Republicans of the District were present at this meeting, which was very harmoneous from start to finish. The following resolutions were passed by the Committeemen:

"We, the Republican Executive Committee of the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama, hereby endorse the record of Hon. O. D. Street, our National Committeeman and of Hon. J. M. Atkins, our State Chairman."

"As has been said, 'America is safe in the hands of Coolidge,' we, the Republican Executive Committee of the Fourth Congresisonal District of Alabama hereby endorse Hon. Calvin Coolidge for nomination as president of the United States."

WANTING NOS. 1 AND 4 STOPPED AT CLANTON

On Friday of last week four high officials of the L. N. Railroad Company met the Clanton Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of hearing the Chamber's argument in favor of stopping Nos. 1 and 4 at Clanton. Mayor Gragg and Judge Reynolds put up some mighty straight argument to the officials in favor of the proposition, as weel as several other citizens of the town. It was shown beyond any reasonable doubt that it would benefit both the railroad company and the public around Clanton for these two trains to be stopped here; however, the officials seemed rather cold on the proposition and held out that it would greatly hinder the through traffic to stop them here. The officials have never reported what they intended to do about the matter, and it is hoped that they can see their way clear to stop at least one of these trains at Clanton.

C. H., G. C., and Riley Robinson of Providence were in Clanton Tuesday buying fertilizer, feed and planters.

Solons are Apprehensive About Next Election, Says Mark Sullivan in The Birmingham News.

Washington, April 14.—The Senate is troubled about the issue President Coolidge has raised.

Congressmen think, that as between the Senate and Coolidge, the Senate is less strong with the country. One third of the Senate, 32, almost equally divided between Republicans and Democrats, are coming up for re-election this year. That is why their apprehension is bi-partisan. Already, some of the most powerful senators have lost in the early primaries.

The Senate would like to restore itself in public esteem. They would like to act in such a way as to safeguard themselves against Coolidge's rebukes to Congress, about failure to act on the income tax before March 15, about delay as to other legislation, and, lately about the way in which they are conducting some of their investigations.

Courts Feared.

It is not only about Coolidge that the Senate is apprehensive. They are apprehensive also about the courts. Already, two actions of the Senate investigations are under review by the courts and there is a wide-spread uneasiness lest Coolidge may raise a third issue. It is believed that if the Senate committee investigating Mellon refuses to conform to law and reason, Coolidge may do as Cleveland once did: order his cabinet officer to refuse to give the testimony and documents the Senate demands.

What the Senate should do in such an event troubles them greatly. They don't want that issue to arise, and that is why, beneath the truculent bluffing from some senators, there is a cautious intention to set themselves right. The two cases in which the actions of Senate investigators are now under review by the courts are the effort to convict Sinclair for contempt, and the similar proposal to put Daugherty and his brother in contempt for their refusal to allow access to the books of Mal Daugherty's bank. The real fear of the Senate is about what might arise in the case of Mellon.

Couzens Rapped.

One of the fundamental legal aspects of these Senate investigations of cabinet officers is this: The ultimate purpose of an investigation of a cabinet official, if he be found culpable, is to impeach him; and in an impeachment proceeding it is the Senate that sits as the court. This being so, it is held to be improper for the Senate to conduct the preliminary investigation.

Coolidge called attention to the fact that Senator Couzens employed counsel out of his own pocket to care for the "investigation" of Secretary Mellon. This immediately put the Senate on the defensive.

MEMBER OF FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

ORIGINAL

Thorsby, Ala., April 14, 1924.
To the People of Chilton County:

In making my announcement for member of the Board of Education, I do so realizing the great responsibility that rests on each member of the board. In a measure, the future welfare of our great State is in the hands of the county boards of education of each county. It becomes the duty of each member of the board to do his or her very best to get full and complete co-operation with the district trustees, teachers, patrons, and as much as is possible, the help of everyone, including the children, to the end that we shall in the near future, have a good consolidated school with a vocational agricultural teacher, if possible for each child in the rural districts. However, in some districts this appears impossible on account of the location, condition of the roads, lack of money to furnish transportation and other handicaps that might be mentioned, but much can be done if we only get busy and really try to do something.

I believe the children of the rural districts are justly entitled to equal educational advantages of the town and city children, but this will not exist until we begin to think and study and learn that a child is worth more in a good school with well trained teachers than they are in a cotton patch. We must have our school system more practical in order to have a better citizenship.

I believe we should have more work and less play in country schools as we get plenty muscular exercise at work on our farms.

I believe the school supervisor should be a person who really has the interest of the children at heart and should visit each school as often as possible and should be prepared to offer suggestions for improvement and speak a few words of encouragement to teachers and pupils at the time of each visit and to never criticize any part of the work on account of the lack of knowledge on the part of teacher or pupil.

I shall ask you to investigate my character and qualifications in my home community where I was born and reared and where I have spent my life, with the exception of a few years during the Cleveland panic when I was forced to follow up public works to try to make a support for myself and family.

I claim to have made a success of my business, considering the circumstances under which I have labored; was educated in the oommon schools of the county under the instructions of Profs. J. W. Moore, Henry Estes, J. M. Scott, A. L. Foshee and others; have served as district trustee 15 years; was secretary-treasurer of the Chilton County Farmers Union for ten years in succession; have been connected with all farmers organizations that have existed in the county for the last twenty-five years, except the farm bureau federation, and my intentions are to join that organization in the near future.

Am at present serving as treasurer of the Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association of Thorsby, Ala. Served in same capacity last year and handled a business of about fifty-four thousand dollars for the year. I shall ask the Republicans of the county to go to the polls May 13th and vote for your choice and your verdict shall be my verdict, and all true Republicans will support the nominees in the November elections.

In conclusion, wish to state that I am opposed to Democratic rule; have never voted for a Democrat and never will, and am opposed to any man in politics who is a Democrat, and particularly those who claim to be Republicans and vote for Democrats.

Yours for service,
J. M. SMITH.

CHILTON HI SWAMPS WETUMPKA AGGIES

Chilton County high school defeated the Fifth District Aggies on the latter's ground at Wetumpka Tuesday afternoon in a very lopsided affair, 14 to 3. Chilton slapped the offerings of Huff to all parts of the park. Burnett for Chilton was wild at times but came through in the pinches with speed that sent ten Aggies to the bench guessing. Hits galore by Chilton fillowed by errors ditto by Collier paved the way to an easy fielding, spearing long ones which would have gone for extra bases. Wyatt and Hayes starred for Chilton with three easy rollers each.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

A loss of 20 per cent in the oats of the state is one of the results of the freeze which was finally determined on April 1. Practically all Fall-sown oats were killed and none were resown. About the usual amount of Spring sowing was indulged in. The present condition of oats is 58 per cent of normal, a very low condition due in most instances to poor stands left where oats were not entirely killed.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Passmore, Atlanta tourists, were held up and robbed near Scottsboro. The couple had stopped about three miles out from town near Dry Creek bridge on the Lee highway to inquire from the negroes the way to Scottsboro. After giving the directions, one of the negroes drew a gun and demanded money. Mr. Passmore handed over $86 and a watch, he reported to authorities.

Demand for the city of Montgomery to purchase additional fire equipment, increase its fire department personnel, removal of fire headquarters to a fire-proof building and discontinuance of the practice of responding to alarms in the suburbs unless two additional trucks are purchased and placed in service, was made by the Southeastern Fire Underwriters Association in a letter to Mayor W. At a meeting of prominent women of Gadsden with city and county officials, plans were discussed for the establishment of a detention home or house of refuge. The work of pouring the first concrete arches that support the highway across the main dam at Muscle Shoals was successfully completed during last week. These arches are 32 feet wide and the span is 38 feet, each arch containing 425 cubic yards of concrete. Complete forms for four of these arches and centers for 12 more are in place.

Validity of a $750,000 bond issue by the city of Dothan for the purpose of erecting a power plant was upheld by the Alabama Supreme Court when a decision was rendered in the case of D. C. Carmichael, et al. vs. City of Dothan, affirming the judgment for the Houston circuit court, from which the case was appealed.

A committee on boll weevil control for Marengo county to cooperate with farmers in purchasing calcium arsenate and blackstrap molasses is announced as follows: Judge William Cunningham, Sam Booxer and J. L. Lawson. The committee will assist the National Boll Weevil Control association in fighting the cotton pest.

SEEKS $1 A MILE FOR ACTING AS "WALKING ADVERTISER"

RESIDENTS of San Diego, Calif., are anxiously awaiting the outcome on the claims of Henry Stewart, an aged pedestrian, who asserts that that city owes him the magnificent sum of $100,000 for the hired use of "his puppies"—er, excuse us—feet. That's what he told the city attorney there—nearly causing that official's heart to stop.

According to Stewart, it all came about some years ago when some supposedly over-zealous mayor of San Diego is alleged to have promised him (Stewart) the modest sum of $1 a mile if he would walk around the world advertising the approaching San Diego exposition. Stewart claims he walked 100,000 miles from city to city, visiting many foreign lands.

When he put his bill up to the city attorney, it was the first that official had heard of the veteran hiker. And while taken by surprise, he declined to pass on it without making an exhaustive investigation. After ascertaining who was mayor of the city when Stewart started on his long journey and getting other data relative to the promises made the aged hiker, he is hopeful of amicably reaching a financial settlement of the question in some form.

TIMELY FACTS ON COTTON GROWING

Work of Next Few Weeks Will Have Much to Do With Production And Yield.

Auburn, Ala., April 14.—Work during the next few weeks will determine to a considerable extent the production of the present cotton crop and also the yield next fall. Realizing the importance of proper procedure at this time, Frank E. Boyd, Agronomist for the Extension Service, suggests three tasks which should receive attention at an early date.

Cultivation across the rows with a section harrow or weeder just before or just after cotton comes up is declared to be one of the most important cultivations of the year. It is easy; it can be done very rapidly. It destroys legions of weeds, breaks the crust, and stirs the soil. Weeds are readily killed at this stage. A cultivation of this kind reduces future weed injury and renders cultivation easier from the standpoint of chopping and plowing.

Proper thinning of cotton has much to do with the yield. Mr. Boyd recommends that it be left a hoe's width or a hoe-chop apart with two or three stalks in each hill. This recommendation is based upon experimental results.

Immediately after chopping a side application of nitrate of soda should be made. It is assumed that one-fourth of the nitrate of soda to be used was applied with the seed. The remaining three-fourths should be applied just after chopping. Preferably, it should be applied just before cultivation on one side of the row. Delay in applying it reduces its effectiveness.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

The Queen of Roumania is planning a visit to the United States. Roumania owes this country a large war debt and has not yet arranged for its payment, but America will not follow the lead of Premier Mussolini and tell the queen to stay at home until her country's debts are paid. She will be welcomed and royally treated, and the adjustment of financial relations between the United States and Roumania will undoubtedly be hastened.

The principal charge made against the Republican Administration is that it has not been duly vigilant in prosecuting the frauds that grew out of the Democratic Administration.

All girls who enter the high school of Oswego, N. Y., are required to take a course of 10 weeks in home nursing. The superintendent of the Oswego Hospital is the instructor.

Benjamin Franklin said that "If you want your work well done, go; if not, send." That rule applies absolutely to the great task of the American citizen—voting. If you want the votes cast right at the poles, go; if not, send some one else.

President Coolidge and the Republican senators at Washington have gotten about enough of Reed's and Walsh's monkey investigating of cabinet officers. Investigations are all right where there is corruption, but when same is used for the purpose of embarrassing innocent and prominent officials just to arouse public sentiment against them, it is going beyond any reason. President Coolidge doesn't talk much but when he does speak it means something, and the Senate is beginning to realize it.

The proposed cotton mill for Clanton will have a monthly payroll of $5,000. With this sum scattered around over Chilton county and every merchant and business man getting his share of it, would it not be a great help to us all? It is true that the mill will maintain its commissary, but this does not mean the workmen will spend all their money there. Everybody will get his share of it, even the farmers will find a ready market for lots of their truck and produce. This is a thing that we should all join hands in trying to promote, so if there are any lukewarms who cannot help, let them keep their mouths shut until we have a chance to prove it to them. Let's all go after the cotton mill.

The Republican nominations for county offices have closed. The people have before them a nice list for each office to select their choice from. All the men and women who have announced, so far as we know, are starightforward, honest, upright and worthy of the nomination, but somebody has got to be beaten. It is the people of the county who are to select the winners, and the voice of the majority should be allowed to do the speaking and whatever it says the rest should be pleased with. Brother Z. J. Jones said a few weeks ago that a person who could not take defeat honorably should not announce. If possible, we wish to add emphasis to this assertion, because upon this one fact depends largely the future success of the Republican party in Chilton county. Fifteen out of the nineteen candidates are going to be defeated, so somebody might as well get ready for the shock. It is an easy matter to smile at success, but it takes a real man to lose out and still maintain a pleasing countenance and parallel disposition. Let us all be real men.

Some old geyser said that opportunity was bald-headed except a little wad of hair right on top of his forehead and if one wished to grab it he had better make his pass at it while said opportunity was coming, because if you wait till it is passed you have nothing to grab except his sleek, bald head. The above being both theoretically and practically true, now is the time for Clanton to make its forward pass for a cotton mill. Two men with the doe have come here prospecting, and now it behooves Clanton to show these men that they have a golden opportunity in their chance to locate their mill within our borders. We need to make them feel at home and welcome in Clanton and that the people here want what they have got and that we are willing to induce them to come here. There are a number of towns between Birmingham and Montgomery that would be glad of getting this cotton mill and they are going to make a fight for it. The only way for Clanton to land the proposition is for us to make them the best offer and show them that we need them and they need us. Our opportunity is now before us. The question is, are we going to let it pass before we awake to our senses? We believe Clanton is on her job this time and will strike while the iron is hot.

NAILED!

THE FARMER AND THE FREE LIST

Washington, April 14, 1924.—The present Republican tariff law has not imposed undue burdens upon the American farmer but has protected his markets. So far as there was any discrimination at all, effort was made to favor the farmer by placing on the free list the commodities he buys, as distinguished from commodities bought by the people of the country in general.

Nevertheless, there has been persistent misrepresentation on this subject. For instance, the Washington correspondent of the London Times informs the readers of that great British daily that the Democrats in the United States are going to make an issue of the tariff in the coming campaign by proposing reduction of tariff rates on "virtually all articles purchased or consumed by the farmer." Here are some of the things purchased by farmers of duty imposed thereon:

Agricultural implements — plows, tooth or disk harrows, headers, harvesters, reapers, agricultural drills and planters, mowers, horse rakes, cultivators, threshing machines, cotton gins, machinery for use in the manufacture of sugar, wagons and carts, cream separators not valued at more than $50 each, and "all other agricultural implements of any kind or description, not specifically provided for, whether in whole or in parts, including repair parts—now on the free list." How much will the Democrats reduce that tariff rate?

Arsenic, used in insect sprays—now on the free list. How much will the Democrats reduce that tariff rate?

Binding twine—now on the free list. How much will the Democrats reduce that tariff rate?

Bones, used for fertilizers—free. Potash, used for fertilizers—free. Muriate of potash, sodium nitrate, potassium nitrate, calcium nitrate, used for fertilizers—free. Guano, manure, and all other substances used chiefly for fertlilizers—free. How much will the Democrats reduce the tariff rates on those commodities?

In fact, now, what are the articles referred to by Democratic leaders as "purchased or consumed by the farmers" on which it is proposed to reduce the tariff for the benefit of the farmer in particular?

THEY COME NATURALLY

Many efforts rave been made to create slogans, but never with success. Slogans are a natural development of circumstances and the public refuses to accept one with a forced significance. "The Strenuous Life" and "The Big Stick" became popular expressions during the Roosevelt administration not merely because Roosevelt uttered them but because they were descriptive of his policies. "Keep Cool with Coolidge" bids fair to become one of the permanent slogans of thhe present political campaign not because of the play upon words but because keeping cool is truly a Coolidge characteristic. Moreover, keeping cool is a policy that today appeals very strongly to the judgment of the great masses of the American people. The country is tired of hysteria, it has had enough of experimentation with radical ideas, it is in a mood to get back to fundamentals and to proceed in accordance with reason and experience.

COOLIDGE STEAM ROLLER EXPECTED TO FLATTEN FOES

Washington, April 10.—The break in the Coolidge campaign for the Republican presidential nomination has come. Nothing but a political earthquake can now prevent the nomination of the president at Cleveland in June.

Mr. Coolidge has had from the start the support of the regular Republican organization, all-powerful in the Eastern States. It was not known what would be his strength in the presidential primaries but the victories in Nebraska and Illinois—states in which weakness would be expected to develop if at all—has knocked the wind out of the sails of the Hiram Johnson campaign and left the field to Mr Coolidge.

Although presidential primary votes are not considered binding at a national convention, they are nevertheless a index of popular feeling. Mr. Coolidge's strength in the priamaries is a surprise even to his friends. To carry Michigan, Illinois, Nebraska and North Dakota is a feat which a regular Republican has not achieved in a good many years. Republican support of the president in the conservative areas of New England and the East has been unchallenged, but the Western seat of radicalism has not been so easy to conquer.

Big Majority Forecast

Mr. Coolidge, according to present indications, will have a majority of the delegates at the Republican National Convention on the first or second ballots. It may be that, for the sake of prestige and campaign effectiveness, later on almost the entire Republican convention will vote for Coolidge, giving him the psychological benefit of virtually unanimous support.

All will not be smooth sailing, however, for Senator LaFollette is scheduled to make a fight for a radical platform, falling in which the Wisconsin delegates and others, possibly from Western States, will announce their decision to support a third ticket.

Efforts will be made by the Coolidge leaders to liberalize the Republican platform, not so much to placate the LaFollette group, but to satisfy the sentiment of the people of Western States. But it is not believed that any platform adopted by a regular Republican convention will suit the LaFollette radicals.

Dawes' Report May Help

One of the most difficult planks to be written will be that concerning foreign policy. The report of the Dawes-Young advisory council to the reparations commission has been received here with gratification because of the belief that it will help compose the Europeon situation, but the administration cannot openly claim credit for the work of the unofficial body of American experts, even though their appointment was made originally with the knowledge and consent of the United States government. The policy followed is exactly that which Secretary Hughes recommended in his New Haven speech. The administration can point to the advice it rendered Europe if the problems of reparation should be solved, but it cannot point with pride to the studied attempt of the foreign relations committee of the Senate to bury the world court proposal advocated by the late President Harding and President Coolidge.

It is significant that the Dawes-Young report has not stirred up opposition in Congress.

The new Secretary of the Navy and the new Attorney General are added proofs of President Coolidge's sagacity as an executive. Both Secretary Wilbur and Attorney General Stone are peculiarly fitted for the exacting duties of their offices. The former is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy and in addition to special naval training at that institution he has had a long career in the practice of the law. While he can handle efficiently the technical questions that come before a navy chief, he is also well qualified to render legal opinions on the many points of law that are constantly being presented. The latter has a long record as a practitioner and teacher of the law. He has not, however, ever made those corporate connections that seem these days to disqualify a man in the eyes of the people from holding public office. He is also a trained executive, able to handle departmental matters as well as those involving legal interpretations. Without casting any reflections on the men whom they succeed, Messrs. Wilbur and Stone will contribute to the Cabinet just the sort of character which the President's circle of advisers should possess.

NO SENATE BROADCASTING

Senator Howell, Republican, of Nebraska has proposed that the Senate be equipped with radio apparatus that speeches may be broadcast. His proposal was promptly blocked by Democrats. If the statements of some of the members of that party were to to be hurled through the ether with the same abandon with which they are delivered in the Senate, there would be a public reaction that would speedily suppress some of the worst offenders. Democrats evidently recognize the value of comparative privacy in the Senate Chamber.

SARDIS NOTES

Rev. C. A. Taylor filled his regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday Messrs. G. W. Ratliff and W. E. Hayes were chosen deacons, and were ordained on Sunday following.

Everybody remember our Sunday School will be in the afternoon next Sunday. There will be an egg hunt and singing here Sunday aftrenoon. All lovers of music are invited as we are expecting Mr. Hughes here to sing and to see about teaching a singing school this summer.

Farmers are about ready to plant. Some have already planted; guess they are in for a race with Mr. Boll Weevil.

We have had a few candidates call to see us, while we do not hear much talk of politics. Don't know who will be in the lead here, but think Mr. Walker will get the majority of the votes in the third district.

What about the dipping? Well we are going to have to dip, so we might as well quit so much talking and bring our old favorite pet cows on and dip them, so that this may be the last year we will have to fool with it.

Rev. Messer will preach at Antioch Sunday. Everybody invited out to hear him.

Mr. Luther Traywick of near Selma was visiting here Sunday.

Several from New Cedron were joy riding here Sunday p.m.

Miss Anthel Ratliff had as her guest last week Misses Ruth and Mattie Lou Carter from Billingsley and her cousin, Miss Malene Ratliff from Maplesville.

Miss Bernice Broadhead has gone for an extended visit to relatives in Birmingham.

Mr. Sam Christian of Selma spent the week end with parents here.

Mr. Cyrus Hayes happened to bad luck Sunday when Mr. Aaron Roper ran into his car and damaged it.

Several from here went to the singing at Alpine Sunday.

Everybody remember our singing the first and third Sunday afternoons. We have ordered new books and hope to have a good class soon.

Mr. J. P. Gore leaves next Sunday in his Fordfor a three weeks visit to his daughter in Selma.

GET-TOGETHER DAY AT COLLINS CHAPEL APRIL 11

On last Saturday, April 11, 1924, there was a big day held at Collins Chapel school house, for the purpose of building a new school building.

We are very glad to say we had with us Mr. Tidwell from Montgomery. Our other visitors were, Mr. J. Osmond Middleton, and our County Supt. of Education, Mr. Howard L. Foshee.

We are also glad to say Mr. Tidwell preached, and Mr. Middleton opened the doors of the church, and raised about $1460 on the new school building.

So, let's go to work fellows, and build a new building for Collins Chapel school.

We hope everybody enjoyed their dinner for there was a plenty of dinner for everybody.

Mr. Robert Bean and family had as their guests recently Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Finch from Selmen, Ala. Mrs. Finch also came to see her sister, Miss Mamie Walker, who taught at Collins Chapel this year.

MARS HILL NEWS

We have our Sunday school started up again, as we haven't been having any through the winter season, and we hope to make it a good one this time. We invite everyone to come and join us, both young and old.

We also have singing at this place every second and fourth Sunday evenings, in the Christian Harmony; every second and fourth in the 1924 Showalter books. We invite all who will, to come and help us out.

I want to say our singing Sunday evening was simply good, with a large crowd. Directors were, Charlie Langston, J. N. Scott, Davis Hudgens, C. W. Scott. Everyone seemed to enjoy those good old songs, as it brings our memories back to us of those who used to be with us, that did love them so well.

Our Sunday School will meet at 9 o'clock next Sunday, on acocunt of those who may want to attend the singing at Oak Grove.

Messrs. Luther and Lee Grant of Coopers were in Clanton Monday. Both of them came in and put their names down for The Union-Banner for a year.

BOLL WEEVILS THIS YEAR

New Orleans, La., April 14.—There has been much speculation among cotton farmers and those interested in the production of cotton as to the number of boll weevils which will actually attack the crop this year.

The general belief has been that the severity of the winter with the quick changes in temperature has caused a considerable decrease in the number of weevils. This belief has been strengthened by the announcement of government experts, after an examination of Spanish moss near Tallulah, La., that only 0.5 weevils per ton of moss survived the winter.

This announcement, with the warning that if spring weather should be favorable to the insects they would increase to such proportions without control that considerable damage would be done, is believed to have caused thinking farmers to plan to take advantage of the low rate of emergency by "getting the weevil before it has a chance to get the crop" at a cost that will be much lower than if application of control methods are delayed until there is a noticeable increase in numbers of the pest.

The fact that the examination for the degree of survival was conducted only in Louisiana also has increased the speculation as to whether the same is true in other parts of the cotton belt. So far as is known no other expert examinations have been made but it will be possible for the farmers to determine for themselves within a short time the probable degree of infestation this year.

Many farmers already have planted their crops and others will be doing so within a few days. And, as all farmers know, within a few more days the plants themselves will begin to appear.

With the appearance of the plants the boll weevil problem begins to take on a serious aspect. Whatever the number of weevils that survived the winter, it must be remembered that no food has been eaten by them since going into winter quarters last fall and that they are eagerly waiting for the appearance of the plants. They begin feeding on the tips of the plants just as soon as conditions permit.

In order to get the best possible advantage of the weevil, it is recommended that framers make close daily observations of the plants as soon as they begin to appear, examining every plant for weevils, and as soon as there are as many as twenty insects to the acre begin poisoning either with calcium arsenate in dust form or a calcium arsenate-molasses mixture.

Early applications of poison will greatly reduce the number of weevils, make the late season fight one of less effort and will materially decrease the cost of poisoning in addition to saving a large part of the crop from the weevil's ravages.

The correct way of poisoning at this stage as recommended by state and government experts will be discussed in an article next week. Further information may be obtained from the county agent, state college of agriculture or the National Boll Weevil Control Association, Room 220 Whitney Building, New Orleans, La.

FROM MR. C. T. WALKER

Editor Union-Banner:

As reports have gotten out that I gave Thompson Lumber Company the right to haul lumber over public roads after a rain, I wish to say that such report is false and without any foundation. I couldn't do such a thing if I wanted to. It is too bad that we have church members who will get out such reports and for campaign purposes.

I know I make mistakes, but I am not ashamed of a thing I can't help. What I do stands open for all to see. Thompson Lumber Company will tell you that such reports are false.

Yours truly,
C. T. WALKER.

L&N Taxes Greater Than Dividends~

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad's tax bill for the year 1923 amounted to $6,372,310, or nine per cent more than was paid in dividends to the stockholders of the Railroad who assume all risk and responsibility for the Road's operation.

The L. & N. is called upon each year to make an increasingly-heavy payment of taxes to the Federal, State, County and City treasuries throughout the thirteen states in which it operates. Taxes per mile in 1913 were $365; in 1923 they were $1,265, an increase of 246 per cent. The investment in L. & N. property in the meantime increased 56 per cent.

The Railroads pay taxes to maintain the government, improve the roads, provide schools and other public institutions, and for varied other purposes; in order to make the country a better place in which to live. It is apparent therefore that the payment of taxes by the railroads redounds tremendously to the public interest.

The L. & N. is always agreeable to the payment of its just proportion of taxes, yet it is manifest that it, and the other railroads of the country cannot bear their proper share of such tax burdens and at the same time effect desirable improvements and additions except they be permitted to earn a reasonable return upon the value of their property devoted to transportation service.

POOR ORIGINAL

NOTICE TO ROAD SUPERVISORS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

We wish to call the attention of all parties hauling lumber, logs, cord wood, timber or ore, that there is a license due to the county on trucks hauling the above, and it is the duty of each road supervisor to prosecute. We especially call the attention of each road supervisor to Section 36 of the Road Laws of Chilton County, Alabama, wherein it is provided that, "Any Road Supervisor who fails or refuses to prosecute any and all violations of Traffic Laws herein and all other violations of the Road Laws herein adopted, which come to his knowledge that are committed in his Road Precinct, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished as provided by law." We understand that we have been criticized by not putting license on all trucks. As the law has been interpreted to us, we had no authority to put license on any other trucks except those designated above, the legislature of 1923 making this prohibition.

The County Commisisoners are trying to maintain and establish new roads as fast as we can get them, but we are having some trouble in getting rights-of-way, this, of course, always delays the work. We appeal to land owners to give rights-of-way to build these roads, and in so doing it will save the county considerable expense and trouble and delay of time.

The road laws under which the county it now operating are new to this county and if any of the provisions are proven to be unsatisfactory and not of general benefit to the county as a whole, the court will make amends to suit the desires of the majority of the people and interest of the county. The laws were passed with one intention—to improve the roads of our county and to keep them in condition consistent with the progress of the times and in doing so to prorate the burden of the maintenance and construction of said roads upon individuals to whom the roads were of most benefit.

It is consonant with equity and good conscenice that the man who uses the roads very little should pay very little, while the man who uses the roads practically altogether for his business should pay more.

We call upon the people of the county and all public bodies and newspapers to encourage an observance of the road laws, and if there are meritorious amendments to be made to such laws, we invite a constructive criticism and will make changes accordingly where deemed proper and necessary.

All truck license will be half price after July 1st, 1924, provided no lumber, logs, timber or cord wood was hauled with the trucks before July 1st. If they were used for this purpose before July the 1st, full year's license will have to be taken out.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

K. M. VINSON WRITES TO COUNTY VOTERS

The time for candidates to make announcements having expired, we now have before us the names of all the candidates for the various offices of the county to be voted upon on May 13th, and having announced myself as one of the candidates for the office of County Treasurer, I want to say a few words to the voters of the county, both the men and the ladies, relative to my candidacy.

First, I am asking the support of the people on my own merits and not on the demerits of my opponents, for they are all good friends of mine, and after the primary in May, regardless of who the nominee may be, I want to have the same friendship with them all that I now have, and I pledge myself to the voters and to the nominees whoever they may be, that I will do all in my power to elect the entire ticket in November.

To those who can see fit to give me a consideration I assure every one of my highest appreciation and thanks for anything they might do or say in my behalf, and to those who do not know me I shall thank them to investigate my life and learn all they can about me before casting their vote on May 13th. I was reared in Beat 6 of this county, near Enterprise until I was 17 years old, and since that time I have been in and around Clanton with the exception of twenty-one months that I spent in the U. S. Army during the war.

I feel that I am competent to fill the office of County Treasurer, as I have had about three and one-half years experience in the various offices of the county as a clerk, and I am familiar with most of the records of the county offices, and if I should be the choice of the voters of the county I shall at all times stand ready to assist anyone in every way possible with anything that I am able to do.

It is my intention to see as many of the voters of the county as possible before the primary on May 13th, but owing to my present work it will be impossible for me to see all as I would like to, but whether I see you or not, I assure each and every one who can see fit to give me their support of my highest appreciation.

Trusting that we may have a clean campaign, a good turnout in the primary, and most of all, the same friendly feeling for each other after May 13th, that we now have, I remain,

Yours very truly,
K. M. VINSON.

SMALLPOX IN LAMAR AND JACKSON COUNTIES

Montgomery, Ala., April 7.—Reports come from Jackson and Lamar counties of an outbreak of smallpox which is causing considerable concern to the people in that part of the country. Owing to the fact that the type of smallpox which is prevailing is extremely mild in character, the disease was thought to be chicken pox at first until it had gained considerable headway. Representatives of the State Department of Health conferred with the local physicians and the true character of the disease was established. Although most of the cases are extremely mild there is always the possibility that virulent cases will develop.

The health authorities co-operating with the local physicians are, therefore, urging that everyone in this section be vaccinated. Dr. C. A. Mohr, representing the State Department of Health and Dr. Jas. G. Bedsole, City Health Officer, reported Thursday evening that more than four hundred had been vaccinated that day. With such co-operation as this from the citizens in Clark county the outbreak will be quickly suppressed.

UNCLE DOCK WELLS WILL PREACH AT JACKSON CHAPEL

Uncle Dock Wells asks us to announce to the people of the county that he will preach at Jackson's Chapel at 11 o'clock on Easter Sunday and at the County Poor Farm at 3 in the afternoon. Uncle Dock asks that everybody come out to these two services with hearts full of religion, prepared to enjoy the Easter services.

Mr. I. D. Huett, of Billingsley, Rt. 1, came in Tuesday and subscribed for The Union-Banner for a year.

FROM H. B. GLENN, CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Clanton, Ala., April 11, 1924.
To the Voters of Chilton County:

As you are all aware that I am a candidate for Commissioner from the Fourth District, it is useless for me to tell you that I want your votes as that is generally understood among the voters. So, what I want and need to do I think is first to prove to you that I am worthy of your consideration, and second, what more could I do than has already been done or could be done by any of my opponents? As for the first, I am leaving that with the people to say on the 13th of May; as for the second, will say that I think that our commissioners should be farmers or at least live out in the country and not in town in business as that takes up all his time. So you can see that I have no advantage over my opponents along that line.

Now, about working our public roads and taxation for same, will state my position in very few words. I am bitterly opposed to working the boys from 18 to 45 years on public roads when there is a great per cent of them who have nothing—not even a tool to work with and nothing but hands and feet to travel the roads after they have worked them. But I am heartily in favor of taxing the wealth of the country to get revenue sufficient to have them worked with. It seems to me that our commissioners and probate judge have done the best they could in this matter. Am sorry that our wagons did not come in for a reasonable tax, say $1 per year for buggy. $2 for one-horse wagons, $4 for two-horse wagons and so on according to tonnage to be hauled.

In my way of thinking, there has got to be something done besides pick and hoe and shovel route to holp up the public roads under present and future traffic. Of course, I am in favor of all this being done very carefully, for when this is done there will be some badly spent money. But my experience has been that we can if we will, profit by our past mistakes.

So if there is anything else any of you want, to know how I stand on just see or write me at Clanton Route 6 and I will try and make my position clear. But as to my knowledge on duties of commisioners, am frank to admit that same is very narrow.

Now, as to the character and standing of my opponents, will say that I am personally acquainted with some of them and some I have never met, but will say as a word of compliment that they are gentlemen in all that the word implies, and I take it for granted that those I have never met are of the same type. So if you see fit to nominate any one of the other boys, I am with you to elect him in November. I am not canvassing on account of my farm operations, but to any and all, both gentlemen and ladies, candidates for any office in the county, both Democrats and Republicans, that our doors are open to you. I have no ill will toward any one because of his or her political views.

Respectfully,
H. B. GLENN.

THANKS FRIENDS

Editor Union-Banner:

Through the medium of your valuable columns may I be allowed to express my grateful thanks and appreciation to the many friends who visited me during my recent sickness at Central Alabama Hospital. The flowers that were also given brought much cheer during many hours of suffering. Thanks to the careful treatment of Dr. Gragg and his staff. I have now nicely recovered from a severe case of appendicitis and shall soon return to my field of labour at Geneva, Ala. May His richest blessings be yours who said "In as much as ye did it unto the least of these my brethren ye did it unto me."

Gained Ten Pounds

Mrs. George S. Hunter, of Columbus, Ga., says she suffered severely with female troubles.

"I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks at a time," says Mrs. Hunter. "I could not work. My . . . were irregular and I got very thin. I went from 126 pounds down to less than 100. My mother had been a user of

CARDUI

and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle up I began to improve. My side hurt less and I began to mend in health. I took four bottles in all during the last ten months. Cardui acted as a fine tonic. . . I am well now. I have gained ten pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all and my . . . are quite regular. I know that Cardui will help others suffering from the same trouble."

NOTICE QUALIFIED VOTERS

I want to call attention to all parties who are qualified voters and have been left off the list, to come to see me or write me at once. I am very anxious to get the correct record of all voters in the county, and this office will give preference to helping any voter to get their record straight to any other work that we are required to do.

Remember, where anyone writes us about their record and we get it straight, we do not answer the letter, but if we do not get the record clear we always write and explain the trouble.

When writing me state where you registered and the date of your birth, if you have paid your poll tax in different names—be sure and mention this fact.

Respectfully,

AVERY SHAWNEE JR. PLANTER

An Old-Time Favorite

THERE are no frills about the Shawnee Jr. It is simple and sturdy. It responds instantly to the operator's every desire. Depth of planting is accurately controlled by a simple movement of the handles, without stopping. In the same way the opener is lifted clear of the ground and planting mechanism is thrown out of gear at the ends of the rows. Perfect control means more and better work with greater economy.

The Shawnee Jr. has no sprockets to clog, no chains to break. A double pitman gives a simple, direct, trouble-free drive. Supplied with the Shawnee Jr. as regular equipment is a wide variety of plates. A standard picker wheel gives continuous force feed. Special picker wheels give intermittent spacing of seeds. Quantity of seed planted is easily and accurately controlled. Special hoppers, duplex and single seed, are supplied as extras. All changes in equipment are easily made without tools.

The Avery Shawnee Jr. abundantly supplies the farmer's needs for a walking planter that does all sorts of planting. We will gladly demonstrate it. Come to our store and see for yourself its many good features.

There is a full line of famous Avery walking, riding and tractor plows, tillage implements and Champion harvesting and haying machines

DAY OF NARROW ROAD HAS NOW GONE BY

Importance of Ample Right of Way For Widening.

Don't build the road narrow. But however it is built, have a right of way ample enough to provide for widening in the future. On these two hang all the law and the profits of modern road building!

An expensive fault of the narrow road is the concentration of traffic. Wheels moving constantly over the same places produce parallel lines of excessive wear. To prevent rapid disintegration of a single track road a heavier foundation and surface is needed than is required for a wider road.

Substantial shoulders at the sides on which the passing traffic may turn out are also necessary as otherwise the wheels of vehicles turning out to pass will quickly wear ruts at the edges. In these water collects, to penetrate beneath the foundation, with disastrous results. A narrow road with soft earth shoulders is dangerous to motor traffic in slippery weather.

To build the heavier foundation and surface needed to bear the concentration of traffic on a narrow road, and the substantial shoulders at the sides, requires as much money as to build a wider road. On a wide road, traffic is scattered, and wear is distributed. With a paved surface sufficiently wide for two lines of rapidly moving vehicles to pass in safety, the necessity for artificial shoulders is eliminated. To build a narrow road, thin and without shoulders, means a loss of the entire investment in a comparatively short time.

A narrow right of way requires drainage ditches close to the travel. With no shoulder between paved surface and ditch the chances of serious accident are largely increased. All drainage ditches tend to become deeper, so that the danger to traffic becomes constantly greater.

Before any program for beautification of highways is undertaken, some assurance that the rights of way are wide enough to accommodate future traffic should be had.

Motor vehicle traffic will increase as the mileage of hard roads increases. A general extension in the width of wearing surfaces will call for wider rights of way. To obtain wider rights of way now means an ultimate saving of a large sum of money and will prevent many future difficulties.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The World stands out on either side
No wider than the heart is wide;
Above the world is stretched the sky,
No higher than the soul is high.
The heart can push the sea and land
Farther away on either hand;
Te soul can lift te sky in two,
And let the face of God shine thru.
But East and west will pinch a heart
That cannot keep them pushed apart;
And he whose soul is flat—the sky
Will cave in on him by and by.

POOR ORIGINAL

NEWS FOR FISHERMEN

Montgomery, Ala., April 9, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

According to a ruling of the Attorney General, the Act of the Legislature of Alabama, approved September 29, 1923, establishing a closed season on fresh water trout, bass and bream during the months of April and May of each yaer, does not apply to any of the fresh waters of the State except those used by the State for fish cultural work.

I had previously interprtted the Act of the Legislature as not relating to private ponds having neither egress nor ingress, such for example, as artificial ponds where farmers have constructed same for their private ponds wholly on one man's premises.

As the application of the Act in its entirety was not clear in my mind, I recently asked the Attorney General for an opinion, with the result mentioned.

Practically every State in the Union has a closed season during the chief spawning months of the principal edible game fish. Most of the Florida waters even now have a longer closed season than was written into the Alabama statutes, although Florida has much better fishing than does Alabama.

Upon the opinion of the Attorney General, fishing with hook and line, fly, troll or spinner, will not be prohibited during the months of April and May, of each year.

Very truly,
I. T. QUINN,
Com. of Game and Fisheries.

FIGHT AGAINST MOSQUITOES

Montgomery, Ala., April 14.—Offensive methods are to supplant or snupplement defensive methods in the fight against mosquitoes in Alabama. Instead of permitting the malaria-carrier to breed unmolested and then screen against them, the new plan is to break up the breeding places.

The new slogan is O. S. O., or translated means organized scientific offensive. Of course the screening will continue, but the chief method of combatting malaria will be the elimination of small puddles where the mosquito breeds. In the fight against disease as in modern warfare, it has been found cheaper to pursue an offensive campaign than wait for the enemy to attack.

The State Health Officers will follow the policy of the Western cow boy who said he always shoots first, because it is cheaper. Scientific advice will be furnished by the State Board of Health or the County Health Officer to any community wishing to take up the fight.

Organization is a matter for each locality or community. Every county school district should have an anti-mosquito committee.

MR. J. BICE WRITES TO VOTERS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper for the following letter to the Republican voters of Chilton County:

I am before you as a candidate for the office of County Treasurer and I wish to bring these facts before you. I was county treasurer for two years, 1917-18, and my record is before you. The books in the treasurer's office show for themselves. At no other time has the treasurer ever had as much work to do as had to be done while I was in office those two years. I had to call in all county warrants that were outstanding. There was about one hundred thousand dollars worth of warrants of fr m one to five hundred dollars. Most of them were small—not many five hundred dollar ones compared with the numbor of smaller ones. I had to make a record of every one of these, showing the amount, whose they were, when they were issued, for what issued, and when due. When this was done I had to make two type-written copies of them, one copy for the men who were to buy the bonds and one copy for the commissioners. I am simply mentioning this to show that when the duties of the office and its bookkeeping was the heaviest it has ever been, I handled it efficiently.

In 1922 Mr. Thomas, a Democrat, who had been put in office by Republican commissioners resigned and I was appointed, holding the office from June 1st to January 16th, 1923, seven and one-half months; so you can see that I never held the office but a little over a half term, whole term being four years as provided by the law. You may compare my books with those of any treasurer of Chilton County for the past 20 years. First year's examination, my books balanced not one cent difference; next year 80c difference, and the examiner was sure there was a mistake in counting up. In the next seven and a holf months, there was 40c difference, which I paid rather than go back over the books.

I know the law pertaining to the treasurer's office. I have studied the law governing those matters which come under the duties of that office. The idea that the treasurer's job is simply keeping books is a mistake, for there are many things to be done in that office that require executive ability and knowledge of law.

For the last 25 years I have been working hard for the Republican party, giving my money freely and helping in every honorable way possible. When our paper was about to fail, I helped to put it on its feet. I helped in the warehouse and in many other ways. During the days when I had money I freely gave to any interest of the Republican party. Now, I am not financially able to canvass the county, but will deeply appreciate your vote and your influence in my interest. I am not an orator, neither can I write fine sentences, but I am trying to say I believe in a fair and square thing in politics as well as in everything else.

Now, I leave it with you. Will you vote for or against the man who is thoroughly qualified as to executive ability and who has been faithful to the Republican party in giving his time, energy and money whenever needed in the interest of the party?

Respectfully,
J. BICE.

WORLD'S SMALLEST BALLOON

ONE hears of something new about aircraft creations almost every day. Here's the latest subject of gossip—the "world's smallest observation balloon." Only 14 feet in length, look how it compares with the ordinary army air service dirigible in the background. Just like a rowboat up against an ocean liner.

It will be gratifying news to the singers of Chilton county to learn that a special session of the Chilton County Singing Convention will be held at the county high school building in Clanton on the first Sunday in June. Prof. A. J. Showalter will be present, besides Prof. H. C. Collins of Georgia, Prof. Dye of Birmingham, and the Ganus singers from Birmingham. The Vaughan singers have been invited, but it is not known for sure that they will be here. The other singers named have agreed to be present.

It is a rare treat to the singers of the county to have such accomplished singers as Prof. Showalter and the others mentioned be present, so it is hoped that the other communities of the county will join hands in making this the best singing ever held in the county. Watch for futher announcement.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. R. MORTON, Manager.)

Messrs. C. R. Foss, A. E. Reagan and E. F. Mead made a trip to Montgomery last Friday.

Rev. E. W. Butler went to Stony Point near Deatsville last Saturday to fill an appointment Sunday at the Congregational church there, in the place of Rev. Each who was expected to go but was detained on account of the Young Peoples Conference here which closed Sunday night. Mr. Butler returned Monday morning.

The concert given by Margaret Laird at the Wadesonian Theatre last Wednesday night under auspices of Thorsby Parent-Teachers Asosciation, for benefit of the new public school building equipment fund, netted $57.15. The house was well filled and the work of the singer who is known best by her stage name as "Peggy Davis" was greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Next Saturday, April 19th, at 11:30 a.m., the Parent-Teachers Association will sreve at the Town Hall, another of their fine 25c dinners, the proceeds to go as before to the public school equipment fund. The way our ladies are going after this proposition looks as if they would be ready to equip the building before it is ready. Somebody needs to get busy.

Thorsby Public School closed an 8-months term Wednesday of this week. The children will now be at liberty to help harvest the 1924 strawberry crap which will soon be ready to begin on and promises to be by far the largest ever gathered in and around Thorsby.

The examination for fifth, 6-weeks term at Thorsby Institute will be held April 17th and 18th, the honor roll will be out next week. The school had several distinguished visitors last week. Rev. Neil McQuarrie, Rev. Chas. L. Fiske, Rev. J. F. Blackburn and Miss Olive Pearson. Several former graduates and other students were also welcome visitors. It was with pleasure that we noted the development of these young people, as a result of the training and inspiration which they received as Thorsby Institute students, but now widely scattered and employed as teachers or in business.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid Society will be held Thursday afternoon, April 17th at the home of Mrs. Frank Nelson.

A new departure among Congregational young people in Alabama and some from adjoining states was established by the meeting in Thorsby for three days, last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, of the first Christian Life Conference, under direction of Miss Olive Pearson of New York, assistant secretary of Congregational Sunday School Extension Society, assisted by Rev. Chas. L. Fisk of Cleveland, Ohio, District Education secretary for Ohio and the South East of the Congregational Education Society. Both of these people are in their way among the most efficient field workers the denomination sends into this section. Both are unusually fine singers and good mixers; they are full of enthusiasm, good talkers and so earnest withal that they inspire confidence at once.

The Conference brought quite a lot of young people from Alabama and north Florida, many of them being former students in Thorsby Institute and several had graduated here in years past and are now leaders of young people in the communities where they live and work. Another notable visitor was Rev. J. F. Blackburn of Atlanta, who is Sunday School Extension secretary for the South East states. It was the business of these older ones to plan the work and encourage the young peonle to carry on the meetings and the discussions, which they did with admirable understanding and spirit. Miss Ida M. Lockwood at one time a member of Thorsby Institute faculty but now an ordained minister who graduated from Atlanta Theological Seminary and is serving two churches in north west Florida, was present with two of her young people. One of them was Miss May Bell McJunken who came to Thorsby Institute as a student eight years ago. She was then timid and shy but developed amazingly during her four years in Thorsby. After graduation here she spent one year in government work at Washington, D.C., and has since been a teacher. She is now a member of the faculty of the county high school at Crest View, Florida. During the grogress of the Conference she paid high tribute to the influence of Thorsby Institute and the inspiration Miss Jenkins had been to her. This came in the course of a short talk she made to the young people in one of the meetings. One could not but compare this efficient speaker with the fledging that come among us eight years ago.

On last Friday evening the members of the Christian Endeavor Society, the delegates to the Christian Life Conference and all the students of Thorsby Institute were invited to a Model Christian Endeavor Social at the girl's dormitory. Many interesting and merry-making games were heartily enjoyed by all those present. Miss Fellie Stephens posed as a young lady direct from Japan and she introduced a very novel ball game asserting that it was direct from her homeland. Miss Willie Littlejohn, as the young lady from China, brought with her a merry-making and fun provoking black ball. Miss Betty Lakeman being a student of physical culture naturally brought forward a very interesting Japanese back-hand race. Last but not least of the young ladies from afar was Miss Pearl Steiner, who as a charming young Indian princess introduced a very interesting India game. After some time had been spent in merry-making a short Missionary play was presented under the direction of Miss Jenkins and a dramatization of the Ten Virgins was given under the leadership of Miss Olive Pearson. The social was well attended and proved to be one of the best that the Christian Endeavor society has given this year. Dr. Fiske also gave two songs which were very much enjoyed.

The Chistian Endeavor Society met at the usual hour last Sunday evening. Mr. Harris Turner was the leader for the evening and he had arranged a very interesting program on "Our Decisions and how they Should be Made." Many interesting things relating to our decisions were brought out at the meeting. We were pleased to have so many visitors with us and wish to assure them that they are always welcome.

On Friday evening of this week at 7:30 there will be a "Good Friday" service at the Congregational Church.

Beginning Sunday, April 20th and continuing through the week and the following Sunday, there will be a series of special meetings at the Congregational church under the direction of Rev. Neil McQuarrie, who so acceptably conducted evangelistic services here about a year ago. Mr. McQuarrie is no stranger to Thorsby people and he always has a message worth hearing. The people of Thorsby and vicinity, regardless of denominational affiliation, will be welcome to these meetings, they will be helpful to Christians and the unconverted alike.

Next Sunday evening at 6:45 instead of the regular Christian Endeavor Socicty meeting there will be a srevice of Story and Song for about an hour, followed by a short sermon by Rev. McQuarrie.

On Thursday, April 10th at the quarterly meeting of Thorsby Institute Board of Trustees, all trastees whose terms of office expire in July of this year were re-elected for a term of three years, committees were re-elected with but slight changes, officers were re-elected to succeed themselves for one year and every member of the faculty was re-elected for the ensuing school year.

This does not necessarily imply that there will be no changes in the personnel of the faculty next year, but simply means that the work of each one has been of a satisfactory character and the Board is willing they should continue. If they do not the change will be of their own choosing.

Commission Awards Chilton Road Contract

Section of Birmingham-Montgomery Highway to Cost Over Half Million Dollars.

The State Highway Commission Monday awarded a contract amounting to over half a million dollars for construction of the section of the Birmingham-Montgomery highway thru the northern half of Chilton county from the Shelby county line 17.45 miles, to Lomax, some three miles north of Clanton. The road will be of plain cement concrete type, which was recommended by the State Highway Engineer and favored by Commissioners Scruggs and Suttle, while Chairman Rogers voted against the concrete surface type.

The contract was awarded in three parts; contract for the grading to W. A. Taylor of Sylacauga, $119,-021.36; for bridges on the highway to W. T. Weaver of Collinsville, $22,392.20, and for the paving to Speed-Parker, Inc., of Louisville, Ky., $412,532.35, making the total cost $553,945.91.

State Highway Engineer W. S. Keller reported to the commission on the various bids which had been submitted and tabulated and stated that it was found necessary to distribute the work among the three contractors in order to get the lowest bid. He stated that the bid of Speed-Parker was approximately $3,000 per mile below the best "black top" surface bids, and recommended that it be accepted.

The commission first awarded the contract for the grading and the bridges, without opposition. When the question of surfacing came up, however, Chairman Rogers expressed the belief that no concrete road would prove satisfactory "without a top." Commissioner J. H. Scruggs moved that the bid of Speed-Parker for the concrete paving be accepted and his motion carried, Commissioner J. F. Suttle voting with him, and Chairman Rogers voting "no."

CONTEST CASE WILL COME UP AGAIN MONDAY WEEK

Monday, May 5th, is the day set for the opening of the contest case between C. D. Messer and L. H. Reynolds, which was postponed from February. It is understood that Judge N. B. Denson of Opelika, who had charge of the case before, will be here on the above named date to try the case. Quite a bit of preparation in regard to the standing of the voters has been made since the case was called last time.

CAUGHT WITH WHISKEY STILL

On Tuesday of last week the Sheriff's force went down between Mt. Creek and the Graphite Mines and captured a small tin can still owned by Sam Cunningham, a negro, who was taken into custody by the officers. The still was not in operation when the officers located it but Cunningham came to the still soon and the officers took charge of him. There was no whiskey there but there were about forty gallons of beer, which was destroyed. Cunningham was brought to jail where he still remains, not being able to make bond.

STATE HIGHWAY WILL GO BY WAY OF OLD ROUTE

White City Route is Voted Down by 2 to 1 by Highway Commission In Session Tuesday.

The long drawn-out controversy as to the route of the Montgomery-Birmingham highway from where it leaves the Reese Ferry bridge over the Alabama River to its point of junction in Chilton County with the location already established, was settled Tuesday noon when the state highway commission by a vote of 2 to 1 decided in favor of the route No. 1, being the location tentatively decided through Verbena.

This route is known as the Liberty Church route also as the Loder route, and is officially designated as Route No. 1, being the location tentatively decided on.

Voting in the majority were Chairman John A. Rogers and Associate Commisisoner Scruggs. Associate Commissioner Suttle cast his vote for Route No. 2, by Prattville.

Before the commisison took its vote, communications were read from people in Clanton, Verbena, Prattville and other places on each route. The reasons given for the location of the road on route No. 1 were that the people most generally favored that route, and that it woud accommodate the public better.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR AT BAPTIST CHURCH FOR EASTER SERVICE

About forty members of the local order of Knights Templar were present at the Baptist Church last Sunday dressed in full uniform. Seats were reserved for the Knights on the front pews in the center of the building. The spaceous auditorium as well as the gallery were filled to capacity during the service.

Rev. S. J. Ezell, pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church delivered an excellent sermon on "Why I Believe in the Resurrection." Rev. Ezell preached a very forceful sermon on this appropriate subject, it being on Easter Sunday. Several very fine musical numbers were rendered by a choir composed of members from both the Baptist and Methodist classes. The songs and music were very fine and suitable for the occasion.

STOCKHOLDERS CANNING FACTORY MET AT COURT HOUSE LAST THURSDAY

On Account of Such Fine Weather For Farming, Not Many of Stockholders Present.

Pursuant to a call issued by the Board of Directors, the stockholders of the United Farmers Canning Company met at the court house in Clanton at 2:00 o'clock last Thursday afternoon. Not many of the stockholders were present which is attributed to the fact that the weather was so nice for farming that most of the farmers were taking advantage of it by working on their farms.

The purpose of the meeting was to inform the stockholders of the conditions of the factory's business and if possible to formulate plans to operate on this year.

It was brought out in this meeting that the deed to the land on which the factory is locoted is now in the hands of the company. There has been puite a scrumble and some misunderstanding regarding this deed, but the company now has the deed in its possession.

It was found from the treasurer's report that the actual indebtness of the company now is $1875, of which amount amount $1200 was incurred in installing permanent equiptment, the land and insurance on the property. The remainder was incurred by actual loss in operating expenses while the plant was running last summer. The company paid about two months operating expenses and turned out only about one day's full run of canned tomatoes.

It was decided impossible for the factory to operate this year inasmuch as there is no money in the treasury and the company is not in shape to borrow any money. The reason the company can't borrow any money is because of the fact that the Peterman Construction Co. has filed a builder's lein against the canning company for the amount of $925. The Board of Directors, however, informed the stockholders that the lien filed by the consrtuction company is of no legal value, but it will take a course of time for the case to be worked out in the courts.

As brought out in this meeting there is now carried on the building and plant a total of only $1500 insurance. A resolution was passed in the meeting to ask all the stockholders to donate $1 each in order to increase the insurance on the property.

Since the company can borrow no money to operate on this year, it was decided that the plant would be leased to any reputable party who would take and operate it this fall.

As will be seen from the above reports, the canning company is not in a very workable condition at the present time, but it is hoped that as soon as the courts have thrashed out the parts of the procedure that are before them, the company will be more in shape to do something. As soon as the lien by the Peterman Construction Company, if proven invalid, the company can then borrow money on which to operate. If, in the meantime, some good man who has the confidence of the people of the county and the money to finance the running of the plant would take the outfit in charge, it looks reasonable that he could make some money out of it for himself and for the company.

This is the only chance for the plant to be operated this year. Probably in another year, the company will be in shape to borrow enough money to operate on and can probably clear enough to pay off some of the debts of the concern. There is money to be made in the canning business in Chilton county if it is only gone at right and properly managed.

ROAD-WORKING DEVICE

Commisisoner C. T. Walker has built a road-scraping device which he is using on the roads of his district. He has made a model of the machine which has been placed in the commissioners court room at the court house. It might prove beneficial if the supervisors all over the county would build them one to use on their roads.

Mr. Lee H. Downs of Birmingham was in Clanton the first of this week. He is the son of R. J. Downs of Rt. 2.

Electric Output of State Shows Rapid Growth

An Increase Of 156,000,000 Kilowatt Hours Made By Power Company In Year.

Increase in the electric output of 156,000.00 killowat hours for 1923 (from 607,000,000 to 763,000,000), placing the company 12th or 13th in the United States among central station companies in the total output of energy and maxium demand, and of the number of customers served to a total of 65,000 are announced in the annual report of the Alabama Power Company to its stockholders, made Saturday.

The report shows a steady and healthy growth of the company and also reflects, favorably, on the industrial progress of the state. This is especially noted in the fact that the report shows that during the year there were connected to the company's lines 85 new industries, using 26,000 horse-power, in addition to an increased use of 22,000-horsepower by existing industries. The demand ranged from 1000 horsepower to 4,000 horse-power.

For every dollar invested by a central station power campany to serve industries, there is invested, by the existing or new industry, not less than $25 in machinery, permanent equipment, etc., thus greatly increasing the investment of capital in the state," the report states.

The report also discusses the position of the Alabama Power Company in making a second offer for Muscle Shoals which offer is explained in detail.

Record Held Rare.

The report holds that the company's record is regarded by experts as a chronicle of achievement rarely equaled in the public utility fields. Cities, towns and industries made large demands for electric energy to meet their ever-growing needs, the report shows. The demand increased to a total of 238,000 horse-power, with a total connected load of 460,-000 horse-power throughout the company's system, thus reflecting to some extent the progress of the state, as shown by the continued increase in the use of electric power.

Lands New Industries

In addition to increasing the supply and improving the distribution of power, it is stated, the company waged an aggressive campaign to bring new industries into the state and to discover new applications of electricity, in which work it is held to have been singularly successful. The Cherokee Bluffs plant will be the largest development of the company upon its completion, and will probably have 140,000 horsepower or more installed capacity. The two developments near Tallassee are expected to be completed in 1924.

Wayside Flowers

Pluck to the wayside flower,
It is the traveler's dower,
A thousand passer's-by
Its beauties may espy,
May win a touch of blessing,
From nature's mild caressing
The wild rose on the slope,
On whose soft lips the south wind blows.
A cheerful message tells,
The nodding blue bell's dye,
Is drawn from heaven's blue sky.
Then spare the wild flower,
It is the traveler's dower.

In the woods, where the shadows are deepest,
From the branches overhead,
Where the southern smilax cluster
And the softest moss is spread—
Dwells the sweet violets
Behind their leafy screen,
And give as angels give unseen,
Then spare the wayside flower
It is the traveler's dower.

MR. VINSON WRITES

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County, Alabama:

In making my announcement for the office of Commisioner for the fourth district of Chilton County, I did so fully realising the responsibilities and the importance of the office. The tasks of the commissioners of Chilton County are growing greater and more complicated each year. The responsibilities are growing greater and greater and the revenue of the county is increasing rapidly year by year, so that we have now much more to do with than we had a few years ago. In the course of another year or so, the commissioners will have something to do with and they must do something for the county.

All the candidates are now out and you can begin to make up your minds as to who would be the most suitable and best qualified for the various offices to be filled. My opponents are all good and trustworthy men, as best I know and can find out, so it matters not which of us are nominated I will do all that I can to elect him in the general election.

As you all know, I have had four years experience in the office to which I now aspire, and I know that I am better qualified to fill the office now than I was when I was elected before.

I want you to well consider each one of us before making up your minds as to which one you will vote for and then vote for the one that you think can and will do the most for the interest of the county and the people at large, for their interest is of more importance than either of us candidates. In fact, Chilton County deserves the very best that there is for it and its people.

Now, my dear voters, both men and women, I appreciated to the fullest extent you giving me the office before and will equally as well appreciate it this time if you can see fit to give it to me. I did the very best that I could when I was in office and was at all times willing for a majority of the people to rule, and I voted and worked at all times as best I could for what I thought the people wanted. I pledge you my word and honor that if you can see fit to give me the office again that I will do the same, for I consider the commissioners as well as the other public officials, are and should be servants of the people. If I should not be willing for the people to have a say in the affairs of their county, I would not ask for the office.

I again insist that you examine my past official record and the way I have managed my own business, and then if you think I can serve the people as well as any of my opponents, then I ask that you cast your vote and influence for me. I feel that my past experience as a commisioner would help me considerably in performing the duties of the office should I be elected again. If after such considerations you think that one of my opponents is the proper man, why then I say vote for him and the peoples choice will be my choice.

I admit there was not much progress made while I was in office before for there was nothing to do anything with and furthermore, there was so much to be done as you yourselves know if you will just think back a few years when every thing we bought we had to buy on time and pay two or three prices for it.

Now since there is something to do with and the County is in so much better condition financially, I would like to see if I could not do something for the betterment of the county, and people.

I am trying to see all that I can before the Primary but since it is a very busy season of the year with farmers and I have a large crop of my own, it is impossible for me to see all of you, so you that I fail to see please take this as a personal plea for your support and influence.

Be sure to come out on the 13th, and cast your vote for some one of us and of course I will appreciate it if you can cast it for me. Do not forget to come for we need you in the primary as badly as we do in the general election.

Yours for the success of the Republican party in the county, State and Nation,

A. P. VINSON.

AN EXPERIENCED COTTON MILL MAN IN CLANTON

Mr. W. A. Cherry of West Point, Ga., former and and native resident of Chilton county, was here the first of this week investigating the possibilities of the proposed cotton mill being located in Clanton. Mr. Cherry who lived a few miles north of here, left this county about ten years ago and has been working at the cotton mill business practically all of that time. He is now employed in one of the biggest mills in the South and has worked himself up to a good position. This being his home county, Mr. Cherry says that he would like to get in with the mill when it is located here so that he might be able to stay at home.

After looking around over the conditions here and learning the sentiments of the people in general, Mr. Cherry stated that the prospects looked mighty good for the mill to be located here. All the business men of the town are willing to donate liberally toward the purchasing of the tract of land which will be required for the mill and any other requirements which the promoters may designate.

NOTICE TO ROAD SUPERVISORS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

We wish to call the attention of all parties hauling lumber, logs, cord wood, timber or ore, that there is a license due to the county on trucks hauling the above, and it is the duty of each road supervisor to prosecute. We especially call the attention of each road supervisor to Section 36 of the Road Laws of Chilton County, Alabama, wherein it is provided that, "Any Road Supervisor who fails or refuses to prosecute any and all violations of Traffic Laws herein and all other violations of the Road Laws herein adopted, which come to his knowledge that are committed in his Road Precinct, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished as provided by law." We understand that we have been criticized by not putting license on all trucks. As the law has been interpreted to us, we had no authority to put license on any other trucks except those designated above, the legislature of 1923 making this prohibition.

The County Commisisoners are trying to maintain and establish new roads as fast as we can get them, but we are having some trouble in getting rights-of-way, this, of course, always delays the work. We appeal to land owners to give rights-of-way to build these roads, and in so doing it will save the county considerable expense and trouble and delay of time.

The road laws under which the county it now operating are new to this county and if any of the provisions are proven to be unsatisfactory and not of general benefit to the county as a whole, the court will make amends to suit the desires of the majority of the people and interest of the county. The laws were passed with one intention—to improve the roads of our county and to keep them in condition consistent with the progress of the times and in doing so to prorate the burden of the maintenance and construction of said roads upon individuals to whom the roads were of most benefit.

It is consonant with equity and good conscenice that the man who uses the roads very little should pay very little, while the man who uses the roads practically altogether for his business should pay more.

We call upon the people of the county and all public bodies and newspapers to encourage an observance of the road laws, and if there are meritorious amendments to be made to such laws, we invite a constructive criticism and will make changes accordingly where deemed proper and necessary.

All truck license will be half price after July 1st, 1924, provided no lumber, logs, timber or cord wood was hauled with the trucks before July 1st. If they were used for this purpose before July the 1st, full year's license will have to be taken out.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE consists of an Ointment which Quickly Relieves by local application, and the Internal Medicine, a Tonic, which assists in improving the General Health.

IT'S NICE TO HAVE FRIENDS IN FLORIDA

Speaking from a general standpoint, it is a glorious thing to have friends—in fact, we know of no other one class of things from which we would dislike more to part, but it is especially nice to have good friends in "The Land of Flowers."

Last week just as we had gotten over the rush of getting The Union-Banner mailed out the draryman came in with a big, well-packed crate of ripe, juicy oranges. On the end of the box was a label bearing the inscription "From J. Wiley Foshee, Lakeland, Fla." We cannot begin to express the appreciation which we have toward Mr. Foshee for this nice present, but will say in his behalf that he could not have sent us a more acceptable gift.

Mr. Foshee writes that he gathered this box from one of the fifteen orange trees which he has on his place which are twenty-eight years old. Mr. Foshee says that they kept a record of what one of these trees produced and thirty-seven boxes came off it averaging 200 oranges to the box. Mr. Foshee also writes that they have all kinds of vegetables now and a nice crop of corn about two feet high.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

An election will be held in the several polling places in the State of Alabama, by the Democratic Party, on Tuesday, May 13, 1924, between the hours of Eight A. M. and Five P. M., for the expression of the preference of the Democrats of Alabama for the nominees of the Democratic Party for such State, District and County Officials as are to be elected at the regular election in November, 1924.

This 5th day of April, 1924.

R. B. EVINS,
Chairman State Democratic
4-24-3t-c Executive Committee.

NOTICE QUALIFIED VOTERS

I want to call attention to all parties who are qualified voters and have been left off the list, to come to see me or write me at once. I am very anxious to get the correct record of all voters in the county, and this office will give preference to helping any voter to get their record straight to any other work that we are required to do.

Remember, where anyone writes us about their record and we get it straight, we do not answer the letter, but if we do not get the record clear we always write and explain the trouble.

When writing me state where you registered and the date of your birth, if you have paid your poll tax in different names—be sure and mention this fact.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

Child-birth

HOW thousands of women, by the simple method of an eminent physician, have avoided unnecessary miseries through many months and up to the moment Baby has arrived, is fully explained in the remarkable book, "Motherhood and the Baby." Tells also what to do before and after baby comes, probable date of birth, baby rules, etc., and about "Mother's Friend," used by three generations of mothers, and sold in all drug stores everywhere. "Mother's Friend" is applied externally, is safe, free from narcotics, permits easier natural readjustment of muscles and nerves during expectancy and child-birth. Start using it today. Mrs. E. E. Kerger, Slayton, Minn., says: "It pulled me through." Send for book today, to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-76, Atlanta, Ga. "Mother's Friend" is sold at all good drug stores—everywhere.

Odds of ten to one are being offered against Senator Walsh's winning the Democratic Presidential nomination. This must be an awful blow to the Senator's pride after the time and effort he has spent in advertising himself through so-called Senate investigations.

Two purposes of the Ku Klux Klan are said to be to aid enforcement of the laws of the land and to protect American womanhood. Two more noble motives could scarcely be conceived of, and there is not a place in the world, that we know of, which needs a rigid application of these principles more than here in Clanton. There are things going on around here every day—and every night too—that are a shame before God. If some people have ever had any sense of morality and personal respect evidently such sense has been overcome by their beastly desire for lascivious gratification. If possible, let us have a stronger and more effective application of the principles named above, augmented by the officers of the law and the good people in general.

Prof. Adams, the Yale tax expert, who for years has been serving Republican and Democratic revenue committees in Congress, has resigned from the Senate committee investigating the Treasury Department. He finds the work of that committee has changed from consrtuctive to destructive, and characterizes its proceedings as "a particularly demoralizer form of child's play." In his opinion there is no necessity for a probe of the internal revenue bureau. Its faults are no more than those to be expected among more than 19,000 people engaged in collecting annually $2,500,000,000 and refunding $100,000,000. There are inevitable mistakes of judgment, and a few cases of actual graft, but they can be attended to without a Senate probe to destroy the morale of the Treasury service.

Straw votes are never conclusive of popular sentiment, but the extent of the Literary Digest poll on the Mellon tax plan commands more attention than the usual test ballot. A total of 2,135,000 votes were received, coming from every state in the Union. Of the 15,000,000 ballots sent out, 14.2 per cent were marked and returned—a remarkably high proportion for a canvass by mail—showing the deep interest of the public in the question. Forty-seven states voted in favor of the Mellon plan, and only one against it. States voted in substantial proportion to the amounts which they contribute in Federal taxes. For instance, New York voted over five to one in favor of the Mellon plan, while South Dakota had a slight majority against it. It is significant that the former contains one taxpayer to every ten persons, while the latter has only one to every 30 persons. The people who pay the taxes evidently want the Mellon plan, and if the others could comprehend that maximum cuts in their cost of living depend upon its adoption, it would command still further support.

Says President Coolidge: "The physical vigor, moral strength, and clean simplicity of mind of the American people can be immeasurably furthered by the properly developed opportunities for the life in the open, afforded by our forests, mountains, and waterways." Suiting the action to the word, the President has appointed a national policy committee on out-of-door life. It consists of Secretary of War Weeks, Secretary of the Interior Work, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt.

The Federal Government is already engaged, through many of its departments, in the promotion of out door activities. Public interest in the citizens' military training camps conducted by the War Department is increasing. Tourist travel through the national parks, supervised by the Department of the Interior, is growing every year. Campers and hikers are offered special inducements in the national forests under the Department of Agriculture. It is the desire of the President to coordinate all those and other recreational facilities at the command of the National Government, and to formulate a national recreational policy that states and private organizations may follow as a guide.

CANE CREEK

On the fourth Sunday in this month, which is next Sunday the singing class of Cane Creek will meet at 9 o'clock and engage in song service until 11 o'clock. Rev. M. J. Parrish will fill the pulpit and deliver his usual well prepared sermon. In the afternoon at 1:30 the singing society will meet, and we are hoping to see a large crowd out and have a good singing. Let's everybody come on out with a renewed spirit and get our society started up again.

EVERYBODY WANTS COTTON MILL

Since the agitation for the cotton mill question got started in Clanton, some of the other towns within the available territory have begun to open their eyes and move around a little. They all realize that a cotton mill would bring them new life and they would like to have it located in their midst. Some of the towns have already agreed to donate them forty acres of land.

If Clanton gets this cotton mill the people here have got to show some life and go after it. If we don't exert some effort and offer the promoters some inducement the other towns will, and there is where the mill will go. The merchants and business men of Clanton have got to have something here that will put some money in circulation, otherwise somebody is going broke. We have been getting some revenue from the saw mills of the county and some from the Alabama Power Company's operations at Lock 12 and Mitchel Dam. The lumber industry has seen its day and the power company has finished its work in our country. We have got to have something other than agriculture to live from in this town and country. A cotton mill is the best thing we know of and the chances for one are good if we will only grab it.

We understand that the builders of this mill are going to begin breaking the ground within the next sixty days somewhere between Calera and Montgomery. We believe as yet the men are more favorable impressed with Clanton than any other place, but it is not a settled fact yet. We should not be satisfied until it is a certainty and this should be obtained at once.

Smilin' Charlie Says

Th' wimmin folks sure do look good in their frills of to-day, but how dye suppose they're gonna look in th' old family album ten years from now? —

JUSTICE! HAVE WE ANY?

In regard to public road working, the ones who did not have the money to pay $5.50 have to work seven days which nets each man about seventy-eight cents per day. Is it right, because a man cannot pay $5.50 to secure a road exemption to be forced to work for so small a sum per day? Another thing that is not right, the overseer in Beat 10 is working his men 10 hours a day while in Beat 5 the overseer is working his men only 8 hours per day.

As to truck owners having to pay $24.50 for state and county license and two cents on every gallon of gasoline burned and in addition to this our probate judge and county commissioners are imposing another additional tax of $11.50 on lumber trucks, while Coca-Cola, Line-Cola, Chero-Cola and all gasoline and kerosene trucks are not imposed on by the additional $11.50 tax.

All these licenses and gasoline taxes are supposed to go for the upkeep of the public roads, and from the looks of our highway they are narrowing them down till we soon won't have any roads to keep up.

I notice one man that is running for county commissioner has published that he believes that every wagon, buggy and all other vehicles should have to pay license and of the same commissioners that is trying to be re-elected.

It is a fact that we are all overburdened with taxes and licenses already without any more being added. So, the only way to get rid of so much taxes and licenses and unfair road laws is to get out and keep out such men as would try to impose such laws on the people. Now, let us see how a man stands on such things before you cast your ballot for him. We have some good men who will take half the amount of money and do twice as much good for the county. Let us be careful whom we put into office to make our laws over us in our county and handle our money.

H. N. SMITH.

ARRESTED SATURDAY

On last Saturday shortly after noon Deputy Harvey Fosbee placed under arrest William Vance of Clanton, under the charge of carnal knowledge in regard to a 15-year old girl by the name of Senie Mae Mims-Culp. Mr. Vance was placed under bond of $1,000 which he succeeded in making and was released on bail. It is reported that there are some other men implicated in the case, but as yet no other arrests have been made. Vance was tried in Justice Court before J. L. Wilson Wednesday. He was bound over to the Grand Jury under bond of $500.

Senie Mae Mims-Culp is the daughter of Mr. Elbert Mims of Shady Grove community, 8 miles west of Clanton, she having been married to Clifford Culp only a few weeks ago. The girl was brought to Clanton last Thursday morning and placed in jail where she still remains awaiting trial. It is reported that proceedings are being made to send the girl to the reform school.

The most noticeable recent fad in Washington is to charge everything to some man who is in his grave.—St. Louis Times.

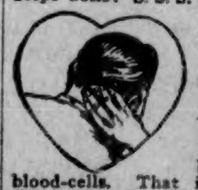
Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S. S. S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaff, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes:



"I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S. S. S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S. S. S. that did it."

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

FORD PROPOSAL VERSUS CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

Chapter II.

THE FACTS IN THE CASE—

$1,527,512.75 For Property Costing Over $80,000,000.

Henry Ford acquires for $1,527,512.75 government property which cost over $80,000,000. That property includes $500,000 of platinum belonging to the nitrate plants and platinum is the equivalent of cash. The result is the Ford Corporation acquires these plants for slightly over $1,000,000. That will be a little over 1 per cent of its cost. They consist of $4,200 acres of land with two great nitrate plants, dwellings, sewerage, locomotives, cars, repair shops and all modern improvements; two steam power plants, one of 6,500 horsepower (about the size of the steam plant on the banks of the Alabama River at Montgomery erected some years ago by Richard Tillis and now owned by the power company) and another steam plant of 90,000 horsepower, which is 12 times the size of the "Tillis plant," and nearly as large as all the power units at Lock 12. For the latter plant alone the power companies have offered to pay $4,500,000. All this is to be deeded to the Ford Corporation.

Taxpayers To Spend $3,472,487.25 For New Steam Plant.

The Ford proposal would take from the United States Treasury, cash to build in addition a 40,000 horsepower steam power plant for the Ford Corporation 100 miles south of Muscle Shoals and a connecting transmission line for the private use of the Ford Corporation, all to cost $3,472,487.25 to be repaid the government in installments.

THOSE WHO ARE INFORMED SAY:

Rep. Kearns, of Ohio:

"Perhaps it would be well to state that Mr. Ford is offering for the government's real estate holdings at Muscle Shoals only $5,000,000. These holdings cost the government, to be exact, and without any accumulative interest, $85,343.296. For this real estate and with all the gigantic buildings constructed upon it, together with all the railroad engines, steel freight cars, steam shovels, picks and shovels, rock crushers, cement mixers, railroad tracks and numerous other machinery and tools, he is offerinv the ridiculously low and unconscionable price of $5,000,000."

"For the Conbress of the United States to authorize the sale of more than $85,000,000 worth of the bovernment property to probably the richest man in the world for $5,000,000 would seem to me to come danyerously near beinb criminal."

Rep. Hill, of Maryland:

"There has been a good deal said about the alleyed selfishness of the power companies makiny the offer represented by the Hull bill, now before the House. To me nothing can be more preposterous than the proposal of Sec. 19 of the McKenzie bill to spend $3,472,487.25 of good, present, actual government cash to build for the Ford interest a steam power plant, nearly 100 miles away from Muscle Shoals, that has no possible relation to the Muscle Shoals water power or nitrate plants, except that during the war the Gorgas plant furnished extra power from the Alabama Power Company to Nitrate Plant No. 2."

LAUNCHING AN ATTACK UPON MOSQUITOES

Montgomery, Ala., April 21.—Selma and Dallas county have provided the means for launching an attack upon the mosquito in the offensive campaign which the State Board of Health has advised in the crusade against malaria. Heretofore the fight against mosquitoes was practically a defensive warfare, depending almost solely upon screens to keep the mosquito out, but this is changed now and the battle cry is "Organized Scientific Offensive."

According to news from Selma the city council of that municipality has agreed to appropriate $5,000 to match a like amount appropriated by the governing body of Dallas county. The expenditure of the funds is to be under the direction of special committees and the engineer which the State Board of Health has been requested to make a survey of the situation in the city and county.

While the death rate in Alabama from malaria is low, compared with other states and also as compared with automobile accidents, the morbidity, in some sections, is rather high. The fact that this is one tell on human life and energy which can be practically wiped out is encouraging many counties to plan an aggressive drive against the mosquito.

One thing which anti-malaria work demands is the use of fine mesh screen in the defensive campaign while the work of eliminating the mosquito's breeding place is being destroyed. Screen coarser than sixteen mesh is practically useless in keeping out mosquitoes, although it will keep out flies.

BUILDING PLANS NOW AVAILABLE TO FARMERS

Auburn, Ala., April 21.—The Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute is now prepared to furnish farm building plans of many kinds to those who request them. To comply with numerous demands, T. B. Chambers, an expert in this line, was recently employed for this particular task, and he is now preparing a long list of plans for general distribution.

Unusual interest in poultry at the present requires that special attention be given to plans for chicken houses and equipment, but plans for residences, barns, and farm buildings of many types, styles, and sizes have either been prepared or are in the course of construction.

It is preferred that these plans, which are furnished in blue print form, be made through either the county agent or the home demonstration agent, because they can be of assistance in offering suggestions as to the kind of plan which should be requested.

Those ready for distribution are of standard type but special plans will be prepared upon request. If such are desired they should be requested four to six weeks before they will be needed.

According to Mr. Chambers, plans should be used for construction of farm buildings of all kinds. In many instances it will reduce the cost. It will improve the arrangement and add to the value of the bulding. Another advantage is that the timber for the building can be accurately figured in advance and this frequently reduces the timber bill, lowering the cost.

THE SECRET OF BAKING GOOD BISCUITS

By Helen Harrington Downing
Director Home Economics, Calumet Baking Powder Co., Chicago, Ill.

The ability of a housewife as a cook is very often judged by the biscuits she makes, but they are really very simple to make. If the materials used are of the best, the recipe followed carefully and measurements are made accurately, only a little experience is required to produce excellent biscuits.

The principal requirements in making baking powder biscuits is, of course, that a reliable brand of baking powder is used and used correctly, that the ingredients be mixed quickly, and not so much as to make a tough biscuit. Too stiff a dough should also be avoided

All breads are divided into two classes—

1. Quick Breads
2. Yeast Breads

Quick breads are made in a shorter time than is required for making yeast breads, and are generally served hot.

A quick bread requires the following ingredients: flour, a liquid, salt and a leavening agent. To these may be added some other ingredients not necessary, but often desired, such as shortening, sweeting, flavoring and eggs. There are some points to emphasize, which cannot be repeated too often.

When mixing fat into a dough such as buiscuit, it is preferable to add the fat in solid form and mix into the dry ingredients, either with a knife or with the tips of the fingers.

Although it is possible to make a good soft dough using a spoon for mixing, the beginner, however, must be careful not to stir the dough so as to toughen it as is often the case with the first biscuits a person makes.

Sweeting, raisins, currants, and spice are often added separately or combined and added to biscuit dough after part of the milk is added

Baking powder is used in place of yeast, to make a flour mixture rise. When the mixture is of liquid and a good, plain straight flour, and is stiff enough to knead, it is called a dough.

Bread dough, biscnit dough and pie dough are examples of this degree of stiffness.

A biscuit dough can be used in making many delicious vartations. By adding grated cheese to flour, a delightful change to serve with salads is the result. Roll these biscuits thinner and cut smaller than the usual biscuits. Thinly rolled biscuit dough sprinkled with sugar and sliced bananas, rolled and as a jelly roll, makes an excellent dessert. serve with a lemon sauce.

Tiny, thin biscuit may be split, buttered and served with tea, while larger ones maybe served with breakfast or luncheon. In order to utilize left over biscuits of this kind, they may be split and toasted or dipped quickly into boiling water and baked in a quick oven until the surface is dry.

When you bake, do bake good biscuits—don't waste time on inferior products. A good flour and a reliable baking powder, a hot oven, and your family will appreciate your efforts. Try these recipes:

Baking Powder Biscuits

3 cups pastry flour
4 level teaspoons baking powder
4 level tablespoons butter or lard
1½ cups milk
1 level teaspoon salt.

Sift flour once, then measure, add salt and baking powder and sift three times, rub in shortening with fork or spoon, add milk, mix lightfully, turn out on a well-floured board and roll or pat one inch thick, cut and bake in quick oven (450 degrees Fernheit) fifteen to seventeen minutes.

This recipe is based upon the use of Calumet Baking Powder.

Coffee Cake

4½ cups pastry flour
4 level teaspoons baking pawder
4 tablespoons sugar
3 rounding tablespoons butter or lard
2 eggs
1 1-3 cups milk
1 level teaspoon salt.

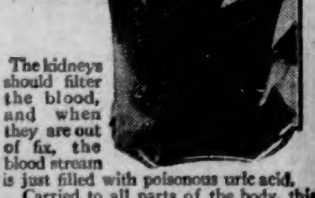
Sift flour, then measure; add baking powder, salt and sugar; sift three times, chop butter in with spoon, beat egg whites with half egg-shell of water added to each until stiff, then add yolks and beat in; add milk and beat all together; turn into two square pans and spread even; brush top with milk. Spread with the following:

½ cup flour
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon butter,

Mix flour, sugar and cinnamon; rub butter in until it is crumbly; spread thick on top of cake; bake in moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes at 325 degrees Fernheit.

This recipe is based upon the use of Calumet Baking Powder.

ALARMING!



The kidneys should filter the blood, and when they are out of fix, the blood stream is just filled with poisonous uric acid.

Carried to all parts of the body, this poison causes backaches, headaches, rheumatic pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability or depression and distressing bladder troubles.

But that isn't the worst of it. In chronic neglected cases, the excess uric acid is apt to form into gravel or kidney stones, and to cause gout, sciatica, dropsy and even Bright's disease.

Let the first pain in the back be your warning. Get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's new An-uric tablets (anti-uric-acid). Your druggist can tell you about this new discovery for bad kidneys. Or, send 10c for a trial package to Dr. Pierce, Pres., Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

STORE EGGS NOW FOR LATER NEEDS

Auburn, Ala., April 21.—With egg production about as high as it will be during the year and prices near the bottom, now is a good time to begin storing eggs to be used next fall and winter when production is low and prices are high. In this way eggs will be kept off the market, which should be done when it is overloaded.

According to John E. Ivey, poultry specialist for the Extension Service, the waterglass method is the best way to preserve eggs at home. Waterglass is a liquid sold by druggists, and a good solution for preserving eggs can be made of one part of waterglass to nine parts of boiled water. The object in using boiling water is to kill all bacteria.

After the solution is prepared it should be placed in a crock or glass container and eggs placed therein as they are gathered. This may continue until the waterglass solution is within three inches of the top. It should stand at least two inches above the eggs.

The next step in the preserving process consists of placing a cheesecloth or paper over the jar to keep out trash, and the final step is to place the jar in a cool place, such as a cellar or similar location where it will remain cool. The jar should be inspected occasionally. If the solution is evaporating more should be added. Eggs preserved in this way are ready for use when needed.

Substitutes are generally more expensive in the end than genuine articles. Housewives have learned—they KNOW this is true where bakings are concerned.

Self rising flours are classed as substitutes for plain flour and good baking powder. The use of these special mixtures is very liable to result in false economy, failures and waste on bake day.

Remember there is a big difference, in many ways, between biscuits and other bakings made from these so-called self-rising flours and those made from good plain flour and a dependable leavener. Try the experiment—make a baking from each—convince yourself.

You will find the baking made from flour and baking powder far more attractive in appearance. It will raise higher—retain its full food value and taste better.

For best results, do not fail to use Calumet, the Economy Baking Powder, and a reliable brand of plain flour.

Just think of it—the sale of Calumet is 2½ times as much as that of any other brand. It contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by the United States Food Authorities. It is pure and sure.

POOR C

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

Mr. George W. Freeman, merchant at Thorsby, has been adjudged bankrupt by the U. S. District Court at Montgomery, and a receiver has been appointed who is advertising for sale the entire stock of goods, fixtures and book accounts.

The Congregational church building at Thorsby is getting a new dress of paint applied by Mr. Perry Littlejohn.

Rev. J. M. Graham, Mrs. E. W. Butler and Mrs. S. E. Norton were delegates from the Thorsby Congregational Sunday school to the State S. S. Conventoin at Montgomery Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Easter services at Thorsby Congregational church were held at night and consisted of a program of story and song led by Rev. Each, who read a most interesting story about a blind boy in the time of Jesus Christ on earth, stopping at frequent intervals for appropriate Easter selections of music sung by the choir under direction of Miss Parker. This program was followed by a short but impressive sermon by Rev. Neil McQuarrie, who is conducting here each night this week, except Saturday, a series of evangelistic meetings. Rev. McQuarrie is a most interesting speaker always bringing a helpful message. The meetings are held at 7:45 p.m., and are open to all who desire to attend.

The dinner and sale of articles last Saturday,under auspices of Thorsby Parent-Teachers association, netted a little more than $50, which added to what has previously been raised by the same organization within a month which makes a trifle over $150 now on hand for equipment of the new public school building, before a shovel full of earth has been moved for the preparation for construction.

However, this does not mean that necessarily that "There's Nothing Doing" in the matter. The building committee held a meeting last Monday and after discussion of the project, agreed to use only brick tile adopted by the State Department of Education as material for the outer walls. They have carefully examined the building plans offered by the State which call for four rooms for classes together with an auditorium or assembly hall. These plans were satisfactory to the committee, as far as they go, but is was noted that they make no provision for a department for manual training, which for a modern school even of the grammar grades, which is as far as many children can hope to go, as considered by educators of today very necessial.

In the summer and fall of 1922 the writer visited many public schools of grades below high school, and found that our northern boys and girls have every advantage over those of the South in manual training. We saw domestic science classes composed of girls 10 to 13 years old and boys of the same age working at machines for iron and wood work under direction of a competent instructor. In other classes we saw others of similar age studying bookkeeping and mechanical drawing. These things are no longer considered as fads but a necessary part of educational equipment for our boys and girls, and the citizens of Thorsby may be thankful that they have a committee in charge of educational facilities who will try to give our boys and girls opportunities as good as provided for those in other communities. In order to ascertain if it is not possible that our new school shall have these facilities a sub-committee consisting of Mayor Bentley and Ernie Hansen, went to Montgomery Tuesday by appointment for a conference with Mr. Ledbetter, State superintendent of public school building construction, to see if some modification or change in the plans for our building may not be arranged to incorporate the manual training feature. As soon as this matter can be adjusted this sub-committee will visit manufacturers and dealers in such materials as can be utilized in the building to familiarize themselves with quality and costs. They will then report to the building committee who will probably solicit bids for construction.

Thorsby strawberries are now beginning to move to market, the first shipment of eleven cratea being made Monday. It is hoped our Fruit Growers Asociation will begin loading cars early next week. The season is late but the crop has not been affected by frost at any time so far, and it is hoped the yield of high grade berries will be large. Preparations have been made to load about forty cars during the season. The weather for the past few days has been quite favorable, though a little too cool part of the time for rapid ripening.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins made a week end visit to Albany, Ala., where she met her mother, Mrs. Frank E. Jenkins and an aunt Miss Grace Stanley of Hartford, Conn., who are visiting the old home and freinds of Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins and where Miss Jenkins lived as a little girl. Mrs. Jenkins and her sister, Miss Stanley, will probably visit Thorsby before they return north.

Mr. Harry Peterson reports to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Peterson the birth of a girl baby at the home of Mrs. Peterson's parents at Prattville. Harry, who is well known and loved in Thorsby, is now stationed at Mt. Creek as telegraph ogerator. His wife was a Prattville girl who has made many friends in Thorsby during their visits and a short residence here.

Quite a number of Thorsby young people attended the singing at Oak Grove and Poplar Springs last Sunday.

Miss Gladys Flummer is spending this week among friends in Birmingham.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. Aaron Littlejohn, who has been sick for the past two weeks is making slow progress on the road to recovery.

Miss Myrtle White entertained quite a number of young people last Sunday afternoon at an Easter egg hunt, among them were Misses Viluna, Pauline and Alpha Mae Shirley. After the hunt refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. G. White had as their guests over the week end Mr. and Mrs. Grover White from near Coopers.

Mrs. L. E. Diefenderfer gave the little folks of her Sunday School class an Easter egg hunt at her home Monday afternoon.

Mr. Reno Villadsen of Jasper visited his mother, Mrs. Anna Villadsen one day last week.

Mrs. G. L. Harper has been spending several days in Talladega with Mr. Harper's daughter who is quite ill.

GIRLS NOT COMING

On page 6 of this paper is an announcement that the Glee Club girls from Montevallo will play at the high school in Clanton. The engagement was called off after this page of the paper was printed, so the play will not be held.

The Ladies Guild of Thorsby will hold their regular monthly social on Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. O. L. Jackson.

Miss Ida Brueckner of Milwaukee, a sister of Mrs. Fred Howard, is enjoying a two-weeks vcation in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Carlson who have been visiting Mr. Carlson's brothers, John and Claus Carlson for the past two months, have returned to their home in Chicago. Miss Beatrice Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, went with them and will spend some time visiting friends in Chicago, Cleveland and other places.

Mis Alma Lefstead, who has been teaching in Marengo county the past year, completed her term last Friday and has returned to her home here.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. S. E. Norton gave an Easter egg hunt to the little folks of her Sunday School primary department, some fifteen in number.

DON'T MISS IT

We expect this to be the most entertaining event of the school year. Without your personal presence, it can't be so. Don't fail to be there to see what they do and hear what they say.

ANNUAL EASTER SINGING AT POPLAR SPRINGS SUNDAY

The Easter Anniversary Singing was held at Poplar Springs church April 20th, 1924. There were more people present at this than any former session of the singing. It is estimated that there were 1,500 people present. There were around 300 automobiles, buggies and wagons on the grounds.

Prof. O. L. Devaughn was elected chairman for the day, after which he appointed the following committee to arrange the program: Jimmie McDowell, J. D. Collins and Jasper Robinson.

The directors for the forenoon were L. T. Grant, Grover Gilliland, McKinley Gilliland, Newton Gilliland, G. C. Powell, Dewey Huett, J.M. Taylor, and W. M. Devaughn, all three songs each. There were two quartets rendered by the Cooper Quartet, which was worth the trip to Poplar Springs if one had not heard anything more. At 12 o'clock the singing was adjourned for dinner.

At 1:30 the singing was called to order by the chairman. The directors for the afternoon were: Jasper Robinson, Arthur Beaird, W. M. Devaughn, Akins Collins, G. C. Weldon, Jesse Jones, J. A. W. Mims, O. R. Robinson. The organists for the day were Miss Jewell McDowell, Miss Genie Collins, Grover Gilliland, Lee H. Grant, Miss Lela Mae Devaughn, Miss Zula Willis, Arthur Beaird and Mrs. Jesse Baker.

There were also some very good talks made by Bro. Parrish, Jasper Robinson, L. N. Henderson and others. But the best was made by Mr. McDowell who gave the singers a cordial welcome and an invitation to come back on next Easter Sunday in 1925.

The closing song was sung by the chairman, and dismissed with prayer by Bro. M. J. Parrish.

S. M. PATE, Secy.

THE OAK GROVE SINGING

As the Lord sent us a beautiful sunshine Easter, we gathered at 9 a.m. and had Sunday School. Then we took 10 minutes for arrangements after which the singing was begun. Most every place in the county was represented. There were so many singers that only one song was allowed each until afternoon.

At noon dinner was spread on the table and the crowd was well fed, there still being some food left. We feel like it was a day well spent. There were also some candidates up here, whom we were glad to see. We ask all the singers to come again when we will try and give you more time. We were sorry that some of our best voices were not able to sing. We thank all the young people for their good behavior in every respect. All during the day the conduct was unsurpassed.

Following is a list of the directors for the day: W. J. Northcutt, Ealon Cobb, Jack Cobb, Ivey Matthews, Lassie Northcutt, Bill Cofer, J. M. Smith, special song by E. H. MR. R. W. KENDRICK WRITES ON COMMISSIONERS RACE

Editor Union-Banner:

All candidates for nomination in the people should now consider the men that are worthy of their confidence and who are most competent the May primary having announced, for the places to which they aspire.

The people of the county were informed through a list of names published in the paper that the people of the third district wanted Mr. Walker for commissioner again. We do not need the Democrats to help dictate who we should put out and nominate. If the people will notice the list, there are a number of Democrats who signed petition endorsing his announcement. There could be a still larger number who would endorse the other fellow if they thought this the right way to conduct a campaign.

There is nothing in this part of the district that shows any credit to Mr. Walker's administration. But on the other hand, there are several things he has done and had done and has not done that are not creditable to the intellect of a man in such an important position. If the people were rightly informed they would know that the people in the third district want a man that will not surrender his authority and the county's interest to a few who have some personal motive in view. In dealing justice to all I do not deem it necessary to explain the situation any further at present. If any voter should wish to know why I say what I do I can explain.

Mr. Walker seemed to insinuate that Mr. Burnett would only get the votes of his uncles and cousins, and seems to think he should have invited him to go along. Was Burnett canvassing for Walker? I do not know Mr. Burnett, but I ask the people of the county if it is not fair that the commissioners office be given to a man who will endeavor at all times to do the things that are to the best interest of all the people. We find by a life-time acquaintance of Mr. J. F. Anderson that he is a first-class Christian man, always prominent in church affairs, a man with a fair education, good sound judgment, firm in his convictions, with some ability as a carpenter. What more ability could a man possess in order to make a good commissioner? His name was on the ticket eight years ago but Mr. Milling was nominated. Since that time he has stayed with and worked for the party. This is evidence enough that he stands for the right.

We are entitled to a man who lives in this part of the district as the present commissioner and the other candidate both live on the other side. I hope the people will justly consider the situation and in casting your ballot for Mr. Anderson you may be assured that you will be favoring the people of the third district and voting for a man that is worthy and appreciative of your support.

R. W. KENDRICK.

Pletcher, Ala., April 21, 1924.

HON. W. B. GREEN

Postmaster of Active, and Member of the Firm of Green & Co.

No man in Bibb county has more friends and truer, warmer friends, than W. B. Green. Mr. Green was the nominee of the Republican party for representative to the legislature last year. In his campaign he made hosts of friends among all parties. Quiet, dignified and genial in manner and of such candor and honesty of purpose, he made many friends. So we can truthfully say for him that, though he met with political defeat, the popularity and extensive friendship he formed is more than compensation for his defeat. He stands today one of the most respected and influential citizens of Bibb. He does a thriving mercantile business at Active on the line of the M. & O. railroad. The firm of W. B. Green & Company is one of the most prosperous in that section.

The above clipping is taken from an issue of the Blocton Messenger published about twenty years ago. Mr. Green is now a candidate on the Republican ticket for nomination as member of the school board in Chilton County. He now lives near Lawley in this county.

ENDORSES MRS. SIMS

Editor Union-Banner:

Here I come asking for another small space in your good old paper, to say that I guess all who expect to be candidates have announced. And we sure have a good bunch to select from this time. I notice that we have two ladies this time, and I want to say that I don't believe that the voters of Chilton County would make any mistake to give this office to Mrs. Lois Sims. I think she is a perfect lady and has the ability to conduct the business of the office to the credit of herself and the Republican party.

Mrs. Sims is a daughter of Mr. T. J. Hubbard, who has spent his life faithfully serving the party and the people as tax collector of the county and everything that came up for the interest of the people. If given a chance I am sure that Mrs. Sims will do likewise. I am sure that I do not know of anyone who would appreciate our votes more than she, as she has two children to raise and educate and needs the support of the office. So I plead in her behalf to give Mrs. Lois Sims your vote May 13th.

I am not accustomed to advocate or write letters to the paper in behalf of any one as a candidate in our primary, but I feel just like it would be a great honor to us and our party to give Mrs. Sims the office and help to lighten her burdens in life that much, since she is worthy of the honor and help.

So, I am for harmony in our party; respects to all the same, from the same old "Ignorance Drops,"

"DR." J. N. SCOTT.

YOUNG CLARENCE OAKS FINISHES BUSINESS COURSE

In last Sunday's Birmingham Age-Herald we noticed an advertisement of Spencer Business College of Birmingham, in which was carried the picture of one of their pupils who has recently finished his course and made an exceptional record. The picture is the likeness of Clarence Oaks, the young son of our Mr. John W. Oaks of Clanton Route 4. This notice in part reads: "This young man learned bookkeeping in Spencer College in 9 days."

This is quite a record for any young man, and we are indeed proud to claim Clarence as one our home boys. Not only his parents but all who know him are glad to hear of the splendid record he has made.

PROGRESS

In 1923 - and Part of Its Program for 1924

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad shows in the accompanying comparative figures a few of its outstanding accomplishments in 1923—the banner year of its performance:

	1923	1922	Increase
Tons of freight handled	57,468,190	48,890,798	17.5%
Passengers carried 1 mile	767,475,053	699,328,572	14.7%
Tons of coal handled	30,306,989	27,374,648	10.7%
Cost of operation	$118,702,530	$103,502,493	11.7%
Value of materials used	33,379,764	28,696,080	16.3%
Railway taxes	6,372,310	4,686,148	35.9%

In addition, the L. & N's improvement work for 1923 and its program so far developed for 1924 evidence its purpose to keep abreast with the growing needs of the times. In 1923 the L. & N. spent $31,635,463 for new work. Its 1924 program embraces construction of various roadway improvements and the acquisition of 42 new locomotives, 5,115 new freight cars and 60 new passenger cars—making a total of $33,147,846.

It is believed that this splendid record will be appreciated by the public and should induce such fair-minded consideration and co-operation as will aid the L. & N. in its further progressive development and its constant effort to give even better service to the people of the South.

Old Folks' Ailments

"I began taking Black-Draught over fifty years ago and my experience with it stretches over a good long time," says Mr. Joe A. Blakemore, a Civil War veteran and former Virginian, who is now a prominent citizen of Floyd, Texas. "It is the best laxative I know of for old people. . . A good many years ago, in Virginia, I used to get bilious and I found that was the best and quickest relief I could get. Since I came to Texas I have these bilious attacks every now and then—a man will get bilious anywhere, you know—and I find that a little Black-Draught soon straightens me out. After a few doses, in little or no time I'm all right again."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable liver medicine, used in America for over eighty years. It acts on the stomach, liver and bowels in a gentle, natural way, assisting digestion and relieving constipation. Sold everywhere.

MESSER-REYNOLDS CONTEST IS DISMISSED BY THEIR ATTORNEYS

Famous Case Brought to Close When Counsel on Both Sides Agree to Dismiss Controversy.

On last Friday the long drawn-out controversy of C. D. Messer against L. H. Reynolds, involving a contest of Reynolds' election as probate judge of Chilton county was brought to a close when a petition dismissing the case was drawn up by Messer's attorneys and signed by the members of the counsel for the contestant and contestee. This case was filed in the circuit court of Chilton county in December, 1922, and has gone thru a number of legal processes since that date. The actual trying of the case was begun in February of this year but was continued to give Messer a chance to work up his side of the case better. The case was postponed to the first Monday in May, which will be next Monday, but as will be seen from the following agreement, no further action will be taken in the case:

The Agreement

C. D. Messer, Contestant, vs. L. H. Reynolds, Contestee.—In the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama.

It is agreed by and between the parties in the above cause that the same shall be dismissed, either at the time same is set, May 5th, 1924, or at the next call thereafter, of the non-jury docket of said court.

It is agreed that neither party will take any further action in this case.

This the 25th day of April, 1924.

COTTON MILL MEN WILL MEET OTHER OFFICIALS IN CLANTON

Communication from the two cotton mill men in Spigener informs the Chamber of Commerce here that these two men are making arrangemetns with officials of the Alabama Power Company and the L. & N. Railroad Company to meet them in Clanton one day soon to look over the sites offered for the mill. The Chamber of Commerce has taken options on ten different sites around Clanton, and whichever site these men select will be presented to the mill by the citizens of Clanton and surrounding territory.

It is supposed that the men from Spigners want the power company and railroad representatives here so that they can get an idea of the cost of electric power and railroad facilities necessary to the operation of the cotton mill.

STATE CONTRACTS FOR PORTLAND CEMENT FOR THE CHILTON HIGHWAY

Commission Accepts Bid of Portland Cement Company For Material.

Contract for furnishing cement for the portion of the Birmingham-Montgomery highway in Chilton county was awarded to the Lehigh Portland Cement company by the state highway commission at its meeting Tuesday morning. The company will furnish 66,000 barrels of cement more or less at the average price of $2.54 per barrel.

This cement will be furnished to the Speed-Parker company of Louisville, Ky., which has been awarded the contract for constructing the road. The bid of this company was $414,786.85, and the value of the cement furnished them by the state will be deducted therefrom. It is thought that the state will save approximately $8,000 by buying the cement and furnishing it to the contractors.

A request was read from A. I. Smith, second division engineer, for additional help on the construction of this road in Chilton county and the commission voted to give the force asked for as the need arose.

POISONING THE BOLL WEEVIL

New Orleans, La., May 1.—While a thorough investigation of young cotton plants by farmers to determine the proper time for pre-square poisoning is urged it is not considered necessary that every plant on every acre in a field be examined. By selecting several rows in various parts of the field for examination it is believed that the degree of infestation can be determined with sufficient accuracy.

However, a most minute examination of the plants in these rows should be made and to do this it will be necessary for the farmer to get down on his knees and look over every portion of the plant. This operation should be repeated daily until it is determined that there are as many as twenty boll weevils to the acre. Poisoning should begin at this stage.

Equal effect has been obtained with calcium arsenate in dust form and the calcium arsenate-molasses mixture at this stage, according to the reports of state experiment stations, but farmers should not confuse the recommendation for use of the liquid mixture in the pre-square stage with the recommendations for late season poisoning. Calcium arsenate in dust form only is found to be the most effective after squares have formed.

At this stage calcium arsenate may be applied either by cotton dusting machines or may be shaken on the plants from a bag. The mixture, which should be composed of one pound of calcium arsenate, one gallon of molasses and one gallon of water, may be applied to the tips of the plants where the weevils feed by sprinkling a few droys from a home made mop. About one gallon of the mixture should be used to the acre.

Further information on boll weevil control may be obtained from the county agent, state college of agriculture or the National Boll Weevil Control Association, Room 220 Whitney Building, New Orleans, La.

Mr. Ephriam E. Smith of Birmingham was in Clanton Sunday visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. Johnson will probably be a frequent visitor in Thorsby for the summer at least. At the evening service he read a very interesting letter from Rev. John Burson, formerly of Silver Hill,, but now a missionary in China, in which he tells of the eagerness of the Chinese people to hear the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Magne Anderson have returned to Thorsby after an extended visit with Mrs. Ivey Horn, their daughter, with her husband and children at Boyles, Ala.

Mr. Fred Howard and family motored to Selma last Sunday.

Rev. E. W. Butler, accompanied by Jerome Wilson, motored to Montgomery last Sunday, where they attended services at the First Baptist church, returning in the aternoon by way of Union church (Congregational), seven miles east of Mountain Creek, where Mr. Butler preached at 4:00 o'clock p.m., and then drove on home.

Among Thorsby visitors the past week were Mrs. Vera Anderson and little Helen, Miss Ruth Peterson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Peterson, both of Birmingham; Mr. Herbert Peterson, wife and two children of Jemison, and Mr. Wilbur Peterson of Detroit, Mich.; sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterson; Miss Agnes Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Leary, now employed in Birmingham, who was accompanied by her friend, Miss Bray.

Mrs. Carl C. Petersen made a trip to Prattville to make the acquaintance of their new grand-daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Petersen last week.

Mrs. J. M. Graham made a visit to their son, Clarence and his wife at Anniston, returning last Sunday night.

Rev. Neil McQuarrie closed a series of evangelistic meetings at the Congregational church last Sunday night, and left for Atlanta, his home, Monday morning. The meetings were helpful to all who attended and there were several converts, who were urged to unite with the church of their choice at an early date and not drift about without chart or rudder.

The United Singing Society will meet at Thorsby Baptist church at 2 o'clock p.m., Sunday, May 4th. All lovers of music are invited to come and enjoy the singing.

On Sunday night, May 4th, at the Congregational church following the Christian Endeavor meeting there will be a stereopticon lecture by Rev. Jos. E. Each, pastor of the church, which will take the place of the regular praise service of singing for this one occasion. Everybody is also invited to the regular preaching service which will follow the Sunday School Sunday morning, preaching by the pastor.

"It seems like it did me good from the very first. After I had taken half a bottle I noticed an improvement. I continued its use and I got better and better. The pains in my legs and sides disappeared and I began to gain in weight until now I weigh 155 pounds and feel better than I ever did in my life. I am perfectly well and strong. I have given it to my girls, too."

Cardui has relieved many kinds of pains and distressing symptoms caused by female trouble. It should help you, too, in the same way. Why not give it a fair trial? E 103

WORLD'S SMALLEST BOOK

IT would take something akin to a microscope to read the book you see nestling in the palm of the above hand. It's an almanac—known as Schlorr's Bijou almanac of 1840—and measures three-quarters of inch in height, mind you, by a half inch in width. All of which makes it—the smallest book in the world.

This miniature volume, which is owned by a resident of Sydney, Australia, is composed of one hundred pages, beautifully printed. And there are three "full page" portrait engravings in it, likewise wonderfully rendered. A duplicate of this interesting specimen has been placed in the British Museum.

BRAINS VERSUS MUSCLE

The writer has been more than a little interested during the past few days to note the changes which have taken place in railroad construction and repairing of the roadbed within the past fifty years. The introduction of the block signal system, an electrically operated device in which the steel rails become the conductor for the current, the gap where rail ends meet being bridged by an insulated wire attached to the end of each rial by insertion in a small hole drilled through the thin part after the rail is laid. The drill is run by a small gasoline motor which sets on the rail and does its work while one would be getting read to do it with a ratchet drill in the old way.

A section gang laying new rails, some of them 66 feet long and weighing 100 pounds per foot, no longer attempt to put it in position by muscular action but the heavy work is delegated to a portable but powerful derrick which handles it quickly and with ease.

In laying ties, old or new, instead of tamping the dirt under them with elbow grease applied to pick and shovel and bar, the work is now mechanically done by compressed air forced through a hose and applied from a special nozzle exactly where it is wanted.

The last meeting of the Helen Keller Literary society was profitable and enjoyable. The sophomore class was responsible for the program. As they had just completed the study of Carlysle's Esay on Burns, it was very appropriate that they should give us a Burns program. The Senior class had been studying contemporaries of Burns so they were invited to assist in the program.

Life of Burns, Geraldine Dobson; Historical Setting, Lillian McKee; a song, "Oh wert Thou a Cold Blast, by Crescendo Club; To a Mountain Daisy, A man's a Man, Bernice Rogers; Contemporaries of Burns, Spurgeon Kelley; Duet, Flow Gently Sweet Afton, Etta Foshee, Claudie Smith; To a Mouse, Rosa Nelson; Was Burns a Success? Palmer Lefstead; a song, Auld Lang Syne, Crescendo Club.

On last Sunday evening the Christian Endeavor Society held its usual meeting at 6:45. The leader of the evening was Miss Lonnie Primm. The topic for the evening was "What do Misisons offer for life Service?" The members discussed the topic from all angles and made clear the wonderful opportunities that are open to young women and men of this country. If we intend to give our life in service to God, why not consider the openings that the mission fields offer to us?

Seventeen of the boys and girls of the Thorsby Public School made a perfect record for punctuality and attendance during the school year, 1923-'24. Each one of them received a new one-dollar bill as a reward for his faithfulness. We wish to give many thanks to the good people of Jemison and adjoining communities for their aid and loving kindness shown toward us during the recent bereavement of our loved one, Huston Davenport, who was killed April 26 by live wire in Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Huston Davenport and Rel.

HUSTON DAVENPORT KILLED

On last Saturday morning at 11 o'clock while changing some live wire on a cross arm for the T. & T. Company for the A. & W. P. railroad, in Atlanta, Ga., Mr. Huston Davenport was instantly killed. It seems that his foot slipped and he fell, hitting the live wire on one knee and on one shoulder blade, receiving several burns on the hands. He never knew what had happened as he never spoke again.

Mr. Davenport would have been 24 years old the 24th day of May. He leaves a wife and one child 11 months old. He was married a little less than two years ago.

The remains were received in Jemison Sunday morning, April 27th, and were laid away in Providence cemetery to await resurrection. Funeral was conducted by Rev. Monroe Honeycutt.

Mrs. Elbert Littlejohn and young son, Charles Elbert, returned from the Central Alabama Hospital last Saturday.

The Saturday Evening Post recently published an article under the title "President for sale." We know a man who would like to sue the paper for libel, but won't.

Senator Underwood tried to capture the Democratic presidential nomination by consorting with the papists and the Jews. But Senator Underwood is politically dead—and we are taught never to say bad things about the dead. Mr. Underwood could have been president if he had remained an American and had let Rome alone. — American Standard.

The county commissioners and probate judge are receiving many congratulations upon the work that is being done on the roads of the county. Not all of the bad places have been reached yet, but the work is being steadily pushed. The big caterpillar tractor is the thing to work roads with. The work which it has done on the Higgins Ferry road is very pleasing. The commissioners are making arrangements to buy another of these tractors soon.

Judge William M. Maltbie of the Superior Court of Connecticut holds that the person who buys intoxicating liquors, or other beverages prescribed by the Volstead act, is equally guilty with the bootlegger who sells the stuff.

In Judge Maltbie's court at Hartford last week two bootleggers pleaded guilty to violation of the liquor law. Appearing against them as unwilling witnesses for the State were several prominent persons whose names had been found on a sales list carried by the prisoners. They included doctors, lawyers, politicians, manufacturers, contractors, merchants and an author. Notwithstanding the fact that the prisoners had admitted their guilt, the witnesses were called one after another. The majority testified that they had purchased the bootleg liquor.

Some had entered the courtroom smiling. Others were resentful that they, respectable citizens, should have been dragged into a case involving a couple of common bootleggers. At first they were not very serious about it. Gradually it commenced to dawn on them that they were confessing to a part in illegal transactions, publicly and openly. They lost their jaunty spirit.

The Court did not impose sentence on the bootleggers immediately. Instead, the Judge turned on the witnesses in a manner that carried his remarks and their names to front pages of newspapers throughout the East.

"You witnesses who are supposed to represent property, respectability and social position—what are you, after all, but participants in crime, instigators of crime?" said Judge Maltbie. "These men here have pleaded guilty to breaking the laws of their country, not in any outburst of passion, but coldly and consciously, in order to secure a portion of the results of an illegal traffic. And they have done it to get your money.

"Not only have they broken the laws in this respect, but the trade which they represent drags after it every manner of violence up to murder, smuggling, piracy, and worst of all, bribery and corruption, which reach out to every man who tries to enforce these particular laws of his country. And the trail of these crimes leads right to the door of you who have come here and told that you have played a part in it.

"It is your money that causes it. There's many a man sitting in that pen over there who is deserving of more at the hands of the court and the public than you are."—The New York Times.

STORM TUESDAY NIGHT

Shortly after midnight Tuesday night, during the wind and rain storm the home of Isaac Moates on the Will Robinson place near old Salem church was badly ranshacked. The dwelling house bas lifted from the pillars and set three or four feet off from its proper location and an out building was carried away by thte wind.

Mr. Moates and his family were in the house asleep when the storm came which shook up everything considerably and carried off one side of the roof. No one was hurt but reports say that they were frightened mighty bad, Isaac especially. The household furnishings were badly damaged by the water and wind.

WHY IS IT?

APPLY THE RULES OF EVIDENCE

"Guilt is personal and corruption knows no party," Secretary Hughes reminds his New York audience in the course of a vigorous defense of the Republican Party from Democratic assaults. He called attention to the fact that the interests of the Government were in the courts, and that eminent counsel, appointed from both political parties, were there to see that full justice is done and that no guilty individual escapes.

Secretary Hughes deprecated the idea that the people were being misled by what has taken place at Washington. Throughout the country they are in close touch with court proceedings and are following with interest what takes place in countless jury-rooms. "Our people," Mr. Hughes declared, "are dealing directly with the credibility of witnesses, with the exhibition of the grudges and personal animosities of talebearers, and they know the difference between evidence and hearsay, between proof and malicious reports, between scurrilous innuendoes and sustained charges."

In expressing his confidence in the good sense of the people, Secretary Hughes puts a far higher appraisal on the general intelligence of our citizens than has been conceded by the Democratic Senators in charge of the Senate investigations. The latter have acted on the belief that the majority of the voters would accept without question the unsupported and unexamined statements of convicted criminals in and out of prison, and of others whom the Department of Justice is endeavoring to put behind the bars. Even without cross examination, the animus behind much of the testimony has been so apparent that it has been discredited from the moment it was uttered. Every man and woman able to cast an intelligent vote has a knowledge of the ordinary rules of evidence and is capable of applying them to the Senate committee testimony. The results will not be a tribute to Democratic political sagacity.

"THE AMERICAN STANDARD"

The Union-Banner is in receipt of Volume I, No. 8 of The American Standard, published in New York. As the name implies, the Standard is an all-American periodical, and the way it raps the Roman Catholics, foreigners and bootleggers is a plenty. In one article among forty others, The Standard says: "Roman Catholicism and Americanism are not compatible. Roman Catholicism is oriental in origin, pagan in conception and destructive in results. It is a product of orientalism, is the offspring of the East, a child of the colored enslaved races of mankind."

America is no place for Roman Catholics. Our forefathers, in the days of Roger Williams and Thomas Hooker, bled and died that this country might be founded upon the principle of religious freedom. This idea has been paramount all down through the pages of American history and it will continue to be the primest of American ideals in spite of the pressure brought against it by the alien immigrants into the New World. America stands for religious freedom—Rome Stands for religious bondage and political slavery. No, indeed, Rome doesn't suit America at all, and it will take a long time and rivers of shed blood before America takes orders from the Beast on the Tiber.

THE NORTHWEST WHEAT REGION

In an extensive article in a recent number of the Saturday Evening Post, Garet Garrett points out some facts concerning conditions in the wheat region of the Northwest which many people overlook. For instance, although there are, throughout the entire United States, an average of 3500 people for each bank, and this average is 5130 for each bank in Michigan, yet in Minnesota there are only 1600, in Montana 1370, in South Dakota 921 and in North Dakota 768 people to each bank. Those figures concerning population include men, women and children, and not more than one-third of the entire population has any use for a bank. That means that in North Dakota each bank had, on an average, about 200 patrons. Of course, the patrons support the bank. Undoubtedly these banks rendered a valuable and useful service but it may very properly be doubted that they rendered a service equal in value to the cost of maintenance. According to Mr. Garrett, some of these banks, in order to get business, encouraged farmers to go into debt so that the bank could get the interest. This extension of credit necessarily resulted in a form of inflation, particularly in land and live stock values, with the inevitable consequence that the mortgage covered the actual value of the property and the farmer lost everything. The banks, unable to collect, went broke. Too much credit, rather than too little, was the origin of the trouble.

FROM MR. W. B. GREEN

Editor Union-Banner:

I wish to state to the voters of the Republican party that in the primary on May 13th, that I will appreciate the vote and influence of every voter in said primary. As my business is such that I cannot canvass the county and meet you all face to face, I will try to write a few lines in next weeks paper stating my views in regard to the school system in the state and county. I am not in favor of taking a back step in the maintenance and up-building of every school in the county, large or small, and I am not in favor of building up one section of the county at the expense of another.

So, just read these lines below, which will give you an idea as to what I stand for:

As I was passing by the way
Where a school house used to stay
I heard a voice from somewhere say
"They've moved our school away."

"We're like a bee without a queen,
Tho' better days we all have seen,
So give us back our school again
That we our happiness maintain."

"For we are lonesome night and day
Since they took our school away;
A Federal truck will now they say
Take us there another way,
(And it may get back another day.)

"But now she's stuck in mud they say
And may be there till away in May,
So give us then the aeroplane
To get us over that muddy lane;
For every time there comes a rain
It grows from bad to worse again."

FROM MR. J. F. ANDERSON

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please let me have space in your paper to say a few words to the voters of Chilton County? I am a candidate for county commissioner of the third district, as you all know. I would be glad to see and talk with all but I can't before the primary, but I want to see as many as I can and I want to say to those that I do not see that I want you to consider this just as though I were in person with you talking.

I will not say anything about my past life, only that I was reared up in this county and have lived here about all my life, so you can get my record very easily. I do believe in good roads, but I think that we should build them only as fast as we have funds to pay as we go, so that we will not have a debt over us in the future to burden us with a heavy tax to pay the debt. I believe that we should be subject to road duty from the ages of 18 to 45 years old, and I think when we do any work do it good so that we may get something out of it, and have it done at the right price. In this way I think that we would save money.

So I will not say much more now, for the best way anyone can do is to talk less and do more. Men and ladies, after you look over what I have said and have considered it, if you do think that I would be worthy of your vote and influence, there is not a man in the field that would appreciate it any more than I would. Any way, whoever is the choice of the people in the primary will be mine in November. I have always voted the Republican ticket and always will, and if I am nominated and elected I will assure you all that by the help of God I will try to act in a way and manner that not one voter may ever regret having voted for me. Best wishes for the Republican party.

Joint Hostesses Entertain.

The Philathia S. S. class of the Methodist church were delightfully entertained on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. E. Luckie, when she and Mesdames Willie Jones and Claud Jones were joint hostesses. The reception rooms were attractive with an arrangement of baskets of exquisite pink and white roses.

The President, Mrs. Macy Jones presided in her usual charming manner, opening with the reading of the 12th chapter of Romans, followed with prayer by Mrs. Barney Roberts. The committees were named to serve for next month and upon the resignation of Mrs. J. C. Page as secretary, Mrs. T. C. McSwain was appointed to fill that place. A play is to be given by the class soon. Arrangements were made for the class to put on a special program for the opening exercises Sunday morning. No further business, the hostesses served a salad plate with iced tea.

Missionary Society Meets.

Mrs. Hugh Simpson was hostess on Monday afternoon to the W. M. S. of the Methodist church. The home was a bower of loveliness with a profusion of pink and white roses.

The meeting was presided over by the President, Mrs. J. C. Jones, who conducted the devotional. Reports from the outstanding committees were heard and $65.00 was reported as proceeds from the Bazaar, which was held recently. A menu was made out to serve a plate lunch to the K. K. K. visitors at the High school on Thursday night. Iced drinks will also be served. Plans were also discussed to repeat the 4th of July celebration this year.

After the close of the business session, a refreshing dessert course was served.

One new member, Mrs. Lula Calloway was welcomed into the society.

A splendid program has been arranged by the Philathia S. S. class of the Methodist church for the opening exercises at 9:45 a.m., Sunday morning, as follows:

FROM W. H. ROBINSON

To the Voters of Chilton County:

As you have seen my name as a candidate for commissioner of Chilton County from the fourth district, I wish to say to the people of the county that I cannot get to see you all as I would like to.

I think I know the duty of commissioner and I have been a voter for 40 years. I have not asked for office before, and I wish the people to consider me. I stand for equal rights to all and special favors to none. I realize that a commisisoner is only a servant for the people and that it is his duty to serve the people, and as I have never asked for office before, I would that you all both ladies and gentlemen consider me. I stand for the welfare of the people of Chilton county both financially and to the upbuilding of the county in general. It is not worth while for me to say where I stand for you all know.

Yours truly,
W. H. ROBINSON.

RICE GROWING IN ARKANSAS

The farmers who have made use of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's farm loan division represent twenty-five states, and the total area on which mortgages are held (approximately 3,750,000 acres), would constitute a plot of land the size of Connecticut and Rhode Island.

These farm investments on December 31, 1923, totaled $142,344,374.97. Of this amount $45,313,000 was loaned last year, according to a statement recently issued by Robert Lynn Cox, Second Vice-President, and head of the Metropolitan's farm loan division.

The extent of the crop production of 3,750,000 acres (covered under mortgages to Metropolitan Life Insurance Company) is indicated by the fact that if only 30 per cent. of the acreage were put in corn, the annual production, figuring 35 bushels to the acre, at an average price of 65 cents, would make a return of $25,593,750.00.

Loans are made in the best agricultural sections of Iowa, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and other states, chiefly in the central, northwestern and southwestern territory.

Despite widely current reports of the serious situation facing farmers, it is a noticeable fact that Mr. Cox reports only 45 foreclosures pending out of 18,648 mortgages. Only eight farms have been placed in foreclosure in Minnesota and four of these were subsequently reclaimed.

According to Mr. Cox, a realization of the economic hope of the American farmer, long deferred, is now in sight. "The farmer," he said, "is getting at last his chance to share largely in bringing about better economic conditions in the world, and I am sure he will not dissappoint those who believe we can look to rural surroundings for the development of our best citizenship."

FAVORS VINSON FOR COUNTY TREASURER

Clanton, Ala., April 29, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

The Republican primary will soon be held and there is but little being said. I hope that the people will wake up and not let this election find us napping, for this is an important election just the same as all others are important. We now have every elective office in Chilton County filled with Republican officers and we must strive to keep them so. In order to do this we must nominate good competent men who can carry our banner safely through in November.

There is one office to be filled at this election that needs our careful attention at this time. This is the office of county treasurer. We have several good applicants who are offering themselves for this place, all of whom are well qualified, but we must select the strongest person for the nominee because the Democrats will make a stronger fight this year than ever before and we can not take any chances of being defeated or even a chance of losing an officer.

Kin M. Vinson is a candidate for this office and is well qualified to fill it with credit to the party and to the whole county. He can be of great help to the people in many other ways other than just to fill the office he is seeking, for he has had about three years experience in three or four other offices in the court house as a clerk and is familiar with the records of almost every office in the county. He is a man who, if nominated, will be able to poll every vote in the entire Republican party in November. If we were to nominate a lady for this position, I do not believe that she could poll the full strength of the party for I have seen a good many voters of the county and have heard a number of them express themselves that they do not believe that the women ought to vote and say that they would not support a lady at all. We have two most excellent ladies asking for this place, and I have the highest respect for them but I do not think the time is ripe yet to elect women to office.

While wrting this I wish to mention a few other things in Mr. Vinson's behalf. He was one of the many young men who were drawn away from his wife and baby to face the hardships of the army life for 21 months, about 10 of which were spent in France during the World War. He is one of those veterans who came back home with his morals as strong as they were before entering the army. It takes a man of moral strength and moral courage to withstand the army life without it wrecking him but Kin M .Vinson is one of thise who made good in the army and has made good at every thing he has undertaken since he came back. During the great and bloody war we were sleeping in comfortable homes, making money as we have never made it before nor since, while thousands of our boys were suffering and many sheding their blood for us. When the war closed we were willing to praise the boys for the victory in mere words but now we have an opportunity to prove our sincere appreciations of their making such sacrifices by rewarding one of our home boys by nominating him to fill one of the county offices. Let's prove our sincere appreciation by voting for Kin M. Vinson who is the only candidate before us today who has gone through the hardships to serve us.

As I see the situation, there is every reason why we should vote for Mr. Vinson for the office of county treasurer. He is as well qualified to fill the office as any man in Chilton County and is a man who is not afraid of hard work. He was reared on the farm in Beat 6 and knows what it means to toil with our hands. He is an honest and upright young man in every respect and is a hard worker at whatever he undertakes. He has so conducted himself as to command respect of everyone and is a loyal Republican who will ever be found working for the upbuilding of the Republican party. Mr. Vinson has never asked for any public office before and I believe that we should give our young men a chnce. Two of his opponents are men who have held office off and on for several years and I feel like they ought to have a rest.

Voters, just stop and think for one minute. Where is the justice to turn down a young man well qualified in every respect and one who has fought for us, and vote for some one who has been honored with this same position before? I feel that common justice and gratitude will sanction that we vote for Kin M. Vinson for county treasurer of Chilton County.

Very truly,
O. R. ROBINSON.

MORE IGNORANCE DROPS

Editor Union-Banner:

Here I come for another chat in your good old paper for the voters of the county. The primary election is drawing near and this is to determine who is to be our officers for the next four years. So let us consider well before we vote, the records of each condidate for office. I want to say that we do not want men like Mr. C. T. Walker, who is not satisfied unless they can heap up burdens on the people of the county, even when it is not necessary. Just think for a moment, the State has fixed the taxes on us until we had over $2,000 coming in each month to build and keep up the public roads of our county—more than has even been paid in. Yet, he is not satisfied and wanted all wagons and trucks that hauled lumber and logs taxed extra, but by some means the taxes were removed from the wagons but kept on the trucks. Mr. Walker says that the State laws interfered, but I want to say that it is no more so than trucks if they are hauling the same class of products.

No, that was not the cause. He wanted the money, and as I have said heretofore, some people think if a man owns a little gasoline saw mill or a Ford truck they take him for a millionaire. I believe in taxing the people when it becomes necessary but not a few for the benefit of all, then make it equal to all, not pick out just one class of men and put the whole burden on their shoulders. Mr. Walker is one of the men the Bible mentions—he will heap up burdens upon men that are graver to bear and will not relieve one of them with even the touch of one of his fingers. I want each truck man and all others who oppose that law to remember him at the polls May 13th and give your vote to Mr. J. L. Burnett. He is competent and a good man for the place. I have known the Burnetts for many years and have found all of them perfect gentlemen. I have one of them farming for me and he is O.K.

I want to say further to the truck owners of the county that we have employed a lawyer and are preparing for the fight against the unjust law taxing trucks hauling lumber and logs, cordwood and ore and timber, and we want to know how many of you that will help, who you are and how much you will give to aid us in this fight. Some who have already bought tags say that they will help, so write me or W. A. Barnett, Jemison, Ala., giving your name and address. I want to say that we have the asurance that it can be knocked out, and why should we not stand up for our rights and justice. So don't forget to write me or Mr. Burnett by next Saturday or just as soon as you can.

So, I will take a rest as it is hard work fixing up these "igrounts drops" so I remain, the some old

"Doctor" J. N. SCOTT.

MR. WATSON WRITES

Clanton, Ala., April 24, 1924.

To the Voters and Taxpayers of Chilton County:

I take this method of presenting to you some of the things that I would stand for if nominated and elected commissioner for the fourth district. Believing that I am fully qualified, I would do everything in my power to manage my part of the county's affairs for the best interest of the county and to the interest of the tax payers of the county.

I believe that everyone who draws on the county treasury ought to give value received for what he gets. I don't wish to criticize any present or past commissioner, but I do believe many times they are too slack along this line. I believe that each commissioner ought to be thoroughly acquainted with his district. He ought to know every road and every bridge and be able at all times to give a close estimate as to what it would cost to work or repair them. I believe that the trucks that were given the county a few years ago by the State have been demonstrated to the county inasmuch as they were not built to work roads with and their upkeep costs more than the work they do is worth.

I believe in sending a man out with a good tool and then pay him for what he does. If he works a day, pay him for a day, if he works four hours pay him for four hours and not a day. I live on what is called the Maplesville highway, one and a half miles from Clanton, and I believe the people in the most remote parts of the county are as much entitled to a good road as I am. Of course, the nearer town, the more traffic, which calls for more work, but it will work the other way just the same. The further from town the less traffic and less work, after they are once worked and put in shape.

I believe it will be necessary to make some changes in the present road laws, as it does not seem right to me for a man that hasn't got five dollars and fifty cents to have to work it out at about seventy-eight cents a day. Neither does it seem right for a man with a truck, after he has paid up all demands for the year, then have to dig up $11.50 more before he can haul a load of lumber. I know if we work roads by taxation we have got to get the money from some source of taxation, but we can't expect to get it all out of the little Ford truck lumber hauler.

As some have asked me as to how I stand on the county having a farm demonstration agent, I will say that I am in favor of a county agent, providing he would get the right kind of a man, one that is a live wire and one that will make good for the county—I mean a man who is trained up for that purpose and does not mind work and will get out among the farmers and make himself useful. Other counties use them to great benefit. Why not Chilton? Since most of us are dependent upon the farms for our living, the farmers are entitled to all the help that he can get. I believe that the county commisisoners ought to buy the material that they use for road work by wholesale as much so as possible, such as cement, sewer pipe, lumber and nails, instead of paying a high-priced hardware man a great big profit on everything they buy. A county commissioner ought to handle the county's money more economically than he would his own, if possible, because if I waste my own money, there is nobody hurt except myself, but if I waste the tax payers' money, it hurts every tax payer in the county.

Now, these are just some of the things I would stand for if I were a commissioner. My record as a citizen, as a taxpayer, as a Christian, as a Republican voter, is an open book. I have done nothing that I am ashamed of or want to keep hidden. I would thank both men and lady voters to investigate as to my fitness for the position that I am asking you to give me, before you cast your vote for any of my opponents, then if you see fit to give me the nomination, I assure you now that I will appreciate it as much as any man you could nominate. I claim that I have made a success of my own business, considering the circumstances under which I have labored. I am 52 years old, have been a taxpayer in Chilton County 29 years. I need the position and feel like I am as much entitled to it as any of my opponents, however, if you see fit to give it to one of them, your choice will be my choice in the November election.

Respectfully,

W. J. WATSON.

"JOY-RIDING" GANDER

UP near Portland, Oregon, lives a proud farm woman wh ohas a real honest-to-goodness "honker" for her Ford car. It's her prize gander. His name is "Bob" and, in the above picture, you see him contentedly perched os "Henry's" radiator. He's just perking up his head, listening for the whir of the motor that will see him off on another of his favorite joy-rides.

Now "Bob" is just a real up-to-date gander. He has a passion for motoring." And like a lot of "human birds"—the greater the speed, the better he likes it. His mistress, however, being of a conservative type, thinks 25 miles an hour is fast enough but—even at that speed—"Bob" has the time of his life going over the bumps in the country roads.

So far, he has not been jarred loose from his precarious radiator perch but if his mistress ever takes him over some of the roads we've traveled, we're thinking it'll be—"Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgot" for "Bob" and his speed mania.

FROM C. L. WILKINS

To the Voters of Chilton County:

Gentlemen and ladies, who are voters of this county and who we believe should and will decide by your votes on May 13th, the choice of the Republican party for the different offices of the county:—As I am in the bunch, I would be glad for you to consider my case, and if you should give me a job as commissioner for the fourth district, then, as I have said before, I expect to give you the very best I have in my shop.

I am a Missionary Baptist in profession. I believe in foreign mission but I believe we should have some home mision too. If I should be your choice for commissioner I would like to carry along some home mission work in our county and district. I believe all men have a right to justice and provide things honest in the sight of all men, we would gain confidence in ourselves again. Now, as the tax question is an important one before us today, I would like to say a few words in that direction. There is no one hardly who minds paying a debt when he thinks he has gotten his money's worth. While we have got to have tax and the only thing to do is that we can do is to elect men that will be reasonable and will not go beyond our reach. If we can make a man believe he is worth a dollar then you can most always get that much tax and not make him mad, and if a man is using the public roads he is willing to work it or pay for it being worked, but he is sure to want it done on the road that he is traveling. Yet, I believe that road tax is necessary, if we could just get it to work right. Let us just consider John and Ben a little. John lives nearest a bad spot of road and he doesn't want to work and he does not want to pay tax to have it worked. Of course he will work if you warn him out lawfully but he is mad and there is no joy in John. He is a hard working man and has good judgment about road work. Just go over to John and give him the contract of fixing that spot of road. He lives there and he has the tools to do it with and he can do it when he can't do anything else, therefore, he will do it cheaper than any one else It will help him and it will help the county and it will make him love his friends and the county love him. Now, Ben lives somewhere near a bad spot of road and he is in the same fix John was in—he won't pay tax and he won't work Just go over and tell him you want to hire him to fix this road and you want him to make a good job out of it, 25 feet wide. He is most sure to trade with you and you have made the county a friend. But go and warn them to work when they are busy and you still have a mad man, no good for himself or anyone else. There are many other things just as important that make me believe I can be a help to my county and my people.

Now, as we all know, if we will just think a minute, that we in Beat 6 have never had a commissioner. For that reason if for no other, I beg the support of the voters of Chilton County. As it is a busy time, looks like I just haven't got time to see all of the voters. If I don't get to see you or if I do, and you can cast your vote and influence in my favor, I shall be thankful to you for it. I hope that all of the voters will go out to the primary and cast your vote for someone if not for me, for that is just about all the right we have now. If we don't be careful, we may not have that right very long.

C. L. WILKINS.

HAIRY VETCH LEADS AS WINTER LEGUME

Alabama Farmers Have Turned It Under and Planted Cotton and Corn.

Auburn, Ala., May 1.—Hairy vetch continues to be the most popular winter legume in Alabama. Despite the most severe winter in many years, it came through, and thousands of acres of it are now being turned under and the land planted to corn or cotton.

Due to the cold weather during the winter and spring hairy vetch is late this year; but farmers have turned it under in time to plant cotton and corn. About 5,000 acres of it grew in Dallas county alone. Approximately two-thirds of it is being planted to cotton and one-third to corn.

After making a careful study of hairy vetch throughout the State, Frank E. Body of the Extension Service, reports that lack of inoculation was the chief cause of failure. "Where vetch was inoculated it came through the winter and made a good growth," said Mr. Boyd. "Although it is late it remains the leading winter legume in the State, and I am confident that the acreage planted next fall will be the largest on record."

Due to inadequate inoculation the stand in several instances was very poor, but Mr. Boyd, the agent, and officials of the Experiment Station have insisted that it be allowed to grow in order to include the land. They declare that the same land should be planted to vetch again next fall because of this inoculation.

AUBURN FRUIT CROP IS VERY PROMISING

Proper Care And Management Have Been Big Feature Summer Spraying is Timely Work.

Auburn, Ala., April 28, 1924.—The fruit crop on the Experiment Station here is very promising. Apple, peach, and pear trees are loaded with young fruit which is growing rapidly.

As a protection against diseases and insects the apples have received their first summer spray and the peaches their second. Additional applications will be made from time to time in order to keep these pests under control.

Proper care and management are assigned as the main reasons for successful fruit production at Auburn, where failures rarely, if ever, occur. Cultivation, fertilization, and spraying are properly done at the right time.

To supply nitrogen and add humus this orchard grows one or two crops of legumes each year. In preparing for legume crops, in turning them under, and also between crops, the trees are cultivated.

Spraying is done during the winter, spring, and summer seasons. Ordinarily, only one winter spray is applied. Several summer sprays are applied to control diseases and insects which grow rapidly during these seasons.

According to Prof. C. L. Isbell, Horticulturist for the Experiment Station, the Auburn method of cultivating, fertilizing, and spraying fruit trees is not complicated. It is practical for farmers throughout the State. If it is followed the production of good fruit should follow.

"I Never Ate A Better Meal In Any Restaurant!"

THAT'S what patrons are telling L. & N. dining car stewards every day. Nothing breaks the monotony of travel like a good meal, when it is well cooked and appetizingly served.

Cold meats and salads served on chilled plates; hot dishes on those taken from the warming cabinet. From crisp celery or the delicious stuffed mangoes to the demitasse, you will find L. & N. food and service unexcelled on any other railroad, and equalled by few restaurants.

Remember, when you are enjoying a meal on any railroad, that, due to the enormous initial expense (present-day dining cars cost the railroads more than $50,000 each)—the cost of hauling these big, heavy cars, the expense of stewards, waiters, cooks, linen, silverware, to say nothing of the spoilage of unused food—it is costing that road an average of about 44c more than your check will call for, and that this deficit is being absorbed by the railroads in order that you may travel in comfort.

McNary, Oregon, Weeks said he had studied the Hooker-White-Atterbury proposal in a general way and he would be glad to have the chief of engineers study the offer and make recommendations.

The chief of engineers will be heard Wednesday' Chairman Norris said.

"I think the government can dispose of Muscle Shoals, under better terms than any of the present contracts," Weeks said.

"I am opposed to government operation and think we could enter into a limited partnership with some private enterprise."

He said he doubted the wisdom of entering any binding contract for fifty years.

"In three years you will be able to carry power anywhere east or west of the Mississippi river by means of an inter-connecting transmission line," he said.

"If by reason of drouth some needed power, a telephone call would bring it. This whole question revolves around nitrates and it will take four or five years to find out what process is best because this whole industry is in its infancy."

Later Chairman Norris explained that Miller was employed by Ford's Dearborn Independent. Decision to put the telegram into the record was made at an executive session of the committee before the public hearings were opened.

QUINCY, FLA.

The farmers here have already transplanted their tobacco plants and the plants are growing nicely.

The sewing club met at the home of Mrs. Littman last Thursday afternoon. After an hour of fancy work being done by the ladies, Mrs. Littman served ice cream and cake. The club members all know to expect a pleasant afternoon when invited to the home of Mrs. Littman. The club will meet at the home of Mrs. W. P. Hicks next Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Eugene Thompson, Mr. C. B. McGee and Mr. Harvey McGee left last Friday for their homes in Chilton and Bibb counties. Mr. Thompson will return next week with his bride, Miss Pearl Jefferson of Lawley. They will make their future home here, where Mr. Thompson is a contractor. Miss Jefferson is the attractive young daughter of Postmaster T. W. Jefferson of Lawley, Ala., and indeed a very charming girl; loved by all who know her. Mr. Thompson has a new house and it mostly furnished, ready to occupy on their return. We wish for this young couple many years of happiness together.

Mr. C. C. Culp has sold his Ford truck and has purchased himself a new Ford car.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hicks are the proud parents of a fine baby girl, born the 12th of April.

The Blessed Lumber Co. have sold their sawmill and timber here to the Simpson Lumber Co., of Mississippi. Mr. Prime, the superintendent of the new company and family, with several other families from Mississippi have just arrived to take charge of the mill. Mr. T. Holmes, former superintendent here and wife have gone to Birmingham, where they have several children. We regret very much to see Mr. and Mrs. Holmes go away.

Mrs. Sam Shoults of Chilton county, Alabama, is now here visiting her sister, Mrs. W. P. Hicks. Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. Shoults will be remembered as Misses Willie and Ila Walker of Lawley, Ala.

Mr. Moodie Collins of Lawley, Ala. is now sawyer for a lumber company about four miles from this place.

Florida is truly named for the "Land of Flowers," because of forest here is a mass of flowers and beautiful moss; all varieties in colors and sizes. The most beautiful wild flowers we have ever seen grow here in the forest. In the swamps grow large magnolias, palms and palmettoes. They are beauties themselves. How wonderful nature is, so many of us never stop to look about us at the great things that God has given us to look upon. We can look at the beautiful wild flowers, how lovely they are. We should always think how good God is to give us something beautiful and not something ugly. How can some people say, "There is no God."

DELIVERS LECTURE BEFORE METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL

On Last Sunday, Prof. Stephens, principal of the Chilton County high school, made a speech before the Clanton Methodist Sunday School, which is worthy of special mention. The subject used by Prof. Stephens was "Sunday Schools," and the following is what he had to say on the subject:

"What is to be had at Sunday Schools? This is the question that will present itself to the mind of one who is asked to join in the work. Can we answer that question? Upon the answer depends the success or failure, ultimately, of the whole structure upon which the institution is founded. What manner of answer then will we give? Let us see for a moment. The belief in the soul is universal. If it is not the essence of self, then it is the nucleus from which evolves all that is spiritual and everlasting. The world is agreed that in this essence is foun l the minimum of individuality that can't be destroyed. That out of this comes all that is spiritual. As it develops and takes on strength and comp'exity man is transformed from the physical type to the mental and spiritual type of man. Spiritual development means the progress of the soul in experience. Spiritual exercise and emotion takes place in proportion to our spiritual experience just as we grow and develop by the exercise of our physical powers.

"The first thing we can do then is to convince those who are not taking advantage of this great institution that they have a spiritual nature, full of promise and hope, calling for development and expression. That is experience, self expression of the soul is the highest and most precious gift of God to man. That this power of self expression depends upon its experience in spiritual things is certain. If we would teach the child botany or physics, we give him expression with flowers and machines; if we would teach him surgery we give him experience with the human body; if we would teach him agriculture we give him experience with animals and plants and soils,—the greater the experience the greater the power developed. The same law holds for spiritual development and growth. To teach it means to furnish the proper environment for experience. Without the environment, without the elements or factors that cause us to react to the stimulae, we get no self expression, no rich and varied experience that makes us all strong in that we have the wherewithal to solve the problems of life which arise for solution. There is a world of difference between telling and teaching. How many ball games would be won by telling the boys how to play or by writing it out and having it read in bed before the boy arises in the morning?

To teach, then, means to furnish the proper environment. The environment for the development of the spirit of man is presented by the great Sabbath Schools of the country and their extension work. These are not the only means but it is here that the proper environment is arranged to give the individual experience that he needs to get self expression for his powers of soul.

"When I was asked to make a talk on the subject of Sunday Schools I was somewhat at a loss to know just what I could say. I did not want to disappoint anyone, yet I knew all would expect me to make sime display of my powers of language and oratory. Suddenly there came the inspiration. The ladies of the Methodist Sunday School had challenged the men for a contest of programmes. They were so sure of themselves that they readily agreed that we could have the advantage of time and place. Last Sunday they gave us what they had. It began with songs and readings by the children, little children, children whose earnest innocent faces glowed with a certain light that touched back into memory when life was to us one continuous wonder and revelation, and we stood wide-eyed and fascinated at the tales of fairy and goblin told at mother's knee. Then suddenly there stepped forth two little white robed maidens, as the two lillies of the valley had sprung up by magic, emblematic of the purity and innocense and love of the world. As they approached the cross erected for the occasion the significance of the act flashed through the minds and souls of those present. Throats gripped; eyes burned with scalding tears—the spirit of Christ was in our midst lifting us to the heights of spiritual purification. All I could say here in description would be but a feeble replica of what was enacted there.

The soul of man, with its power to rise to the heights of spiritual joy if brought into contact and communion with Christian spirit finds its most appropriate environment in the great American Sabbath Schools. Here the soul aghunger finds kindred souls to lead or follow in the expression and growth of that spiritual nature which is the crowning gift of God to man. We realize its power. We dimly divine its destiny. Without it man lapses into the beast; with it he climbs into the glories of the infinite. The politician harrangues, the statesman thunders the doctrines of democracy; the attorney weaves his tangled thread of evidence to hide or discover the guilt or innocence of his client; the minister testifies to the promises of God in the fulfillment, but in the final analysis it is the character of the man that moves us to action—the purity and sincerity of his spiritual life speaking with convincing voice. This is our inspiration. Would we rise to the heights of the promises of our nature? Would we rejoce in the unfolding to the highest of the lives of men? Would we safeguard our country and secure the future for our children and posterity? Then, under the dictates of sense and reason, the one way to secure these blessings to ourselves and guarantee them to posterity is to develop that power in man given him by the creator to see and know that happiness to onesself is bound up with the happiness of others and that soul-power makes of all mankind one. That one can no more detach himself and put on happiness, leaving the world in misery, than he can detach his limbs and make them happy with the body in sin and suffering.

Sunday Schools, then, is one of the roads by which man may reach his destiny—may know and reach his destiny—the common school of the soul, the preparation for the spiritual life, the hope of the individual—the destiny of the human race."

COOLIDGE APPEALS TO COMMON SENSE

Washington, April 28.—"If the president's speech before the Associated Press at N. Y. was as 'sedative' as some people have described it, it was exactly what the country needs," declares the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "We have had irritants so long and voluminously that anything in the nature of a sedative can not be otherwise than beneficial. With public and private scandal manufacturing or distributing committees at work and with a dozen or more interlocked organizations of socialistic purpose striving to plunge the Nation into any sort of radical experiment, it is well that some man of sound sense and courage rise to present an example of calm thinking while he teaches the doctrine of individual endeavor and thrift. Sensationalism has held the stage so long that the nation's nerves are on edge and a sedative is not out of place.

"Those who critcise the President's address because it manifested studied caution are perhaps unwittingly paying it a high tribute. Caution is far too rare in these days of recklessness in public utterance by men some of whom have hitherto been held in high esteem. It takes no small degree of courage to be cautious at a time when most of the aspirants for political favar are vying with each other in the effort to win support by extremes of extravagant utterance. Once each year the American people like to attend a circus to observe the antics of a whirling dervish, a thrilling trapeze performer or a snake-like contortionist, but throughout the remainder of the year wise men give their attention to the more substantial and essential activities of life.

"There was no occasion for President Coolidge to endeavor to start something new in his address at New York. Last December he outlined to Congress a very comprehensive constructive program. That list of subjects for the consideration of congress convered more than could probably be accomplished even if the Legislative Branch of the Government were permitted to work with utmost diligence. Unfortunately Democratic leaders have seen fit to utilize investigative activites as excuse for delaying the work of Congress and there is danger that much of the President's program will be neglected.

"In such a situation as this the President was not only wise but tactful in avoiding in his New York address the presentation of new issues that might divert attention from the important measures he commended to Congressional consideration when he delivered his regular message on the state of the Union last December."

To Hold Primary Election Next Tuesday

REPUBLICANS, GO OUT TUESDAY AND VOTE FOR CHOICE

The Republican campaign in Chilton county which closes with the primary on next Tuesday, March 13th has been, as some choose to call it, a short and sweet campaign. We have on the ticket a goodly supply of candidates, but the campaign has been very quiet and peaceable. In regard to this election The Union-Banner has a few words which it wishes to say to the Republican voters of the county.

There is one ultimate aim which the Republican party of Chilton has in view and that is the election of our entire ticket in November, and it would be very unwise for us even before the primary to consider lightly this important matter. The Democrats are not raising any fuss, but our folks should not let this fact cause us to be in any way indifferent as to our own affairs and our own ticket. The fact that they are silent is only the strongest evidence that the Democrats have both eyes open and both ears cocked, taking in every movement that the Republicans have made and are going to make. They do not hope to succeed with their own party but their hopes lie in some possible flaw or some weak point which we may allow to creep into our own ticket and our own affairs. If we make any mistake in selecting any of our candidates, they will put forth their utmost efforts to beat us with a good man from their own ranks. They have withheld the naming of their candidates until after our primary for no other reason than to see whom we nominate and take advantage of us by naming their strongest men to oppose them.

For the reasons above laid out the Republicans should be very careful in selecting our candidates in this primary. By all means, we should nominate the strongest men we have on our ticket, and now is the time for us to select these men. We all have personal friends whom we would like to give our vote, but in the meantime, we have other things to consider as well. If we fail to look beyond the primary and determine as best we can how our choice will run over the entire county against a good Democrat, we will be doing a mighty risky and unwise thing. We should nominate men against whom the Democrats can find not a flaw or a blemish, because it is in this very identical respect that their hopes lie in beating one or more of our candidates. Let us not consider lightly this all-important matter.

Another thing we should bear in mind is the past political record of the candidates. If a man has stuck to the party in the past that is very good reason to suppose that he will continue to stick and fight for our principles even if he is tendered a public office. If our party shall stand and continue to hold together, we have got to nominate and elect to office men who will stand true to the principles of the party and do their utmost in waging our battles against the opposing politicians. A man in office can be a wonderful help to his party or he can do it harm whichever he chooses. We need men who have good judgment along this line.

And lastly, we should nominate good, true, straightforward, honest Christian men or women for our public offices. Our party was founded and has heretofore functioned upon the principle of right and justice to everybody, and for us to hold our own we have got to present the goods in this one respect. The people are not going to keep any one party in power very long unless it gives satisfactory service and there is no reason why it should. The mere fact that a man is a Republican is not going to hold him up in public esteem but at the same time he has got to be a true and faithful servant of his constituents. Our party has furnished men of this type in the past—this is the reason that the party has been entrusted with the management of our county. Let us continue to furnish such men for our public offices and in this way warrant the support and aid of the voters of the county.

So, we appeal to the Republican voters of the county to go to your respective voting places next Tuesday and vote. This is a rather busy season with the farmers, but the few minutes time it will take you to go to the polls and vote may be worth infinitely more to you than what little work you would do by staying at home. Let's all stop our work next Tuesday long enough to go to the polls and vote.

KKK CELEBRATION HELD IN CLANTON THURSDAY NIGHT

Clanton Klan, No. 35 of the Invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, held a public Klan celebration and naturalization ceremony in the high school ball park in Clanton Thursday night, May 1. There were present on this unique occasion between eight and ten thousand spectators. Taking part in the various numbers of the program were about seven hundred robed Klansmen.

The program was opened at 7:30 when the Dixie Concert Band of Clanton rendered a nice musical number. This was followed by an address on "The Principles of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan," by Dr. W. Earle Hotalen, Emperial Lecturer of Atlanta, Ga. Dr. Hotalen, dressed in full Klan regalia, stood before this massive group of people for about an hour and delivered a lecture which was unsurpassed from the standpoint of Christian religion and American ideals. During the lengthy speech several outbursts of applause were given the lecturer by the enthusiastic host of listeners.

Under the charge of Bert E. Thomas, the State officials of the Klan administered the naturalization rites to upwards of 250 new members of the organization. This ceremony was held in open view of the spectators, who were allowed to hear the oaths taken by the naturalized aliens.

After the naturalization ceremony came the pyrotechnic display featuring Klan fireworks of all kinds. This was the most unique display of pyrotechnics ever shown in this vicinity.

This occasion will be long remembered by the people of Chilton county and adjacent territory, which has served much in creating in the hearts of the men and women a profound reverance for the organization and a sincere regard for the principles which it expounds.

200-MILE ROAD TO BE PAVED THRU CLANTON IN YEAR

Mintgomery, Ala., May 2.—Montgomery and Decatur will be connected with a paved highway, most of the work on which is included in the 1924-25 program of the state highway department, according to information today from W. S. Keller, state highway engineer. The continuous paved road from Montgomery to Decatur will be a few miles under 200. The distance between the two points by rail being approximately 182 miles. The road will be part of the famous Bee line highway. The section between Birmingham and Montgomery is commonly known as the "Birmingham-Montgomery" highway, which passes through Clanton.

Mr. Keller stated that the entire route between Montgomery and Decatur has been built or is on the program for 1924-25, except for some 15 to 20 miles in Blount county, and the section of the road in Montgomery county, from the city of Montgomery to the Reese's Ferry bridge over the Alabama river. The Blount county section is reported as being located on the abandoned right of way of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and the Montgomery county road is also in comparatively good shape, so that these two stretches will be given attention later, although both will be eventually paved.

Mr. Keller stated that according to plans at the highway department, the highway will enter Montgomery at West End, passing by Maxwell Field, the aviation station on the outskirts of Montgomery.

WORK BEGINS ON CHILTON HIGHWAY

Actual work has really begun on Chilton county's portion of the Montgomery-Birmingham highway. The bridge crew have already pitched their tents up near Minooka and are beginning to build the culverts and bridges. They have gone at this thing just right, since the bridges are the first things that ought to be built. After this is done the graders can go right to filling in the dirt around the bridges and using them for transporting the material and implements. The fact that the work has really begun on this highway will be gratifying news to the people of Chilton county.

TRUCK OWNERS ASKED TO MEET IN CLANTON SATURDAY

Editor Union-Banner:

By the request of 15 truck owners, I am asking all the truck owners in Chilton County who oppose the truck tax law to meet us in Clanton at the court house next Saturday, May 10 at 10 o'clock a.m., to arrange with our attorneys to fight our case. Everybody be there who oppose this law whether you own a truck or not.

Respectfully,
J. N. SCOTT.

ROBERT TEEL BACK HOME

After serving a year's sentence at Vredenburgh, Mr. R. A. Teel returned to his home in Clanton last Thursday. We don't know whether he was joking or not, but Bob says he is glad to get back home. He says he had rather handle cross ties any time than lumber.

CHILTON WINS SERIES FROM UNIVERSITY HIGH OF B'HAM

The University High School boys of Birmingham arrived in Clanton early Friday morning expecting to take back home with them a series of easy victories. But when they left Saturday evening they were fully confident that they need more practice to cope with the "Tigers," as they had been beaten three straight games and more than quadroupled in score, 32 to 7.

Each of the local pitchers, Burnett and Mullins, was in superb trim, and when supported by a team that could gather hits like the Chilton boys, proved too much for the city visitors. The only sensational play of the entire games came in the second inning of the second game when the score stood two and one in favor of the visitors, Mullins started the races when he got a three-base hit with two on.

Grabin was the "star" for the University boys, getting two hits and three runs in the second game. He was by far the fastest man on the team, this being demonstrated when caught off of base between third and home.

The city visitors showed a very nice spirit during the games, and offered their assistance in helping the "Tigers" schedule a series of games with some of the best high school teams of the State.

NEW BOLL WEEVIL CIRCULAR READY FOR THE FARMERS

Explains Conditions Under Which Poison Should Be Applied and Tells How to Do It.

Auburn, Ala., May 5.—"Poisoning the Boll Weevil" is the title of a circular written by Dr. W. E. Hinds, published by the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and now being distributed to farmers by county demonstration agents. At the outset Dr. Hinds explained the conditions under which boll weevil poisoning should be done, saying:

"It will pay to poison if the weevils are really injuring your crop seriously; and if your land is sufficiently fertile to yield at least one-third bale per acre with weevil injury eliminated; and if your farming organization is such that you feel assured that the poison will be applied at the right time and in the right manner; and if you are willing to spend the full amount necessary to provide an adequate supply of poison and proper dusting machinery.

"You should not poison if the cost of calcium arsenate, plus the labor to apply it, and the depreciation on the dusting machines will total more per acre than the current value of 100 pounds of seed cotton.

Hand guns of the cheapest type should be figured as depreciating 100 per cent in a season and the larger machines about 25 per cent."

Early destruction of weevils is rated as very important. "Wherever 20 or more over-wintered weevils per acre occur," said Dr. Hinds, "it is advisable to make one pre-square application of poison. Apply it just before squares become large enough for weevils to feed on them."

For this pre-square application either a freshly mixed home-made calcium arsenate-syrup mixture or dry calcium arsenate may be used. For all later poisoning Dr. Hinds strongly recommends the use of only dry calcium arsenate.

REPUBLICANS WILL ELECT DELEGATES TO THE COUNTY CONVENTION

The Republicans of the county should not overlook the matter of selecting their delegates to the county convention to be held in Clanton Friday, May 16th. The Republicans of each voting precinct are to meet at or near the voting place in that precinct at 2 o'clock on the day of the primary election, May 13th, and elect two delegates to the county convention to be held on the following Friday. At the county convention delegates will be chosen to represent the county in the State and District conventions. The Republicans of each Beat should look after the election of their delegates.

VISITED TUSCALOOSA

On last Sunday Dr. J. P. Crumpton and wife, accompanied by J. M. Wyatt, Mrs. Lucian Duncan and Misses Elizabeth and Dorothy Duncan, took a motor trip over to Tuscaloosa. They went by way of Randolph, Centerville and Blocton. They report a very enjoyable trip notwithstanding the fact that the roads were found rather bumpy and rough. The trip was made in Dock's new Dodge.

ENDORSES W. J. EASTERLING

Editor Union-Banner:

In behalf of the candidacy of W. J. Easterling, who is in the race for county commissioner from the Fourth District, I wish to say that I have known Mr. Easterling for the past thirty years and have always found him to be upright, true and honest. He is a true Republican, having always supported the Republican ticket and worked for the success of the party.

Mr. Easterling is not in favor of burdening the people with taxes, and if elected to this office, he will do all he can to make the burden of taxation as light as possible. He will spend the people's money to the best advantage of all the people of the county. Mr. Easterling is fully qualified to attend to the duties of the office of county commissioner, and I, knowing him as I do, unhesitatingly recommend him to the voters of the county.

Yours very truly,
J. M. JOHNSON.

VERBENA SCHOOL WILL BUILD FINE NEW HOME SOON

The trustees of the Verbena Consolidated High Schoil are proud to have received from the State Department of Education the news that their school has been placed on the list of accredited high schools of the State. This worthy credit was extended the Verbena school with the understanding that a new modern building be provided in time for school next year. In response to this requirement, the trustees are arranging to construct a $30,000 modern, fully equipped building, same to be finished in time for use next session. With this fine new building and with their name on the accredited high school list Verbena will make the other near-by towns sit up and take notice. Prof. W. E. G. Sutton, the hustling young principal of the school, like the other citzens of Verbena, is not saying much about what they are doing, but they are going to build them a school and you may depend on that.

COUNTY BUYS ANOTHER TRACTOR

To the road working machinery has recently been added a five-ton "Best" caterpillar tractor. The county bought a Holt five-ton tractor a few weeks ago, and everybody seems to be mighty well pleased with the work it is doing. With the equipment the county now has, the commissioners are in position to do some real road building, and they are doing their best to get our roads in good shape. Everybody thinks that the commissioners ought to work their particular road first, but we should bear in mind that we have a number of roads in the county that need working and we have got to work them one or two at a time. The work will be extended to all the roads just as soon as possible.

COMMISSIONERS COURT

The Commisisoners Court of Chilton County was in session Monday of this week passing on claims against the county for road work. Some other matters of minor importance regarding the road working program were discussed.

The regular quarterly meeting of the court will be held Monday and Tuesday of next week. At this meeting the regular business of the body will be taken up and disposed of.

GRAND RALLY OF THE FARMERS AND THEIR FRIENDS

A grand rally of the farmers and their friends will be held at Maplesville on Saturday, May 10th, 10 a.m., to organize the Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union of America. Everybody invited. There will be speaking (no politics) by Mr. Yoakum, president of the Gulf Coast & Sante Fe Railway, Mr. Reno Prisa, of the Farmers Union of Iowa; Mr. Collins of Kansas, and Mr. McElderry of Alabama, Judge Taylor of Uniontown and others who wish to be heard.

W. R. K. STANFORD,
State Organizer.

CAN VOTE BUT ONE BALLOT IN MAY 13th PRIMARY ELECTION

There seems to be some misunderstanding among the voters as to whether a voter can vote for state officers on the Democratic ticket and for county officers on the Republican ticket in the primary next Tuesday. As a matter of information, we will state that the law does not allow this kind of voting. Only one ticket can be used, and the attention of the election managers and the public in general is called to this fact.

Section 17, page 223 of the 1915 Acts regulating primary elections in Alabama reads: "Any qualified elector who is also a member of a political party, as herein defined, participating in a primary election, shall be entitled to vote at such primary election and shall receive the official primary election ballot of the political party, and no other."

Section 11 of the same Acts provides that the State Executive Committee of the political party has the power to regulate quelifications of electors participating in the primary. This power is also extended to the county executive committees in the nomination of county officers.

Section 60 provides a penalty of not less than $50 and not more than $500 or hard labor for not more than six months for violating any of the primary acts.

The election managers at primary elections have a right to ascertain a voter's political record to determine which ballot he shall vote, and when a voter uses a party's ballot in a primary election he enters into a moral obligation to support that party's ticket in the general election.

WELDON DRUG STORE SOLD TO DR. J. P. HAYES & SON

A recent business transaction of importance in Clanton was the selling of the Weldon Drug Store by Mr. E. T. Weldon to Dr. J. P. Hayes and his son, Wilbert Hayes, the first of this week. Wilbert, otherwise known as "Dick", returned a few days ago from Macon, Ga., where he has completed a course in pharmacy, and with the help of his father, he has gone into the drug and pharmacy business for himself. Wilbert is a hustling young man and the future before him in his chosen profession is very promising indeed. With the help of his father, who is one of the foremost and ablest physicians in our town, "Dick" will certainly make good in his drug store.

It is reported that Dr. Hayes will move his office into the drug store building, so that he may be close to the drug business and may be able to render his son all the assistance possible in caring for the work of the store. Dr. Hayes says that he is going to put some money into this business and see that it is pushed to a finish.

The barber shop now owned by Mr. E. T. Weldon and which has heretofore had quarters in the front of the drug store will be moved out so as to give the drug store ample room and frontage space. The barber shop will still be owned by Mr. Weldon and operated by N. A. Gray but will be located in the old Wolfe shoe shop stand just west of the drug store.

Candidates Make Last Appeal to the Voters

LETTER FROM A REPUBLICAN VOTER

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your interesting paper for a few words.

I noticed in a recent issue a letter from one Mr. O. R. Robinson in behalf of the candidacy of Mr. Kin Vinson.

I agree with Mr. Robinson that we must keep Republicans in office but he fails to get me to see or to believe that the faithful Republicans of Chilton county are afraid to plact their trust in the candidacy of a 100 per cent American lady whose people are tried Republicans and stood by the party for all these years.

Mr. Robinson says the time is not "ripe" for the ladies to hold office but the weakness of that argument is self-evident, because the very law that gave them the right to vote also gave them the right to accept the votes of others.

How can one imagine a man going about over the county or staying at home and asking the women to vote for a man as Mr. Robinson is doing and then say that the time is not ripe for a man to vote for a woman.

I will ask Mr. Robinson to please explain to the voters of the county what he means by saying the time is not "ripe" for a woman to hold office. Does he mean that they are not honest and can't be trusted or does he just mean that they should be left unconsidered without a reason?

Mr. Robinson refers to Mr. Vinson coming back from the army a clean man. That is good and we appreciate that fact, yet that was nothing but the duty of a man and no one has a right to boast of performing a plain duty. As for his service in the army, we also appreciate that too, yet when you stop to consider what more did he do than millions of others, including the ladies who sat by a dim light in the weary hours of night to prepare clothing and other comforts for the soldiers over there, not only that but the ladies volunteered their services in the work of the Red Cross, that the soldiers needs might be met.

But this, voters of Chilton county is not the question that service has been rendered by both sides and we are out now looking for some one that will make a good treasurer of this county, and this being the fact, I know of no better way to safeguard that part of the county's affairs for the next four years than to cast our votes for Miss Genie Collins who has just come out in a recent issue of The Union-Banner and says: "I shall leave nothing undone that will add to efficiency in any way and shall safeguard all that is entrusted to me."

Fellow citizens, I am of the type that when I hear the voice of a lady pledging her heart to the work I know nothing to do but to believe it.

In reference to Mr. Robinson's letter refering to Mr. Vinson's qualifications, will say Miss Genie Collins has been at work in the court house for three and one-half years and is well qualified to take care of any business coming her way as well as being able to give valuable information pertaining to other affairs of the county.

Hoping that the voters of the county will join with me in a serious consideration of Miss Genie Collins on May 13th, in showing our appreciation of her services past rendered and also thanking the editor of The Union-Banner for printing this letter, I am,

Very truly,
A REPUBLICAN VOTER.

LETTER IN INTEREST OF MRS. LOIS SIMS' CANDIDACY

Jemson, Ala., May 5, 1924.

Edtor Unon-Banner:

Please allow me a small space in your good old paper for the benefit of my friends and to the voters of Chilton county, and also the Republican party.

I have not been accustomed to writing to the paper but I feel just like I want to say something in this campaign in behalf of Mrs. Lois Sims, as she has two children to raise and educate and needs the support of the office; and she is competent and worthy of it. I fully believe that if she is elected that she will fill it to the honor of herself and to the honor of the Republican party. As we are commanded to help the needy, I feel just like we could not do a better deed than cast our votes for her. So I hope that each voter on May 13th will consider her. So I have nothing more for this time.

Respectfully,
J. A. ROGERS.

MR. J. P. DYKES WRITES LETTER TO VOTERS

Calera, Ala., May 3, 1924.

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

As it is generally known that I am a candidate for nomination and re-election as a member of the County Board of Education, I am taking this opportunity to thank the Republicans of the county for their past support and influence in my behalf. I will appreciate a continuance of your support and influence, and should I receive the nomination it will be my purpose to co-operate with the patrons of the schools in management of same just as I have in the past.

I feel that my past experience as a member of the board will aid me in the discharge of the duties of the office and will ultimately be of benefit to the schools. I have the interests of the schools of our county as a whole at heart, and appreciate the disadvantages that we heretofore had and feel that if elected I will be able to serve the people and the schools more efficiently in the future than I have in the past. I probably have made some mistakes in the past in the discharge of the duties of the office. However, I have tried at all times to do the right thing and to make you an efficient officer, and at the same time maintain our party and the principles for which it stands.

I have no ill feeling toward any of my opponents and realize that they are all desirous of rendering service to their fellow-man end the cause of education, however, when I announced I felt that the people of this county would give due consideration to the fact that I have not received any pay whatever for my past services as I was elected under a law that did not authorize payment for the service as a member of the board, however, this law has now been changed and the person elected for the next term will receive compensation for his services. I will therefore appreciate receiving the nomination as I would thereby receive some pay, or partly so, for the expense that I was put to during the past term.

In conclusion, I wish to thank the citizens of this county for their past confidence in my ability and for having co-operated with me and the board in our humble efforts to educate our children.

I have made no promises to receive the vote and influence of any person and if I am nominated it will be my purpose in the future as in the past to discharge the duties of the office to the best interest of our party and maintain as high a standard of education in the county as is possible.

Yours very respectfully,
J. P. DYKES.

MR. HUBBARD WRITES ABOUT ELECTION

Editor Union-Banner:

The Primary is near at hand, and we will soon know who the Republican candidates are, and who we will be expected to vote for in November.

I want to thank you for what you said about my political record in refering to my daughter, Mrs. Sims being a candidate for County Treasurer. I hope no act of mine will ever cause any Republican to ever regret having supported me in the past. I have at all times been ready to help elect our nominees. I have never sulked, or been sore when my party acted, when they make nominations. I always yield to their choice, in fact I have no patients with any Republican that put his opinion against his party's opinion.

Now my daughter, Mrs. Lois Sims has two children to support and this office would help educate her children, but I am not appealing to the Republican voters soley on this account, but I know she is well qualified for the place, and will make the County an efficient officer and I assure all Republican voters that I will appreciate any help you may geve my daughter, but on the other hand if you decide that some one else is better qualified, and more deserving than she is I will do all I can to help elect your choice and youu will find Mrs. Sims working and voting for the ticket.

Again thanking the people of this County for what they have done for me I am as ever a Republican for the party, and hope to see a good turn out at the Primary, and my wish is that after the nominations are made that all Republicans will go to the polls and vote for the Nominees.

Respectfully,
T. J. HUBBARD.

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

I take this method of again bringing to your attention the fact that I am a candidate for Treasurer of the County, subject to the action of the Republican primary on May 13th.

While I have seen many of the voters from every portion of the county, my duties have been so exacting that I have not been able to canvass the county as thoroughly as I would have liked. However, the Republicans of Chilton county know me and I know them, and I will be deeply grateful for whatever support is given me. If nominated and elected, I pledge the people the faithful discharge of the duties of the office. It is hardly necessary for me to say that I will stand by the nominees of the primary for the people must know that for well nigh forty years I have worked for and supported the ticket of their choice.

In conclusion, I wish to thank my many friends throughout the county for their assurance of support, and to urge all the Republicans to take part in the primary, and we will all see that the ticket is elected in November.

Sincerely,
J. WILEY LITTLEJOHN.

J. L. BURNETT WRITES LETTER TO THE VOTERS

Lawley, Ala., May 5, 1924.

To the Voters of Chilton County:

Doubtless you are aware that I am a candidate for the office of county commissioner from the Third District of Chilton county, subject to the action of the Republican primary to be held May 13th. I am asking for this office wholly on my own merits. I feel that I know the duties of a commissioner and if I should be fortunate enough to be nominated and elected, I want to assure every one that I shall do my full duty to the very best of my ability and with special favors to none. If elected, it will always be my aim to work for the interest of all the people and spend their money as economically as is consistent with their best interest.

My record is open to all, and to those who are not personally acquainted with me, I wish to insist that before you cast your vote that you give me a full investigation. I was raised in Beat 7 of this county and shall be glad to have you make any investigations of my life record. I have never voted anything but a straight Republican ticket and have been voting that for twenty-six years. After you have investigated my records if you find that I am worthy of your support and if you believe that my ability is such that will enable me to make a successful commissioner, I most heartily solicit your support and influence.

I would like to have seen every voter personally before the primary, but I am a farmer and it has been impossible for me to have the time to make a thorough canvas, but it has been my desire to meet and talk with every voter, but since it has been impossible to do so, I again insist that you give me a full investigation and cast your vote accordingly to your honest convictions. Should I fail to get the nomination, I shall continue to work for the Republican party in the future just as I have always done in the past.

Sincerely,
J. L. BURNETT.

MRS. LOIS SIMS WRITES LETTER TO VOTERS

Jemison, Ala., May 5, 1924.

To the Voters of Chilton County:

As I haven't had anything to say to the voters through the county paper in regard to my candidacy, and haven't had the opportunity of seeing only a few, I take this means of asking your support in the race for county treasurer.

I feel that I am amply qualified to fill the office with credit to myself and the county. I am the daughter of Mr. T. J. Hubbard of Jemison, and I have always been a Republican and believe in the principle of same.

I have never asked for an office before, but if you can see fit to honor me with your vote and I am elected, I promise to do my uttermost to discharge the duties entrusted to me by dealing justice to every one.

I have two children in school age that I am trying to educate and feel that the office would greatly help me to do by them as I would like.

I again ask you to consider me when casting your vote and I am sure no one will appreciate it more than I will.

However, if I am defeated, your choice will be mine.

Very truly yours,
(MRS.) LOIS SIMS.

MR. BICE WRITES A LETTER TO VOTERS

Thorsby, Ala., May 5, 1924.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a short space in your paper for a few words to the voters of Chilton county, to both men and women. I assure you I will appreciate your vote and influence and anything you do for me will not be forgotten. I will not be able to canvass the county and see all of you; I wish I could. If you give me your vote and influence you will not regret it. I understand the work of county treasurer. There were no complaints against me the two years I held it and there can be none. Come on and get in the boat. I am going to win the race. I am now on the home run and seem to be ahead. I have a great deal of encouragement from all parts of the county. So come on the 13th and stand by your old friend that never backs from duty and stands for the right in all things.

Your friend,
J. BICE.

ADVERTISING PAYS SAYS PROF. DUNCAN

Suggests That Farmers Use Their Local Papers to Find a Market For Surplus Products.

Auburn, Ala., May 5.—Proper use of advertising for selling farm products is a good way to increase farm incomes. Prof. L. N. Duncan, Director of the Extension Service, is confident that this can be done, and he offers concrete suggestions for doing su.

"If you have a surplus of fruits, vegetables, seed, or a few hogs, calves, chickens, or an extra milk cow for which you have no satisfactory market a small advertisement in your local paper might find you one," said he. "It may be that the first will not succeed, and that a second or a third will be necessary. If you are looking for a market outside of your county or local territory you can well afford to consider the farm papers, but this must depend upon the product and upon the market which you wish to reach."

Attention is called to the fact that successful business men long ago discovered the value of advertising. There are many big concerns which appropriate tens and hundreds of thousands of dollars annually for advertising purposes.

From the standpoint of buyers, advertising has an advantage. It is safer to buy goods that are well advertised, because no concern can afford to spend large sums advertising a product which is without quality. Advertising is one of the big forces in successful selling today, but farmers have not taken advantage of it to the extent that manufacturers, jobbers, and merchants have done.

"If Your Pain Is There, What You Need Is a Good Tonic For the Kidneys"

The kidneys are the scavengers and they work day and night in separating and the poisons from the blood. Their signals of distress are easily recognized and include such symptoms as lumbago, backache, depressions, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic twinges, dropsy.

People are realizing more and more every day that the kidneys, just as do the bowels, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly working, separating the poisons from the blood. Under this continual and perpetual action they are apt to congest, and then trouble starts. Uric acid backs up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances. It means that you are a victim of uric acid poisoning. Then ask your druggist for Anuric (anti uric acid) and you will very soon become one of hundreds who have been helped by this powerful enemy to uric acid.

WM. R. BAKER WRITES

Clanton, Ala., May 8, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

In offering myself to the voters of Chilton County for their consideration on May 13th for the nomination as member of the County Board of Education, I do so with a full understanding of the responsibilities the office carries with it. I have taught school for thirteen years during which time I was more or less associated with the Board.

I have read the school laws repeatedly for the past fourteen years and have been in conference with the various county Superintendents of this and adjoining counties. I have attended practically every educational gathering or speaking of any kind I could get to for the past fifteen or twenty years. I have read from one to four books on education every year for the past ten or twelve years.

There is nearly as much money to be handled by the County Board of Education as there is by the Commissioners of Chilton County, and there is room for waste or saving in these offices just the same as in those of the commisianers. If nominated and elected I expect to do all in my power to handle this money is economically as it is possible to handle it. I intend to do my best to give every boy and girl in Chilton County an equal chance at an education for the next four years, so far as State and county funds go, if you elect me.

I believe that wherever it is handy for enough choldren to come together there should be from a two to four teacher school, but I fail to see the economy just yet in burdening the people of Chilton County with taxes enough to haul seven thousand children to ten or twelve schools in the county. A truck can carry only about twenty children at a load, and if we have to employ trucks enough to haul 5,000 children it would take about two hundred and fifty trucks. If we had to pay each truck $75 per month, which is very reasonable on our muddy winter roads, or would take $18,750 per month, which is enough to hire two hundred first and second grade teachers for twice that length of time. To put it in other words, it would cut our schools to one-third the length of time they can get by not having the districts so large and still part of the children have to walk to school. I don't think it will hurt a child to walk to school with wet, muddy shoes any worse than it will to get them wet and muddy pushing a truck out of a mud hole and then riding with them wet and muddy.

I believe that nearly every school house in this county needs some improvements. Some should be discarded and new ones built in their place, or in case the children are handy enough, go to another one.

As the people pay the taxes to support our school system, they should have more voice in the schools than they now have. If the people build their school house, I believe the majority in any district should say for what purpose the house should be used. I believe the qualified voters of any district should elect their trustees; I believe the qualified voters of the county should say who their county superintendent should be, and I promise if elected, to give the people these rights as far as it is in my power to do so.

In conclusion let me say that if I wanted advice on law I would go to a lawyer; If I wanted to know what was the matter with my car I would go to a mechanic; and I have always tried to take the advice of school men on school subjects. In my humble way of thinking I believe we need school men on the school board in Chilton County. If the voters of the county will only give me a chance to make good, by your help and the help of our Maker I shall do all in my power to make a model school board member and have the best schools Chilton County has ever had.

I want also to state that I have been fighting the battles of the Republican party for the past fifteen years, and every time that I have failed to get my choice in the primary I have put my shoulder to the wheel and done all that I could to land the man who was the choice of the majority of the people, and God being my helper I expect to do so this time.

Let me again beg each man and woman voter of Chilton County to please consider me, and if you possibly can cast your vote for me on May 13th.

Yours as ever,
Wm. R. BAKER.

MR. J. H. BENSON WRITES INTERESTING LETTER TO US

Editor Union-Banner:

The primary is near at hand and the Republicans will on next Tuesday have a chance to vote for their choice for the various officers to be elected. I can see no reason for any mistake to be made as we have a good bunch of candidates to pick from, and I feel sure good officers will be nominated. When I say good officers I speak advisedly, for it is a foregone conclusion that the Republican nominees will be elected as the Democrats are acting wise one time by not putting out a ticket. They have abolished courts just to fit the prejudice of a few in Clanton and have done so many things that the people are opposed to that they would do well to let the people forget what they have done before they try again.

There is one thing the Republicans ought to feel proud of in this county, and that is every time they split and some get sore and will not support the ticket, you may just bet your bottom dollar that the Democrates will do something to disgust not only the Republicans that voted with them but many Democrats are turned away by the action of just a few. Isn't it passingly strange that the conservative Democrats will take a back seat and let a few ruin their party and follow the lead of less than a dozen wo are dominated by a sentiment of rule or ruin? Who is it that suggested that they not have a ticket? Just a few who say that they can pick out the candidates better than the people can in a primary. This is just the reason that it would be dangerous to give the Democratic party control of the affirs of this county—less than a dozen would dictate the policies of the officers and that policy would be in the interest of their select crowd.

I want to say a few words about our road law. It seems to me to be a good one, and with a few minor changes, we will soon have good roads all over the County. I hate to see a few selfish men that show the spirit of destroying the entire system just because they have to pay $11.75 on a truck to haul lumber. We all know that the saw mills do our roads more damage than all other hauling put together, and the Legislature took the same view when they made the law that the counties could only tax lumber trucks and those hauling minerals. I have not heard of any kicking except those like Jap Scott who was kicking because they have to pay a little fee of $11.75. Why not wait and see what the road law will do for us before we kick. From what I have seen there has been more real road work done in the last two months than there has been done in this county for two years. Just wait and see when the road machines get to your neighborhood and see what they do for the roads. Let's pay our truck license and give the law a chance before we kick.

I want to say a few words in behalf of Monroe Smith, candidate for member of the County Board of Education. He is a fine fellow and will make an ideal member of the Board. We can be assured that if he is elected he will listen to what the people say, and when it comes to electing a Superintendent, you can bet your bottom dollar that he will vote for a man worthy of the cause and one who will not pretend to be a Republican and then always vote the Democratic ticket and try to run the politics of the county. We need a Superintednent who will as nearly as possible stay out of politics and work for the interest of the people and the schools. Our schools have suffered already on account of politics. We are entitled to a Republican superintendent as we are responsible for the administration, but we do not want to get a pretended Republican who always aids the Demorcats I am glad to see our people so well united, and we must support the nominees. We can all see what it would mean to the county to let the Democrats get in control.

We must not forget the mass meetings the day of the election at each voting place at two o'clock p.m. We must elect good delegates to go to Clanton for the Convention which meets at Clanton Friday, the 16th. Let's elect delegates that are with the people—men that always stand by the party in defeat as well as in victory. I would not trust any man politically who would stand to rack fodder or no fodder. We have a few that are always bully good fellows when they are wanting something but when they are defeated then they begin to kick. We want Republicans who will stand up under defent is well as under victory.

Yours truly,
J. H. BENSON.

MR. H. B. GLENN MAKES FINAL APPEAL TO COUNTY VOTERS

Editor Union-Banner:

Through the columns of your paper I wish to make my position clear, as there seem to be many different opinions as to how the public roads of the county should be worked or kept up, and as I am a candidate for commissioner from the fourth district, will say first and last that I am for taxation for this purpose. In the main I favor taxing the wealth of the county for property owners use and ware them out. At the same time I am in favor of the boys that are 18 and over and are bearing their part of the burden in money or work.

Now, with the increased traffic both in volume and weight, it seems to me that we will have to collect taxes from all available sources in order to have the public funds for this purpose. As for wagons and buggies, I have two of each and am more than willing that a reasonable tax be assessed against them to help get roads for them to run on. Some think that we will never work the roads by taxation—I believe it can be done, but not in six months or in twelve months. It will take time to try it out as it is new to us. There will likely have to be changes made, but I for one one am willing and ready to try it out.

St, trusting that I have made my views clear on this subject and the primary is near at hand, let me appeal to all Republican voters of Chilton County to go to the polls on the 13th and cast your votes for the candidates of your choice for the different offices to be filled, then get behind the nominees and elect them in November.

So again I ask you to consider me at the polls, and your choice will be my choice.

Respectfully yours,
H. B. GLENN.

MR. HUGHES WRITES

To the Voters of Chilton County:

When I announced myself as a candidate for treasurer of Chilton County I did so fully realizing the duties and responsibilities of the office. While it is now less than a week until the primary, I am quite sure almost all the voters in the county have their minds settled as far whem they will cast their vote.

Everybody knows that anyone on the ticket yould appreciate your support, otherwise they would not have announced. Some of the candidates have said in substance that they are the only competent persons on the ticket to fill the offices. I would not think of saying that of myself, for the people would know it to be false. Every person on the ticket, so far is I know, is competent, reliable and honest.

I wish I could have seen every voter in the county, but as I have not, will you take this as a personal appeal for your support? To those who do not know me, I would be glad you would investigate my religious, social and political life. Those who do know me know that no one else could more highly appreciate your support.

Should I be nominated and elected I will endeavor to serve the people. If some one else is the people's choice in the primary that will be my choice in the general election.

Thanking you for any support you may lend me, I remain,

Respectfully yours,
C. D. HUGHES.

FOR MISS COLLINS

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me space in your paper to say a few words for Miss Genie Collins who is in the race for the treasurer's office. I don't pretend to understand politics, but I do believe that a woman who has had the business training that Miss Genie has can fill the place satisfactorily. She is not afraid of work, and her pleasing manner wins her friends wherever she goes. Since the fall of Eve, the joke has been on the women, but if a man is elected to the office he will hire a woman to do the work, then why not give her the honor and salary along with the work.

Here's hoping Miss Genie Collins will be the nominee with due respect to all the other candidates.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. A. P. ROBINSON.
Jemison, Ala., Route 4.

K. M. VINSON WRITES

Clanton, Ala., May 7, 1924.
To the Republican Voters:

Now that the time is near at hand for all the cendidates to close their campaigns before the primary, I want to say a few words to the citizens of our county:

First, I want to say that I am proud of the manner in which the many candidates have conducted their campaigns. We have had a clean and quiet campaign, each candidate trying to win on his or her own merits and not on the demerits of their opponents.

I have tried to let the people know that I will appreciate their support for the office of county treasurer, but I realize that there are many voters whom I have not been able to see and express myself to, but I want to assure each and every one who can see fit to vote for me on next Tuesday of my hearty appreciation and thanks for their support, and should I be the choice of the people as your nominee and be elected in November, I shall put forth every effort possible to serve you in a manner that you will never regret your vote.

Now, as my final word to all, both men and ladies, allow me to insist that you all come out on next Tuesday and cast your vote for the ones of your choice, and when you have selected your nominees, regardless of who they may be, I am for the entire Republican ticket and will do all in my power to help elect it unanimously in November.

Trusting that we may have a good turn out on next Tuesday, and that every candidate will be submissive to the people's selections, I remain,

Yours very truly,
K. M. VINSON.

MR. W. B. GREEN WRITES REGARDING CANDIDACY

Lawley, Ala., May 6, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

I wish to say a few words to the voters who will participate in the Republican primary to be held on May 13th. To begin with, will state that I am in favor of taking care of those first that are not able to take care of themselves. Either give every nook and corner of the county a school of some kind or else furnish each and everyone of them a safe and comfortable conveyance to a school some where. If it is good to haul some of the children to school it is good to haul them all, and if it is not good to haul them all let's stop hauling part of them at the expense of all.

In regard to so-called consolidated schools, I am not in favor of tearing up any of our rural schols for the purpose of consolidation unless by unanimous consent of all the patrons. Oh, but they say you can have the advantage of vocational courses and training in a consolidated school—teaching your daughter how to cook, sew, wash dishes, milk cows, clean house and many other useful vocations. That may be all true, but my experience is from observation and experience is that the best way to learn said vocations is by helping their mothers at home and taking quite a lot of the hardships from their shoulders. By so doing, they can pay their way as they go and when they become graduates in the primary course it is well enough for them to attend a higher grade and take an advanced course in studies, but few of them is likely to take the advanced course (enough). And as for the boys' course in agriculture in a vocational school, experience teaches us that between the plow handles is the best place that I have ever found for a boy to learn practical farming, especially in the primary grade up to about 16 years of age, and then when he completes a full primary course, up to that time he feels like he knows enough and has but little respect for a higher grade (enough of the farm.)

Now, in conclusion I wish to say that I think this end of the county is entitled to representation on the school board of Education, but you may think that I am not the proper person for the place. Although we have never failed to answer to the call and give from a stand-off to at least 2 or 3 to one, but it has always been done from a patriotic standpoint and not for gain or favor, and we will be found with our heads in the right direction again, regardless of who is nominated on May 13th.

Now, I think that everyone that will be on the Republican ticket on May 13th is worthy of the support of every voter in said primary and that they are well qualified to fill the position that they aspire to. Though some of us are doomed for defeat on that day, although sometimes defeat means victory in the future. So I wish I could vote for you all but you know I can't, but I will ask each and everyone of you to look down the line and make a cross mark just to the left of W. B. Green on the ticket. Now, before I close, I wish to congratulate the voctors that get the votes to put them over on May 13th, and say to the defeated ones that although you lost, the friends and acquaintances you made during the campaign more than compensated you for your loss.

So three cheers to the victors and a dish of cold crow to the rest of us, so just keep up courage.

W. B. GREEN.

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

The strawberry season is now in full swing. Monday three cars were loaded and shipped. Contrary to the general opinion that the crop would be heavy because no late frosts killed them off, it has developed that the extreme cold weather early in January, after a season of mildness, destroyed many incipient fruit buds and consequently the crop will be very much less than anticipated. This is true not only in Thorsby but in all competing strawberry sections. In fact, the supply is so much less than the demand that prices are advancing instead of going down as the season progreases. The quality of the Thorsby berries is excellent and prices are ruling higher than ever known here, after the first week on the season, and best of all, they are sold before a wheel of the cars are turned, so there is no guessing where the grower will "get off."

Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald and daughter Ila visited in Clanton Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Gerald will entertain the Lutheran Ladies Aid Society Thursday afternoon, May 15th.

Messrs. C. R. Foss, A. E. Reagan and Walter Parnell, together with Mrs. Reagan and Miss Naemi Turnquist motored to Montgomery last Sunday.

Mrs. Nels Petersen and children spent the week end at Prattville.

The stereopticon lecture at the Congregational church last Sunday night was not given as announced because the picture slides failed to arrive. However, the large audience thoroughly enjoyed the song service which was held as a substitute.

During the morning service at this church six new members were received, they were Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Williams, Bernice and Martha Williams, Plato Deason and Geraldine Dobson. Because one of the candidates for membership preferred baptism by emersion and because this church recognizes all forms of baptism as valid, a baptismal service was held at Charlott Creek at 4 o'clock p.m., last Sunday.

The Congregational Ladies Aid Society was entertained last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. E. Norton.

MRS. A. M. JOHNSON PASSES

Mrs. Hattie Johnson, wife of A. M. Johnson, passed away at 12:30 a.m., Monday, May 5th, after a lingering illness which kept her pretty closely confined at home for more than a year. Funeral services, largely attended, were held at Thorsby Lutheral church at 2 o'clock p.m., Tuesday, conducted by Rev. E. W. Butler of Thorsby, a friend of the family, as no Lutheran minister was available. Rev. Butler spoke briefly from the text "Who shall roll us away the stone: And looking up they saw that the stone had been rolled away?"

A quartette choir composed of Misses Leora Goodgame and Naemi Turnquist, Rev. Butler and M. J. Soberg, sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and at the grave they sang "Nearer my God to Thee." The contributions of flowers were abundant and beautiful. As a token of respect and affection for both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, practically every place of business in the town was closed during the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were married 47 years ago and were looking forward to the celebration of their Golden Wedding. They had no children. Mrs. Johnson leaves, besides her husband, five sisters, Mrs. Olive Tagg now at the Johnson home in Thorsby, Mrs. Walter Child of Minneapolis, Mrs. Lillian Monear and Miss Sarah Dale of Detroit, and Mrs. Ed Rothwell of Gowan, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson came to Thorsby from Waseca, Minn., in 1887 and have lived here continuously ever since that time. Mrs. Johnson endeared herself to almost anybody who knew her by her gentle, kindly nature. To the extent of her physical ability she went about doing good. If anyone was sick or in trouble one could expect to find Mrs. Johnson doing something to relieve the situation. Without ostentation, she lived an exemplary Christian life among a God fearing people She was exceedingly fond of flowers and had success in their cultivation and then always wanted to share them with her friends.

Although her body is laid away, her spirit is still with us and will long be cherished by those who knew and loved her.

At Bates Hall Saturday evening, May 10th, at 7:30 p.m., the Jeffersonian Club of the Helen Keller Literary Society will present "Mr. Bob". Tickets will be 25c for adults and 15c for children under 12. The proceeds will be given for new desks for the assembly room. You are assured an evening of keen pleasure. Come and bring a friend.

The Christian Endeavor Society met last Sunday evening at its usual time, 6:45. The leader was Mr. Plato Deason. The meeting was opened by a song, after which Rev. Each led in prayer. There were several interesting talks made by the membors of the society. The president announced that the "Echo" conference from Mobile would be held here April 15.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fyock and daughters, Canstance and Eva, and little son, Kent, and Mr. Louis Lindquist of Bessemer spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson.

The Ku Klux Klan celebration in Clanton last Thursday night was a grand success, if the crowd of people in attendance means anything. About sundown the people began to come into town in wagons, buggies, go-carts, Fords and automobiles, and by the time set for the performance to start the whole town was working alive. We feel perfectly safe in saying that there were more people here Thursday night than have ever before been here on any occasion.

All at once Al Smith has come to loom about first or second among the Democratic timbers for president. We are not at all surprised that this development has come, only we expected it earlier. Al has played on the quiet but he has been playing just the same. The Roman Catholics and the rum runners are going to make a hard fight for old "Alcohol." He may get the nomination at the Democratic convention, but even then he will not have won dominion over the White House. There will be another fight to come.

Why is it that the Democrats are so jubilant over Lafollette's third party talk? In answer to this question we will ask, why is it that Democrats are so prone to place their arms around the neck of a Republican who is nursing some personal grievance against his party and is about ready to turn independent? The Democrats always do their campaigning on the weakness of their opponents instead of on their own merits. That's the reason they love a sore Republican.

The speech made Thursday night by Dr. W. Earle Hotalen on "The Principles of the Klan" was very fine indeed. The way he attended to the Catholics and foreigners was a plenty, in our estimation. The principles on which the Klan are founded are truly American and are deserving of the hearty support of all American citizens. At the rate things have been going in this country for the past decade, this country would soon wake up in the hands of Rome and the aliens from Europe. But the better element of Americans has risen thru the Ku Klux Klan and will hold the Star Spangled Banner up out of the mud and slime into which the Pope and other oriental powers would have it trampled.

KING'S CHECKMATE

If all the people of the United States could read the Congressional Record each day there would be such widespread disgust with the Democrats in Congress that there would be no possibility of the re-election of a sufficient number of members of that party to interfere with the orderly progress of national legislative business. An illustration of the Democratic method may be found by turning to page 6660 of the Record for April 16. In the midst of an address on the Immigration Bill by Senator George, Senator King, Democrat, entered the Senate Chamber and immediately interrupted with this remark, which is quoted word for word:

"I have just come into the Chamber and I heard the last sentence of the Senator, namely, that following a certain year a large number of immigrants came into the United States, they established their own quarters, they solidified themselves, and assumed rather an aggressive mood."

To which Senator George replied, "No; I did not say that."

Now, think of the absurdity of Senator King's procedure! He came into the Senate while another Senator was in the midst of an address and interrupted to criticise the only sentence of the debate he had heard. Without any knowledge whatever of what had gone before and without even getting a correct understanding of the import of what the Senator had said, he interrupted what was an interesting discussion, and wasted a lot of time in a colloquy which aided the consideration of the bill not one whit. In fact, King admitted the impertinence of his interruption by saying a moment later, "Does not the Senator think—perhaps it is not germane to what the Senator is discussing*" etc.

And the amazing thing is that King, a Democrat, who thus makes himself ridiculous and wastes the time of the Senate, is sent to Washington by the same state, Utah, which also sends Smoot, a man who never speaks unless he has something to say and always makes his remarks pertinent to the subject before the Senate.

VIRTUOUS BY CONTRAST!

CONSTRUCTION WINS OVER CRITICISM

The pre-convention campaign in Republican primaries resulting in an overwhelming endorsement of President Coolidge may well be the occasion for reflection upon the significance of the votes in the various states. Whatever other conclusions may be reached it seems reasonably certain that one of the lessons of the contest has been that the American people do not look with favor upon a campaign conducted along negative lines. Avowed and tentative candidates for the Republican nomination in opposition to President Coolidge have made their campaigns, so far as the public has observed, upon the basis of criticisms of the Republican Administration.

The great mass of the American people always have been and still are constructive in their habits of thought and their practices. They have been builders, not destroyers. Their eyes are upon the future, not upon the past. It is not surprising, therefore, that the pages of American history do not record the name of a man who has been honored by his own or succeeding generations because of campaigns of criticisms he has conducted. The men whom the nation now delights to honor, whatever their political affiliations, have been men who had constructive policies of their own and waged their campaigns on an affirmative rather than a negative basis.

It may be said with entire frankness, that men who have been active or potential candidates against Mr. Coolidge have some measure of constructive effort to their credit. They have been honored by their own States and their abilities and achievements are recognized throughout the Nation. Their friends and admirers have been greatly disappointed, therefore, that in their effort to make themselves available as presidential nominees they did not set forth constructive programs rather than devote their energies chiefly to criticism.

Contrasted with their methods is the very comprehensive and well-conceived list of national policies set forth by President Coolidge in his annual message to Congress last December. His suggestions have met nation-wide approval and have not been seriously attacked even by his opponents. Criticisms aimed at him have been by inference rather than by direct assertion. While his critics have displayed a surprising degree of mental agitation President Coolidge has calmly gone about his official business. Apparently he has not permitted his course to be directed by what might appear to be his temporary political interests. He has adhered to policies that seem not only to be sound today but consistent with wise management of national affairs with a view to the promotion of general welfare through generations to come.

Young men who are entering upon careers of public activity may well take to heart the lessons of this primary campaign. They should never forget that the American people are seeking leaders of constructive ability who appeal for support upon the strength of their own achievements and plans rather than upon the supposed weakness or alleged mistakes of their opponents.

THE REFORMED TRANSFORMED

Mr. A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney General under the Wilson Administration, exploded with righteous wrath when the testimony of the notorious Gaston B. Means before the Senate committee involved himself. But he remained discreetly silent when similar testimony from the same source was blackening the character of prominent Republicans. "For that committee," cries Palmer, "to allow a witness like Means to repeat his unfounded charges, long since disproved, is well calculated to discount the sincerity of this present investigation, and to justify the widespread criticism of the Senate for becoming a mere distributor of slander and slinger of mud."

How true! It is exactly what Republicans have been saying since the start of the investigations, when the procession to the witness stand of crooks first began. But why did not Mr. Palmer voice his sense of outraged justice when the course of the Democratic committee first became apparent? He was perfectly willing to stand quietly by while Republican reputations were being lynched without trial. It was not until the rope was felt about his own neck that his tongue was loosened. By his silence Mr. Palmer gave tacit approval to what the committee was doing and constituted himself an accomplice in its reckless political campaign. The people have no sympathy for him in his present predicament.

A FEW LINES FROM SHOULTS

Editor Union-Banner:

I haven't seen any news from this place for some time, so I will let the rest of the county hear from us.

We have put a new top on our Baptist and Methodist churches and have had the Baptist church painted inisde and out.

A community reunion was held with Pleasant Grove Sunday, May 4th and was attended by quite a large crowd. We had many visitors from other communities, whom we were very glad to have with us. We were glad to see faces again which we had not seen in a long time. We feel that everyone present enjoyed themselves. We were slightly disappointed in the forenoon in that some speakers failed to come until after noon. But we had some good songs which everybody enjoyed. At noon a bountiful dinner was spread. In the afternoon we were entertained by two of our former pastors, Rev. Connell and Rev. Ruddick of Stanton, also by Rev. Jones of Maplesville. Each one gave us a good message. We especially thank the people for their good behavior. We feel that everybody was benefited by this reunion.

We have Sunday School every Sunday at 10 o'clock when not hindered. But the school is not what it ought to be. We need more in our Sunday school. It is a good place to go to so next Sunday we hope to see several faces out that we haven't been seeing. Come on, dear friends, both old and young and let's make our Sunday school a great blessing to our community. Let's see what a great work we can accomplish. Time is too precious to waste in idleness, so let's give the Lord one day in the week, the wholly sabbath, in appreciation to Him for His excellent Greatness, and see if we don't get along better in life.

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL METHODS approved by State & Government Experts

Prosperity of the cotton farmer depends on whether he or the boll weevil will collect on the investment of time, labor and money in the raising of the cotton crop. The boll weevil has done most of the collecting in the past several years, but farmers now are preparing to put an end to this by applying the government methods of control.

The boll weevil can be controlled in any neighborhood by application of these methods, and all farmers who have not already done so are urged to make their plans now to use the control measures they have been paying experts for thirty years to work out. It is not easy to control the boll weevil. It takes work and study, but it pays when it is done right. It is a waste of time and money when it is done wrong.

We used to think that mosquitoes did no more than sting us. Now we know they cause malaria, and by screening our houses we keep out malaria. The scientists taught us these things. They can't tell us how to destroy all the mosquitoes, but they tell us how to conrol them and to escape their damages. So the scientists are telling us how to control the boll weevils. Their methods are not perfect, but they are practical; they have been tested by farmers who have taken pains to study, to learn and to fight the pest day by day and week by week.

An important part of the general plan of weevil control is good farming. That may be practiced by every farmer and will help very much. It will pay even when there is no weevil damage or when the weather makes poisoning too expensive for profit. In brief, the best farmers begin fighting the boll weevil by:

1. Putting the soil in fine condition; a good seed bed is necessary to obtain the best results.
2. Planting after danger of frost is past and the earth is warm enough to cause quick sprouting and a good stand.
3. Using selected seed of a variety that matures early.
4. Fertilizing highly to make quick growth and set bolls before the weevils multiply enough to destroy the crop.
5. Narrow spacing, a hoe's width, and one to three stalks to the hill.
6. Putting cotton on well-drained land that under average conditions will make at least a bale to three acres and adopting the slogan, "More cotton to the acre, not more acres to cotton."

JAIL HELD NO TERROR FOR THIS JOURNALIST

"A CONFIDENCE is a confidence and therefore, inviolable," is the theory in life of Ralph L. King, city editor of the Waukegan, (Ill.) Daily Sun. And in defense of that opinion, he gladly served a term in the Waukegan jail—just lately regaining his freedom but with his faith that he was right, unshaken.

It so happened that, some time ago, Mr. King was summoned to tell a special grand jury in his home town just where he received certain "graft" information he had used in news stories printed in the Daily Sun. He refused to divulge the source of his information—explaining that it was given him in confidence and he could not violate a confidence. His refusal drew him the jail sentence for contempt of court.

Mr. King, however, did not weaken. He took his sentence gracefully, content to uphold journalistic tradition. And after he took up his temporary abode in the Waukegan "cooler" he went about his journalistic tasks as usual. He wrote and edited copy in his cell daily, maintaining communication with his newspaper office via a copy boy. At night, if the hours grew wearisome, he amused himself with a radio set which the authorities allowed him to have in his cell. Thus, you see him "keeping in touch with the outside world" in the above photograph.

A DOCTOR SHOULD ADVERTISE

A small boy called on the doctor one evening. "Say, Doc, I guess I got measles," he said, "but I can keep it quiet."

The doctor looked puzzled.

"Aw, get wise, Doc," suggested the small boy. "What'll you give me to go to school and scatter it among all the kids?"—Exchange.

Mr. and Mrs. McCary of Randolph came out to their home here Sunday.

Mr. Robinson, candidate for commissioner, was here last week. He is one of Chilton county's best men. He is worthy of the people's confidence.

Mr. Kin Vinson was here last week. He is a fine, worthy young man.

There are the lady candidates—Mrs. Lois Sims, Miss Genie Collins. They are both efficient and worthy. Their loyalty is unquestioned, and are entitled to the earnest consideration of the people.

Mr. H. B. Glenn is one of the truest men we ever met.

Mr. J. M. Smith for the Board of Education, has the right ring, and has the cause of education at heart. His slogan is, "Carry on the People's Wishes." That is what we need.

Agreeable to reports, Mr. Hughes is every "inch a man," gallant and true.

There are others who are doubtless just as worthy as the ones alluded to; we are not acquainted with them.

In making a selection from this worthy lot we can't go wrong.

Long live The Union-Banner.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Confessional

I do not kneel at night, to say a prayer;
I think of spiders and I do not dare!

My knees are thin, and easily they could
Gather a splinter, roughened from the wood.

I'm cold, and bed is warm; I'm better there,
Than in the outer darknes of a prayer!
But when the morning wakes up, pink and cool,
And sunrise makes our peach-blooms glory-full;

I run and slip my hand in His, and talk!

I tell Him I am a naughty lamb;
He laughs and says He made me as I am.

—Katherine McClusky.

A word from the Clanton Chamber of Commerce to the Farmers near Clanton:—

Just a word about what our hustling neighbor, Thorsby, is doing in the strawberry business. Here is the record of the strawberries shipped from Thorsby prior to May, this year, the first five cars:

No. 1, 416 crates @ $5.00..$2,062.00
No. 2, 420 crates @ $5.05..$2,120.00
No. 3, 420 crates @ $5.05..$2,108:88
No. 4, 420 crates @ $5.35..$2,226.13
No. 5, 420 crates @ $5.70..$2,394.00

Class "BB" crates in cars sold for 15% less. We are told that Thorsby would ship from one to two cars of berries each day until the end of the season, getting more than $2,000 per car for them.

Clanton ought to ship an average of six cars of berries per day during the season. Think what that would mean to the farmers—money coming in this time of the year when it is needed to complete the cotton and corn crop. You can quit buying on a credit and in the fall you will have money clear to buy the things you have been promising your family. You owe it to your self and your family, so look into this matter carefully and ACT.

Picking is the greatest problem. An adult or a good sized child can pick two or three crates per day and the picking from an acre is usually 10 or 12 crates, picking every other day. If you have the picking force you can plant more, or you can plant two acres, pick half one day and half the next day. Talk to your neighbor about this matter right away. You have to make enough to ship by car load lots. Talk to a friend in or near Thorsby about the results they are having.

Your ground should be prepared and the plants set out this fall. This would give you only a small crop for next year but the years following you would get full crops which would bring in money when money would mean the most to you.

Thorsby reports that they are getting the best results from the berries known as the Klondyke variety, and you can get plenty of them around Thorsby at small cost.

SUPPREME COURT RENDERS SINGING SOCIETY DECISION

The chords of disharmony which have emanated from the broken ranks of the B. F. White Sacred Harp Singing Society have had no logical foundation, according to a decision handed down by the supreme court of Alabama.

Charges of inaccuracy, to say the least, had been preferred against the president of the society, A. A. Jackson, and his daughter, formerly secretary-trensurer of the organization, by three trustees who are said to have been ousted from office because of lack of harmony and an inability to function properly in their offices.

It appears that the Sacred Harp Singing Society, in an effort to "promote and advance the cause of vocal music," decided to erect an auditorium in the city of Birmingham wherein this cause could be promoted in a desirable manner, and funds were solicited and collected and deposited in the American Trust and Savings Bank of Birmingham for this purpose. Miss Jackson, in the capacity of treasurer of the organization of singers, was duly in charge of the receipts and expenditures of said fund, as is quite customary, it is pointed out, for such a treasurer to be. It was alleged that the funds, part of which had been used to purchase a site for the auditorium, had been misused by the treasurer. This rumor, it is charged, was based on the attempts of disgruntled trustees who sought to usurp the power of the duly elected officers of the society through such insinuations.

Miss Jackson insisted that the funds were properly handled, and that the books of the organization were open for inspection.

The fact that the fund was handled properly and that no misappropriations had been made from the fund did not put a soft pedal on the cries of those who insisted that the president and the secretary-treasurer were singing out of tune, it is claimed.

And so more charges were made, brought into the courts of the state, decided on in favor of President Jackson and his daughter, and then appealed from, and finally carried to the supreme court, after injunctions had been sought and refused.

According to the opinion prepared by Justice McClellan, before his resignation, and adopted by the court, the record of the case is voluminous, covering more than 300 pages and extensive briefs.

Quoted in the opinion of Justice McClellan, is an excerpt from the case of Jackson vs. Howze which reads:

"It cannot be assumed, in the face of the details of the answer, that the misconduct charged against the respondents in the handling of the funds belonging to the order are true, or that irreparable injury will attend, or even has attended, the reception by respondents of funds drawn from the membership under the rules of the association."

Miss Jackson made an itemized statement to the courts of all collections received by her, giving dates and amounts collected, and the short and ugly word, it is learned, has been passed to those who have attempted, by alleged false and malicious accusations to injure the fair name and reputation of the former secretary-treasurer of the B. F. White Sacred Harp Singing Society.—Birmingham News, April 23, 1924.

Mrs. Tom Parrish and daughter are spending the week with the former's brothers in Birmingham.

OAK GROVE

We had with us Sunday night the B. Y. P. U. from Jemison, which rendered a nice program. We enjoyed it very much. Come again.

There will be Children's Day at this place the first Sunday in June. This class will sing at Minooka next Sunday evening with that class, in observing Mother's Day at that place.

NAVY RECRUITING

The Navy Department has just turned over to the Treasury Department, for the use of the U. S. Coast Guard, several Navy Torpedo Destroyers, vessels of 740 to 1,000 tons —speed of 30 knots and above. These boats will be added to the enforcement fleet off shore. In order to get men of quality for these boats, the Navy Recruiting service, all over the country will take on men for the Coast Guard as well as for the regular Navy. Special inducements will be offered men who hold honorable discharges from previous Navy and Coast Guard service.

These boats, with four guns of four inch calibre will be able to compete with any and all smugglers of liquor. Those to whom adventure appeals; those who are interested in seeing what goes on when a shot is put across the bow of a dark ship at night; those who would like to be part of the boarding party and prize crew of the smuggler; those who know the feel of the deck of a fast moving destroyer at night, will be interested in finding out that they can sign on for a short enlistment in the Coast Guard.

Legislation to increase the Coast Guard personnel is being completed. It will be so worded that Coast Guard service will not be allowed to cause the loss of any of the benefits now enjoyed by Naval Reserve members of all classes, including 16 and 20 year men.

Any persons interested may apply at once to the Navy Recruiting Station at Birmingham, Ala., where their request for information will be filed till the arrival of specific information, and authority to accept enlistments for this service. It is believed that, after enlistments are opened, sufficient men will be recruited almost at once, to make it worth while having your name on the waiting list if you are at all interested.

C. R. CRANDALL,
Lieut., U. S. Navy Recruiting Officer.

Mr. J. W. Langston of Pletcher was among the visitors to Clanton Monday morning.

WHAT NEXT ?

So many different kinds of "national weeks" being created around this country almost daily, it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to figure out what they're all about and a Podunk statistician to keep tab on them. Now look what they're trying to foist on us.

"Dress-Up Dog" Week. Woof! Woof! What could be sweeter? Imagine yourself spending part of your waking hours washing, powdering, manicuring, combing and, in general, playing valet to some curbstone setter. Being kind to animals is fine, but when it comes to "dressing 'em up"—no, we draw the line right there.

Down in Los Angeles where the idea originated, they're taking it quite seriously. In the above picture, you see one of the "enthusiasts" getting her little pup all "dolled up" for the occasion.

MISS COLLINS IN LEAD FOR COUNTY TREASURER

J. M. Smith Leads Republican Ticket In Last Tuesday's Primary Election.

In Tuesday's primary election the only real contest was between Mr. K. M. Vinson and Miss Genie Collins for county treasurer. With all of the boxes heard from Wednesday morning, Miss Collins seemed to be in the lead by about 40 votes. However, second choice votes had not been counted, which will change the total some. But it is generally conceded that the official count will still give Miss Collins 30 or 40 votes the lead over Mr. Vinson.

Unofficial returns gave J. L. Burnett a large majority over his opposing candidates, C. T. Walker and J. F. Anderson, for commissioner from the Third district.

A. P. Vinson was well in the lead over all the other five candidates for commissioner from the Fourth district. W. H. Robinson appeared to run next to Vinson for this office.

The candidate polling the largest vote on the entire Republican ticket seemed to be J. M. Smith for the county board of education. Wm. R. Baker ran next to Smith for this office.

It seems that the Republicans in the county polled less than one thousand votes, which is less than one-half of the strength of the party. It appears that the Democrats ran exceedingly light all over the county, polling around three hundred votes.

The official canvass of the returns will be held at noon next Friday at the court house. The official results of this return will be tabulated and published in The Union-Banner next week.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Ezell urged that his people attend the commencement sermon at the high school on next Sunday and also suggested that they worship with Dr. Wilkerson at the Methodist church Sunday night.

REAL BASE BALL GAME IN CLANTON MAY 22

Clanton Base Ball Season Opens With One of Best Amateur Teams in Alabama, Thursday, the 22.

The base ball fans of Chilton county will have the opoprtunity of seeing as fast and first-class base ball game as they can see anywhere n Class B professional base ball next Thursday, the 22nd of May.

Clanton will play the West Point Route Base Ball team of Montgomery, Ala., on the above date. The visiting club will have with them a pitcher who was tried out by the Philadelphia American League base ball club, who will probably do the twirling for them, also a short-stop who tried out with the same club. They have a well balanced ball club and are good hitters.

Clanton has played this club one time and was defeated during the last part of the game. We thought we had a pretty good team against them then, but if possible, we will have a better team to face them on the 22nd inst.

We want to give them a clean fair game, hence we have requested the visitors to bring with them the regular umpire of base ball games at Crampton Bowl. He is a fair umpire and we hope to have no "kicking" from either the players or the fans. In order that everybody can see the game as comfortably as possible we ask that everybody either go into the grand-stand or stay against the fence. This will give both sides an opportunity to play the game as it should be played. And every one buying tickets will purchase them with the understanding that they will either have to go into the grand-stand or stay against the fence and not two deep against the fence.

The admission will be 30 and 15 cents. If we can pay expenses we will have more good games during the summer. Talk the game—let's break the attendance record.

CORRESPONDENTS TO BANNER PLEASE READ THIS

We consider the correspondents who send in to us news items from their communities every week one of the greatest assets to our paper. We sincerely appreciate the efforts that are put forth by those of the different communities who take the interest in their own community's advancement and the success of The Union-Banner to write up the news of their locality and send it in for publication. So our purpose in writing this personal notice to our correspondents is simply to make this phase of our paper better if possible. Below we are making a few suggestions to our correspondents which we sincerely hope everyone who expects to send in anything in the future for publication will read carefully and abide by as closely as possible.

As a heading to your letter you should write the name of your community, such as "Mt. Nebo" or "Mineral Springs." Directly under your heading you should write your own name, which will always be omitted from the printed article. Your name, however, is very important, and we urge you to always sign your name. Don't think that if your name appears on your manuscript it will be printed in the paper, because it will not, unless you especially request it.

Begin your article right off with a prominent news item. Do not start off with "Health of this place is good," etc. If anyone is sick state so, but leave off the rest. Write actual news and not just "kid talk" which the public cares nothing about. Such things as "John Parker was the guest of Miss Pearl Bean Sunday afternoon" are not news and should not be written. If a prominent member of your community visits some other community, write a paragraph about it, but do not waste your time and our space by saying that "Mattie Wilson took dinner with Jessie Miner Sunday." Write something that people all over the county will enjoy reading. Always write up the activities of your church and Sunday school and other public institutions.

Write your news as plainly as possible and on only one side of your paper. Especially write the names of people and places as legibly as you possibly can. When you have finished one item do not begin another on the same line but draw a dash under it and skip a line to begin your next item. This avoids confusion and should be heeded by all means. As an example of a well composed correspondence we refer you to the letter received from South Calera every week. It would not be a bad idea for our correspondents to follow the general arrangement of the letter from this place.

If you care to enter any political discussion of any nature, your name must be signed at the close of the communication and be allowed to appear in the paper. No political discussion will be carried unless the real name of the writer appears at the bottom. Do not use a ficticious name such as "Subscriber" but sign your real name and also give your post-office address.

Do not wait too late about mailing in your letter. It should be mailed in time to reach us Tuesday morning. If received later than this it may be that it will have to be omitted.

If our correspondents will carefully observe the above simple rules you will confer a great favor on us and at the same time be an asset to your community and friends. From time to time, we are going to give advice to our correspondents, and we hope each one will read them carefully and follow them as closely as possible. We are desirous of getting the news from all the communities of the county and we want it to show up as well as possible.

LET'S STAND BEHIND THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEES

The primary election is history. This was one of the most peaceable campaigns the Republicans of the county have ever had, notwithstanding there were a number of candidates out. So far as we know, all the defeated candidates are reasonably well pleased with the result of the election. Of course, they had rather been in the lead themselves, but as we warned them before the primary, somebody had to drink the bitter cup.

We have a list of good nominees on our ticket, and there is no reason why they should not poll a good vote in the general election. So, it now becomes the duty of the Republicans of the county to boost our entire ticket just as much so as possible from now until November and elect it complete at that time. The only way for us to do it is to stick together. We can't afford to sacrifice party principles just because we lost out on some of our choices. A real true man is one who can take defeat honorably and stand up for the party honestly and squarely.

Let's all get behind the ticket and see to it that it is put over the top in the general election. Hurrah for the Republican nominees!

Mr. C. H. Wompold, representing Wompold-Loeb Shoe Co., was in our city Tuesday calling on his many friends.

BAPTISTS DEFEAT METHODISTS 39 TO 4 THURSDAY AFTERNOON

A barrel of fun was enjoyed by the base ball fans of Clanton last Thursday afternoon when the mens Bible classes of the Baptist and Methodist churches of Clanton locked horns in a heated game. The men playing had lots of fun right then but when they started to get out of bed Friday morning it was not so nice with some of them because they were so sore and stiff they could hardly navigate. All day Friday you could see men wabbling around like they were way up in the seventies.

For the Methodists Percy M. Pitts began catching and was relieved by G. D. Retherford. Claud Reynolds began as pitcher and was relieved by L. D. Petrey. Petrey was relieved by T. H. Neighbors and Neighbors was relieved by H. M. Simpson. (You will notice that the Methodists had a supply of reserve pitchers). H. M. Simpson played first base, T. H. Neighbors second base, Mr. Farmer third base, L. D. Petrey shrot stop, J. N. Calloway center field, Evans Parrish right field.

For the Baptists Jesse C. Jones began as pitcher and was relieved by Dewey Rockett. Van Smith began catching and was relieved by Dewey Eubanks. Fred Calloway played a while on first base and was relieved by H. S. Shaw. M. B. Arant played second base, V. J. Heard short stop, Dewey Eubanks third base, Dewey Rockett left field, Crutcher Ross center field, and A. L. Taylor right field, relieved by Grover Harris.

The attendance at this game was good and there was lots of fun. The Methodists lost the game 39 to 4, together with the bonus, but they ran the Baptists down. The Methodists console themselves under the defeat now by claiming that they are good Sunday school students and not ball players. The Baptists say that if they can get any relief out of this claim they are welcome to it.

The gate receipts amounted to $61.00 which was divided 50-50 between the two classes. This was one of the most enjoyed ball games of the season.

NO SPEAKING AT COURT HOUSE LAST SATURDAY

As a result of some confusion regarding the announcement, the speaking which was to be held at the court house last Saturday in the interest of the Republican primary was not held. Somehow the report got out that the speaking was called off, which was a mistake. This was probably largely due to the fact that the announcement was omitted from The Union-Banner last week. It was carried week before last, but on account of the rush in handling the candidates' letters, it was overlooked last week. We feel that this explanation is due the people of the county.

BUILDING NEW OFFICE

Dr. Arthur Johnson is beginning to build him a new office building between his residence and the filling station on Second Avenue. The new building will be of brick and will have a frontage of 26 feet by 60 feet in depth. Dr. Johnson says that he has become dissatisfied with his office on Sixth street because the traffic here makes too much fuss for him.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my thanks to my friends and neighbors for the kindness they have shown me in preparing and planting my crop, and for many words and deeds of sympathy they have expressed since my recent break-down in health. I wish also to thank them for the pounding and singing they gave us Saturday night. They left us with a filled pantry and glad hearts. Pounding of that nature never hurts a fellow—they make him feel better.

Thank you a thousand times. Yours in the service of the King,

G. B. GOLDEN, Pastor.

Mr. E. L. Jones of Corinth was in Clanton Wednesday.

MOTHERS DAY HONORED BY BOTH CLANTON CHURCHES

Last Sunday being Mothers Day all over this country, the Baptist and Methodist churches of Clanton put on special programs carrying out the idea of doing honor to the mothers. Both Sunday schools had special programs along this line and the sermons preached by the pastors carried out the idea.

It is recognized that the homes of our country exert the greatest influence over the nation of any other one thing, and the mothers are the makers of the homes, therefore the mothers of this country deserve all the respect and honor which can possibly be given them.

CAMPAIGN NEARING FOR EGG MARKETING

June 1 to July 15 Will Be Membership Period for Farm Bureau Egg Association.

Auburn, Ala., May 12.—From June 1 to July 15 poultry producers throughout the United States will have their eyes on Alabama. They will do so because of the campaign which will be conducted at that time for membership in the Farm Bureau egg marketing association.

The proposition as stated by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the proposed association, is to sign at least 100,000 hens for co-operative egg marketing. The campaign will be conducted in all counties having a county farm bureau. The general plan is for the country farm bureaus to have charge in their respective counties with the assistance of the county farm and home demonstration agents.

Particular attention will be given to community units, because a local receiving agent must be on the job in each community, and a community must have at least 500 hens under contract to have a local agent.

Due to local conditions, leaders in Baldwin county desired to put on their membership campaign in advance of the State campaign. In two days 6,000 hens were signed and the leaders are anxious to make it 20,000 before it closes. Although the state quota is fixed at 100,000 hens, Farm Bureau officials and Extension Service workers will be disappointed unless two or three times this number are secured.

Immediately after the membership campaign the association will get ready to receive and market eggs, beginning early next fall. State headquarters will be in connection with the Farm Bureau in Montgomery.

Class day exercises will be held on Monday, May 19th, and at 8:15 in the evening the commencement address will be delivered by Dr. J. S. Thomas of the University of Alabama, followed by the delivery of diplomas.

This is the first graduating exercises that has been held at the Verbena school, this being the first year the 11th grade has been carried. Those to receive diplomas are: Jannie Allen, Mary Helen Stonecipher, William H. DeRamus, Paul B. Dansby, Crayton L. Norris and Dolphus W. Harris. The faculty this year consists of W. E. G. Sutton, principal; M. W. Mims and Kathleen Alexander.

AUTAUGA LINK OF NEW HIGHWAY TO GO THRU THE TOWN OF PRATTVILLE

Prattville to Pay Cost of Diverting Road Through That City; New Bids To Be Called For in Chilton.

After all, the Autauga county link in the new Montgomery-Birmingham highway, will pass through Prattville. No change is to be made in the route adopted by the State Highway commission, namely, from the Reese's Ferry bridge via Verbena to Clanton, but the road will be diverted so as to traverse Prattville. Extra cost of this diversion amounting to $31,366.81 will be paid by Prattville citizens.

When the Verbena route for the highway through Autauga was adopted by the highway commission in preference to that via White City, which would have taken the road through Prattville, citizens of Prattville expressed great disappointment, although plans included the establishment of a spur road some two miles in length to connect the highway with the town.

Monday afternoon, a delegation of citizens of Prattville appeared before the highway commission and on behalf of themselves and other Prattville residents, presented an offer to pay the extra cost if the commission would authorize diversion of the route of the highway so that it would go through the town. The proposal of the delegation which included Probate Judge Posey, Dr. Smith and Mr. Moncrief, was approved and accepted by the commission, and the diversion authorized.

Advertise for Bids

The state highway department will advertise for bids on the extra construction work required by diversion of the road, and under the agreement made Monday, citizens of Prattville are to deposit the $31,366.81 to cover the extra expense involved, in the state treasury before a contract is awarded for the job.

Bid Is Withdrawn

Stating there was a misunderstanding on their part regarding the contract for surfacing the Chilton county link in the Montgomery-Birmingham highway, representatives of Speed and Parker, of Louisville, Ky., low bidders on the job, and to whom the contract was awarded, asked permission of the State Highway Commission Monday afternoon to withdraw their bid. The permission was granted, and it is understood that new bids will be advertised for at once.

The claim made by the representatives of Speed and Parker, was that they did not understand that the state was to furnish the cement with which the surfacing of the Chilton project was to be done. Their request for withdrawal of the bid, was based upon the statement that there was a misunderstanding on their part regarding this detail as to the buying of the cement for the job by the State Highway Commission. The contract involved, it is understood, made it optional whether the state should purchase the cement or not.

Uncle Riley Robinson of Providence was in Clanton Wednesday morning to learn how the election went. Uncle Riley said that he lost two of his candidates in the primary but he had no kick coming.

TWO MELON INSECTS ARE DUE TO APPEAR

Striped and 12-Spotted Beetles Will Injure Cucumber and Cantaloupe Plants Unless Poisoned.

Auburn, Ala., May 12.—It is time for the striped and the twelve-spotted cucumber beetles, which attack young melon plants, to make their appearance in Alabama. Weather conditions have been somewhat in their favor this year and unless control measures are properly applied they are certain to do considerable damage. They attack especially cucumber and cantaloupe plants.

According to entomologists of the Alabama Experiment Station, these beetles attack young plants from the time they emerge from the ground, feeding especially on the under side of little leaves and doing severe damage in a few days.

Several control measures are effective, but under Alabama conditions these entomologists say that one of the most practical consists of dusting with a mixture composed of one part calcium arsenate, and twenty parts land plaster (gypsum) by weight. This poison may be applied through a bag of ordinary cheese cloth or with a hand dust gun.

Spraying with a solution consisting of either one ounce of calcium arsenate or one ounce of arsenate of lead to 50 gallons of water is recommended. A small spray pump is necessary for applying this solution. Dusting is cheaper.

The first application of either poison should be made when the plants come through the ground, and repeated immediately after each rain or when the plants outgrow the dust.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. NANCY WYATT

On last Thursday, May 8th, at 12:30 p.m., Mrs. Nancy Wyatt was called away by death from her loved ones.

Mrs. Wyatt was born April 10, 1860, and was sixty-four years old. She was the mother of nine children, five dead and four living. She is survived by her husband, Mr. Elijah Wyatt and three daughters, Mrs. Jim Thomas, Mrs. Lizzie Driver, and Mrs. Ellen Mims, all of Clanton, and one son, Mr. Will Wyatt of Cooper.

Mrs. Wyatt was a devoted Christian lady, having in 1879 joined the Providence Baptist Church and since that time lived such a life as to enable those who have known her to rest assured that her Maker has called her to a better home.

She was a devoted wife and a kind and loving mother. She has been in failing health for a number of years but at the time of her death was only sick for two and one-half hours.

May her life and work here be a guide and inspiration to those who are left behind to live such a life that they may yet be joined with her throughout eternity, is our prayer.

Respectfully,
A FRIEND.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to thank our neighbors for their aid and assistance given us during the short illness and death of our wife and mother, to thank Mr. Mell Martin for his assistance, and also the many friends who assembled with us at her grave, also for the many floral offerings.

Respectfully,
Elijah Wyatt and Children.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-7, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

(R. E. NORTON, Manager.)

At a meeting of Thorsby Institute Executive Committee, last Tuesday morning after it had become known that Mr. Waldemer Lefstead, on account of other plans had declined re-election as a member of Thorsby Institute Faculty for the ensuing school year. Mr. Rasco Maddox was unanimously elected to fill the only vacancy on the faculty. Mr. Maddox is a Chilton county boy, a graduate of Thorsby Institute. In the fall of that year he secured the position of principal of the school at Pates Chapel, near his home, where he made good. In the fall of 1920 he entered Piedmont College at Demorest, Ga., where he will graduate in June this year. After taking a summer course at the University of Alabama he will be ready to take up his work in Thorsby. It has long been the policy of Thorsby Institute to employ as members of the teaching force those who have become imbued with the high ideals of this school, by years of close contact with it, after they have attended higher institutions of learning and have fully qualified themselves to meet the requirements of educators in Thorsby Institute. In this way the school can manifest faith in its own work as well as recognition of ability in members of its student body.

A Card of Thanks

We want to express our deep appreciation of all the loving kindness and thoughtful care shown to us during our recent bereavement and during the trying days of illness of Mrs. Johnson. We are especially grateful for the many letters of comforting cheer that have come to us, which we find it impossible to answer individually. We were greatly strengthened in our mind and body by so many tokens of regard for our loved one and for ourselves. We cannot mention them all separately, but shall long cherish the gifts of beautiful flowers and kind deeds by the ladies of the Lutheran Ladies Aid Society, and The Ladies Guild of Thorsby. Also the helpful attentions of the business men of the town. Everybody seemed to want to do what they could to manifest their respect and sympathy, for which we heartily thank you one and all.

ANDREW M. JOHNSON,
MRS. OLIVE TAGG.

We are pleased to note the beginning of actual work in the vicinity of Thorsby, on the Birmingham-Montgomery hghway. Together with the fact that Thorsby is to be headquarters for the forces employed in construction. Chief Engineer Henning, with his family are boarding temporarily with Mrs. W. L. Leary. These titles and all others mentioned in this memorandum apply only to the Chilton county section from Lomax to Shelby county line. Mr. Reno Villadsen, assistant chief engineer, with his family are here and will occupy the lower part of his mother's home as their residence. Mr. Arthur Villadsen, surveyor, with Arnold Littleton, Julius Smith and Bob Carter as assistants, all Thorsby boys, have begun work and D. Y. Johnston of Clanton, in charge of a grading gang have begun to move the dirt in Thorsby. When this work gets under full headway it will make busy times for this section of Chilton county.

The Senior class of Thorsby Institute are practicing their play for class night which comes May 29th. The play, "Daddy," was originally written by a Charleston, S. Caro. woman for a private production. Later it was copyrighted and is one of the most popular of Walter H. Baker Company's plays. We can promise all who attended the performance of "Mr. Bob" last Saturday that they will be equally entertained by "Daddy."

The Christian Endeavor Society held its regular meeting last Sunday evening. The leader for the evening was Miss James, who had arranged a very interesting program. A number of beautiful poems were recited in remembrance of Mother.

Miss Alma Lefstead is spending several days in Birmingham, a visit to her brother, Lawrence Lefstead, and family.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid Society will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, Thursday afternoon May 15th.

Mr. Phillip Horn and family motored from Troy last Sunday, and visited friends in Clanton and Thorsby.

Mrs. Magne Anderson made a visit to Birmingham last Monday, returning Wednesday.

Mr. Earl Leary spent Sunday with his parents in Thorsby.

Strawberries continue to move lively at Thorsby, but prices have hit a toboggan slide.

He Was a Normal Human Being—Centuries Ago

NOT a particularly pleasing looking object but a mighty interesting subject, just the same. The little figure, which the gentleman in this picture is holding on his knee, is that of a normal size man—a Jivaro Indian of Ecuador—mummified centuries ago. Although now only twenty-seven inches in height, it is hard to believe that this same figure, in real life, was once five feet, one and one-half inches tall.

But that's a fact. The Jivaro Indians of Ecuador, says the report that came with this picture, have a peculiar way of mummifying human bodies by removing all the bones. And they manage to keep those bodies in a mighty good state of preservation, as you can see from this photograph.

This particular mummy is now in the Museum of the American Indian which was recently opened to the public.

Possession of what is commonly known as "beer" or "mash" is a violation of the Alabama prohibition statutes. The beer of mash does not have to be "run" through a still and converted into whiskey to make the possessor liable to arrest, trial and conviction for manufacturing prohibited liquor. This was held by a majority of the Alabama court of appeals in decision rendered in the case of Troup Glaze vs. the state, appealed from Chambers county.

At a meeting held at the Demopolis city hall organization of the Demopolis Country Club was perfected. Henry McDaniel was elected president; Dr. T. C. The club has purchased a 203-acre tract of land about two miles from Demopolis. The organization is capitalized at $20,000.

An automobile owner who lends his car to a person who has a reputation of being a bootlegger, will lose his vehicle whether it be a flivver or costly limousine, if the state catches said suspected bootlegger with his wet goods in the car. This was the ruling the supreme court of Alabama in affirming the decision of the Jefferson circuit court in the case of R. L. Bearden, claimant, versus state, appealed from the Bessemer division of this court.

FAITHFUL SERVICE REWARDED

LOOK here—who says Uncle Sam hasn't got a big heart? Here's a touching example of his kindness in rewarding long and faithful service.

The old army mule—you see pictured above between the two mule-skinners—worked hard for years obediently doing any heavy duty assigned to it. Finally, old age broke in and the old mule gradually lost its strength. Its eyesight started to fail and it was placed on the "retired" list.

But did Uncle Sam forget it there? Not so you can notice it. Every comfort possible for it has been provided, even to the extent of providing the old "hard-tail" with pair of spectacles—as shown in the photo—so that it could see its feed bag and get about the corral and stables without possible injury to itself.

Foreign papers refer to it as the "experts' report," but our own people know it as the "Dawes report." Rather reminiscent of 1918 after our soldiers had stopped the Germans on the Marne and cut their line of communications in the drive through the Argonne—the allies won the war, America really had very little to do with it.

Since the Democratic congressmen at Washington have run out of scandal to sling at the Republicans they have gone to slinging books and chairs at members of their own party. The aforesaid men have simply got to have some excitement going on, so when they can't find something to fight the Republicans with they fight themselves. They can always pick a scrap among their own adherents.

The primary election is over and the Republican candidates have been nominated. The ticket is composed of all good reliable Republicans, and all who have the interest of the party at heart will line up behind it with the determination to put her over in November. If you did not get your choice you got the choice of the majority and all good Republicans will be satisfied with this verdict. Now for a victory in November.

When the revolution broke out in Russia there were accumulated at Vancouver over 40,000 tons of car wheels, trucks, and other railroad hardware for shipment to Russia. The material cost $14,000,000 and was of a special size to fit the Russian railways. It is now about to be sold as junk. The incident illustrates the extreme to which the soviet regime has brought the transportation system and industrial condition of the country.

In dedicating the National Academy of Sciences building in Washington, President Coolidge spoke of science as the search for truth, and added, "If there be one thing in which America is pre-eminent, it is a disposition to follow the truth." It may be declared with equal force that the predominant characteristic of Mr. Coolidge's life is a conscientious search for the truth. His intellectual integrity in that regard is what has won the confidence of many millions of voters, who will see that he is continued in the White House for four years more.

They say that necessity is the mother of invention. This being the case, someone needs to get busy and devise some means whereby more of the people attending all day singings can have seating accommodations or else keep so many people from attending them. The mode of travel has been so facilitated by the advent of the automobile till a great percentage of the people attending these gatherings never get a chance to enter the meeting houses. We guess that the churches giving these public gatherings will have to install radio broadcasting outfits so that some of the folks can stay at home and still hear the music.

BAROMETER COOLIDGE

The net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation during the first quarter of the current year were nearly $32,000,000. Commenting on future business, Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman, expressed the opinion that "business would improve immediately after the election, and probably a month or so before." It is generally a month or so before the election that the people finally decide to vote for a Republican President. There have been exceptions to the rule followed by demoralization and hard times, but 1924 will not be one of those exceptions. It's Coolidge. The steel barometer says so.

COLD SCENTS

The Senate snooping committees still drag along, but the Senatorial noses of the Democrats are working on cold scents and their owners without common sense. The chief anxiety of the real workers in the Senate is to get a quorum when an amendment to legislation is offered, and then the snoopers come straggling in to vote without having heard any of the discussions, and having to ask the leaders how they shall vote. They vote and disappear, reminding one of Dicken's line, "she appeared, disappeared, reappeared, and vanished." This is hard on effective legislation.

From the Cradle to the Grave—Mother Watches!

LIVELY FIST FIGHT LOST BY BLANTON

Washington, May 8.— A fist fight between two members of Congress, in which books and chairs were hurled around promiscously and spectators scattered for cover, was staged Thursday in a meeting of the House committee that deals with District of Columbia affairs.

The principals were Representative Thomas L. Blanton, Democrat of Texas and Representative William C. Hammer, Democrat of North Carolina.

Hammer wrapped a chair around the Texan's head and shoulder before they were separated. Neither was severely injured.

The battle was lively while it lasted, the two men swinging madly and struggling to get at each other while spectators and other congressmen endeavored to keep them apart.

The trouble started when Blanton objected to the meeting being held on the ground he had not been previously notified. Hammer said Blanton had "wilfully misunderstood" an announcement about the meeting.

"You've a garrlous old grandmother," retorted Blanton.

"You're a damed liar," yelled Blanton.

Hammer swung and missed. Blanton swung and missed. All even.

As Blanton swung again, and missed, the North Carolinian picked up a folding chair and, reached over the head of William F. Ham, president of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, he crowded the Texan. By this time the spectators who were not hunting cover were hanging on the coattails of the contestants and they finally succeeded in pulling them apart.

The committee then adjourned until Thursday night, when Blanton said he would be present and cross examine every witness. This assertion lead to more trouble.

"That's my privilege," said Blanton, "and I'll fight for my rights."

"When you talk fight, it's merely bluff," shouted Hammer. "You are a dog and I'll beat you again."

"That's a lie," yelled the Texan, leaning across the table and gesticulating.

Hammer picked up a bound copy of some files on the table and swung hard. He missed.

"What are you tryin to do, brain me?" screamed Blanton. "Only a coward uses books and chairs. Fight fight with your fist like a man."

Representative Zihlman, Republican of Maryland, interposed and hastily adjourned the session.

JOY-RIDING THE WORLD

American exports of passenger automobiles went from Dan to Bersheeba in 1923—literally, for 780 went to Palestine and Syria. The range was from 25,817 worth over $20,000,000 sent to Australia, to 133 worth $62,000 which went to Moroco, Canada took 11,012, worth over $10,000,000 an dthe United Kingdom 7,582 worth nearly $5,000,000.

To the Latin Americans we exported 29,516 cars valued at $18,627,000. The three largest buyers were Mexico, Argentina and Cuba. Argentina, it appears, is buying the higher class cars, judging from the value of those sent there—6,645 worth $5,305,000.

The automobile industry of the United States is giving the world a joy ride, while this country still operates fully 85 per cent of the machines of the world. That gives a very good cross section of American prosperity. Total exports of passenger cars for 1923 were 127,035 worth $90,692,000.

COALITION STILL CONTROLS

The immense public force back of the Mellon tax plan seems impotent to accomplish anything with the Democrat-radical coalition in Congress. The President is behind the Mellon plan, Treasury experts are behind it, the managers of great industries which give employment to labor are behind it, and the great mass of the people are behind it, as evidenced by the Literary Digest poll and the flood of letters and telegrams that have poured in on Congress. Yet Congress has thrown the plan into the discard and substituted another that possesses little inducement for capital to come out of its hiding in tax-free municipal bonds and engage in productive enterprise.

The people need not delude themselves that they are the citizens of a popular government while men such as now control Congress are in the saddle. Those gentlemen are possessed of a pre-conceived notion as to how Federal affairs ought to be managed, which no amount of pressure from the public can change. They are the same individuals who would deny the railroads of the country a fair return on the actual values of their properties and force them into government ownership. They are the same who barked at the heels of Republican Cabinet members, hoping thereby to drive them from office, although not a scrap of evdence reflecting on their official integrity is at hand. They have risen to prominence largely in false issues and political and economic heresies that they are now proceeding to apply to the tax bill. The enemies of the Mellon plan will be brought to an accounting at the elections in the fall.

PUBLIC FORESTRY

"Frequent inquires are received by the State Commission of Forestry regarding the lines of work which it is proposed to develop in connection with public forestry in the State," says a statement issued by the Commission. "While the practice of Forestry on non-agricultural l ands is quite generally recognized over the entire country as something highly desirable, to many people the exact reason for its necessity appear somewhat vague and indefinite. The Commission of Forestry proposes first to clear up this situation by a wide-spread program of information on the subject of forestry by means of posterns, public addresses, news items, literature for schools, illustrated lectures, moving pictures of forestry subjects, cooperation with educational organizations, and by every other practicable means. The Commission not only stands ready to cooperate to the fullest extent with the local communities, school authorities and business and civic organizatoins along these lines, but also has already begun on its own initintive the program of extending forestry information on a large scale. There will be comparatively few field men employed by the Commission in the early stages of forestry development in the State. As rapidly as the local communities qualify for State and Federal assistance in forest fire prevention and other fundamental work, however, the Commission will provide a complete local Ranger or Patrolman to lead and coordinate the community efforts."

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL METHODS approved by State & Government Experts

Production of cotton under boll weevil conditions is nothing more or less than a race between the setting of bolls on the plant and the multiplication of the weevils, scientists declare, and everything possible should be done to aid the cotton plants in winning this race.

One of the first steps in furnishing this aid is through preparation of the soil. A good seed bed is necessary to obtain the best results and it should be prepared early so as to have a firm, smooth and well settled bed at planting. Experts say that the importance of a well prepared seed bed can hardly be overestimated. Also, unfavorable weather conditions shortly before planting often prevents plowing at that time and early preparation does away with this risk.

Planting should be delayed until all danger of frost is past and the earth is warm enough to cause quick sprouting and a good stand. Early planting is recommended but it should be borne in mind that it is possible to plant too early so that the plants become stunted during the early days of their growth.

Plant if possible only selected seed of an early maturing variety, and of a staple not less than 7/8 inch. Information as to a suitable variety for your particular locality can be obtained from the county agent or the state college of agriculture. It is definitely proven that increased yields worth from $10 to $40 an acre may be obtained by planting selected seed. One bushel or more should be planted to the acre.

Cotton rows should be from three to four feet apart, according to the fertility of the soil, and spacing in the row should be from eight to twelve inches with from one to three stalks to the hill. Tests under various conditions have proved that thick spaced cotton matures earlier and yields more pounds to the acre than thin spaced.

The intelligent use of commercial fertilizers is an important step in the profitable production of cotton. Properly used it will both hasten maturity and materially increase the yield. Contents and their percentages depend on local conditions. The county agent or the agricultural college can supply information on this point. Only the well drained, fertile lands, and when available, early soils should be used. It will pay to produce cotton only on land that will produce, under average conditions, at least one third of a bale to the acre.

Further information on the subject of boll weevil control may be obtained from the county agent, state college of agriculture or the National Boll Control Association, Room 220 Whitney Building, New Orleans, La.

THE STATE OF THE NAVY

The report of Commander-in-Chief Coontz of the Atlantic fleet on the state of the Navy, and the comments of other naval experts, has aroused an interest in our defense by sea that has not been awakened for years. The people sustained a decided shock when their so-called 1916 naval program, which would have made the United States the undisputed master of the seas, was scrapped by the Washington Armaments Conference. Yielding our favorable position to an equali., with Great Britain and to a 5-3 ration with Japan was a sacrifice which was met in the interest of world peace and to provide a demonstration of how far this country was willing to go toward the avoidance of war. But the public got the impression that the proportion of naval strength that the United States voluntarily assumed was a strict minimum, as well as maximum, and would be maintained.

Now when we are told by one expert that the 5-5-3 ratio fixed by the Armaments Conference has become in fact a 1-5-3, it is but natural that some searching questions are asked. It appears that there is prctical unanimity among naval officers on the decadence of our sea strength, although opinions differ slightly as to the point to which it has fallen with relation to Great Britain and Japan. The exact facts are likely to be known very soon, however, as information in the possession of the Navy Department is furnished in response to Congressional inquiries.

Press Clippings

Milwaukee Sentinel—The Senate, it will be remembered, was highly indignant when the President took it to task for its performances, but it may be noticed that considerable work has been accomplished by that august body since it was called down.

Marion Star—Senator Hiram Johnson says that Mr. Coolidge is a hand-picked candidate. We do not exactly get the point of the Senator's remark, unless it be in explanation of the fact that that variety collects more delegates than the self-picked.

Troy Times—Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, anarchists, are fighting the communists in Europe. That shows progress, for they were fighting everything else in America. They are said to be homesick. The sentiment is not reciprocated.

Washington Post—"If there is one thing that is pre-eminent in America," says President Coolidge, "it is a disposition to follow the truth.' That's the reason the public no longer follows the Senate investigations.

Omaha Bee—Mr. McAdoo's managers ought to get together. One in Washington claims 500 delegates, and the one in New York says it is 156. As only 410 have been chosen, it is plain which is wrong.

Toledo Blade—Up to date all Senator Magnus Johnson has done to help the farmers was to win second place in a milking contest in which there were only two entries.

Chicago Tribune—Mr. McAdoo, who capitalized his family, political, and personal affiliations to get oily money, is supposed to be a good candidate for President.

Marion Star—The case of Governor Pinchot goes to show how even the public may be fooled for a time by a man who takes himself too seriously.

Fort Wayne Sentinel—Grover Bergdoll hasn't come back yet. He must be waiting to see whether we get into a scrap with Japan.

New York Herald-Tribune—Congress has proved once for all that Investigation is the thief of Time.

Portland Oregonian—Governor Al Smith ran well in Wisconsin. He would. So does a spigot.

YELLOWSTONE TRAIL ADVOCATES SING PRAISE OF ROAD

Beautful Western Highway Invites Tourists.

Advocates of the proposed Atlantic Yellowstone Pacific Highway are met by potent arguments of those who believe that the present Yellowstone Trail is the road of roads for northwest tourists travil. The following from the Livingston (Mont.) Enterprise, takes exception to arguments uttered by proponents of the Atlantic Yellowstone Pacific Highway and puts forth the case of the Yellowstone Trail:

"First, although the distance between the Yellowstone Trail and the Lincoln Highway may be 400 miles at the Misosuri River, it narrows considerably after crosing that stream; in fact, when Yellowstone Park is neared it serves a territory considerably more compact than that.

"Second, the Yellowstone Pacific Highway can not traverse any territory whose physical characteristics are more pleasing or more inviting.

"Third, it cannot posisbly be more comfortable, so far as climatic conditions are concerned, and as for the dust, the only dust found on the Yellowstone Trail is blown by the wind from the territory that would be traversed by the Atlantic Yellowstone Pacific Highway.

"Fourth, it cannot permit earlier travel in the spring for the reason that traffic has been reported on the Yellowstone Trail during the entire winter months, an item evidently with which the new road promoters are unfamiliar.

Fifth, no section in any part of the country can show any greater variety of agriculture and industries than it to be found along the well marked extensively traveled and most popular of all highways, the Yellowstone Trail."

When the United States government apopints a National Highway Commission and begins to build and maintain national highways, doubtless both of these important roads will be selected as main arteries or travel..

Keep Sinks, Drains and Pipes Clean

TRAPS and drain-pipes will clog. Ordinary soap is practically useless to clean them. The best way is to sift a little Red Seal Lye into the sink. Its powerful cleansing qualities quickly loosen the grease and dirt and the rinse water washes away the sediment, leaving the drain-pipe clean and sanitary. A can of Red Seal Lye saves many plumbing bills.

THREE GENERATIONS OF FIGHTING FACES

REMEMBER way back when the newspapers used to print terrific fighting poses of the late Theodore Roosevelt, Sr,—when he was about to swing his famous "big stick" on some individual or public problem that drew his anger?

Well, that fighting instinct of giving no ground to the enemy" seems to have come down through the different generations of the Roosevelts. Witness the above photograph. At the extreme left you see "Teddy" Roosevelt, the 3rd, youngest member of the famous family. In the center, his father, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., present assistant secretary of the navy and an army officer who conducted himself with great honor in the late world war. And, at the right, is a splendid character picture of the late former president and colonel, Theodore Roosevelt.

Study the picture. Note what a wonderful similiarity there is in the three generations of Roosevelts. Not only in looks, but in the facial expressions. The fighting instinct of all three just seems to "stand out"—especially when one studies the expression around their eyes asd lower jaws. Very remarkable, indeed.

The youngster, "Teddy" the 3rd, already is being prepared for his possible battles of the future. His father—being a great boxing enthusiast—has enrolled him as a member of the Physical Culture School at the exclusive Racquets Club in Washington. And one of the things little "Teddy" is mastering there, is "how to put up his mitts, fight like a man and take or give punishment as the occasion demands!"

L&N THE OLD RELIABLE

The interesting figures quoted below are taken from the latest available statistics of the National Safety Council, and substantiate in a most convincing way the statement made in the headline of this advertisement. Read them carefully and then consider the fact that 57,646,281 passengers were carried by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad during the past four years and not one was killed in a train accident, according to figures published by the Interstate Commerce Commission. In the year 1923, there were 13,278,268 passengers who used trains of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and only a negligible few sustained even slight injuries.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad, protected by safety devices of the latest improved types, manned by carefully-trained and competent employees, and administered by officers who have earned their positions through years of experience, ranks as one of the safest railroads in America.

Automatic block signals have been installed on a great portion of the L. & N. Railroad; over a million dollars is being spent this year in extending the block system, and nearly one half million dollars has been appropriated for immediate installation of automatic control devices, which mechanically regulate speed of trains according to signal indications.

Latest available figures show that an average of 206 American citizens are killed by accidents every day in the year. Of this number, automobiles take much the heaviest toll—averaging 38 deaths per day. Accidental falls rank second, with 35; drowning, third with 19; burning, fourth with 16—and so on down the line until the remarkably small average of fatalities on American railroads of a little over 1 per day is reached. The latter figure represents passengers and employees who were killed in collisions or derailments.

Due to modern safety methods and constant vigilance on the part of the carriers, you are safer on an American railroad than anywhere else in the world.

OVERLAND BLUE BIRD LOWEST PRICED CAR WITH BALLOON TIRES

Willis Overland's Latest and Most Striking Creation, Done in Peacock Blue, Capitalizes on Motor World's Latest Development

With public interest in balloon tires at its height Willis-Overland announces its newest model, the Overland Blue Bird, the lowest-priced motor car with genuine balloon tires furnished as standard equipment.

Those who have seen the car at its preliminary showings at the factory agree that the Blue Bird is the most striking design that has ever been produced by this organization.

The combination of a long, roomy boody done in rich Peacock Blue, set off by black fenders and running gear, smartened by nickled radiator, windshield stanchions and outside door handles; with upholstery of a bluish shade to match the body, and a top of similar hue, creates an appearance of spirit and sprankle that is entirely in keeping with its happy choice of trade name.

This new creation is another instance of Willis-Overland's endeavor to work steadfast toward the end that beauty, utility and economy can be assembled in a single unit.

It is one more illustration of fine, well-bred coloring, which combines attractiveness with utility. The hue used on the new Blue Bird will stand up under the most exacting weather conditions and cannot influence by the summer sun or by winter's dampness and frosts.

A new standard in riding qualities has also been reached by the coupling of the patented triplex spring suspension with balloon tires. The wheelbase of the new car is 106 inches, giving it a spring base of 136 inches. The weight of each Overland spring is about twenty pounds. The material is chrrome vanadium steel, carefully heat treated, having an elastic limit of 190,000 pounds. The springs are so designed and assembled in the chassis that all road shocks are absorbed with a minimum distortion of chassis.

Addition of genuine fisk 31 x 5.25 balloon tires, which futher cushion the road, positively guarantees utmost physicial relaxation to the occupants of the car even over the roughest highways.

The power plant is the same that has made the entire nation gasp by its stamina and power in difficult road and mountain tests in all corners of the country. Its repeated ascents of Motorcycle Hill in Arizona, its scaling of the meteor—glazed sides of Stone Mountain near Atlanta, Ga., are but two high points of a series of spectacular feats that have thrilled motoring circles during the past ten months.

The cylinder finish of this rugged motor is remarkably thorough, the concluding operation being a lapping process that removes all roughness following the reaming operations. The engine base has a double bottoom which increases its strength and rigidity and provides for the correct oil supply to all connecting rods under all road and grade conditions. Valves are made of specially selected material.

Clutch is of the single—plate disc, type, smooth in operation, and completely encased, providing protection from dirt and grit.

Front axle is tested to an elastic limit of 75,000 to 90,000 pounds, with large king bolt bearings and wheel spindles. Cross rod link is of unuasally heavy steel. Rear axle construction is substantial and well assembled, with strong axle housing, 1⅛-inch axle shafts of Molybdenum steel, Timken bearings on differential case and New Departure bearings in the center.

These important mechanical specifications, with its other up-to-date features, provide the new Blue Bird with the qualifications that make it a thing of animation, speed and comfort, which should readily win its way into the hearts of thousands of owners throughout the country.

Equipped with natural finish wood wheels, the Blue Bird will sell for $725.00 f. o. b. Toledo. Disc wheels are optional, a complete set of five being furnished at an extra cost of $25.00.

MARBURY SCHOOL HAS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Marbury, Ala. May. 13.—(Special)—The Marbury high school, Prof. P. C. Brook, principal, began the commencement exercises Thursday night with a musical recital given under the auspices of the music department, Miss Zula Parnell, in charge. The audience was large and in greately enjoyed the different numbers. At the close diplomas were delivered to the seventh grade pupils having passed the county examination.

On Friday night one of the largest audiences ever seen in Marbury attended the play "The Colonel's Maid" given by the senior class. There were three acts in the play. The characters were:

Col. Bird, a widower of South Carolina—Fred Price.

Bob Rudd—Arthur Cooley.

Mrs. Carroll—Willie Bell Graves.

Julia Carroll—Katie M. Cobern.

Ned Grayden— Mildred Richardson.

Lawyer Bascom—Bessie Lewis.

Marjorie Byrd—Alyne Reese.

Ching, the Chinese Cook—Farnk Price.

The play was well rendered, all of the participants acting their parts well. Ching, the Chinaman, by his wit brought roars of laughter from the audience.

The play "The Colonel's Maid" was in charge of Miss Jimmylu Mason, of the English and expression department, and the success of the play was largely due to her faithful and efficient service in directing the same.

The commencement sermon was preached Sunday, May 11, by Rev. Hudson, pastor of the Methodist church of Prattville.

Monday was class day. There was a big barbecue dinner and a baseball game in the afternoon between Marbury and Prattville.

Monday night was the closing night. Prof. Hodges delivered the baccalaureate address and diplomas were delivered to twenty-one members of the Senior class.

OFFICERS MAKE RAID IN STUMPS HILLS

Last Saturday afternoon Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee overtook a Star car in Stumps Hills which they had evidence of carrying illicit whiskey. When the officers got close in behind the car the men in it began to fling overboard fruit jars, bottles and jugs, most of them breaking when they hit the ground. Foshee got out and collected enough of the spirits for evidence and Littlejohn continued the chase after the car. The fleeing law violators refused to stop at the halt of the sheriff so the gas tank on the rear of the Star car was punctured by a bullet from the officer's revolver. But even with a hole in the gas tank the men succeeded in getting to Jemison before the sheriff overtook them. Those arrested were Leon Sunberg, W. J. Gore, Rassie Burnett and Cobb Burnett. The officers estimate that the car was carrying about three or four gallons of liquor before it was unloaded. The car was taken into custody by the sheriff and the men were placed under arrest but made bond before they got to jail. The car will be confiscated under the prohibition laws.

WALNUT CREEK SINGING

The annual singing of Walnut Creek met last Sunday at 10 o'clock. Mr. R. E. Powell was elected chairman for the day. S. L. Baker, Charlie Duke and A. O. Boswell were elected for program committee.

Three songs were directed by the chairman after which Prof. O. L. Devaughn sung three songs. At eleven o'clock the pastor, Rev. G. B. Golden delivered an excellent sermon on the subject of "The Effect of Mother's Prayer," using as a text I Samuel, 1:27. At 12 o'clock, the meeting was adjourned for dinner.

The congregation reassembled at 1:30 by the chairman singing one song. After which the followngi directors sung three songs each: O. R. Robinson, G. C. Weldon, J. W. Cagles, W. M. Devaughn, W. M. Boswell; recess for 15 minutes; Dewey Huett, L. H. Henderson, C. H. Robinson, J. A. W. Mims, R. T. Grant, and Miss Zula Willis. Organists for the day were: Mrs. Everee Tippett, Mrs. Alice Baker, Mr. T. L. Mims, A. O. Boswell and others.

Several interesting talks were made and all the singers and lovers of music were invited to be present on the second Sunday in May, 1925.

NOW, girls don't be shocked—but here's our description of the gigantic lip stick you see in the hands of the young lady at right in the above photograph. It's a—" a lot of drug store beauty in one big lump." How about it?

All kidding aside, it's SOME lip stick. They tell us it's the largest in the world and was one of the interesting exhibits in the recent New York City Perfume Show. The young lady holding the stick is Miss Betty Nevins. The camera man caught her in the act of applying it to the beautiful features of Miss Dorothy Hughes, a noted eastern beauty.

COW DIPPER

Editor Union-Banner:

Please let me have a little space in your paper to say a few words in regard to the way people are handling their cattle. The people in stock-law are driving their cattle back on the free range for those people to be worried with and I feel just like that they are doing them a great injustice. As you all know, that nine-tenths of the people in stock-law just have about enough wire half hung up around their pasture to make an old cow as mischievous as she can be. And then to drive such cows back on those people I don't think it's treating them right. And then the half has not yet been told. We have to go back then and tell those people that they have to dip not only ticky cattle but cattle that has only been exposed to ticks which is law as I understand it. And then if we drive ou rcattle back there on their range and stay all summer here they come wondering back in the fall into stock-law and would you call them exposed cattle? I would. So you see you are driving your own self right up to dipping here again, according to the way I understand the law on cattle dipping. So you see that it is not the best for both sides.

Now, don't some of you get worried at me for spending my opinion on this for I am only trying to do the thing that I think is best. We will say even if there was not any cattle dipping on hand, I feel just like that it is not right for us to drive our cattle back on these people. I have been away fro mthe free range twelve years and I have put one little lousy calf back there on them and I didn't feel like then that it was the right thing and I haven't put any back on them since. So here is hoping that the people will co-operate with me and dip every cow, get rid of the ticks and have the quarantine lifted and be in a free country, so far as handling our cattle is concerned, for I know we are not in a lot of other ways, so help me God.

SENATE PASSES THE SOLDIERS BONUS BILL OVER COOLIDGE VETO

Four Million Veterans Will Benefit Through Compensation Assured By Final Ballot in Congress.

Washington, May 19.—The five-year fight to prepare a bonus for America's 4,000,000 World War veterans was finally won Monday.

Disregarding President Coolidge's opposition and harsh condemnation, the Senate Monday afternoon performed act in making the adjusted compensation possible by passing the soldiers bonus bill over the president's veto. The vote was 59 to 26.

The veto has already been overridden by the House of Representatives, so the Senate's act puts the legislation on the statute books.

The bonus will not be in cash, as was provided by the bonus bill which President Harding vetoed in 1921, and which Congress failed to pass over his veto, but it will be in the form of paid up insurance policies, which will have a cash loan value at the end of two years, and which may be exchanged for cash at the end of 20 years.

The values of the policies will be determined by the extent of the service of each iddividual at the rate of $1 a day for domestic service and $1.25 a day for service overseas. The average policies will range between $900 and $1,000.

The galleries were crowded and every seat on the Senate floor was occupied when the vote was taken amid excitement.

The noisy talking and general hubbub that attended the voting was suddenly stilled when the last vote was recorded and every one leaned forward to hear the result.

A cheer went up when the president pro-tem announced,.

"The bill is passed, the objections of the president of the United States notwithstanding."

ENGINEER HERE LOOKING OVER COTTON MILL SITES

Last Friday Mr. Patterson, an engineer in the textile industry from Massachusetts, was in Clanton looking over the sites around Clanton which have been offered for the cotton mill. Mr. Patterson was asked to come here by Mr. Stuart of Spigener. Messrs. V. J. Heard, W. W. Fox and Dr. Gragg went with Mr. Patterson and showed him all the sites which had been offered, and he seemed to be very favorably impressed with some of them. It is expected that the gentlemen from Spigener will be up here in a few days and look over the sites here.

Republican Delegates From All Over County Meet In Enthusiastic Gathering.

The Republican Delegated Convention met at the court house in Clanton last Friday. The meeting was attended by two delegates from every voting precinct in the County with the exception of two or three, together with several other Republicans of the county. A very fine spirit was manifest all during the meeting, and a deep interest was taken in the welfare of the Republican party of this county.

The meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock by Mr. W. G. Culp, chairman of the Republican Executive Committee. Mr. Culp presided over the meeting until a chairman of the convention was elected, Hon. J. O. Middleton being chosen for this place. Mr. Middleton then came forward and took charge of the meeting, after which T. E. Wyatt was elected secretary.

After the roll consisting of thirty delegates was arranged and called, the meeting proceeded with the business. The principal purpose of the convention was to elect delegates from this county to the district and state conventions in Birmingham on Monday and Tuesday of this week. The district convention being on Monday and the state convention on Tuesday, it was decided to arrange for the same set of dele-

A very gruesone incident occured last Saturday night about 9 or 10 o'clock when the home of Radford Varner, colored, was burned to-gether with four of his children. The Varner home was located on the Mitchel Dam road two miles from Verbena.

Varner and his wife and baby had gone to Verbena Saturday afternoon to do their week's trading. Upon getting in sight of their house on their return Saturday night, they saw that it was falling in and was almost consumed by fire. They left four girls, ages 4, 6, 8 and 16 at home, who it is supposed had already gone to bed and were asleep when the fire broke out. It is reported that screams were heard by neighbors as the house was burning but no assistance could be offered the unfortunate ones. After the fire died down the charred remains of the young negroes were raked from the ashes but were burned beyond any recognition. The smallest one of the children was still lying on the springs of one of the beds after the house burned. It is reported that pieces of the charred bodies were picked up all around over the spot where the house burned. The baby which Varner and his wife had with them is the only child they have left at home with them, the other twelve being older ones who have gone out to themselves.

A DOUBLE WEDDING

Last Thursday morning, May 15, occurred one of the most striking and interesting events ever witnessed. Misses Mattie and Mollie Dennis, the charming young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dennis, were quietly united in marriage to Messrs. Bill Pittman and Walter Hedgepeth, both of Montgomery.

The beautiful brides were often spoken of as the two most congenial sisters known, and were closely associated for the past four years in the completion of school and college work, as well as teaching.

Their winning personality has won for them many friends who are eagerly awaiting to extend their congratulations, and wish them a happy and contented future.

The White City community, as well as others, realize already the loss of two of its most popular young ladies. Though we do not regret the loss, but only extend to them and the young men a cordial invitation to visit the old home community and friends.

Messrs. Pittman and Hedgepeth are both prominent young men of Montgomery, who are well known over the State. They also have many friends in White City, who wish for them a long, happy married life.

After a short stay in Atlanta and others points in Georgia, they will be at home in Montgomery, where duty calls.

MR. LITTLEJOHN GIVES THANKS

Editor Union-Banner:

I desire to thank my friends for the support given me in the primary, and to say to them that, although defeated, I am entirely satisfied with the results.

I think the Republicans have nominated a splendid ticket and it will give me pleasure to vote for and support each and every one of the nominees.

Now for a united effort and a triumphant election in November.

Yours very truly,
J. WILEY LITTLEJOHN.

RECENT COOL WEATHER ADDS TO BOLL WEEVIL INTEREST IN ALABAMA

Auburn, Ala., May 19.—Recent cool weather, making the present cotton several days later than usual, which means that the fruiting period will be later, has aroused interest in boll weevil control measures; and requests are being received by the county agents and at Auburn for the best information as to what to do.

Repeating previous answers to similar questions farmers are being urged to apply only methods known to be effective. Sweetened poisons are on the market, but the use of sweetened poison is advised for the pre-square application only. It should be mixed at home just before it is applied. The formula recommended for home-mixing is 1 pound calcium arsenate, 1 gallon molasses, and 1 gallon water.

Dry calcium arsenate is equally as effective for the pre-square application; and for all later applications it is strongly recommended as the only poison to use for boll weevils. This conclusion is based on many years of extensive research and investigation.

Regarding machines for catching and destroying boll weevils a new bulletin published by the Aabama Service says: "No machine for catching weevils has been found equal to poisoning in economy and efficiency."

Since the invasion of the boll weevil literally thousands of machines have been invented, but for one reason or another they have proven to be impractical.

Another very important boll weevil control measure is to collect the early appearing weevils by hand and destroy them. Likewise, infested squares should be collected and burned. This work can be done by hand at a small cost, and one weevil destroyed early is equivalent to hundreds and perhaps thousands later in the season. It is estimated that the probable maximum progeny of two boll weevils for one season is about 12,000,000.

DR. DANNELY PREACHES COMMENCEMENT SERMON

Dr. Dannely, presiding elder of the Prattville District of the Methodist Conference, preached the commencement sermon at the high school auditorium last Sunday at 11 o'clock. Dr. Dannely has preached in Clanton several times before, but he has never delivered a more inspiring sermon than the one in mention. The sermon was a very appropriate one for the occasion, it being in honor of the graduating class of the high school.

Besides the sermon, several delightful musical numbers were rendered by local talent. The program was carried out strictly according to schedule and was enjoyed by a full auditorium of people.

AN ALL-DAY SINGING

There will be an all-day singing at New Prospect Baptist church in Autauga county, six miles west of Marbury, the 4th Sunday in May. Everybody invited to come and bring basket full of dinner and heart full of music, and your new 1924 song books.

BOY BITTEN BY MAD DOG

Marvin, the 5-year-old son of Mr. W. M. Pairrett of Friendship community, was bitten by a mad dog last Sunday. The head of the dog was sent off and declared possessed with rabies and Dr. J. P. Hayes is giving treatment to the boy. The boy will have to take treatment once a day for twenty-one days.

Although poor, Mr. Pairrett is a good, law-abiding citizen and in this time of need is deserving of the help of the people around Clanton. The expenses of this treatment will amount to about $25 and Mr. Pairrett says that he has no money with which to pay it. A petition will be circulated in the near future, and everyone who can is asked to help Mr. Pairrett.

THE BIG SINGING FIRST SUNDAY IN JUNE

There wil be a special session of the Chilton County Singing Convention held at the High school building in Clanton on Sunday, June 1st. We have been fortunate in securing some of the best singers in the South for this occasion. Among them are such noted musicians as Prof. A. J. Showalter of Chattanooga, Tenn., H. C. Collins of Georgia, John Dye and others from Birmingham; Shaw and others from Shelby county, and last, but not least, the famous Vaughas Quartet from Lawrenceburg, Tenn., composed of Pace, Walbert, Shaw and Barnett. This is a saxaphone quartet, and this feature alone will be worth going many miles to hear. Let me urge every one to bring your book or books and help us to make this the greatest service of its kind ever held in this section of the State.

W. G. CULP, President.

NEW CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION FORMED IN CHILTON COUNTY

A few weeks ago, a group of farmers who have been active in the United Farmers organization in this county met in Clanton for the purpose of surveying the co-operative situation in the county. At this meeting a plan of re-organization was decided upon and a committee was appointed to draw up plans and proceed with the necessary arrangements. This committee consisted of J. M. Smith, J. S. Weldon and O. H. Mastin.

By the middle of last week this committee had completed their work and called a meeting of the charter members in Clanton for Saturday, May 17, for the purpose of adopting a Constitution and By-Laws and to elect the officers of the Association.

Previous to the time of the meeting, the application for charter, signed by all of the forty-five charter members, had been filed with the Judge of Probate and proper acknowledgement received, giving the association the right to transact business under the laws of the state of Alabama.

The meeting Saturday was called to order at 2 p.m., and J. S. Weldon was elected chairman of the meeting and C. N. Eiland, secretary. The purpose of the meeting was then

The veto has already been overridden by the House of Representatives, so the Senate's act puts the legislation on the statute books.

The bonus will not be in cash, as was provided by the bonus bill which President Harding vetoed in 1921, and which Congress failed to pass over his veto, but it will be in the form of paid up insurance policies, which will have a cash loan value at the end of two years, and which may be exchanged for cash at the end of 20 years.

The values of the policies will be determined by the extent of the service of each individual at the rate of $1 a day for domestic service and $1.25 a day for service overseas. The average policies will range between $900 and $1,000.

The galleries were crowded and every seat on the Senate floor was occupied when the vote was taken amid excitement.

The noisy talking and general hubbub that attended the voting was suddenly stilled when the last vote was recorded and every one leaned forward to hear the result.

A cheer went up when the president pro-tem announced.

ENGINEER HERE LOOKING OVER COTTON MILL SITES

Last Friday Mr. Patterson, an engineer in the textile industry from Massachusetts, was in Clanton looking over the sites around Clanton which have been offered for the cotton mill. Mr. Patterson was asked to come here by Mr. Stuart of Spigener. Messrs. V. J. Heard, W. W. Fox and Dr. Gragg went with Mr. Patterson and showed him all the sites which had been offered, and he seemed to be very favorably impressed with some of them. It is expected that the gentlemen from Spigener will be up here in a few days and look over the sites here.

Republican Delegates From All Over County Meet In Enthusiastic Gathering.

The Republican Delegated Convention met at the court house in Clanton last Friday. The meeting was attended by two delegates from every voting precinct in the County with the exception of two or three, together with several other Republicans of the county. A very fine spirit was manifest all during the meeting, and a deep interest was taken in the welfare of the Republican party of this county.

The meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock by Mr. W. G. Culp, chairman of the Republican Executive Committee. Mr. Culp presided over the meeting until a chairman of the convention was elected, Hon. J. O. Middleton being chosen for this place. Mr. Middleton then came forward and took charge of the meeting, after which T. E. Wyatt was elected secretary.

After the roll consisting of thirty delegates was arranged and called, the meeting proceeded with the business. The principal purpose of the convention was to elect delegates from this county to the district and state conventions in Birmingham on Monday and Tuesday of this week. The district convention being on Monday and the state convention on Tuesday, it was decided to arrange for the same set of dele-

A very gruesone incident occured last Saturday night about 9 or 10 o'clock when the home of Radford Varner, colored, was burned to-gether with four of his children. The Varner home was located on the Mitchel Dam road two miles from Verbena.

Varner and his wife and baby had gone to Verbena Saturday afternoon to do their week's trading. Upon getting in sight of their house on their return Saturday night, they saw that it was falling in and was almost consumed by fire. They left four girls, ages 4, 6, 8 and 16 at home, who it is supposed had already gone to bed and were asleep when the fire broke out. It is reported that screams were heard by neighbors as the house was burning but no assistance could be offered the unfortunate ones. After the fire died down the charred remains of the young negroes were raked from the ashes but were burned beyond any recognition. The smallest one of the children was still lying on the springs of one of the beds after the house burned. It is reported that pieces of the charred bodies were picked up all around over the spot where the house burned. The baby which Varner and his wife had with them is the only child they have left at home with them, the other twelve being older ones who have gone out to themselves.

A DOUBLE WEDDING

Last Thursday morning, May 15, occurred one of the most striking and interesting events ever witnessed. Misses Mattie and Mollie Dennis, the charming young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dennis, were quietly united in marriage to Messrs. Bill Pittman and Walter Hedgepeth, both of Montgomery.

The beautiful brides were often spoken of as the two most congenial sisters known, and were closely associated for the past four years in the completion of school and college work, as well as teaching.

Their winning personality has won for them many friends who are eagerly awaiting to extend their congratulations, and wish them a happy and contented future.

The White City community, as well as others, realize already the loss of two of its most popular young ladies. Though we do not regret the loss, but only extend to them and the young men a cordial invitation to visit the old home community and friends.

Messrs. Pittman and Hedgepeth are both prominent young men of Montgomery, who are well known over the State. They also have many friends in White City, who wish for them a long, happy married life.

After a short stay in Atlanta and others points in Georgia, they will be at home in Montgomery, where duty calls.

MR. LITTLEJOHN GIVES THANKS

Editor Union-Banner:

I desire to thank my friends for the support given me in the primary, and to say to them that, although defeated, I am entirely satisfied with the results.

I think the Republicans have nominated a splendid ticket and it will give me pleasure to vote for and support each and every one of the nominees.

Now for a united effort and a triumphant election in November.

Yours very truly,
J. WILEY LITTLEJOHN.

Auburn, Ala., May 19.—Recent cool weather, making the present cotton several days later than usual, which means that the fruiting period will be later, has aroused interest in boll weevil control measures; and requests are being received by the county agents and at Auburn for the best information as to what to do.

Repeating previous answers to similar questions farmers are being urged to apply only methods known to be effective. Sweetened poisons are on the market, but the use of sweetened poison is advised for the pre-square application only. It should be mixed at home just before it is applied. The formula recommended for home-mixing is 1 pound calcium arsenate, 1 gallon molasses, and 1 gallon water.

Dry calcium arsenate is equally as effective for the pre-square application; and for all later applications it is strongly recommended as the only poison to use for boll weevils. This conclusion is based on many years of extensive research and investigation.

Regarding machines for catching and destroying boll weevils a new bulletin published by the Aabama Service says: "No machine for catching weevils has been found equal to poisoning in economy and efficiency."

Since the invasion of the boll weevil literally thousands of machines have been invented, but for one reason or another they have proven to be impractical.

Another very important boll weevil control measure is to collect the early appearing weevils by hand and destroy them. Likewise, infested squares should be collected and burned. This work can be done by hand at a small cost, and one weevil destroyed early is equivalent to hundreds and perhaps thousands later in the season. It is estimated that the probable maximum progeny of two boll weevils for one season is about 12,000,000.

DR. DANNELY PREACHES COMMENCEMENT SERMON

Dr. Dannely, presiding elder of the Prattville District of the Methodist Conference, preached the commencement sermon at the high school auditorium last Sunday at 11 o'clock. Dr. Dannely has preached in Clanton several times before, but he has never delivered a more inspiring sermon than the one in mention. The sermon was a very appropriate one for the occasion, it being in honor of the graduating class of the high school.

Besides the sermon, several delightful musical numbers were rendered by local talent. The program was carried out strictly according to schedule and was enjoyed by a full auditorium of people.

BOY BITTEN BY MAD DOG

Marvin, the 5-year-old son of Mr. W. M. Pairrett of Friendship community, was bitten by a mad dog last Sunday. The head of the dog was sent off and declared possessed with rabies and Dr. J. P. Hayes is giving treatment to the boy. The boy will have to take treatment once a day for twenty-one days.

Although poor, Mr. Pairrett is a good, law-abiding citizen and in this time of need is deserving of the help of the people around Clanton. The expenses of this treatment will amount to about $25 and Mr. Pairrett says that he has no money with which to pay it. A petition will be circulated in the near future, and everyone who can is asked to help Mr. Pairrett.

THE BIG SINGING FIRST SUNDAY IN JUNE

There wil be a special session of the Chilton County Singing Convention held at the High school building in Clanton on Sunday, June 1st. We have been fortunate in securing some of the best singers in the South for this occasion. Among them are such noted musicians as Prof. A. J. Showalter of Chattanooga, Tenn., H. C. Collins of Georgia, John Dye and others from Birmingham; Shaw and others from Shelby county, and last, but not least, the famous Vaughas Quartet from Lawrenceburg, Tenn., composed of Pace, Walbert, Shaw and Barnett. This is a saxaphone quartet, and this feature alone will be worth going many miles to hear. Let me urge every one to bring your book or books and help us to make this the greatest service of its kind ever held in this section of the State.

W. G. CULP, President.

NEW CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION FORMED IN CHILTON COUNTY

A few weeks ago, a group of farmers who have been active in the United Farmers organization in this county met in Clanton for the purpose of surveying the co-operative situation in the county. At this meeting a plan of re-organization was decided upon and a committee was appointed to draw up plans and proceed with the necessary arrangements. This committee consisted of J. M. Smith, J. S. Weldon and O. H. Mastin.

By the middle of last week this committee had completed their work and called a meeting of the charter members in Clanton for Saturday, May 17, for the purpose of adopting a Constitution and By-Laws and to elect the officers of the Association.

Previous to the time of the meeting, the application for charter, signed by all of the forty-five charter members, had been filed with the Judge of Probate and proper acknowledgement received, giving the association the right to transact business under the laws of the state of Alabama.

The meeting Saturday was called to order at 2 p.m., and J. S. Weldon was elected chairman of the meeting and C. N. Elland, secretary. The purpose of the meeting was then

Cities Join In Health Crusade Through Clean-up Activities

"Brighten the corner where you are!"

This is the message being broadcast by cities and towns in the United States and Canada, in an effort to have dirt attacked as a community problem to promote health.

Sanitarians declare a city is only as clean as its homes, and that mothers should remember that the immaculateness of their nurseries may be made dangerous for their babies by vagrant dirt from unclean places. It is pointed out that diseases bred in dirt are no respectors of persons.

Revival of the venerable, but slightly obsolete, custom of spring house-cleaning, and the extension of the ancient rite outside the walls of the house to back alleys and vacant lots, until there is a vast succession of Spotless Towns, is no mean undertaking.

Municipalities, women's clubs, civic and industrial organizations everywhere are preparing for clean-up activities. The Mayor of St. Louis once summarized the lasting benefits of such efforts by saying: "Paint a neglected back yard or vacant lot with the green of grass or shubbery or a thrift garden or publicly commit to any other useful purpose and it will not revert to its former disorderliness. Otherwise it inevitably and speedily will do so."

In urging every municipality to proclaim its annual Clean-up week, the Welfare Division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is instructing its twenty-thousand agents and its visiting nurses in 3955 cities and towns to lend a hand. It is educating its policyholders which comprise one-seventh of the combined populations of the United States and Canada just how they can help to make their home towns a safer place to live in and a healthier place for their children.

If the suggestions are followed, the rats will find that many happy homesites under the rubbish heaps will be unavailable. The malarial mosquitoes will wander far from their erstwhile habitations to find an undrained puddle in which to breed. The house-flies will find many manure heaps missing when they come to lay their eggs and there will be far less danger of disastrous conflagrations starting in the waste and refuse heaped in the forgotten corners.

1. Have all rubbish removed from your cellar, back-yard and areaway, and placed in barrels or boxes for removal. Arrange to have it taken away.
2. Clean hallways of all obstructions. Ventilate damp cellars and closets.
3. Beat all carpets and hangings. Scrub floors and wash all woodwork.
4. Clean all windows and keep them open to fresh air and sunlight.
5. Ask your landlord to repair leaky roofs and plumbing, broken walls and ceilings.
6. Report stagnant pools, refuse and other nearby nuisances to the Health Department.
7. Do what you can to see that vacant lots are cleaned of all refuse, tin cans, boxes and other litter.
8. Compliance with these suggestions and with efforts of the Health Department will make your city a healthy and pleasant place for your children to grow up in.

THE COTTON MILL QUESTION

Elsewhere in this paper we are carrying a letter from Dr. V. J. Gragg relative to the need of a cotton mill or some other industry in or near Clanton. In this article Dr. Gragg points out very clearly the many advantages that would be derived from a factory furnishing a pay roll in our midst.

As we stated a few weeks ago, the opportunity of Clanton's life is now here, and if we grasp this opportunity we have got to act and act right now. It has already been a month since the men first came here looking over the possibilities, and nothing else of any certainty has been done. There are men who have money and they will come here to plant it, but they have got to have some assurance that the people here want them. And they are not going to come here and ask every one his opinion, but we have got to hunt them up and tell them that Clanton is the place for their mill and that the people here are willing to help in getting it. In other words, we have got to put forth some effort ourselves. Nothing worth very much has ever come to a person who has merely folded his arms and sat in wait for something to come to him. If you were out of a job, you would not close yourself up in your house and wait for somebody to come and hunt you up, but you would go to some that had work to do and make an offer to work for him for so much. And too, you would make your offer as reasonable as possible to be sure that the employer would accept it.

Clanton is not exactly out of a job but unless we get something here to put some money into circulation, our business is going to become mighty congested before long. We have got too many business houses here for us to depend solely on our farmers to support. Read Dr. Gragg's article and begin to study about the situation yourself. We need to unite ourselves together and go after this cotton mill if we ever expect to amount to anything as a town.

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

Most people in and about Thorsby will be interested to know what is doing in the matter of the new public school building for Thorsby. The writer has recently made a personal inspection of what visible progress has been made, and through interviews with Mr. C. E. Lucas, chairman of the building committee and Mr. Ernie H. Hansen, superintendent of construction has learned as much as possible of what is coming. The site for the building, which will face west, lies just north of the vineyard which occupies a part of the five-acre tract owned by the Town of Thorsby. A shelter has been buit for cement, tools, etc. Several carloads of material for the concrete work are already on the ground. Some grading and excavation has been done. Blue prints of working plans for the building, which have been approved are in hand. A working force has been provided for and will be available as fast as needed. Specifications for dimension stuff, and other lumber have been prepared and bids secured through correspondence and it is quite probable that orders for it have already been placed. Orders for hardware, shingles and the brick tile for exterior finish either have been or will be placed immediately for delivery at a specified time in advance of their requirement for use. It is planned to use local labor as far as practicable, but it will be subject to close supervision at frequent intervals by one or more inspectors from the building department of the State Department of Education, who furnish the plans and require that they be strictly adhered to. The building will have a frontage of 148 feet in which much glass will be used. The depth will be about 40 feet, divided into four class rooms and a lobby. Back of the central portico there will be an auditorium or assembly hall about 40x80 feet. The whole structure will be one story high, except for a comparatively small part of it which will be provided with a good room, partly below the surface of the ground which will be used for a manual training department. There will be modern sanitary equipment, and the most approved method of heating and ventilation. The total cost of the building with equipment and accessories is estimated at about $12,000 and it is hoped to have it available for use next fall.

For many years past benevolent people all over the country have frequently been called upon to contribute funds for relief of Armenians and Near East sufferers, but seldom have come in personal contact with any one, personally familiar with the conditions and necessities among these afflicted people.

The families of A. E. Reagan, J. M. Bosworth, M. J. Soberg and Charles S. Howard motored to Selma last Sunday. While there, they visited Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Barrett, formerly of Thorsby. Our Thorsby friends found them still at it, milking 25 cows, but with advancing years finding it so heavy that they are about ready to give it up.

Several neighbors and friends gave Mrs. G. F. Harper a delightful surprise party last Friday, on the occasion of her birthday anniversary.

Music lovers are requested to remember Miss Althea Parker's recital, at Bates Hall, next Saturday night. We understand that Miss Parker has given general satisfaction to patrons and students of Thorsby Institute department of music during the past school year, and this will afford the public an opportunity to note the proficiency attained by many of her pupils.

Members of the "Cook Shows" Company, which held nightly performances for the past week in Thorsby, have left their equipment here and scattered to their homes for a vacation.

Alabama College at Montevallo will launch its Million Dollar Campaign June 2, with Dean O. C. Carmichael at the helm and the state fully organized for an intensive drive which will last for two months.

The purpose of this campaign is to provide funds for expansion. This sum will enable the college to take care of the hundreds of young women who are anxious to enter but who are barred because accomodations are limited. Today there are 650 students enrolled in the school, and there is not another crack or crevice into which a girl might be stowed.

Not only are the dormitories crowded to capacity but the classrooms are overflowing. Teachers find it difficult to teach their subjects satisfactorilly with students sitting in chairs as well as in the desks provided, to say nothing of those who are standing lined about the walls because space cannot be found to place chairs for them. Yet according to the college authorities this is the condition in many of the Freshman courses where the growth of the college is naturally felt most.

Organization of the human machine which is to collect this million dollars is going forward rapidly, with all available clubs and groups in the state cooperating, and every one of the 650 girls now enrolled in the school pledged to spread the gospel in her own home town.

The congressional districts of the state have been taken as the first units of division and one member of the executive committee is to head each of the districts. These district chairmen will have student assistants who have already been appointed from among the student body to take charge of the detail work in their respective districts.

The district chairmen will appoint county chairmen, who will in turn divide their counties into sections and appoint heads of each section. These sectional organizations will have direct charge of collecting the money and will make periodical reports and remittances to the county chairman, thence to the district chairman and to the main organization.

The larger cities in the state will be organized separately, the local clubs in each city being invited to act as a basis for the organization.

The aim of the campaign is to provide funds for immediate expansion. Unless this expansion can be financed hundreds of girls must be turned away this year as they were last. It was only by putting up a temporary wooden dormitory that the school was able to make room for the students now enrolled. As it is, several hundred were turned away.

Enrollments on the first of May were equal to the number enrolled on the first of August last year, indicating that there will be more than four hundred who cannot be accomodated.

"We have demonstrated that we can put up temporary living quarters as we did last year," says Dean Carmichael. "But we cannot provide class room space and educational equipment."

"Today there are 3,000 young men of college age in state schools while there are only 1,000 young women in state schools, 650 of them being enrolled at Alabama College. These figures quoted in the face of the fact that there are almost twice as many young girls graduating from high schools of the state every year as there are boys indicates only one condition. The young women of Alabama are finding that their state cannot meet their demands and are going outside of Alabama to get their educations.

"The quota of a million dollars has been divided among the citizens of the state in a general way. It is estimated that if every white man and woman gives one dollar the sum will run far in excess of the desired million. When one stops to consider that in Alabama alone the people spend more than two million dollars a year for chewing gum, the fact that Alabama College is asking for one million to invest in the young womanhood of the state seems conservative."

gates to serve at each convention.

Following is the list of delegates chosen: W. T. Bean, J. O. Middleton, Grady Reynolds, C. C. Conway, J. N. Dennis, Tom Rockett, C. D. Hughes, L. H. Reynolds, Sam Pate, Percy M. Pitts, H. A. Harris, and J. L. Wilson. The alternates were: H. T. Childress, L. E. Diefenderfer, R. J. Downs, R. N. Wilkins, J. H. Anderson, T. J. Dorminey, A. P. Vinson, C. T. Walker, D. M. Apperson, W. H. Conway, A. B. Manning and J. M. Grant.

A motion was made and adopted by the convention that the delegates be instructed to vote in the State and District conventions as a unit and that they vote for delegates to the national convention who would support Calvin Coolidge for president. This motion was unanimously adopted by the convention and made a part of the credentials.

A resolution was passed instructing the delegates to endorse Mr. Street as national committeeman and Mr. Atkins as State Chairman. Both Mr. Middleton and Judge Reynolds spoke very commendingly of the work Mr. Street had done for the Republicans of Chilton County. His re-election as well as that of Mr. Atkins was unanimously endorsed by the convention.

The delegates were also instructed to use their influence in the State convention toward putting out a full State Republican ticket to be voted on in the coming election in November.

It was decided by the convention that the county delegates from each Beat arrange for candidates for Justice of the Peace for their respective Beats to appear on the Republican ticket in November.

At odd times during the meeting the chairman called on various ones present to make a speech before the meeting. Especially the "lame ducks" as the chairman called the defeated candidates, were given a chance to express themselves. Mr. C. D. Hughes, Mr. K. M. Vinson and Mr. J. Wiley Littlejohn all responded by making very encouraging talks, each expressing himself as perfectly satisfied with the results of the election and determined to do all they could for the election of the entire Republican ticket in November. Mr. J. L. Burnett, the nominee for county commissioner from the third district also made a nice talk. Prof. H. A. Harris spoke very interestingly before the convention, as well as R. N. Wilkins and D. H. Gentry. Judge Reynolds made a very fine speech in which he expressed his heart-felt thanks to the Republicans and Democrats of the county who had so willingly lent him their aid in fighting the contest filed against him by C. D. Messer. Judge Reynolds said that the people of Chilton County were the best and most patriotic people he had ever seen anywhere.

The meeting adjourned about 12:30 o'clock, thus ending one of the most spirited and harmonious meetings the Republicans of this county have ever had.

A. P. VINSON WRITES THANKS

Clanton, Ala., May 20th, 1924.

To the people of Chilton county and especially the Republican voters, I take this means to try to express my appreciation for the splendid support that I received in the primary election on last Tuesday. I cannot command words to express my appreciation for the support but permit me to say that I feel greatly honored in the first place because my opponents were and are of the best type of men and men whom the county is and should be proud of. I also regard it an honor to be one of the standard bearers of the Republican party in Chilton county, or any other county, State or Nation as to that. I regard the office of commissioner as being one of great importance and responsibility and since I have the nomination from the hands of the party to fill this office I feel it an honor and I assure you that if I should be elected, which I believe that I will, I will do everything in my power to serve the people to the very best of my ability, and will strive to find out the will of the majority of the people and to do that as near as possible.

I here and now thank you all for the nomination and insist that we all get in line and push forward to complete victory in the general election. Let us strive for the greatest victory that we have ever had in this county. I pledge you my honor that I will do everything that I can, honorably, to be elected and to elect the entire ticket in the general election.

Permit me to especially thank my home beat for the vote they gave me. I did not get every one nor did I expect every one, but I got nearly all of them, which I am proud of. Now you, that did not vote for me in the primary, I appreciate you just the same and feel that you did your duty as you saw it and admire you for the same, but I insist that you help me in the general election and assure you that I will appreciate anything that you can do for me.

A. P. VINSON.

FORD SALES PASS THREE-QUARTER MILLION MARK

Car and truck deliveries alone show increase of 102,158 over last year. May has opened with a bigger demand for Ford products than any month so far this year, the Ford Motor Company announced here today.

Ford retail sales in the United States during the first ten days of May averaged 8,385 daily, exceeding the last ten-day period of the record-breaking sales in the month of April and indicating the continued upward trend of the market.

Figures just compiled show a total of 757,023 Ford units retaield to customers from January 1st to and including May 10th, of which Ford car and truck deliveries alone show a gain of 102,158 over the same period a year ago.

With the increases already attained this month and with the present outlook for business the company anticipates a new high sales figure in May.

New Co-Operative Association Formed In Chilton County

stated, after which a complete list of the charter members was read.

The proposed Constitution and By-Laws was then presented for action to the members and was adopted after thorough discussion and the addition of one or two amendments.

The election of officers took place immediately after the adoption of the Constitution and By-Laws and the following were elected:

J. S. Weldon, president; J. M. Smith, vice-president; E. Robinson, secretary.

J. M. Smith, W. B. Cooper, J. S. Weldon, J. A. Mims, R. M. Foshee, G. W. Robinson, S. E. Morris, R. I. Weaver, J. W. Lowery.

The Board of Directors elected the following members to serve on the Executive Committee:

J. S. Weldon, chairman; W. B. Cooper, R. M. Foshee.

The Manager was then elected, O. H. Mastin being selected to occupy this office.

The object of "The Farmers Co-Operative Association," as the new organization is to be called, is stated as follows in the Constitution: "The object and purpose of this association is to promote the economic, educational and social welfare of the farmers. The association will act as the agent for all members in the purchasing of seed, fertilizer, farm equipment and other supplies; also in the marketing of the products of its members. The association will encourage the growing of strawberries and other fruit and truck crops and market same for its members."

As seen from the above, this association will be conducted along somewhat the same lines as the United Farmers, with more attention being given, however, to the purchasing of supplies, etc., for its members and also the production and marketing of strawberries.

This latter feature, that of strawberry growing and marketing, should be of special interest to everyone in or near Clanton. Several strawberry growers near Clanton are among its charter members and it is expected that all strawberry producers whose logical shipping point is Clanton will soon become members. Before Clanton can hope to ship berries in car lots the acreage in this crop around Clanton will have to be increased considerably. The association will put on a campaign for strawberry growing in this territory, will buy the plants for its members and give them such other assistance as it is able. Already some of its members who have no strawberries at the present time have agreed to plant some and other farmers who are planning to put in some ground to this crop have stated their intention of joining. With an association here on the job systematically promoting the strawberry industry and ready to market the berries when they are produced, this industry should show rapid progress here. When it is remembered that the growers shipping berries from Thorsby this reason will receive more than forty thousand ($40,000.00) dollars for their crop, the possibilities along this line here at Clanton are clearly evident.

As has been stated elsewhere in this article, the association will not be a strawberry marketing association alone by any means, but this is one valuable feature of the association. It must not be thought by anyone that the association will be antagonistic to the Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association, as it will merely aim to serve the farmers around Clanton in the same way that the Thorsby association is serving the farmers around Thorsby. Indeed several of the members of the Thorsby association are charter members of the new association and this will help to insure a friendly co-operation between the two associations.

Details as to the method of joining the Farmers Co-operative Association, the plans of operation and other information can be secured by asking any officer or member of the association. The association has no secrets and will simply conduct its affairs according to recognized business principles.

The most urgent immediate task of the association is to increase its membership. The opportunity is open to all farmers who wish to join, with the purpose of doing business through the association, to join. Since its organization on May 17th, twenty-two new members have been secured, making a total membership at this time, (May 20), of 67 of the leading farmers of the county. This is a home organization, founded by Chilton county farmers on a plan that fits our condition, with expenses held down accordingly. It is an organization of farmers, by farmers and for farmers. It lies with the farmers of Chilton county to render the decision as to what it will accomplish.

CANDY KITCHEN FOR CLANTON

Mr. W. W. Fox is putting up a candy kitchen in the old Jesse Jones barber shop place in the corner of the Chilton County News office. Mr. Fox is an old veteran candy puller, that being the trade he followed after leaving the farm. He says that he can make candy that will eat right where you hold it. The place will be in operation in a short while.

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL METHODS approved by State & Government Experts

Contrary to the general belief that boll weevils must be eradicated or reduced in numbers by expensive poisoning in order to produce a cotton crop, it has been proved by successful farmers that increased yields and profits may be had under boll weevil conditions in spite of the weevil and without the use of poisons where the infestation is not too heavy. Most of the steps required are included in what may be called "better farming." As they have to do mainly with the growth and culture of the plant, they are generally known as "cultural" methods of boll weevil control."

However, the foregoing statement should not be understood to mean that poison is not required to produce a maximum yield and profit. Cultural methods should go hand in hand with the use of poison and by the use of both in the proper way a profitable crop is assured. Use of cultural methods alone is practicable only when conditions are such that poison can not be used and when the infestation is slight.

Where no poison will be used it is especially important to use for cotton only the most fertile, well-drained soils where the yielding ability is good and, if possible, located away from woods which might shelter weevils in the winter. To reduce the weevil attack cotton should not follow cotton. A change of crops reduces insect attack and increases yields.

Beating the boll weevil depends not on an extra early date of planting but on the crop making a very rapid growth after it is planted. Early preparation of the ground, so there will be a firm, smooth and well settled seed bed at planting time, is very important. Planting should be delayed until all danger from frosts and cold is past and the soil is warm enough to insure quick sprouting, rapid growth and a good stand.

Shallow cultivation should be given every week or ten days, and continued as late as necessary to keep the crop free from weeds and grass. Cultivation promotes the growth and fruiting of the plant but does not kill boll weevils directly. It is a known and proven fact that with heavy or light infestation of the weevils, with the application or without the application of poison, better farming pays under any and all conditions.

GENIE COLLINS THANKS VOTERS

Thorsby, Ala., May 19, 1924.
Citizens of Chilton County:

I wish to thank you through this medium, since I have not the opportunity to see you and thank you personally.

I feel grateful to every one who cast a vote for me and have no grudge to those who did not, because as you know, I had worthy opponents who deserved the votes they got.

If there is anything I can do for you in the future, don't hesitate to call upon me, everyone of you, and I assure you it will be nothing but a pleasure for me to respond.

Now thanking you again, I am,
Very truly,
GENIE COLLINS.

Mr. Ammie Boswell was in Clanton last Thursday to have an operation performed for tonsilitis.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells,—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes venus-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S. S. S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S. S. S. at once, and give yourself what you have been working for, for years.

STAND BY NOMINEES SAYS J. N. SCOTT

Editor Union-Banner:

Here I come again for another small space in your good old paper. As the primary is over, whether we all got our choice of not, let us join hands and work for the election of our entire ticket. I did not get my choice in full but I am well satisfied and sure do want to join in with Mr. Burnett in thanking the voters all over the county for the way they voted for commissioner in the third district. I want to say that the time is here when we must have more servants in our county and less bosses. I for one am always willing to help put a man out when I find out that he is not of the right principle.

I am not like Mr. J. H. Benson. I do not want my neighbor taxed to build me a road and let me go free. Yes, he accused me of being a kicker and the only one about the truck tax. I want to say that there are over 200 other truck owners kicking and that is not all, or Mr. C. T. Walker would have retained his job. Mr. Benson, there are a lot of kickers about this unjust law all over the county and some of the very best business men we have and they do not own any trucks and are not interested in trucks. I am glad to know that the people of this county intend for justice to prevail toward all men and believe in a square deal.

So, stand up for your rights, boys, and help us test the validity of this law. With best wishes for the success of the editor and his many readers, I remain the same old doctor,

J. N. SCOTT.

WOOD-SAWING SUPPLANTS HAND-SHAKING

You simply can't please the Democratic leaders during a Republican administration. President Harding went the limit of physical endurance in shaking hands with people—because he liked to meet people. The Democrats criticised him on the ground that he was trying to play politics. His death was largely due to over-taxing of his strength, and then the Democratic press severely condemned the custom of presidential handshaking as a needless strain upon a president's strength. But when President Coolidge, during a holiday week in Washington, cut out part of the handshaking because the throngs of tourists would have taken his time nearly all day long, the leading spokesman of the Democrats in the Senate spent a half hour denouncing the president and pleading for the right of the people to shake the hand of their Chief Executive. That is a fair sample of the inconsistency and hysteria in Democratic leadership, but, fortunately, the rank and file of the Democratic party does not follow that sort of leadership. The vast majority of Democrats, as well as members of any other party, approve of the deteermination of the president to attend to his official duties and to give to handshaking whatever time and energy he can spare.

GO AFTER LAW VIOLATORS OVER IN BIBB COUNTY

On Monday of last week J. L. Gore and W. H. Gillespie, federal prohibition officers, together with Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee, went over into Bibb county in the neighborhood of Oakley Station and succeeded in locating and destroying two illicit distilling outfits. No arrests were made but 14 gallons of liquor were poured out by the officers. They went to one man's place and he and his wife were coming from the field with their mule. When they saw the officers the man handed his wife the reins and he took toward the swamp. The officers followed him and stumbled up on his barrel of whiskey and followed him a little further and run up on his still. The still was destroyed but the man got away, however it is said that a case will be instituted against him in Federal court.

(NOTE: Dr. Pierce is president of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., to which for 50 years past chronic sufferers have been coming for specialized treatment from all over the U. S. A., Canada and foreign lands.)

Will Undo Much Evil
By Dr. V. M. Pierce

Knowing the vast amount of harm wrought by diseases of the kidneys, and having had opportunity to observe the analyses and the successful methods of treatment in thousands of cases of kidney trouble at the Invalids' Hotel, I have recently given to the public the latest and perhaps most important of the Dr. Pierce home remedies, "An-uric" (anti-uric-acid) Tablets, which I now recommend to those who suffer with kidney backache, irregularity of urination and the pains and disturbances that come from excess of uric acid in the blood.

"An-uric" can be had now at all the drug stores. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning and a little "An-uric" before every meal should bring remarkably quick improvement. You may have kidney trouble and not know it. The danger signals to be watched for and quickly heeded are backache, depression, aches, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

WEST CHILTON

Miss Bevie Smith has returned to her position in Birmingham.

Hughey Waldrop's child was seriously ill Sunday.

John S. Waldrop made a business trip to Maplesville Thursday.

C. C. Atchison is erecting a new saw mill just east of Randolph.

The writer had the pleasure of attending the singing convention at Pleasant Grove M. P. Church Saturday and Sunday. It was fine. People were there by the acre.

The liberality and kindness of the people of Pleasant Grove was unbounded. The social features of the occasion were inestimable. We had the pleasure of meeting many friends of former days—Rev. W. A. Wood, H. B. Glenn and family, A. A. Jackson and daughter of Birmingham, M. W. Brown and family, J. E. Cobb and family, and others too numerous to mention. Such fine dinners free for all proved the people's kindness. The singing was enthuiastic. One noted feature was Graham's great composition, "Don't grieve your mother," beautifully rendered by A. A. Jackson and daughter and Miss Era Sanders. Another was the skillful directing of one piece in memory of Prof. White, by the accomplished convention secretary. Another was when the chairman called Miss Edna Mae Jackson of Birmingham to the floor, and who beautifully sang the wonderful composition "Filmore." The great audience seemed spell-bound. The convention was closed by a most fervent and beautiful prayer by Rev. Lawley. It was a great session.

REFUGE NEWS

Meeting at this place Saturday and Sunday conducted by Rev. M. J. Parrish was exceedingly good.

I wish to say that Rev. M. J. Parrish preaches here the third Sunday and Saturday before, and also the first Sunday. We as a church, cordially invite all to attend these services.

Sunday school is good; good attendance. We thank all for their coming; but say, the work is not complete—let us all study more, that we might know how to live better, and most of all, that we might gain more to this good work.

Singing at this place Sunday evening was fine. Directors: J. E. Miner, R. E. Powell, L. B. Adams, J. A. W. Mims, O. R. Robinson, Miss Luvenia Mims, Miss Zula Willis. Also two good quartets by J. A. W. Mims, R. E. Powell, Enoch Mims, Miss Benia Mims. All directors two songs each. Organists, Mrs. Annie Robinson, Alice Baker and Miss Zula Willis. I am glad to say that we had good behavor with just a little exception, but I am glad to say they stayed away from the house. There has been great things said as to what kind of a place Refuge was, but we stand for the Church which was founded on a rock. We welcome all, but we do not welcome misbehavior.

Thanking all of our good visitors we had Sunday. So, come again, that we may enjoy another service in singing praises to God. All singers are cordially invited.

J. E. MINER, Sec.

SINGING AT PLEASANT GROVE

The Sacred Harp and Christian Harmony singing convention held its regular semi-annual session at Pleasant Grove church, Saturday and Sunday, May 16th and 17th.

Promptly at ten o'clock (Saturday) the convention was called to order by the vice-president, who assumed the duties as chairman until that gentleman, President Z. J. Jones arrived.

The opening song, "Idumea," was rendered by Vice-President T. J. Jackson, after which followed prayer by A. T. Davis.

A committee of four arranged for the directors and time given each director—being fifteen minutes each.

Officers for the ensuing year were renominated and re-elected as follows: Z. J. Jones, president; T. J. Jackson, vice-president, and Era Sanders, secretary.

Delegates were appointed to attend the different State conventions, convening in Birmingham in July and September.

Sunday was particularly good. Many singers and directors were present, not to mention the vast audience of listeners.

Several special compositions were rendered during the day by the vice-president, the secretary, Miss Edna Jackson, of Birmingham and W. J. Lawley.

The eleven o'clock Memorial Service was also very impressive.

Songs in memory of Messrs. White and Walker, authors of the Harp and Harmony, were rendered by Mr. W. J. Lawley and the secretary.

Songs also in memory of two of our deceased members, Mrs. A. E. (Annie) Teel and Mr. J. H. Golden, were rendered by A. A. and T. J. Jackson.

The programme of directors were composed of the vice-president, the secretary, A. T. Davis, J. N. Scott, A. J. Langston, W. J. Morris, W. J. Lawley, M. W. Brown, T. J. Baker, J. E. Cobb, the State president, A. A. Jackson and his daughter, Miss Edna of Birmingham, Mrs. Sarah Bates, Hays Brothers, and Frank Culpepper.

Closing song, "Resurrected," was rendered by the vice-president. Benediction by W. J. Lawley.

We were glad to have the State president and Miss Jackson with us, also all other visitors and hope it will be our good pleasure to hear your voices in song in our next convention.

The Pleasant Grove people were so good and hospitable during our sojourn with them and the good eats prepared by the kind hands of the ladies of that community were fruits of a generous free-giving heart, we are confident. We appreciate it and thank you so much for having contributed your large share in making this convention the success it was. Next convention goes to Sardis.

THE SECRETARY.

W. H. ROBINSON THANKS VOTERS

Editor Union-Banner:

Well, the primary is over and I have met my defeat. I wish to say to my friends who suportped me that I do heartily appreciate your votes. I thank you very much for the help you gave me.

I was not the choice of the majority of the people, but that does not make me any less Republican. I intend still to remain loyal to the principles of the Republican party.

The Democrats years ago tricked us out of our probate judge, and it made me sore with them. I do not believe in trickery in politics any more than I do in anything else.

I feel that I made a clean fight in my canvassing for the nomination as commissioner. In what little I did, I feel that I treated everybody clean and did all that I did on a fair basis. I did not try to down anyone. Of course, I asked the people that if they felt it their duty to vote for me I would appreciate it. So, again thanking you all for the help given me, I remain, as ever,

A Republican,
W. H. ROBINSON.

OFFICERS GET DOLL MIMS

Deputies Culp and Easterling caught Monroe (Doll) Mims at his home near Swift Creek one day last week for violating the prohibition laws. Mims was drunk and was in the bed when the officers put the handcuffs on him. A search of the house revealed a quart and a part of a pint of whiskey in the kitchen. Mims was brought to Clanton and placed in jail but was later released on bond.

HALL TYUS ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING PROHIBITION LAW

On last Friday morning Sheriff Littlejohn with Deputy Foshee and Culp went down to the home of Hall Tyus at Mt. Pisgah in search of whiskey. A through search of the house revealed nothing, so the officers got out in the field near the house and made a search which resulted in the finding of one glass gallon jug, two 3-gallon jugs and one 5-gallon keg, all burried around in different places in Tyus' cotton patch. It is supposed that Tyus had the spirits buried under his cotton to keep it warm these cold nights; but we are not going to vouch for that. But the whiskey was there all right. Tyus was arrested under the charge of violating the prohibition law and was released on bond.

Los Angeles Times—After the Senate's turndown of the Mellon tax relief plan most people wil be sorry only a third of the membership comes up for election this fall.

The Republicans of Chilton county do not care much for that second choice vote business. The highest number of second choice votes cast in the primary last Tuesday for any one candidate was 16, these being for Miss Collins.

Regardless of what others, in and out of Congress, may think, President Coolidge stands squarely on the budget law, and the basic economic principle which inspired it. Except in emergencies, the nation's expenditures should be measured by the revenue obtainable by reasonable taxation. In his action on bills presented to him by Congress, Mr. Coolidge indicates that there will be no departure from that doctrine in the White House.

The leaders of the Democratic press have been strong in their praise of President Coolidge's veto of the pension bill—a bill that would have dealt very generously with widows of Civil War Veterans to whom they were married more than a quarter of a century after the war was over. Those same Democratic newspapers were equally as strong in their approval of the fight President Coolidge has made for tax reduction. Yet, so narrow is their partisanship, they will forget to praise him when the campaign comes on. But the voters will do the praising as they mark their ballots.

Secretary of War Weeks has recommended that the people of Porto Rico be granted an autonomous government in 1923. A delegation of Porto Ricans was recently in Washington to urge changes in the organic law of the island, and Secretary Weeks, as chief of our insular possessions, was asked for an official opinion. His recommendation that the islanders be allowed in the near future to elect their governor and other officials ought to serve as an object lesson to the Filipinos. The Porto Ricans have demonstrated their ability for self-government, while the natives of the Philippines have shown their utter incapacity for similar responsibilities.

The most striking contrast between the Democratic and Republican parties of Chilton county was manifest in the recent primary election. The Republicans presented a list of candidates to the people and let them select their choice. Half a dozen Democrats in Clanton said: "We know more about what the people of the county need than they do themselves. We will not put out a ticket in the primary but will wait and select us a set of men who suit ourselves to run in the general election."

The above is a fair example of the two parties in Chilton county. The Republicans are given a chance to select exactly whom they want for their candidates, and if they try out a man and do not like him, when the next election comes they vote him out and put a man there that they do like, but the mass of the Democratic voters of the county are not allowed to open their mouth in the selection of their candidates. If a Democrat nominated in this manner were elected to a county office, who would he be responsible to? Certainly not to the people of the county, but to the half a dozen bosses who put him out. One can readily see where the interest of the masses of the people would go if our government were placed in the hands of such men. A man who knows more about the people's business than the people do themselves is too wise to be a public official or a public dictator. He ought to get him a job with some big air castle construction company where he could dictate all he pleased without affecting anyone except himself.

ONE OF ITS DANGERS

SCISSORETTES

Marshalltown Times-Republican—Some folks complain that Coolidge's speeches lack "the inner flame of passionate belief." Good enough. We are just now looking for the unimpassioned action of cold horse sense. We've tried out the passionate and it's raised the very devil with us.

Omaha Bee—Every time the Democrats have been entrusted with power they have tried free trade, and every time it has brought disaster. Are the peope ready to go back to the breadlines of 1914, of 1893, or any of those good old days?

Marion Star—Many plans have been offered to accomplish the salvation of Europe, but all of them are common in one respect, each and every one of them looks to the United States to furnish the money to defray the expenses of the operation.

Washington Herald—The victory of President Coolidge in the California primary was a climax to the most remarkable vote of confidence the American people ever gave a president who neither beat the drum nor blew the bugle.

Fort Wayne Sentinel—About the only thing the Democrats will have to crow about this fall is what they, with the help of the radicals, were able to keep the Republicans from doing for the folks who pay the bills.

Syracuse Post-Standard—The Democrats of California formally voted E. L. Doheny out of the party, but they have given W. G. McAdoo the delegates. It is more blessed in California to receive than to give.

Dubuque Times-Journal—The more or less insignificant opposition to Mr. Coolidge in his party has about arrived at the conclusion that Calvin is both the immovabe object and the irresistible force.

Providence Journal—The public has more intelligence than the partisan coalition which deliberately set out to wreck the Mellon plan and discredit the Coolidge Administration gives it credit for.

Houston Post (Dem.)—The Mellon tax plan was based on sound economic principle. The substitute plans are the makeshifts of political opportunists.

New York Herald-Tribune—Coolidge may not be able to perform a miracle every day. But in California he made Hi low.

Athanta Constitution (Dem.)—And, too, the Senate doesn't think it's a bit wrong to tax the patience of the people.

TIME NOT RIPE

Were Mr. Coolidge a politician who subordinated his sound judgment to political strategy, he would probably issue a call for an international armaments conference this summer. Such a move would immediately win the approval of thousands of voters, including Democrats, and quite likely would bring many votes to Mr. Coolidge next fall that he will not otherwise obtain. But the President believes the time is not ripe for another conference of the sort, and has not hesitated to say that he will wait until the Dawes fiscal plan has had a chance to compose affairs in Europe. When the reparations problem is on the way to final settlement, President Coolidge has told the people that he will favor another meeting of representatives from all the powers to consider what further limitations may be placed on land and naval armaments, and to arrange for a codification of the international law. The voters know that Mr. Coolidge means what he says, and his promise of action carries as much weight with them as the actual accomplishments of other less concientious officials.

SOMETHING NEW IN POLITICS TO BE TRIED IN CHILTON CO.

With the primary election held last Tuesday Chilton County politics enters a new and unexplored era. The Republican voters of the county have decided to try something that has never before been attempted in the history of Chilton County, and that is a lady for a public official. Upon Miss Genie Collins has been bestowed an honor which no other member of the fairer sex has ever enjoyed in our county. She will be, most assuredly, the next treasurer of Chilton County, and this will be the first office a lady has ever held in our county.

To some extent, this is an experiment, as no one knows exactly what kind of an official Miss Collins will make. However, on the other hand, judging from the work she has done in the past, we do know that she is thoroughly competent to handle the affirs of this office. She can do anything that needs to be done in the tax assessor's office, and there is much more work to this office than that of treasurer. To be sure, caring for the duties of the office of treasurer will be easy sailing for Miss Collins.

However, there is a marked difference between being an official and being the employee of an official. There is a responsibility resting upon one in a public office. If the work is done properly, the official gets the credit, and if an error is made, the offcial gets the discredit. Although this is true, we feel sure that Miss Collins is thoroughly fitted to withstand the responsibilities that will evolve upon her when she enters the office of county treasurer.

And besides the responsibilities of the office, there is another important phase to the record which Miss Collins makes as a public official. The way that she handles the affairs of the office will have a lot to do with the future as regards ladies for public officials in this county. If Miss Collins cares for the effice in a manner pleasing to the public, then the people will not hesitate to elect another lady to probably a higher office next time. So this young lady owes it to her fellow lady citizens to give the very best service possible. In this respect, the election of Miss Collins is an experiment, and she has within her power the form in which public sentiment will be moulded in the matter of women holding office. We entertain not the least doubt that Miss Collins is going to conduct the affairs of the office to which she has been nominated and most likely will be elected to the entire satisfaction of her constituents and to the glorious credit of the splendid womanhood of our county. So, let the Republicans of Chilton County stand behind her as well as all the other nominees on our ticket in the general election in November. We cannot afford to puff up and flounch the principles of our party or side-track in the least. All of our nominees are too good folks and will make too good officials for us to withhold from them a single ounce of the support which we can give them.

With what envy must our friend Mr. Bok be observing the publicity according to the Dawes peace plan.

DR. V. J. GRAGG WRITES TO FARMERS AND BUSINESS MEN

Mayor of Clanton Lays Down Facts to People of County and Gives Remedy for our Conditions.

The need of some large industrial establishment at Clanton becomes more apparent every day. Our cotton crop in Chilton County has in the past run all the way from 5,000 to above 20,000 bales annually. Now, just suppose that we had a large cotton mill or two in this county and could sell our cotton at home instead of having to ship it elsewhere. This saving of freight and middle men's profits would allow us to realize $10 saving per bale at present prices, at least, it is being done at other places. Say we only made 10,000 bales; that would be $100,000 to our farmers in one year or $1,000,000 in ten years, saved on cotton prices alone (enough to build a good sized cotton mill.)

Then, when our farmers had vegetables and fruts or farm products of any kind, more than was needed at home, how nice it would be to be able to convert that into hard cash by selling to the laborers at these cotton mills, who will be eager customers. This would be much better than allowing this extra produce to rot and ruin in waste because of no ready market as is the case today.

What would a payroll of between $25,000 and $50,000 mean to us? The people who work at these mills are usually the kind of folks that realize that money was made to spend and is worthless except as a medium of exchange; and thus they let it go and it is soon found circulating in the community and almost every member of the community realizes some benefit from it.

The maintenance of such a laboring population would mean wonders to the business men and producers on the farm. Suppose they and their dependents amounted to a population of 5,000 and that their expenditures was $1.00 each per day for 300 days in the year. That would mean $1,500,000 annually spent here in our community that is not here now. If what some statistican has said is true that each dollar that goes into circulation pays seven one-dollar debts, see what a wonderful debt paying we would have.

I know the remark has been made that too much has been said and too little done, but I cannot refrain from again appealing to our people to let's wake up to the situation and act before it is too late. Do we need industries located in or near Clanton? Will our present agricultural interests keep business on a sound basis the year around? Can we go on as we have been going without putting forth any effort? Will we glide along leisurely down stream with the current and all continue to be well with us? Or will it be necessary with us, as it is with others, to organize ourselves and put forth a united effort to forge ahead and keep pace with other towns of equal magnitude in the effort to secure industries, make up payrolls, encourage business, and bring our town and county to the notice of thriving, active business men who will then be ready to fall in and help the fellow who helps himself.

If we do not do these things, we must go backward. Our lumber business is exhausted; our dams on the Coosa river have been built and the flow of money from these sources has stopped. The time is at hand when we must have other sources of income or our businesses will suffer and our town will begin to change from to live, active leader to a slow, non-progressive type that one might actually describe as a dead town.

Now, if we will get together and try, we have a chance to made the start. We have a chance, by doing our part, to get a cotton mill; and when once the start is made, other and larger mills will come; at least that is the history of this industry. Look at the many mills in Georgia and the Carolinas, or come closer home and see Huntsville, Sylacauga, Alexander City and others

V. J. GRAGG.

A RESOLUTION

Whereas, there has been within the recent few days, conduct on the part of certain people living within the town of Jemison, which casts a reflection upon the good name of the town and people living within its vicinity, who believe in law and order and the maintaining of high ideals of citizenship, and

Whereas, those guilty of this conduct boldly persist in their manner of living and seem unaware of the seriousness of the situation and the ultimate results, in disaster to the morals of our town and community if not deterred, and

Whereas, the Masonic Order stands for upholding the morals of our town and community and believes in and fosters the high ideals of citizenship and the establishing of example, moral living, and detest immoral conduct in every way, and

Whereas, there has gone out to the world at largs an idea that the people of Jemison are not active in their efforts to bring to justice parties guilty of violating the law,

Therefore, be it Resolved by Jemison Lodge Number 411, A. F. & A. M., that we condemn the conduct of all parties who violate the moral and statutory laws and offer to the authorities our means and time to stamp out the condition mentioned; that we call upon all good citizens to join us in our efforts to make our town and community free from the vice and immoral condition in which we have been cast, and ask that all citizens of Chilton county give us their aid and support in bringing those guilty to justice through the lawful channels of our government.

Done by order of Jemison Lodge Number 411, A. F. & A. M.

Mr. H. V. Poole of Tuscaloosa is spending a few days with friends and relatives here.

The Men Who Serve You Whom You Do Not See

Ticket sellers, gatemen, conductors, dining car stewards, waiters and porters are about the only employees of a railroad with whom you ever come in contact; yet, in the operation of a great transportation system, almost every trade and profession is represented.

In order to maintain the high standard of safety, comfort and satisfactory freight and passenger service which has long distinguished the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, more than 52,000 men and women each day perform some special and definite task.

Approximately 300 executives direct the operation of various departments; 7,000 clerks handle the mass of detail, records, figures, etc.; 12,400 track workers guard the safety of passengers; 12,800 mechanics and helpers keep the equipment in repair; while 2,000 brakemen and flagmen, 5,000 dispatchers, agents, and others, 1,600 conductors, 8,400 engineers and firemen complete the list of active workers. To this number must be added construction engineers, lawyers, doctors, agricultural agents and other specialists—all of whom contribute to the sum total of successful railroad operation.

Remember that one out of every fifteen bread winners in the Nation is employed in the transportation industry, and that these employees are good citizens—an asset to any community.

CORRESPONDENTS TO BANNER PLEASE READ THIS

We consider the correspondents who send in to us news items from their communities every week one of the greatest assets to our paper. We sincerely appreciate the efforts that are put forth by those of the different communities who take the interest in their own community's advancement and the success of The Union-Banner to write up the news of their locality and send it in for publication. So our purpose in writing this personal notice to our correspondents is simply to make this phase of our paper better if possible. Below we are making a few suggestions to our correspondents which we sincerely hope everyone who expects to send in anything in the future for publication will read carefully and abide by as closely as possible.

As a heading to your letter you should write the name of your community, such as "Mt. Nebo" or "Mineral Springs." Directly under your heading you should write your own name, which will always be omitted from the printed article. Your name, however, is very important, and we urge you to always sign your name. Don't think that if your name appears on your manuscript it will be printed in the paper, because it will not, unless you especially request it.

Begin your article right off with a prominent news item. Do not start off with "Health of this place is good," etc. If anyone is sick state so, but leave off the rest. Write actual news and not just "kid talk" which the public cares nothing about. Such things as "John Parker was the guest of Miss Pearl Bean Sunday afternoon" are not news and should not be written. If a prominent member of your community visits some other community, write a paragraph about it, but do not waste your time and our space by saying that "Mattie Wilson took dinner with Jessie Miner Sunday." Write something that people all over the county will enjoy reading. Always write up the activities of your church and Sunday school and other public institutions.

Write your news as plainly as possible and on only one side of your paper. Especially write the names of people and places as legibly as you possibly can. When you have finished one item do not begin another on the same line but draw a dash under it and skip a line to begin your next item. This avoids confusion and should be heeded by all means. As an example of a well composed correspondence we refer you to the letter received from South Calera every week. It would not be a bad idea for our correspondents to follow the general arrangement of the letter from this place.

If you care to enter any political discussion of any nature, your name must be signed at the close of the communication and be allowed to appear in the paper. No political discussion will be carried unless the real name of the writer appears at the bottom. Do not use a ficticious name such as "Subscriber" but sign your real name and also give your post-office address.

Do not wait too late about mailing in your letter. It should be mailed in time to reach us Tuesday morning. If received later than this it may be that it will have to be omitted.

If our correspondents will carefully observe the above simple rules you will confer a great favor on us and at the same time be an asset to your community and friends. From time to time, we are going to give advice to our correspondents, and we hope each one will read them carefully and follow them as closely as possible. We are desirous of getting the news from all the communities of the county and we want it to show up as well as possible.

CHESTNUT CREEK SINGING SOCIETY

The Chestnut Creek Singing Society met Sunday afternoon in regular session with a large attendance, as usual. It was said by some of our best singers that the singing wasn't altogether as good as usual, although I think we had some real good singing. Sometimes I think that we don't put just what we ought to into song service. God gave us our talents and our voices to sing praises to Him and according to my belief, God won't be satisfied with anything less than our very best efforts. I think we ought to put aside all selfishness and selfish notions and open our very hearts and souls to Him who made us what we are and not merely try to sing to beat the other fellow.

As I have already stated, we should put forth our very best efforts at singing, but we should do it in the right spirit and give God all the praise, honor and glory.

The following is the program for the afternoon: Directors: L. T. Grant, J. R. Robinson, R. T. Grant.

Organists: Lee J. Grant, Lee Robinson, Ralph Grant and Mrs. Letha Sorrell.

Owing to the fact that the County convention will convene at Clanton next first Sunday and that Prof. A. J. Showalter and other great singers are expected to be there, there will not be any singing at this place on that date, but remember the Society will meet again on next third Sunday afternoon. Everybody has a cordial invitation to meet with us at any time you can make it convenient to do so.

Sweet Dreams Spray "A Godsend"

That's What a Big Banker Said About This Wonderful Insect Killer.

We all know that banker's aren't given to idle talk, and that their praises are few but forceful.

Pointing to a can of Sweet Dreams Spray in a drug store at Montgomery, Ala., the president of one of the leading banks of that city said: "That insect annihilator is a Godsend."

He knew, for Bankers never get so rich that their homes can be made inaccessible to insects. His wife had just tried Sweet Dreams Spray for killing flies and ants on the previous day—and it killed them all—while she looked.

And he said that Sweet Dreams Spray was a "Godsend."

You can get a can just like the banker had. While you look, it will kill your flies, ants, mites, bed-bugs, fleas or moths.

We sincerely appreciate the efforts that are put forth by those of the different communities who take the interest in their own community's advancement and the success of The Union-Banner to write up the news of their locality and send it in for publication. So our purpose in writing this personal notice to our correspondents is simply to make this phase of our paper better if possible. Below we are making a few suggestions to our correspondents which we sincerely hope everyone who expects to send in anything in the future for publication will read carefully and abide by as closely as possible.

As a heading to your letter you should write the name of your community, such as "Mt. Nebo" or "Mineral Springs." Directly under your heading you should write your own name, which will always be omitted from the printed article. Your name, however, is very important, and we urge you to always sign your name. Don't think that if your name appears on your manuscript it will be printed in the paper, because it will not, unless you especially request it.

Begin your article right off with a prominent news item. Do not start off with "Health of this place is good," etc. If anyone is sick state so, but leave off the rest. Write actual news and not just "kid talk" which the public cares nothing about. Such things as "John Parker was the guest of Miss Pearl Bean Sunday afternoon" are not news and should not be written. If a prominent member of your community visits some other community, write a paragraph about it, but do not waste your time and our space by saying that "Mattie Wilson took dinner with Jessie Miner Sunday." Write something that people all over the county will enjoy reading. Always write up the activities of your church and Sunday school and other public institutions.

Write your news as plainly as possible and on only one side of your paper. Especially write the names of people and places as legibly as you possibly can. When you have finished one item do not begin another on the same line but draw a dash under it and skip a line to begin your next item. This avoids confusion and should be heeded by all means. As an example of a well composed correspondence we refer you to the letter received from South Calera every week. It would not be a bad idea for our correspondents to follow the general arrangement of the letter from this place.

If you care to enter any political discussion of any nature, your name must be signed at the close of the communication and be allowed to appear in the paper. No political discussion will be carried unless the real name of the writer appears at the bottom. Do not use a ficticious name such as "Subscriber" but sign your real name and also give your post-office address.

Do not wait too late about mailing in your letter. It should be mailed in time to reach us Tuesday morning. If received later than this it may be that it will have to be omitted.

If our correspondents will carefully observe the above simple rules you will confer a great favor on us and at the same time be an asset to your community and friends. From time to time, we are going to give advice to our correspondents, and we hope each one will read them carefully and follow them as closely as possible. We are desirous of getting the news from all the communities of the county and we want it to show up as well as possible.

CHESTNUT CREEK SINGING SOCIETY

The Chestnut Creek Singing Society met Sunday afternoon in regular session with a large attendance, as usual. It was said by some of our best singers that the singing wasn't altogether as good as usual, although I think we had some real good singing. Sometimes I think that we don't put just what we ought to into song service. God gave us our talents and our voices to sing praises to Him and according to my belief, God won't be satisfied with anything less than our very best efforts. I think we ought to put aside all selfishness and selfish notions and open our very hearts and souls to Him who made us what we are and not merely try to sing to beat the other fellow.

As I have already stated, we should put forth our very best efforts at singing, but we should do it in the right spirit and give God all the praise, honor and glory.

The following is the program for the afternoon: Directors: L. T. Grant, J. R. Robinson, R. T. Grant.

Organists: Lee J. Grant, Lee Robinson, Ralph Grant and Mrs. Letha Sorrell.

Owing to the fact that the County convention will convene at Clanton next first Sunday and that Prof. A. J. Showalter and other great singers are expected to be there, there will not be any singing at this place on that date, but remember the Society will meet again on next third Sunday afternoon. Everybody has a cordial invitation to meet with us at any time you can make it convenient to do so.

O. L. DEVAUGHN, Sec.

Sweet Dreams Spray "A Godsend"

That's What a Big Banker Said About This Wonderful Insect Killer.

We all know that banker's aren't given to idle talk, and that their praises are few but forceful.

Pointing to a can of Sweet Dreams Spray in a drug store at Montgomery, Ala., the president of one of the leading banks of that city said: "That insect annihilator is a Godsend."

He knew, for Bankers never get so rich that their homes can be made inaccessible to insects. His wife had just tried Sweet Dreams Spray for killing flies and ants on the previous day—and it killed them all—while she looked.

And he said that Sweet Dreams Spray was a "Godsend."

You can get a can just like the banker had. While you look, it will kill your flies, ants, mites, bed-bugs, fleas or moths.

Sold by every dealer, everywhere.

THE BOOMERANG

There was an old woman, you know who,
She knew so much scandal she didn't know what to do.
She told it to the women, and she told it to the men,
Then she added just a little more, and told it all again.
She took a little bit o' truth and mixed it up with lies
'Til folks were a-skeered o' her' which ain't no surprise.
But 'stead o' harmin' other folks, she harmed herself instead,
'Cause her lies, like a boomerang, came hit her on the head.

STATE G. O. P. MEETING FAVORS COOLIDGE

Final Session of State Republican Convention in Birmingham Held Tuesday.

Alabama Republicans, at their State convention in the Hillman Hotel Tuesday afternoon, gave a rousing indorsement to the present national administartion and instructed all State delegates to the national G. O. P. convention, to be held in Cleveland in June, to support President Coolidge for the nomination.

The session was the smoothest in years, despite the fact that many of the delegates were members of the Pope M. Long wing of the party, which has been at variance with the faction headed by O. D. Street, national committeeman from Alabama.

Nearly 500 delegates and visitors attended the convention. Numbers of old-time republican leaders had front seats. J. M. Atkins, state chairman, presided, and C. B. Kennamer served as secretary.

Large Attendance

Atkins expressed gratification over the large attendance and praised the record of the G. O. P. under the adminstration of the late President Harding and President Coolidge. He also took a fling at republican members of the Senate who in late months have sided with the democrats in opposition to the adminstration.

"Any man the democrats name this year will be defeated by Coolidge," Atkins shouted, amid uproarous applause.

"The republicans of Alabama," Atkins went on, "are not office-seekers. They are enthusiastic members of a great party." In conclusion he paid a tribute to the late President Woodrow Wilson and expressed the hope that the democrats this year will nominate Senator Oscar Underwood "because he is from our home state."

Committeeman O. D. Street offered a resolution deploring the absence from the convention of Maj. T. D. Baker of Mobile. It was seconded by the Mobile delegation, headed by W. T. Lewis, and was adopted by a rousing vote.

Delegates Elected.

Speakers told how Major Baker had attended every G. O. P. session in the state for 50 years prior to his resignation from the state committee a few months ago. He has been a leader in party affairs in the state almost his entire life.

The convention elected four delegates-at-large to the national convention, as follows: W. T. Johnson, Geneva; J. G. Bass, Jefferson; W. E. Sneed, Marshal, and Judge L. H. Reynolds, Chilton.

James P. Sloan was temporary chairman. He remarked that it was good to see the factionalism in the party in this state set aside and expressed the wish that this condition might continue. He also lauded the record of the administration.

James G. Bass of Birmingham was secretary; Mrs. Lillie Maugans, assistant secretary, and W. B. Copeland of Lauderdale and T. J. Brown of Marshall, sergeants-at-arms.

Chilton County Delegates.

Those attending the State and District conventions from Chilton County were: J. T. Rockett, C. D. Hughes, Reynolds, H. A. Harris, S. M. Pate, L. H. Reynolds, Percy M. Pitts, Grady Reynolds, J. L. Gore, W. H. Gillespie and L. E. Diefenderfer.

Full State Ticket Arranged.

At the State convention candidates for every state office to be filled in the next general election were nominated: Conservation Commisioner, James B. Sloan of Oneonta; Supreme Court Justices, P. E. Alexander of Prattville and Jere Murphy of Huntsville; Judge Court of Appeals, J. I. Abercrombie of Birmingham; Representative from the Fourth District against Lamar Jeffers, J. O. Middleton of Clanton. A nomination was made for State Senator against Tom Heflin, but we were unable to get the name of the man for this place.

NICE MUSICAL PROGRAM AT HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Jatie L. Middleton of Clanton presented her puils in a varied musical program at the high school auditorium of Friday night, May 16th, the recital continuing for about one and one-half hours. All the seats and standing room of the auditorium was occupied to its fullest capacity and many people were turned away unable to find standing room. On the program were various numbers including vocal and instrumental talent, and varying from young musicians of extreme tender age to several elderly married people. The program was the conclusion of a year's work and showed decided accomplishments on the part of the pupils as well as inspiration and training on the part of Mrs. Middleton. The numbers were not prolix but sufficiently long to demonstrate to the attentive audience the talents of each pupil.

The decoration and scenery and the stage settings too, exhibited in its beauty and suitableness for the several numbers, considerable work and ingenuity.

The feature of the recital was the appearance of Mildred White Wallace of Columbiana, a composer and singer of quite extensive fame, in two vocal numbers of her own composition, "I will hold you in my Arms," and also "Good night, Sweet Dreams Enfold You." Mrs. Wallace has composed several famous pieces, probably the most noted is "Little Cherry Blossoms." Another feature of the program was a violin ensemble by Mesdames Saxon and Taylor of Columbiana and Middleton of Clanton and Messrs. Averyt, Horsley, Hendrick and Miss Leslie Polk, accompanied by Mildred White Wallace, all of Columbiana.

Mrs. Middleton is quite an accomplished teacher and instructress in piano and violin and has taught music throughout central Alabama. Mrs. Middleton is thoroughly versed with the art of teaching, having had several years experience as well as excellent training herself, and through her recital exhibited her ability to bring out the best of musical talent in her pupils.

The community is well pleased with the progress made in the music line of the last year and we trust that Mrs. Middleton will see fit to remain with us through the coming seasons.

COOLIDGE PAYS TRIBUTE TO CONFEDERATE DEAD AT MEMORIAL EXERCISES

President Lauds High Purpose of the Confederacy—Honors Memory of General Carr.

Washington, May 25.—Unstinted tribute to the Confederate dead was paid today by Calvin Coolidge, the first New Englander to become president since the Civil War.

Speaking at the Confederate Memorial Day exercise at Arlington, Mr. Coolidge looked across the green slopes where the Confederate and Union dead sleep almost side by side and declared:

"A mightier force than ever followed Grant and Lee has leveled both their hosts, raised up a united nation and made us all partakers of a new glory."

The chief executive previously had turned to the few remaining veterans in gray, seated before him and to their sons and daughters and, with a reminder that "time has softened, discretion has changed" the bitterness of conflict between north and south, said:

A Mutual Aspect

"Your country respects you for cherishing the memory of those who wore the gray. You respect others who cherish the memory of those who who wore the blue. In that mutual aspect may there be a firmer friendship and a stronger and more glorious union."

Addressing those met to honor the Confederate dead as "my fellow country-men" the President spoke as follows:

If I am correctly informed by history it is fitting that the Sabbath should be your Memoral Day. This follows from the belief that except for the force of Oliver Cromwell, no army was ever more thoroughly religious than that which was commanded by General Lee. Moreover, these ceremonies necessary are expressive of a hope and a belief that rise above the things of this life. It was Lincoln who points out that both sides prayed to the same God. When that is the case, it is only a matter of time when each will seek a common end. We can now see clearly what that end is. It is the maintenance of our American institutions and of our American ideals, beneath a common flag, under the blessings of Almighty God.

A Common Experience

"It was for this purpose that this nation was brought forth. Our whole course of history has been proceeding in that direction. Out of a common experience, made more enduring by a common sacrifice, we have reached a common conclusion. On this day we pause in memory of those who made their sacrifice in one way. In a few days we shall pause again in memory of those who made their sacrifice in another way. They were all Americans, all contending for what they believed were their rights. On many a battlefield they sleep side by side. Here, in a place which is set aside for the resting place of those who have performed military duty, both make final bivouac. But their country lives.

"The bitterness of conflict is passed. Time has softened, discretion has

STORES WILL CONTINUE CLOSING THURSDAY P. M.'S

There has been some confusion among the stores and business houses of Clanton as to whether they would continue closing up every Thursday afternoon, but it has been finally decided according to the original agreement that everybody close up Thursday afternoons until September. It is hoped that the people who do trading here will remember this and not come to Clanton Thursday afternoons to do your trading. Either come before noon Thursday or wait until Friday. Give the merchants a chance to rest and go fishing a little.

ERROR IN TABULATION OF ELECTION RETURNS

In the report of the official count of the votes cast in the primary on May 13th, an error was made in the number of votes received by Mr. A. P. Vinson at the court house box, which is Beat 4, Box 1. The tabulation showed that Mr. Vinson received only 1 first choice vote at this box. It should have shown 33 first choice votes and 1 second choice vote. The total vote received by Mr. Vinson as tabulated in the returns was correct.

MIDDLETON FOR CONGRESS

The Republicans of the Fourth District acted wisely when they nominated Hon. J. O. Middleton for Congress, and it is sincerely to be hoped that he can see his way to accept the nomination. There is not a man in the district better qualified for representative in Congress than Mr. Middleton. He is a brilliant lawyer, a thorough student of public questions, and withal a clean, upright, patriotic citizen. Besides, Middleton is one of the best stump speakers in the State, and should he accept, a campaign worth while would follow.

REPORT OF COMMISSIONERS TO BE PUBLISHED NEXT WEEK

The Probate Judge has turned over to The Union-Banner a report of the Commisioners Court of Chilton County of the road work which has been done under the new law. This report, which will be published next week, contains an itemized statement of all moneys collected and spent in each Beat, together with the names of the Beat supervisors. This report will also show the letters recently mailed out by the probate judge to the supervisors regarding the road work of the county.

Also we hope to have a letter in next week's paper from Mr. W. M. Wyatt of Fort Payne, former editor of The Banner, regarding the manner in which DeKalb County works their roads. That county has been doing a lot of good work on their roads, and very likely our county would do well to copy after their example. So loow out for the above named articles in next week's Union-Banner.

REPUBLICAN TO OPPOSE QUINN IN ELECTION

Sloan of Oneonta Files Candidacy With Blan.

Contest for the office of State commissioner of game and fisheries in Alabama was not ended with the recent democratic primary, in which I. T. Quinn, the present incumbent, received the nomination by a big majority.

Monday, a formal communication was received at the office of Secretary of State S. H. Blan, from J. B. Sloan, of Oneonta, in which Mr. Sloan announced his candidacy for the office of commissioner of game and fisheries, as the nominee of the republican party in Alabama. He said that he will manage his own campaign.

ANOTHER GOOD GAME ON SCHEDULE FOR THURSDAY

Clanton base ball fans are promised another A-1 base ball game at the high school park this afternoon (Thursday). The Yellow Cab Taxi team of Birmingham, managed by a former regular in the big leagues, will play the home boys at this time. The Yellow Cab team has the reputation of being one of the very best in the State, it possesing some players holding high league honors.

Clanton is going to have a hard fight to take the cup in this combat, but we have got the stuff to do it with. If you enjoyed the game last Thursday afternoon, do not fail to see this one. And if you did not see the other one, you can't afford to miss this one. Everything above the expenses made at the gate in this game will be divided by two and given to the two churches of Clanton, so you may know that your money will be well spent. Don't miss this game.

SPECIAL MOTOR TRUCK TAX IS HELD CONSTITUTIONAL

The Circuit Court of Chilton County, in session at the court house in Clanton Tuesday of this week, held that the part of the Road Law of Chilton County placing a special road tax of $11.50 on motor trucks hauling lumber, timber or minerals over the roads of the county is valid and in accord with the State laws.

The above decision was brought out in the case of the State against W. A. Barnett, the charge being failure to pay the special tax on a truck imposed by the Commissioners Court. In this case, the defendant attempted to prove the law unconstitutional, but the court held against him.

CAUGHT FISH WEIGHING 335 POUNDS

This sounds like a sure-enough "fish story," but we reckon it is a fact. The report goes that some people living near Coopers caught a sturgeon just below Mitchell Dam one day last week that weighed 335 pounds and was nine feet long. The fish was brought to Coopers, and several people went from different parts of the county to see it. Several went down from Clanton to see the monster. This is by far the largest fish that has been reported caught in this part of the Coosa River since we can remember.

CLANTON WINS OVER THE MONTGOMERY TEAM 8 TO 6

The first real base ball game of the season was played at Polk's Park in Clanton, last Thursday afternoon. The West Point Route team from Montgomery played the home boys the hotest game that has ever been played in Clanton, but the locals came out victors. Clanton is doing some splendid ball playing this year. They have not lost a single game and they have gone up against some of the strongest in the State. In other words, Clanton has got a stingeree ball team this season.

ALABAMA POWER DOCTORS GIVEN BIG RECEPTION

The annual State Medical Association of the Alabama Power Company's doctors was held at Lock 12 Monday and Tuesday of this week, there being present about one hundred doctors from different parts of the State. Doctors N. S. Johnson, T. J. Marcus, R. B. McNeil and R. J. Eiland of this county were present. Co. R. A. Mitchell, vice-president of the Alabama Power Company, delivered the address of welcome on the part of the company. He made a brief statement of the progress made by the company in the last year, among which was a donation by the company of $6,000.00 per year to Auburn college for experimental work. He further stated that the dam and the company were going to build at Cherokee Bluffs would be 150 feet high, the back water from which would make the largest pond in the United States. He further stated that it was not improbable that in the future, we might expect to see the rural sections of the country served with electricity.

Col. Mitchell introduced Judge L. H. Reynolds to deliver the address of welcome on the part of Chilton County. He said he had found Judge Reynolds to be one of the best probate judges of Alabama, that he stood for good roads, and the company had always found him fair and honest in his court. Judge Reynolds in his speech impressed the wonderful opportunities lying dormant in Chilton County in the way of excellent location for cotton mills and other industries, and in reference to the Coosa River and its outlying territories, the wonderful place for summer resorts, beautiful scenery along the banks of the river, even rivaling North Carolina.

The Judge also emphasized the necessity of more independence of the South, especially politically, and as an apt illustration he cited the case of Senator Underwood, whom it is universally agreed is one of the greatest men of the Democratic party, and the South not having a president for almost a century and polling one-third of the votes of the country, yet Mr. Underwood had carried only one Southern State. He stated the reason being the Solid South,—that it had very little faith itself in its own power.

Judge Reynolds then welcomed the doctors to the door of Chilton County and wished them all the pleasurable and interesting stay while with our people.

The convention went to Mitchell Dam for the night, going down by boat, and back to Lock 12 for Wednesday. They adjourned Wednesday afternoon.

JAPANESE EXCLUSION BILL HAS BEEN SIGNED BY PRES. COOLIDGE

Chief Concern Of Administration Is Over Effect On Relations With Japan

Washington, May 26.—With the Japanese exclusion provision now spread on the statutes, the resignation of Ambassador Hanihara is expected as an early sequel. While Congress previously favored exclusion by legislation instead of by the voluntary method employed through the gentlemen's agreement, it was the letter which Ambassador Hanihara wrote to Secretary of State Hughes while the bill was pending, warning that its enactment would bring "grave consequences" to the friendship between the two governments, that angered Congress and killed any chance of a more moderate provision.

President Coolidge signed the bill Monday and issued a formal statement condemning the Japanese exclusion feature, but explaining that he was compelled to sign the measure because the existing law expires June 30.

There is every probability that Congress would have passed the bill over a presidential veto, and this fact, considered pith all other circumstances, led the President to sign the measure.

The chief concern of the administration is over the effect upon friendly relations with Japan. Japanese leaders have acted with restraint and there is no likelihood of any unpleasantness over this incident at present. The main regret of the President and Secretary Hughes is that the incident has made a deep impression upon the Japanese public and will cause certain amount of festering which may break out on the surface at some later date when another controversy arises.

The Washington arms conference, in the opinion of many responsible officials, averted a war which was estimated to be not over five years away. Now Hughes feels that much of that work has been undone by the present immigration bill.

"There is scarcely any ground for disagreement as to the result we want, but this method of securing it is unnecessary and deplorable at this time,' the' President said in his statement. "If the exclusion provision stood alone I should disapprove it without hesitation, if sought in this way at this time."

Senator Hiram Johnson of California, issued a statement declaring: "The result is a matter of congratulation and rejoicing that California has finally prevailed in the long struggle for protection and preservation of its own.

"With the last chapter closed now, I apprehend neither difficulty nor danger. We have done what was clearly our right, without intent or offense, and giving no cause for offense, and where no offense was given, offense cannot justly be taken."

Mr. J. O. Mize of Maplesville was in Clanton Monday attending to some business matters.

FEDERAL AID AS IT IS

Contrast With National Highways As They Will Be.

Roads on which the National Government furnishes funds to assist the States are in two classes—primary and secondary. Primary highways are interstate, while secondary highways are intercounty roads correlating with primary thoroughfares. The total mileage in any State on which Federal aid may be given can not exceed 7 per cent of the total mileage of all public roads in that State. The primary system must not exceed three-sevenths of the total eligible for Federal aid, and on this three-sevenths not more than 60 per cent of the Federal funds available for any State may be spent, except by agreement between the State Road Commission and the Secretary of Agriculture.

Federal road funds are apportioned among the States agreeing to match the amounts, as follows: One third in the ratio which the area of each State bears to the area of all the States; one-third in the ratio which the population of each State bears to the population of all the States; one-third in the ratio which the mileage of rural delivery routes and star routes in each State bears to the mileage of rural delivery and star routes in all the States.

The Federal road system is intended to give the maximum of service to the greatest possible number. There are 1,111 cities in the United States of 5,000 or more inhabitants, and 1,048 of these are located on Federal routes. Of the total population of the United States, 90 per cent live either on or within ten miles of highways included in the Federal system.

Proponents of national highways, built and forever maintained by the National Government, point out that all such calculations and apportionments will be unnecessary under their plan, and that the ends of efficiency, economy, and speed in building roads can be better served by one central authority in absolute control than by forty-eight road commissions working in conjunction with a central authority, between which an agreement must be had before work is done.

Real national highway believers are not "against" Federal aid to roads, since they recognize that any agency which builds roads, which creates sentiment for good roads, which causes use and spread of hard-surface highways, is an argument for national highways. National highway program indorsers believe that their plan, of a central authority, a central force paying the bills, and a central organization maintaining the highways, will produce more highways, produce them quicker, and produce them with greater economy and therefore greater value to the body politic than any other plan.

FELSTON MULLINS BACK HOME

Mr. Felston Mullins, who for the past three years has been taking a course in agriculture at Auburn, is at home for a few days. Felston will go back to Auburn in about two weeks and take up his course again, which he will finish some time the early part of next year. Felston has made a splendid record of his course at the technical college, standing among the best in that particular line of work. Even before he went to college Felston had a strong inclination toward technical agriculture, and his mastery of the course as taught at Auburn has been quite successful. The foundation for Felston's college career was formed at the Chilton County High School, from which institution he graduated with honors, in 1916. He taught school, saw-milled and traded cattle before going to Auburn. The people of Chilton county should be and are proud of the record this young Chiltonian is making in his educational achievements, which promise for him a broad field of usefulness in the future.

MR. HUGHES THANKS PEOPLE

Editor Union-Banner:

Through your paper I wish to express my thanks and high appreciation to you for your kindness and cocurtesy, and to my friends for their support throughout the primary election.

Of course, I do not hold all as enemies who did not vote for me. I hold no ill will toward any one for the way they cast their ballot. It is a privilege we all enjoy that we can have a voice.

We have nominated a splendid ticket so far as I know; one that it will give me pleasure to vote in November. I did not meet either Messrs. Smith or Burnett before the primary, but they must be equal to the other nominees from the way the ticket read.

I can say for Mr. Vinson I have known him since I was very small, and he has always stood for the uplift of church, school and government. I doubt that there is another man in the county that would make a better commissioner for the Fourth district.

As for Miss Collins, I am sure she is a perfect lady, fully competent to attend to all the duties of the office of treasurer. She is always kind and ready to assist any one. So let's forget the saying, "I want vote for a woman," and vote the entire ticket.

I think the Democratic party knows we have as good nominees as can be had and expect to help elect them. It seems that it was their intentions to help nominate our candidates for they were asked to vote the county ticket, while they had no candidates for the county offices.

With success and best wishes to The Union-Banner and the nominees, I remain, as ever,

C. D. HUGHES.

STILL THE HOME RUN KING

THE way he's "sockin' the ol' pill around the lot" these days, it doesn't look like anything's happened to the batting eye of Babe Ruth. In fact, sporting editors around the country are hauling out the old number cuts again so that—every time the Babe slams one over the fan barriers—they can let their readers have the story in one number—viz, Home Run, No.—. Yes, indeed, it looks like the big pill mauler will keep his crown as he has already knocked 11 home runs this season.

MEMORIES OF MRS. HENRY HULL

It was during the stillness of the late evening hour of May 8, 1924, that a death angel visited the home of Mr. Henry Hull and took away the sweet spirit of his wife, Mrs. Henry Hull.

She died at the age of 72 after being afflicted with a bruised limb perhaps 60 years. The bruise was caused from skating on ice when she was a small child.

Mrs. Hull was a member of the Baptist church, being a good Christian woman. She gave t oher community a long life of loving and faithful service, ever ready and willing to do that which was right in any undertaking in life.

She was a good neighbor, a devoted wife, and a gentle and thoughtful mother and grandmother. Her devotion to her family was shown by rearing some of her motherless grandchildren from the time they were very small until her death.

Mrs. Hull was laid to rest in Alpine cemetery. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. John Deramus in Alpine church. The large congregation and the display of beautiful flowers at the funeral told more than words can express, the number of her friends.

Although we feel very deeply our loss in giving her up, we have the consolation of knowing that God doeth everything for the best, therefore we must bow in submission to His will.

She leaves to mourn, her husband, two sons, Mr. Bazel Hull and Mr. George Hull; two daughters, Mrs. Lee Ousley and Mrs. Swanagon, a host of grand children, great-grand children and friends.

We extend to the bereaved husband, children, other relatives and friends our deepest sympathy and commend all the loving care to Him who promised, "I will not leave you comfortless."

It clears the skin, beautifies it, increases the blood supply and the circulation, and pimples and eruptions vanish quickly. Beauty is but skin deep and good blood is beneath both. TWO MEN CAUGHT WITH WHISKEY

The night was dark and the raindrops were saturating everything that was uncovered, but there was an old-time dance in the neighborhood and a little rain and chill could not be allowed to interfere. And why should it interfere, even if the mode of travel was in an open-top buggy and on mule-back, when a little of "that other" was taken along to boost up the boys? But although unknown to the fellows, there was trouble on the way. Somewhere on the road-side Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee lay in wait, they being suspicious that something was liable to happen. It did happen when these fellows approached where the officers were.

The above is a likeness of what befell Bud Gaylor and Chess White down near the Esco place, six miles east of Verbena last Saturday night. Littlejohn and Foshee caught these two men with about a pint of whiskey apiece. The two were brought to Clanton and placed in jail, where they still remain to answer the charge of violating the prohibition law. As yet the men have not procured bail.

J. M. SMITH THANKS VOTERS

Thorsby, Ala., May 26, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

I take this means of trying to express to my friends my highest appreciation for the splendid support received in the recent primary and trust that no act of mine shall cause anyone to regret having supported me and I shall ask your co-operation to the extent that I shall really be of service to you.

My highest ambition in life is to serve others in any manner that will be helpful in promoting the general welfare of the country and I am especially interested in the boys and girls, who in a few years will have grown to be men and women whom we shall try to better prepare for service to themselves and to the country at large.

Should I be elected in November I shall devote all the time possible to the work of trying to get our people more interested in matters pertaining to our school system and to do our best to give every ambitious boy and girl a chance to get, at least, a high school education which will require more time and study by the farmers and laboring people of our country.

I feel that I can be of service to the people and desire that everyone shall feel free to discuss school matters with me at all times, for I shall indeed be your servant, to do everything possible for the advancement of education in the county.

During this period of service I shall strive to put aside all prejudices and personal differences, also try to forget the past, that we may put forth every effort for the welfare of our country.

I shall try to meet the speaking dates before the election and discuss the issues of the campaign with the people.

Thanking everyone, both ladies and gentlemen, for your support, I am,

Yours for service,
J. M. SMITH.

MOTHER !

(By Bertha Crowson)

Dear boys and girls of today,
Did you ever stop to think
That mistreating your mother
Will cause your spirit to sink?

Isn't she a good old mother,
Working and toiling for you;
Making life bright and happy
As the sparkling morning dew.

When your friends forsake you
And you're in the world alone,
Don't you know that dear mother
Will welcome you back home.

Boys and girls are going to shame
Faster each day that rolls around,
They will not listen to mother,
But will frolic off to town.

If girls can just get to town,
And get a ride with a man,
They think they're in society,
And will go again if they can.

Perhaps mother will trust you,
And think you will do alright,
But if she only knew it all,
When you are out of sight.

I would like to see all boys and girls
Walk in the straightest way,
Then we could all be happy,
And greet each other day by day.

So let's all do the best we can,
And listen to mother dear,
Live a pure and happy life,
Every day in every year.

Tom Jones and family of Loachopoka were among the attendants at the annual singing at Providence last Sunday.

J. P. DYKES THANKS VOTERS

Calera, Ala., May 26, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to thank my friends for their kind support given me in the primary and to say to them that, although defeated, I am entirely satisfied with the results.

The majority of the voters of the county says Mr. Smith.

I am going to vote the entire ticket in November. I have never voted anything but a Republican ticket, and I certainly am not the least bit hurt with those that voted against me.

Yours very truly,
J. P. DYKES.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-70, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. M. MORTON, Manager)

What is known as teachers cottage, a part of Thorsby Institute property, located near the water tower, has been rented to Mr. A. D. Henning, chief engineer on the north half of Chilton County section of the highway. Mr. Henning expects to move in Saturday, May 31st, with his family, consisting of his wife and two young children.

Mr. Reno Villadsen, who will be Mr. Henning's chief assistant, is expected to complete the work on which he is now engaged and join his family in Thorsby at the end of this week, and take up the duties of his new position next Monday.

In conversation with Mr. Henning, we learn that work on this section of the highway is well started. No less than seven contractors of grading are on their jobs with their respective forces of workers. Four contractors for pipe and culvert work are on the job and one bridge contractor has his work well under way. The bridge about two miles south of Shelby line is practically completed. The viaduct over the railroad at Wessington will soon be finished, and work will start very soon on the bridge over Yellow Leaf Creek near Lomax.

It may be noted in passing that the establishment of headquarters for this work at Thorsby will add several desirable citizens with their families to this community for some time to come.

We visited the sightly site for our new public school building last Monday and found Mr. Ernie H. Hansen busily engaged with his force of concrete workmen putting in the foundations which will soon assume definite shape above the surface. It will not be long before the frame work will be visible from a long distance down the highway and the rail road. The work is not being done by guess but according to specifications plainly given on carefully prepared blue prints that any intelligent biulder can follow.

Mr. Crawford Reed is engaged in digging a well for a water supply for the school.

Mr. Frank Nelson, one of our esteemed Thorsby citizens, who represents the Cole & McDonald Exploration Co., of Minneapolis, has one of their well drilling outfits working at Thorsby Warehouse & Gin Co.'s plant sinking a six-inch well. It might be profitable to others who contemplate making bored wells to see Mr. Nelson while his outfit is in Thorsby.

Mr. Chas. A. Peterson, well known all over this section as an expert in painting and paper-hanging, has secured work in Birmingham and left Monday morning to begin work. It is not known that he has any intention of staying there permanently.

Mr. G. W. Horsley and wife of Birmingham, daughter of Mrs. Aaron Littleton, and Bersal Farrington and wife of Bessemer, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Littleton in Thorsby.

Miss Inga Erdahl of Birmingham was a visitor in Thorsby Sunday.

Mrs. Chas. S. Howard was a visitor in Thorsby Sunday.

Mrs. Chas. S. Howard was happily surprised last Friday afternoon by a number of her friends who assembled to greet her on the occasion of her birthday anniversary.

Rev. Joseph E. Each has announced that next Sunday night, June 1st, following Christian Endeavor meeting, he will deliver an address on "The Broadening Way," illustrated with stereopticon pictures which the supply house assure him they will not fail to deliver on time.

Miss Lorena Graham has finished her term as teacher at Enterprise, and is now home with her parents.

Misses Jennye and Edith Robinson are home from Montevallo, where they attended college for the past school year.

Don't forget the social of the Thorsby Parent-Teachers Association at the Town Hall next Thursday afternoon, under auspices of Mrs. S. C. Wood.

Rev and Mrs. Foshee were guests of their daughter and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard last Sunday.

A ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE

In the fall of 1918, soon after the armistice was signed, the writer was at the railway station in Thorsby as the evening train from Montgomery came in. After its departure he noticed a young man carrying a suitcase and wearing the uniform of a U. S. soldier. Seeing that the young man was a stranger and apparently did not know just where to go, I addressed him, and found tha this name was Yancey Kelley and his home was near Andalusia, Ala. He was a farmer's boy just discharged from the army, being 21 years old and having but little education but determined to get more. Having heard of Thorsby Institute, he decided to come and look it over, and if it proved to be an institution that could give him what he wanted for what he had to give, which was mighty little in money but willing to work, he would like to stay.

There was an ire of earnestness and hope about the young fellow that was attractive and he was directed to the proper authorities in the school to deal with such cases. He was soon installed as a student and given employment to help pay his expenses. He proved in every way worthy of the confidence and was himself so kindly and helpful wherever posible that in time he developed not only as a student but as a young man capable of doing a great variety of work and doing it well. He became a sort of handy man about the place and superintendent of the boys' work. He graduated in the class of 1923, and his graduating essay on "Vocational Training" was worthy to be read at the commencement exercises. He had made good use of every opportunity offered him for development, and at graduation was a fine specimen of upstanding, clean, Christian young manhood.

During the summer of 1923 he secured through Miss May Stoddard, who as associate principal of Thorsby Institute, had come to know his sterling character, a position which took him to Vermont as superintendent of a boys' camp.

In the fall of 1923 young Kelley secured a position with a contractor and builder at Portland, Conn., who happened to be the father of Miss Emily B. Ellsworth, associate principal of Thorsby Institute at the time Kelley graduated. Miss Ellsworth declined re-election, took a school near home and last Saturday was married to Yancey Kelley.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK THORSBY INSTITUTE

Saturday night, May 24th, Miss Parker's Music Recital at Bates Hall was a revelation of creaful training in piano playing. Most of the players were beginners and professional work was not expected, but for proficiency in what they tried to do and ability to memorize as manifest by their playing without notes, except duets, for which a good reason was given. It was a very creditable exhibition for both pupils and teacher. One incident for which Miss Parker expresses sincere regret was the failure to get the name of Miss Astrid Ekblad; who played "Queen of Night" effectively, on the program which was distributed. There was no intention to slight this faithful and conscientious student.

Sunday was a great day in many ways. A perfect day out of doors. The Baccalaureate services were dignified and impressive; the Seniors in what they had to do were very attractive and interesting, and the baccalaureate address by Miss Emily Wheeler, was an inspiration to a noble life.

In the evening Miss Wheeler addressed a large audience at the Congregational church, giving many thrilling incidents of her life as a missionary in Turkey and her work for American and India Orphans Industrial Homes.

Mrs. J. H. Goddard entertained the eight girls of the Senior class at a dinner last Tuesday at her home.

Thursday night, the 29th, is Senior Class night, when at Bates Hall at 7:30 they will present a play entitled, "Daddy," which will be worth seeing. An admission fee of 25c will be charged for everybody.

Friday—Tennis games in the morning between the alumni and the school. At 11 a.m. there will be a meeting of the graduates of Thorsby Institute. All graduates are invited to Room "A" in Bates Hall, with a view to reviving the alumni association, founded several years ago.

At 12:30 promptly there will be a community dinner, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of Thorsby. Every one should bring a well filled basket. Ice cream will be sold by the ladies during the afternoon for the benefit of the Desk Fund of Thorsby Institute.

At 1:30 p.m. there will be a ball game between alumni and students of Thorsby Institute.

At 4 o'clock p.m. the alumni, Seniors and faculty, are invited by Miss Jenkins as principal, to an informal reception at the dining hall.

At 7:30 p.m. the graduating exercises will be held at Bates Hall. Rev. Marston Freeman, pastor of Pilgrim Congregational Church, Chattanooga, Tenn., will give the address of the evening.

Following the usual custom of Thorsby Institute, the trustees will not close the library to the public during the summer months. When school is not in session, Miss Shannon will be in charge of the library and will open it on Friday's from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Fronie Huckabee, the wife of Uncle Bill Huckabee, is reported to be very ill at their home in Clanton. The old has been very sick for the past several days.

"LEATHER-NECKS" LATEST WAR IMPLEMENT

EQUALLY useful for fighting on land or water—is a description that has always been applied to Uncle Sam's "leather-necks," the U. S. Marines. Now, it can be applied to their latest war implement, too. It's an amphibian tank, capable of carrying three small field pieces and a company of 75 men, and built so it can be propelled through the water as well as driven over land.

In the accompanying picture, you see the Marines testing the newcomer at Culebra, Panama—showing the odd-looking contraption emerging from the waters. The runway down which the small field piece is about to be rolled—is also used as a trap-door when the unique war tank is afloat.

Quite interesting, isn't it?

Editor Union-Banner:

I want to thank the people through your paper for their support in the primary, and while I was defeated for county treasurer, I am no less a Republican. I knew when I entered the race that all could not be nominated.

I hope the ticket will be elected, and I am sure it will, and if there is anything I can do to help elect every one of them, I am ready. Miss Collins, who was nominated, is a worthy lady and will make a good treasurer.

Yours truly,

We note that the New York World condemns radicalism but gives top heads in the news columns to radical activities. And it makes out only a poor imitation of a yellow sheet.

The whole country is dissatisfied with the kind of tax bill that was passed by both the House and the Senate. Let it be remembered, then, that on March 24, 1924, the Democratic New York Times declared editorially that "There is in plain truth no Republican majority in either House." The Dem-rad coalition must take the responsibility.

The bonus bill, which as vetoed by President Coolidge and passed over his veto by Congress, is nothing more nor less than a feeble little political scheme by which some senators and representatives hope to get a few ex-soldier votes. But it will be few ex-soldiers who will vote for a congressman on the strength of that kind of complicated compensation bill. The ex-soldiers and everybody else in the country want their taxes reduced worse than they want a soldiers' bonus, and especially the kind of a bonus which was passed.

The Japanese exclusion bill has been signed by the President. This is one of the many wise steps the present administration has taken, and this action will take well among the true Americans over the country. We have got enough orientals in this country, and unless some measure is pursued, our free government will become endangered. The Roman Catholics and foreign element would like to see our form of government overthrown, and if enough of them are allowed to come into our country and propagate their Bolshevic ideas, they might be able some day to force into law at least some of their doctrines. America is for Americans, and Americans have a right to dominate this government.

The broadness and depth of Calvin Coolidge as a statesman is becoming more and more apparent every day. At the Confederate memorial service held at Arlington last Sunday, the president payed a very feeling tribute to the manhood and contentions of the South during the days of the Confederacy. Although the South is "solidly Democratic" the present chief executive is broad enough to grant all people a perfect right to their political convictions regardless of what they stand for now or have contended for in the past. Regarding the sectional struggle the president said: "They were all Americans, all contending for what they believed were their rights. On many a battlefield they sleep side by side. . . . . In that mutual respect may there be a firmer friendship and a stronger and more glorious union."

The leading Democratic papers have praised everything Coolidge has done, and yet they can't see him as a desirable candidate for the presidency. They lauded his action in the police strike in Boston, while he was Governor of Massachusetts. They praised his first message to Congress and advocated the enactment of his program of legislation. They praised his veto of the pension bill and of the bonus bill. They do not point to a single act of his that is alleged to be against the public interest—yet they think he won't do for four years more in the White House. But there are millions in the rank and file of the Democratic party who will think next November that a man whose every act is praised by their leaders is a pretty safe man to support.

WHY IS IT ?

STRAWS "MADE IN AMERICA"

Washington, May 25.—Straws show which way the wind blows. They also show the condition of the soda and soft drink business. If times are prosperous the fountains mingle with the flivver and the flow of soda is unconfined. If times are Democratic the parched throat growls huskily at the idle hand and the idle straw is a straw voting for a change of administration. The ostracism of John Barleycorn, while it has reduced the number of straws used to inhale the seductive mint julep, has not hurt the straw business, for the straw today is used to suck up the milk of the kindergarten tots, the fruit-flavored palate-ticklers of the lovelorn, and the grape juice of the sophisticated.

The manufacture of these drinking straws is interesting business from the commercial standpoint. With respect to the process itself very little is known, since it is a patent process about which the manufacturers keep pretty quiet. Their factories are as spick and span as the houses of Spotless Town. They may be seen from the outside. But having put the imagination at ease, there they leave it. Their motto is taken from Verdun—they shall not pass. The inside is not for outsiders.

The drinking straw business began probably a quarter century ago. In 1901 the domestic output was 165,000,000 straws annually. They are now making 4,000,000,000 straws a year, and the business is growing like corn in Kansas. Its habitat was once confined largely to the drugstore, but in recent years there has been a huge demand on the part of the homes for these straws, and as a result they are being put up in packages for the home trade. The kids at school use them for drinking their luncheon milk, and even the cafeterias are beginning to serve certain beverages per straw. It has been said that 4,000,000,000 of these straws, laid end to end would girdle the equator 16 times. Put a glass of soda at one end of that length of straw and a man with the power of suction possessed by young Sammy Weller, at the other and with the liquid traveling at the rate of 10 feet a second it would take seven years for Sammy to get his first taste of that soda.

More than 2,000,000 pounds of a specially prepared paper are consumed annually in the manufacture of these straws, and another 1,500,000 pounds for making the cartons in which they are packed. From the time the paper is fed into the cutting machine until the straw is placed before the consumer, not a hand touches it, which means sanitation to the nth power. Making, packing, counting—all are done by machinery. Four men in one day can cut sufficient paper the required width to make 12,000,000 straws.

These straws come under the "manufactures of paper not specifically enumerated" in the tariff, the rate on imports being 35 per cent. The Japanese and other foreign straws not being handled in such sanitary fashion are kept out more for this reason than because of the tariff. We don't know where that Jap straw was before we put it in the mouth. Consequently we like to see the "Made in America" on the straw package.

The drinking straw industry is a fine example of a clean American business which provides moderate wealth to the manufacturers, health to the users, and happiness to the stomach which is not shocked by freezing mixtures or paralyzed by gulping. Perhaps if the camel had been a drinking animal that last straw, being otherwise put to use, would not have broken his back.

COOLIDGE THE TAXPAYERS' BEST BET

The present Congress may come to an end with a prospective deficit menacing the Treasury because of appropriations passed in excess of the budget limitations and because of rash tax cuts below the level of safety. But the deficit will not be created with executive sanction. In vetoing the pension bill and the bonus memasure, President Coolidge has stood steadfastly by his annual message to Congress, his letter transmitting the budget to that body, and all his other public utterances. Speaking of the people, he says in his bonus veto, "Our business is not to impose upon them, but to protect them." With the reckless Democrat-radical coalition in control of Congress utterly unmindful of the balance between national revenue and expenditures that should be maintained, it is apparent that the taxpayers' chief protection is found in President Coolidge. He is systematically returning to Congress the bills aimed at the budget system, and that body will have to support them with two-thirds of its membership before they can become laws. The public is missing no detail of the proceedings.

THEIR OWN GOVERNOR IN 1932

The Senate has passed a bill making the governor of Porto Rico elective in 1932, or before that date if illiteracy in the island is reduced to thirty per cent. The Porto Ricans have been steadily fitting themselves for self-government, and have exhibited none of the truculence of the political class among the Filipinos. By their attitude toward Gen. Wood, the latter have alienated public sympathy in the United States and made more remote the day when they will be granted the privilege of electing their own governor and other officials. The Filipinos would profit by study of the Porto Ricans.

BANNER OFFICE RECEIVES NICE BUNCH OF FLOWERS

Fort Ogden, Fla., May 25, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

When I left Clanton I promised to write to you and so I will now try to fulfill that promise.

We left Clanton on Thursday afternoon at 5:30 and spent the night with friends in Montgomery. The next day we drove to Ashford and spent one day and two nights visiting more friends. We left Ashford at 8 o'clock on Sunday morning and spent that night in Lake City, Fla. That was quite a long drive but the weather was fine and the roads good, so we enjoyed it very much. The next day we drove to Daytona and visited places of interest at Jacksonville and St. Augustine. Daytona is a beautiful city and so is St. Augustine. The tourists were leaving, going back to their homes in the North. A great many had come down in automobiles and were returning the same way.

On Tuesday, after visiting beautiful Daytona Beach and other places in Daytona and vicinity, we came to Orlando, one of the most beautiful places in Florida. We spent the night there at the Florida Sanitarium. This sanitarium is a beautiful place and has beautiful surroundings. There are lakes and orange groves and beautiful trees with the Spanish moss hanging from the branches and waving in the breeze. I don't know of a more beautiful place for one to go to rest and recuperate. This is the best equioped institution of its kind in the State.

The next day we drove through beautiful Polk county, with its numerous lakes and orange groves and wonderful roads. I think this one of the most progressive counties that we passed through. That night we stopped with my sister, Mrs. W. A. Jones at Arcadia, Fla., the county seat of Desota county, and only ten miles from my home.

When we arrived home the next day we found our goods awaiting us, so early the next week we got settled in our own little home. It seems good to be back home again. We enjoyed our stay in Clanton and we were sorry to leave our many friends there. We hope some day to meet you all again.

With kindest regards, I am,
Yours very truly,
THOS. E. PAVEY.

UNCLE DOCK WELLS WRITES FROM CRAGFORD

Cragford, Ala., May 26, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

I promised so many people when I left home that I would write to them, I can't think of any better plan than to write them through The Union-Banner, as nearly everybody takes your paper. I left home the second Sunday in May. I preached at Minooka at 11 o'clock, which was Mothers' Day, and a large congregation attended. In the afternoon we had some good singing by the people from Oak Grove, also we had a good service Sunday night.

Monday I came to Sylacauga and spent the week there and came to Cragford last Sunday night, the 18th, to my son-in-law, D. A. Lodge, and I have had a nice time on my trip since I left home. I will go back to Sylacauga next Sunday, the first day of June. It is announced there will be an all-day singing there on that day. I promised to preach at Shiloh, South Calera, Ala., second Sunday, Sunday night, and Saturday and Saturday night, and if the Lord is willing I will fill my appointment at Jackson Chapel at 11 o'clock on the 3rd Sunday in June; at the County Home at 3 p.m., Sunday.

In conclusion, I will say I am well and having a nice time.

Yours very truly,
UNCLE DOCK WELLS.

REMODELING DRUG STORE

Mr. Dick Hayes is having some remodeling done on the front of his drug store building. The old front has been torn out and a new and more classy one is being put in. This will look like a real drug store when Dr. Hayes and Dick get it in shape.

"Do it right or not at all," is the advice of government experts to cotton farmers planning to use boll weevil control measures. In order to "do it right" it is necessary to make a study of the habits of the boll weevil and how it accomplishes the destruction of cotton.

Boll weevils go into winter quarters in timber, weeds, buildings and any other shelter they can find near the fields and emerge in the Spring to attack the cotton. The best protection is timber. They remain quiet and take no food during the winter.

Cold weather killed many weevils the past winter and the number to emerge this spring were reduced, experts say, but not enough to warrant laxity in control measures. Farmers who are not considering the use of control measures because of the small number to emerge are taking a gambler's chance, they declare, for unless the weather continues to be unfavorable to the pest they will multiply very rapidly and soon will have destroyed another crop.

The weevils become active when warm weather arrives. The first weevils come from winter quarters about the end of February but the great majority come out in April and May.

As soon as squares appear on the cotton the female weevil inspects each square and generally does not place an egg in a square that already has received one. At the end of the snout of the weevil there are very small jaws. With these she bores a hole into the square and enlarges it at the bottom. The snout is withdrawn, the weevil turns around and extends the egg duct from the rear of the body into the cavity where the egg is placed.

Females keep on laying from one to three eggs a day for about a month and average a total of 100 before they die. The eggs hatch within an average of three days. The grub coming from the egg begins to feed at once and grows rapidly for eight days and becomes a "wiggler." This stage lasts about five days and no food is taken. The weevil itself then appears.

The total time from the placing of an egg in the square to the appearance of the weevil is about seventeen days. About a week then elapses before the weevil deposits eggs. Thus it can be seen that even a small number emerging to attack a crop very soon will multiply many times and without control measures can destroy cotton over a large area.

Further information on boll weevil control can be obtained from the county agent, state college of agriculture or the National Boll Weevil Control Association, New Orleans.

Press Clippings

Boston News Bureau—A foreigner comes to this country and gets $4 or $5 a day for common labor. He worked in the country he came from at starvation wages. If he recieved 40 cents a day he was doing well. He gets fat on the American wage. ALL PLANS READY FOR EGG CAMPAIGN

Farm Bureau in Each County Will Be Responsible for Members. County Agents Will Co-operate.

Auburn, Ala., May 28.—The stage is all set for the organization of the Farm Bureau Egg Marketing Association in Alabama. The proposition has been under consideration for more than a year and was launched at a State-wide meeting of farmers and Extension Service workers in Montgomery, April 1-2. In the interim arrangements have been made for the State-wide campaign which will begin June 1 and continue for a period of six weeks.

According to information received from Farm Bureau headquarters in Montgomery the campaign in each county will be under the auspices of the county Farm Bureau with the assistance of the county farm and home demonstration agents. The board of directors of each county Farm Bureau will select communities to be organized and responsibility for getting members will be placed upon the leaders in the respective communities.

To explain the proposition thoroughly, community mass meetings will be held and one who is familiar with it, in detail, will discuss it from every angle. At the close of each community meeting those who are ready to do so will be given an opportunity to become members and arrangements will be made for continuing the membership campaign.

It has been decided that 2,000 hens will be necessary for a local receiving station and it is believed that manny communtiies in Alabam wiall experience no difficulty in securing this number.

The minimum goal for the State is 100,000 hens, but leaders are confident that three or four times this number will be secured.

FORSAKES POLITICS FOR ANVIL

POLITICAL prestige and personal pride were cast to the winds recently by City Councillor Roland of Paris. He went back to his former trade of blacksmith in order to see that the luckless Dobbins of the French capitol once more enjoyed a full set of shoes—a blacksmith strike in Paris having made Mr. Roland's action imperative.

In the above photograph, you see a French "teamo" holding up one of his horse's hoofs, the while ex-blacksmith Roland applies the needed shoe.

"It pleased me immensely to shoe horses for a change," was Mr. Roland's only comment on his activities in trying to break the prevailing blacksmith's strike.

How to build up your Weight

TO be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them.

OAK HILL

The United Singing Society met in regular session here Sunday with almost a full house. We had with us singers from almost all parts of the county, and they did some real good singing. The Thorsby Quartet was with us and rendered some beautiful selections which brought forth notes of praise from all those who heard them. This quartet is composed of Prof. Akins Collins, Gresham Lowery, John and David Childress.

Those who directed were: O. R. Robinson, E. H. Foshee, Gresham Lowery, E. L. Glasscock, Vester Campbell, A. H. Glasscock, Akins Collins. Organists, Emma Campbell and Esther Atkinson.

After announcing the big singing at Clanton next Sunday and the Children's Day service to be at this place on the second Sunday, June 8th, that great class of singers arose and sang very beautifully that good old song entitled, "Wonderful Jesus," led by Prof. Collins, and our hearts were made to rejoice exceedingly as we listened to the sweet words of old Uncle A. J. Glasscock as he pleaded as usual with God for us that we might be a united band of singers around His great white throne, and that we might sing throughout the endless ages of Eternity in praise to Him who gave His life for us.

SINGING AT NEW PROSPECT

The singing at New Prospect last Sunday was fine. The directors for the afternoon were: W. M. Devaughn, O. L. Devaughn, L. T. Grant, Ralph Grant, George Harris, E. A. Beaird, Erbie Holland, H. G. Carter, Henry Askins. A fine quartet was rendered by W. M. Devaughn, O. L. Devaughn, L. T. Grant and Ralph Grant. Prof. Beaird also directed.

Mr. Henry Askins, state evangelist from Marbury, gave us a solo and led two songs. A bounteous dinner was spread on the grounds at noon, and the huge crowd of people was invited to take part. Behavior was good and everybody enjoyed the day fine.

STUDEBAKER ENTRY CLIPS FAST PACE AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., May 26.—Earl Cooper, in his new Studebaker Special, is giving the railbirds at the Speedway a thrill these days in the early speed trials for the annual international 500-miles race, May 30.

Cracking off five laps at an average speed of 100.3 miles an hour in his first try-out, Cooper demonstrated what a clear pair of heels the little Studebaker Special has, when Mayor Lew Shink headed a delegation welcoming the veteran driver.

Honored By Citizens.

This was the first time, in recent years, that Indianapolis has given a municipal reception to an arriving speedway contestant. The occasion was in honor of Studebaker.

For it is the first time that The Studebaker Corporation's house flag will flutter from the track pits, when the thirty-one speed busses scuttle across the line at 10 o'clock on the morning of the great annual gasoline derby.

"The city is yours," said Mayor Shank, when he officially welcomed Cooper. "From all indications this 1924 race will eclipse them all. Every day I am receiving word that motor caravans are setting out from every corner of the country to arrive in Indianapolis in time for the race. I hope you win. We have to keep the first prize in Indiana."

The mayor was alluding to the fact that Studebaker for seventy-two years has been located in Indiana.

Watch Studebaker's Speed

Automobile racing vets, who are practically living out at the Speedway these days, are carefully clocking the Studebaker Special, for the chatter is that the newest entry has a fine chance to annex first money.

For one thing, the car is in mighty healthy shape, flying over the bricks with the characteristic "feel" that delights Earl Cooper, seasoned veteran of fourteen years on the fastest track in the country.

Newspaper men note Cooper's thoughtful, studious, intense mood out at the track. He spends fourteen hours a day with that Studebaker Special, bringing out every possible bit of energy and power.

Cooper Seeks New Speed

There is a grim smile on his face as he whirrs past the impromptu clockers near the repair pits. Around and around he goes, testing, sporting, experimenting, hitting up to faster and faster lap performances.

Nursing the Studebaker Special is Earl Cooper's faithful mechanic, Reeves Dutton, widely known for years on the track as a shrewd trainer and driver of racing iars. Dutton spends all of his time "tuning up" the numeral "1," because Cooper was the first entry signed up for the 1924 Speedway classic.

Cooper was the winner of the Fresno race in 1919, after years' retirement into the world of business. He was seconded in the July 4th race in Kansas City last year, and second in the Beverly Hills meet in 1922. He also finished fourth in the 1915 race at the Indianapolis Speedway, besides winning the road championship in California in 1914.

ALL DAY SINGING AT MAPLE

There will be an all day singing at Maple Springs the third Sunday in June. All singers and lovers of music have a cordial invittion to come and bring your baskets filled with something to eat and your 1924 song books

Blinding Headaches

"For about twenty years," says Mr. P. A. Walker, a well-known citizen of Newburg, Ky., "one of our family remedies has been Black-Draught, the old reliable. . . I use it for colds, billousness, sour stomach and indigestion. I was subject to headaches when my liver would get out of order. I would have blinding headaches and couldn't stoop about my work, just couldn't go. I used and it relieved me.

"About eight years ago my wife got down with liver and stomach trouble. . . We tried all week to help her, . . . but she didn't get any better. One day I said to the docter, 'I believe I will try Black-Draught, it helps my liver.' He said that I might try it and to follow directions. She was nauseated and couldn't eat or rest. She began taking Black-Draught and in two days she was greatly improved and in a week she was up."

Try Black-Draught. It costs only one cent a dose. Sold everywhere. E-99

VERBENA SCHOOL CLOSES VERY SUCCESSFUL SESSION

Verbena High School closed its first session as an accredited institution Monday evening, May 19, when six graduates were presented their diplomas. The Methodist church was well filled with friends of the school and of the seniors, who had come to wish them continued success along life's highway, and to hear the address delivered by Dr. J. S. Thomas, Director of Extension, of the University of Alabama.

Friday evening the Senior play, "Putting It Over," was played to a full house in the school auditorium, and was a source of thorough enjoyment to all present. It was one of the cleverest in theme and in presentation that has ever been put on in Verbena. The Class of '24 will always be remembered for its dramatic talent, it having been before the people in many splendid productions.

Sunday morning Reverend Henry G. Cowan of Citronelle, Ala., preached the commencement sermon. His text was the first verse of the twelfth chapter of Romans, and his theme was "Consecration." He brought his message in forceful, eloquent words, pleading earnestly for the young people just passing out of the high school life to hold fast to right, virtuous life, always keeping in touch with the Master in service.

Monday morning the Class exercises were held in the church auditorium. A short welcome address was made by William H. Deramus, class president. The following program was rendered: Piano solo, Sarah Maude Pattillo; Salutatory, Crayton L. Norris; Quartette, "I Never Knew," Sarah Maude Pattillo, Virginia Scott, William Deramus, Adelbert Norris; Class Prophecy, Jannie Allen; Piano solo, Dolphus Harris; Class poem, Mary Stonecipher; Class history, Paul B. Dansby; Grumblings of the Class, Dolphus Harris; Vocal solo, "Can't Remember," Mary Stonecipher; Class Will, Crayton Norris; Class Song.

Exercises were opened Monday evening by a piano duet, Virginia Scott, Sarah Maude Pattillo, followed by a vocal solo, "Homing," by Mrs. P. F. Mitchell. The valedictory was well delivered by William H. DeRamus. Misses Parnell and Allen furnished a piano duet. The speaker of the evening, Dr. J. S. Thomas, in his usual brilliant manner held the entire interest of the audience in a fifty-minute address, so very pertinent to the occasion and to the mounting school interest that is being felt in Verbena. The school and community feel themselves very fortunate in having secured the services of Dr. Thomas, as well as those of Reverend Cowan.

Miss Zula Parnell presented her music classes in the annual recital Tuesday evening at the Community House. The program was replete with interest and showed well the individual talent and the careful training they had received.

The committee on raising funds for the erection of a modern consolidated high school building is daily in the field canvassing, and is meeting with splendid success. The building will be started at an early date, and will be of the one story type, eight class rooms, laboratory, manual training room, home economics room, and auditorium to seat over five hundred people. The entire citizenship is to be congratulated on the manner in which they are visualizing the future needs of the school as well as the whole-hearted way they are co-operating in financing the affair. By the time of opening school next fall it is hoped that the building will be ready for use, and such a one that for the needs of the district will be second to none in the State.

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL

New Orleans, La., May 28—Confidence in the methods of boll weevil control as recommended by the scientists and experts of the United States Department of Agriculture and the States Colleges of Agriculture is being demonstruted in virtually every section of the cotton belt where there is an organized movement to combat the pest.

While there is considerable effort on the part of some organizations and business concerns to obtain the use by the farmers of poison mixtures which have been proven by the scientists to have little or no value as a means of boll weevil control, the indications are that a great majority of the farmers who are using control methods are heeding the teaching of the scientists just as they heed the advice of the doctor when they are ill.

The argument has been presented that tests of poison have been made only under such conditions in one locality. This argument is readily refuted by reports of the experiment stations in practically every state in the cotton belt which show that calicum arsenate, used in dust form or in the home-mixed molasses mixture for the pre-square stage and the dust only after blooming begins, increase the yield per acre, increases the money value of the crop and decrases the cost of production.

The figures in the reports are based on tests conducted on plats where different kinds of poison were used, checked against each other and against unpoisoned plats under the same conditions.

It is significant that the findings of the various experiment stations so nearly coincide. It also is significant that for the first time since the boll weevil invaided the United States the scientists have agreed on a definite plan of controlling the boll weevil and have combined in making the same general recommendation for the entire cotton belt.

The methods of control which is being employed in the pre-square stage by a very large number of growers and which is recommended by the experts is the use of either calicum arsenate applied with using machinery or shaken on the plants from a bag; or a mixture of one pound of calicum arsenate, one gallon of molasses and one gallon of water applied to the tips of the plants with a home-made mop, using about one gallon to the acre.

Determination for the pre-square poisoning in made by a thorough daily inspection of the plants and when as many as twenty weevils to the acre are found, poisoning should begin. Poisoning in fruiting stage should begin when as many as 10 to 15 per cent of the squares are punctured and calicum arsenate in dust form only should be used. The reason for waiting until so many of the squares are punctured is because of the probability of weather control and no damage is effected by the pest until the infestation passes that stage because the plant would naturally shed that many squares without infestation.

Therefore, poisoning in the fruting stage before 10 to 15 per cent of the squares are punctured is a needless waste of time and money.

J. L. BURNETT THANKS VOTERS

Lawley, Ala., May 26, 1924.

To the Voters of Chilton County:

I wish to take this means of expressing my appreciation to the people who supported me in the recent primary. I have never before asked for any office and I feel highly honored with the vote that I received. If I am elected in November, which I believe I will be, I shall strive to discharge my duty to the best of my ability. I shall strive to find out the wishes of the people and then shall be governed accordingly.

I am going to do all I can honorably do to be elected in November and to elect the entire Republican ticket. I fully appreciate all of those who did not vote for me, for I feel like they voted their honest convictions. Now I want to insist that you help elect me in November and I can assure you that I will highly appreciate your support and influence. I hope that none of the defeated candidates are in any way sore, for we have had a fair and clean campaign.

Again thanking the people for their support and soliciting their future assistance, I am,

Respectfully,
J. L. BURNETT.

G. D. Retherford and family went to Fort Payne Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wyatt. They went through the country in their Chevrolet. They returned Wednesday morning.

It will be a celebration unique in the annals of entertainment. No loyal Kentuckian will want to miss it. Thousands upon thousands are planning to attend.

changed it. Your country respects you for cherishing the memory of those who wore the gray. You respect others who cherish the memory of those who wore the blue. In that mutual respect may there be a firmer friendship and a stronger and more glorious union.

Eulogizes General Carr

"When I delivered the address dedicating the great monument to General Grant in the city of Washington, General Carr was present with others of his comrades and responded for the Confederacy with a most appropriate tribute. He has lately passed away, one of the last of a talented and gallant corps of officers. To the memory of him whom I had seen and heard and knew, as the representative of that now silent throng, whom I did not know, I now offer my tribute. We know that it is Providence that would have it so. We see and we obey. A mightier force than ever followed Grant or Lee has levelled both their hosts, raised up a united nation and made us all partakers of a new glory.

"It is not for us to forget the past but to remember it, that we may profit by it. We must put our emphasis on the present and put into effect the lessons the past has taught us. All about us sleep those of many different beliefs and many divergent actions, but America claims them all. Her flag floats over them. Her government protects them. They all rest in the same divine peace."

Organizations participating in the memorial exercises included the Confederate Southern Memorial association, the United Confederate Veterans, United Daughters of the Confederacy, Sons of Confederate Veterans and Southern Relief society. Representative Wilson of Mississippi also delivered an address, and after the exercises flowers were placed on the graves of the Confederate dead.

READY FOR THE ESKIMO'S LARDER

WALRUS is to the Eskimo what steaks and chops are to us. Only, instead of being able to go out to a store to buy them, necessity compels him to hunt his favorite meat with the aid of a spear. And when he does encounter a goodly herd of walruses—man, they tell us, he sure does "do his durndest" in stacking up plenty for his winter larder.

Not only is the walrus valuable as a food, but the ivory tusks and the skins also are preserved. The ivory is utilized by the Eskimos for manufacturing various native implements while the hides are used to build summer habitations.

In the above photograph, is shown an extraordinary fine collection of walruses taken after an exciting hunt in the far north.

K. M. VINSON THANKS VOTERS

To the Voters of Chilton County:

I want to thank you each and every one for the consideration given me in the race for county treasurer. As you all know, I did not get the nomination, but I feel indeed proud of the vote I got in the county. I am satisfied with the nominations that the people made, and I assure the nominees and the entire Republican party of my cooperation and support.

Let's all get behind our ticket and elect it unanimously in November. Again thanking you for your consideration and support given me, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

New Law Cuts Taxes About $361,000,000

Washington, June 2.—President Coolidge today signed the tax reduction bill, but declared it unsatisfactory, announced he would bend all his energies to obtain enactment of a better measure at the next session of Congress.

The bill, which decreases tax rates in most instances to the lowest levels since 1917 and which was the basis of the hottest legislative fight of the present session of Congress, was declared by the President in a 2,500-word statement issued coincident with his approval of the measure, to represent merely "tax reduction, not tax reform."

"The bill does not represent a sound, permanent tax policy and in its passage has been subject to unfortunate influence which ought not to control fiscal questions," the executive said. "Still, in spite of its obvious defects, its advantages as a temporary relief and a temporary adjustment of business conditions, in view of the uncertainty of a better law within a reasonable time, lead me to believe that the best interests of the country would be subserved if this bill became law.

To Seek New Bill.

"A correction of its defects may be left to the next session of the Congress. I trust a bill less political and more truly economic may be passed at that time. To that end I shall bend all my energies."

The legislation as approved by the President reduces the taxes of almost every federal tax payer and cuts down the federal revenue by an amount estimated at $361,000,000 for the next fiscal year. This reduction however, will not result in any deficit, according to treasury experts.

The principal effect of the new law will not be felt until next year, the 50 per cent reductions in income taxes being made applicable to incomes of this year but payable in 1925. Immediate relief, however, is granted every income tax payer, as a 25 per cent decrease is ordered in the case of income taxes for the current year and now due. Persons who are paying this year's income taxes on the installment plan may cut their second payment, due June 15, by one-half and their other two installments by one-fourth each. Those who already have paid their income taxes in full will get a refund without application.

Excise Taxes Repealed

Another effect that soon will be appreciable is thhe provision of the new law repealing within 30 days many excise taxes, such as those on telegraph and telephone messages, soft drinks, candy, carpets, rugs, trunks and theatre admission of 50 cents or less.

The revision of the income tax rates effected under the new law brings a cut in all such levies. This amounts to 50 per cent reduction on incomes of $8,000 and under. On amounts above that the normal rate is cut from 8 to 6 per cent while the surtax rates are revised on a similar basis.

The next surtax schedule starts with 1 per cent on $10,000 and graduates up to 40 per cent on $500,000 and more.

A new feature written into the legislation at the recommendation of Secretary Mellon provides for an additional reduction of 25 per cent on earned incomes up to $10,000 with all incomes of $5,000 and under classed as earned.

SLIGHT FIRE IN CLANTON LAST MONDAY P. M.

On Monday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock, the fire alarm was given, the location of the conflagration being in the home of Col. J. B. Atkinson on Second Avenue South. The flames, however, were extinguished before much damage was done. Only two beds and some other furnishings in the sleeping porch were burned and that room was slightly damaged from the flames. The fire is supposed to have originated from an electric iron which was left turned on. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Atkinson were present when the fire caught out.

Within a few minutes after the alarm was given the whole fire department of Clanton and most of the people were on the scene to fight the blazes, but it was put out before scarcely any of the fire-fighting outfit was put into use.

Revival at Friendship Church to Begin the Third Sunday in July

At the regular service at Friendship church the fourth Sunday night, a committee on arrangements for the revival was appointed. Rev. Marion W. Mims of Verbena has been secured to help Rev. Robinson in the preaching, and the service will begin the third Sunday in July. It was desired to begin the revival on the fourth Sunday, the reuglar preaching day, but the time of Rev. Mims was filled for this date at his own church at New Cedron, so the date of the Friendship meeting was set up one week in order to get the help of Rev. Mims.

It is hoped that the people of Friendship will begin now to prepare for this revival, and do their best to make it the very best possible. There are enough people living in sight of Friendship church to make a wide-awake band of Christians, and there is no reason why the people of that community do not get together and make their church something to be proud of.

NEW STATE DRAINAGE LAW HELD INVALID BY ALABAMA HIGH COURT

Unlawful for Districts to Levy Tax On Property. Must be Done Only By Municipalities.

The Supreme Court of Alabama recently decided that the drainage law passed by the State Legislature of Alabama in 1923 was not constitutional. The court held that nothing other than a municipal corporation had the power to levy a tax on property. Inasmuch as the drainage business was to be handled by a district instead of a county or other municipal corporation, it was decided that such proceedings could not be taken against property.

This decision of the Supreme court somewhat affects the drainage project of the Clanton district which has been under way for the past few years. However, the attorneys for the Clanton project have instituted another plan by which we may be able to go ahead with the enterprise. A meeting of those who signed the drainage agreement will be called in Clanton in a few days and a drainage engineer will be here to speak to us and explain the new plan. All who have land in the swamps around Clanton will be on the look out for the announcement of this meeting, and come together and hear the project discussed by this engineer.

FINE PROGRAM AT OAK GROVE

Editor Union-Banner:

I want to stase in your paper for the benefit of your many readers, that I have just returned from the Children's Day at Oak Grove and want to say that the program was well arranged and each one in the program recited their part nicely, faithfully and efficiently, and in a way I believe it to be an honor and a credit to the Oak Grove community All who were present seemed to have enjoyed the day. There was a large crowd present and in spite of the bad feelings, Deacon W. J. Northcutt performed his duties as chairman well. They had a lot of good songs arranged all along through the program in the forenoon. And as to dinner, owing to the illness of my wife I went home to see her during noon recess, but it was reported as usual, plenty to eat for the crowd and some to spare. I returned just in time to help them enjoy the refreshing shower of rain that fell so nicely.

I am not very well acquainted with the directors and organists, so I can't mention their names, except Brother Frank Lowery from Providence and Misses Lonie Martin, the guitar picker, who performed her part well.

Good behavior prevailed throughout the day and we hope that such conditions will continue throughout the world.

Among the visitors I noticed Bro. J. D. Holsomeback and wife from Mars Hill; J. E. Cobb and family of Center Hill, and O. P. Scott of Jemison, and others.

Very respectfully,
J. N. SCOTT.

The Memphis contractor, who was second low bidder, has agreed to take the contract at the bid of Speed-Parker, it was stated, and formal execution of the contract is expected soon. Work on the grading and the bridges on the project is already actively in progress. The state will furnish the cement for the concrete paving.

Big Singing Held Here At High School Sunday

Prof. A. J. Showalter and Vaughan Quartets Were Honor Guests of Singing Convention.

The climax in the sacred music activity of Chilton county was reached last Sunday in the event of the special session of the Chilton County Singing Convention at the county high school. This was indeed the biggest, most spirited and most attended musical event in the county for many years, there being present about three thousand people, and the whole school campus being covered with automobiles and other types of vehicles.

The weather was fine in the morning, and the people began to gather in shortly after sunrise. By the time the singing began, the spaceous auditorium was completely filled as well as all the aisles and door-ways. The meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock by Chairman W. G. Culp, who, after a short prayer by Rev. W. S. Cox, made a few striking remarks in way of introduction, and started off the day of singing lyrics to Jehovah. Among the prominent singers present and taking active part in directing were H. C. Collins of Georgia, John M. Dye of Birmingham, N. A. Smith of Elmore county, W. M. Devaughn, of Verbena, and Prof. G. A. Mann, Seaman, Alabama. The famous Vaughn Quartet of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., consisting of A. M. Pace, W. B. Walbert, T. R. Shaw and H. E. Barnett, was there in all its glory. And the most noted and most widely known of all the honored guests of the convention was Prof. A. J. Showalter of Dallas, Texas.

Beyond any doubt, Mr. Showalter is the greatest writer and singer of sacred music in the South, and the convention felt very honored in having his presence with them. Besides singing a number of old and new songs during the day, Mr. Showalter talked quite a bit, telling of his varied experience in singing and teaching music in the South. In his speech, Prof. Showalter said that among all of the places he had taught and worked in, he held Alabama among the dearest. It was in this state that the noted teacher taught his first normal institute, and it is here that most of the greatest singers Mr. Showalter has taught live now or have lived.

The first song that Mr. Showalter sung was "Leaning on the everlasting arms," which he himself composed nearly a half century ago and which is known in nearly every civilized country on the globe. There are few songs in use today which are more broadly used than "Leaning on the Everylasting Arms." The way Mr. Showalter and the huge choir rendered the famous old selection made it sound like it had been written only yesterday.

All along during the day, the Vaughn Quartet, under the management of Mr. Pace, a graduate of Mr. Showalter, rendered some of its choice sacred selections which commanded the hearty applause of the huge congregation. In the afternoon, the Quartet had its saxaphones there and used them in accompanying the singing. This added greatly to the beauty of the music rendered. Most of

FAMOUS QUARTET GIVES CONCERT AT HIGH SCHOOL

The famous Vaughan Quartet of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., gave a vocal and saxaphone concert at the high school auditorium in Clanton Monday night of this week. This was a new group of entertainers this time, only one having sung in quartets here before. Besides singing some of the most popular numbers of the day, these men delivered some saxaphone and solo numbers which were high class indeed. When it comes to harmony and perfection in singing and playing together, the Vaughan Quartet measures up to a high scale. The auditorium was full of attentive listeners to the splendid musical numbers rendered. The receipts from sale of tickets amounted to $157.90, 25% of which goes to the ladies of Clanton and the rest to the Vaughan Music Company.

Again We Are Constrained to Say "It Pays to Advertise"

Mr. John T. Ellis tells us that his sales of Woco-Pep during May increased 7,200 gallons over his sales the previous month. To what do you attribute this stupendous increase? If you allow us to answer this question we will say "advertising." Mr. Ellis and his boys are continually talking "Woco-Pep" everywhere they go, and besides talking it they put it before the public in the form of printers ink. Mr. Ellis uses newspaper space and he distributes circulars as well, telling the world of the advantages of Woco-Pep. He does not do this one day in the year and then quit, but he continues to keep it before the public, and he is perfectly satisfied with the money he spends in advertising. Why? Because it pays him to do it. Yes, indeed, advertising in the right way certainly pays every time.

Washington, June 2.—Approval was given by the Senate tonight to a constitutional amendment which would empower the federal government to limit, regulate or prohibit the labor of children under 18 years of age. It previously had been approved by the House and now goes to the states for ratification.

The vote was 61 to 23, or five more than the necessary two-thirds.

Forty republicans, nineteen democrats and two farmer-labor votes were cast for the amendment and 17 democrats and 6 republicans voted against it.

UNITED STATES NOT SOLVING ROAD PROBLEM, CLAIMED

National Highway Commission Is Necessary.

At a convention called by President Coolidge, in Washington, to consider the subject of Outdoor Recreation, Dr. S. M. Johnson, vice president of the National Highways Association, spoke on the subject of National Highways and National Parks. In the course of his remarks he brought out the fact that in spite of the enormous sums of money now being spent on roads, the problem is not being met in any affective way. He said, in part:

"The Federal Government is not backing the road-building program as it should. In addition to this, the present plan, under which Congress appropriates money and distributes it to the States to be expended in the consruction of the Federal aid system of roads, while a vast improvement upon the policy it superseded, is not resulting in a proper degree of concentration upon the main trunk lines which are needed to connect section with section, seacoast with mountain, coast with coast, the frozen north with the sunny skies of Florida and the southern tier of States; and the rest of the United States with such recreational areas as those of New England and New York, the southern highlands and the great National Parks. This is due in no part to Mr. MacDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public roads, or to his associates, but to the policy and in some instances the law of some of the States in which Federal funds are being applied to the building of roads of lesser consequence to the neglect of great through routes reaching from ocean to ocean.

"The remedy for this condition is to nationalize the great arterial roads, such as serve the whole Nation. The Congress should create a 'National Highway and Parkway Commission.' Selection should be made of certain arterial roads north and south and east and west for first completion. The States and counties should be reimbursed for all they have expended on these roads and the Federal Government should take them over and finish them without further delay, at its own expense, and thereafter bear all the cost of keeping them in perfect condition.

"The scope of this work should include parkways. Wherever these great main trunk lines traverse forests, a right of way at least 1,000 feet wide on either side should be secured and forever preserved as a part of the roadside landscape."

NOTICE

There will be a school meeting at Mt. Pleasant School House Saturday night, June 7, for the purpose of selecting a teacher and also to get some plans for building a new room. All patrons of the school are urged to be present at this meeting.

FOR THE FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE ASS'N

Clanton, Ala., June 2, 1924.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to the Farmers Co-operative Association which was organized at Clanton on May 17. There is a great opportunity for such an organization with headquarters at Clanton. This is a territory where the fertility and the adaptability of the soil are such as to make it ideal for growing fruit and truck crops. The fact that it is a section of small farms, also suggest the possible in successful co-operation. And too, the farmers in this section are intelligent and are seeking to employ the best means toward the upbuilding of agriculture.

We have every means to facilitate the work of the Association, which can be accomplished only by securing an earnest and enthusiastic membership. The deep seated, and widespread conviction that co-operation offers the best means of giving immediate relief to the farmers, will play an important role in bringing the work to a successful realization. The organization has no secrets, but its aim is none the less for this reason.

Here is an opportunity for the farmers to unite to make use of the potential possibilities that have lain latent so long. Will we be equal to the occasion? All other classes are trying to advance their well-being in society. We can do the same. The Thorsby association is a vivid example of what can be done. With unabated confidence that success will be ours. I am,

Yours for co-operation,
C. N. EILAND.

REV. BOB CLARK CAUGHT POURING OUT HIS BOOZE

Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee were in Verbena Saturday evening, and by chance, went around to the home of Rev. Bob Clark, colored. Just as Foshee entered the house, Clark was pouring the whiskey out of a jug, and was informing the officer that he didn't have no whiskey. But in this case, actions spoke much louder than words, since an examination of the stuff which had been poured from the jug showed that it was whiskey all right. Clark was arrested and brought to jail in Clanton, where he remains, his bond not yet having been made.

On last Friday the officers located up in the Union Grove community a 75-gallon galvanized still, which had been in operation some time within a month, as the slop still remained in the condenser. A barrel of strawberry beer was found within a short distance of the still. Both the beer and the still were destroyed by the officers. No arrests were made.

G. D. Retherford, city police of Clanton, with the assistance of Sheriff Littlejohn, arrested Bud Parrish in Clanton last Sunday, who had a bottle of whiskey in his pocket. Parrish was arrested and made his bond.

FAVOR TAX ELECTION

We call the attention of the patrons of school district number 61, known as the Minooka district, that after a thorough investigation we have been convinced beyond any doubt that the election that is now pending in our district is exactly what we want and need. According to the information we have received, we are convinced that it does not mean that our school will be consolidated with any other school. Also the tax money paid in our district will be used only for our school at Minooka, district number 61.

We earnestly urge all the voters in our district to aid us and give their support and influence in helping us get the necessary finance to build up one of the very best schools in this section of Chilton county.

We feel confident that you will never regret your support in this direction.

BIRMINGHAM NOT IN CLASS WITH CLANTON TEAM

According to all expectations, the people of Clanton witnessed a mighty fine baseball game here last Thursday afternoon. The visitors were the Yellow Cab players of Birmingham, and Clanton found that those who said that the Yellow Cab team could play ball were not exaggerating a bit. Those boys played ball, but Clanton played too, the final score being 4 to 3 in favor of the home team.

To be sure, this was the most exciting game that has been played in Clanton for a long time. The Birmingham team is very proficient in ball playing, all players working in complete harmony at all times. This team carries with it two regular league players, and all the rest of the team knows their stuff right along. But in the face of such strong opposition, Clanton pulled the wool over their eyes. The pitching of Jones, and the batting of McAdams and Broadus Connatser for Clanton are what pulled it over. All of Clanton's players did well, but these three deserve special mention. Aaron Roper in left field did splendid playing there as well as batting and running bases.

There was a good crowd out to witness the game, and everyone, even Harry, the Yellow Cab first baseman, went away well pleased with the playing and the result of the game.

IMPROVED HIGHWAYS

The story of what improved highways mean to the rural community as told in the motion picture, "The Road to Happiness," is given a new impetus to good roads sentiment everywhere through the country.

This is shown in reports being received daily by government officials who co-operated in the making of the picture and by the Ford Motion Picture Laboratory which produced it.

"The Road to Happiness" films are distributed free from all Ford branches in the United States and since the first of them went out a few weeks ago the demand for their showing has been so great that it has been necessary to supply ever branch with extra copies.

The picture tells of the influence of improved highways upon the social, educational, religious and economic phases of life in rural communities, and the need for skilled highway engineering to bring about the improvement, the moral of all of which is that "we pay for improved roads whether we have them or not, and we pay less if we have them than if we have not."

The film was produced jointly by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, representing the motor car industry and the Highway Education Board, and was made by the Ford Motor Picture Laboratory, under the guidance of the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Because of the success of the picture in this country, the titles are being translated into foreign languages and as soon as possible it will be sent to Mexico, South America and Europe.

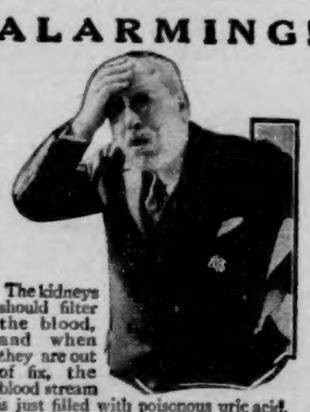
ALARMING!



The kidneys should filter the blood, and when they are out of fix, the blood stream is just filled with poisonous uric acid.

Carried to all parts of the body, this poison causes backaches, headaches, rheumatic pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability or depression and distressing bladder troubles.

But that isn't the worst of it. In chronic neglected cases, the excess uric acid is apt to form into gravel or kidney stones, and to cause gout, sciatica, dropsy and even Bright's disease.

Let the first pain in the back be your warning. Get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's new An-uric tablets (anti-uric-acid). Your druggist can tell you about this new discovery for bad kidneys. Or, send 10c for a trial package to Dr. Pierce, Pres., Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

Drunkenness can never excuse the commission of murder and even if a person is so drunk as not to be able to form a purpose of taking life though such fact might tend to reduce the offense to manslaughter, it could not reduce it lower than manslaughter in the first degree. It was so held in the opinion of the supreme court written by Jutisce Ormond Somerville in the case of Albert Cagle appealed from the Jackson circuit court. Cagle was convicted of murder and sentenced to imprisonment for 35 years. On appeal, counsel for the defendant claimed that at the time the crime was committed Cagle was so intoxicated that he did not have the intelligence to form a purpose to take human life, and that the jury should have been instructed that the offense committed could not be more than murder in the second degree. The uspreme court affirmed the trial court's judgment.

Seeking an accounting of affairs of the Gulf Coast Produce Exchange also the Horticultural Development company, each devoted to the citrus industry in Mobile county, a suit for $3,000 by a member of the two exchanges is under way in federal court Attorneys are arguing the question of a separation of the two associations before the court prior to actual trial of the case. One of the members of the exchange in the suit charges that $3,000 is due him for oranges sold from his place. He charged extravagance in the opeeration on the exchanges and declares that a contract was made to handle oranges, but that he has never received any money or an accounting from the citrus exchange.

In order to find out just where the candidates for municipal offices at Gadsden stand on various and important issues, the League of Women Voters will give them a dinner within the next few days, the date not being set. Nearly 50 candidates for mayor, president of the council and the several aldermanic positions will attend. It is expected that a number of women interested in political matters will also be invited. Candidates will be called upon to pledge their efforts to behalf of parks, playgrounds, dry enforcement, sanitation and the general moral welfare of the city.

Recognition of the ability of the woman as office holders in Walker county is perhaps greater than in any other county in the state. The women have already captured two county offices in Walker and another one will fall to a woman before the end of the year. Miss Mary Amiss, democrat, holds the office of circuit clerk of Walker and Mrs. Lillian Davison, republican, is county auditor. On May 13 Miss Lunnie Swindle won the democratic nomination for county treasurer over five male opponents.

The 167th regiment band of Gadsden will go to the New York national democratic convention if a movement now on foot succeeds. It is said terms have been asked by the Alabama boosters who will go to the convention to fight for Senator Underwood's nomination. The band numbers 48 pieces and has frequently been pronounced the best national guard organization of its kind in the country.

Two thousand men are engaged in clearing the Tennessee river area which will be covered by water when Wilson dam is completed. The government requires that all underbrush be cut away, and that all logs and other material which would float be piled up and destroyed by fire.

Marshall and DeKalb counties will each show a tax gain of from $250,000 to $500,000, according to S. A. Jordan, district agent of the state tax commission. Mr. Jordan states that taxes are fairly well equalized in both counties.

The old Forman grist mill on Canoe creek, near Gadsden, one of the largest and oldest in Alabama, was washed away during the storm of last week.

Plans are being drawn for a $200,000 grammar school building to be erected in Fairfield by Jan. 1 in the event of success in a special election for a proposed bond issue to cover the cost.

Birmingham was selected as the 1925 meeting place by the Southeastern Hardware and Implement Dealers at the recent convention in Anniston

Drainage Meet Called Monday Night, June 16

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

I want to say just here that I am still a Republican, although I got beat in the primary, but it was by a good man for the place. I thank those who lost their vote on my account. I am sorry you lost your vote, but I am glad I can still be your friend; so when in need, call on me. I would have been glad to have the job as commissioner, for I don't believe there will ever be a better time for a man to build a good record than for the next four years. So, I give Mr. Vinson my best wishes, and I shall do all I can to help him.

I want to say to all the voters that I am well pleased for I feel that there is nothing against me except the people's choice was for Mr Vinson, and now I am ready to help you. So I beg to remain a helper and not a stumbling block.

Guy A. Hart, Government Engineer, Will Meet Land Owners to Explain Proposition.

Clanton, Ala., June 4, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

We noticed in the state papers last week that the drainage act, under which we were proceeding to drain the swamps in and around Clanton was declared unconstitutional.

We have written all the land owners who signed the original petition and are notifying all other interested parties that a meeting has been called at the court house Monday night, June 16th, 1924, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of getting together to handle our proposition locally.

We have also notified Mr. Guy A. Hart, who was the government engineer looking over this project about five or six years ago, and he will be with us on this occasion and will be prepared to tell us something of this work and also give us an idea of the expense to each land owner and suggest how the matter may be handled.

Mr. Hart is now engaged as engineer in the Fayette and Lamar County projects.

Yours very truly,
GRADY REYNOLDS.

Mr. Walter Sanford, for the past several years barber at The Sanitary Barber Shop, is now located at The New Barber Shop, next to Powell Presing Company, as manager of that shop. Mr. George Wyatt will hold down chair No. 2 in this shop, commencing the latter part of this week.

The Studebaker Light-Six!

The World's Largest Producer of Quality Automobiles

More because—it is the sweetest, smoothest-running Six you ever drove. Its specially designed offset valve motor, its machined crankshaft, its four big crankshaft bearings, its perfectly precisioned cylinders, pistons and reciprocating parts are the reason.

More because—no other car in its price class shows such obvious indications of quality—genuine leather upholstery, a hand-tailored top and curtains, carefully selected details of equipment, lustrous baked enamel finish.

More because—its 40-horsepower motor, its correct gear ratio, its beautiful balance and low center of gravity, make it like lightning in the "get-away," never failing on a hill, and effortless under a full load on any reasonable road.

More because—it is backed by a great service organization, immediately and willingly accessible.

More because—its recognized used car value protects you with the lowest possible depreciation when you come to trade it in.

To prove its goodness by performance we will lend you a Light-Six any day this week—come in and ask for it.

REPUBLICAN TICKET TO BE VOTED ON IN CHILTON COUNTY ON NOVEMBER 11, 1924

For County Treasurer—
MISS GENIE COLLINS

For Commissioner from the Third District—
J. L. BURNETT

For Commissioner from the Fourth District —
A. P. VINSON

For Member County Board of Education—
J. M. SMITH

Commissioners Court of Chilton county was in session Monday and Tuesday paying road claims and doing other work relative to the road work of the county.

Says the Atlanta Constitution, "The people of this country are today thinking more seriously about the real character of public officials than at any time, perhaps, since the republic was established." And one result of that thinking was the overwhelming victory of Calvin Coolidge in the popular primaries.

Coolidge may go down in history as the "vetoing President." At this writing, he already has axed two soldiers bonus bills, and the tax reduction bill, the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, and several others are yet to come. The President insists that reduction of federal expenditures is the most important thing he has to accomplish and he is determined to "fight it out on that line" whatever the cost, just so it's not in cash.

ALIEN PROPERTY LIQUIDATION

Property in the hands of the Alien Property Custodian is being liquidated as fast as opportunity offers. President Coolidge recently authorized the sale by that official of a large block of oil stock owned by aliens and the investment of the proceeds in United States Government bonds. There is no reason in the world why this government should not have the use of that money pending the time when the alien property accounts are finally settled. There will be no loss to the owners by the conversion into government securities, which very likely will advance in price before the time comes for a settlement.

CHILTON COUNTY ROAD WORK MAKING SPLENDID PROGRESS

Since Arpil 1st there has been more work done on the public roads of the county than has ever been done before in twice this length of time. Over 200 miles of rough, muddy, bumpy country roads have been transformed almost into highways, and the work is still going on. And the beauty of it all is that the expense has been kept down to within reason. Read the report of the expenditures which the commissioners are publishing this week.

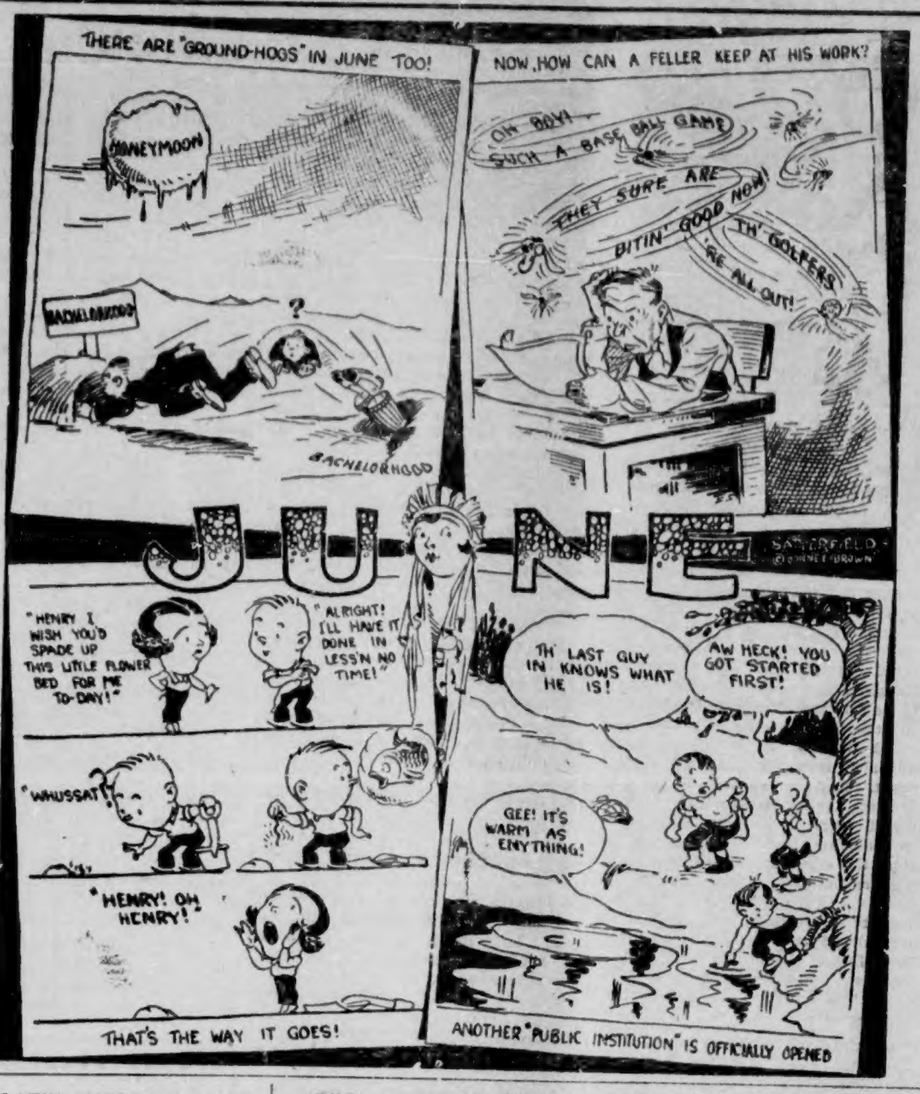
The new road law which the commissioners court enacted the first of this year is responsible for the progress we have made in road work. Even those who are opposed to some phases of the road law admit that more work has been done on the roads than they have ever known of before.

When the plan of taxation for road building was first instituted, some of our people were kindly skeptical of the proposition, inasmuch as it was tried once before and did not succeed very well. But the difference between the first attempt and now is that we didn't have anything to work with then and now we have. The revenue of the county is in better shape now than it was when the taxation plan was tried before, hence the difference in the results.

We hoped to have in this week's paper a letter from W. M. Wyatt explaining the methods used in building roads in DeKalb county, but it will be next week before we can get this letter. Look for this letter from the former editor of The Banner next week.

Mr. Horton Walker of Lawley was in Clanton Monday. Horton is the young son of our Commissioner, Mr. C. T. Walker, and has just finished high school at Centerville, Ala.

LITTLE PEN-O-GRAMS



OUR LATIN AMERICAN TRADE

Washington, May 31.—(Spec. Correspondence)—According to Department of Commerce the trade of the United States with Latin America in the calendar year 1923 amounted to $1,744,000,000, an increase of 121 per cent over that of the fiscal year 1923-24, which closed just before the World War started, and 26 per cent over the calendar year 1922.

Our imports, $1,050,000,000 were greater by 115 per cent than in 1813-14 and 29 per cent greater than in 1922. Exports increased by 130 per cent over the pre-war year 1913-14 and nearly 25 per cent over 1922, amounting to $694,000,000. "By reason of its growth in the past, its promise for the future," says the Department, "and more particularly the diversity of products entering into it this trade is a matter of increasing interest, not only to our manufactures and exporters but to our whole population." In 1923 the United States purchased from Latin America $185,000,000 worth of coffee; 44,000,000 of linseed; $42,000,000 of of nitrate; $35,000,000 of wool and $19,000,000 of cocoa.

The nitrate from Chile and several million dollars' worth of fiber, principally from Mexico, in addition to meeting other industrial requirements, afforded fertilizer and binder twine for our farmers, who in turn sold to Latin America hams and bacon valued at $6,000,000; pickled pork $1,500,000; lard $21,000,000; milk $5,500,000; butter $2,000,000; cheese $8,500,000; eggs $5,000,000; corn $3,000,000; rice $2,250,000; flour $21,000,000; and leaf tobacco $1,500,000. This represented over $77,000,000 on these 11 classes of goods alone.

In addition were such elaborated products of the farms and forests as cotton piece goods, valued at over $50,000,000; wood and its manufactures $28,000,000, and turpentine and rosin $4,000,00. We bought from Latin America $45,00,000 worth of hides and sold it $2,000,000 worth of leather, and many millions in leather products, including $14,500,000 worth of shoes. Petroleum sales to those countries totaled more than $43,000,000, and manufactures of metals totaled a great many millions, including automobiles valued at $22,000,000 and agricultural implements at $18,500,000.

All of the Latin American countries are in that state of economic development where the energies of the people are chiefly devoted to the production of raw materials rather than of manufactured goods. An interesting feature in the trade of the different regions is the specialization of each in some product and the consequent dependence of their prosperity on foreign markets. Notable examples are sugar in Cuba; nitrate in Chile; wheat, wool, meat, and hides in the River Plate countries; coffee in southern Brazil and the Caribbean region; cocoa in Ecuador; and bananas in Central America.

The needs of the Latin Americas are for the finished products of the world, and although the difficulty in obtaining shipments from abroad after 1914 stimulated home manufactures in some of the more advanced and populous countries, it is still necesary to import the bulk of manufactured goods, and probably will be for years.

Foreign and local competition is felt by American sellers of textiles in Brazil, Mexico, Peru, and Colombia; shoes in Argentina, Peru, Brazil, and Mexico, and flour, confectionery, etc., in Argentina and Chile.

DUE BILL FOR FRANCE

Since the passage of the bonus bill a measure has been introduced in the House to compel France to pay its war debt to the United States of some $4,000,000,000. The author of the bill had the right idea in mind but was somewhat too drastic in his methods. The United States will never "compel" any of the nations indebted to it to pay up, but the need for money just now is acute. The bonus will require close to $3,000,000,000 before the treasury has completed the contract with the veterans, and our taxpayers do not take kindly to seeing their money used by foreign governments for soldier relief while there is so much need of it for a similar purpose at home. The Debt Refunding Commission has Secretary of the Treasury Mellon as one of its members. He can be relied upon to keep the Commission informed of the situation, and undoubtedly every proper means will be resorted to to induce debtor governments to repay what they owe.

Every fly swatted at this season of the year probably would have been the founder of a dynasty if allowed to live out its allotted time. The genius of Flydom, the Napoleon who will lead his armies, laden with the deadly germs to destroy the purity of milk and pollute clean and wholesome food, is crawling about the upper wall of your kitchen today, a harmless, easily destroyed youth.

Swat him! With one stroke you will wipe out pages and pages of history and the millions of his offspring will be nothing but the might-have-beens of fiction.

Swat every fly whether he seems to show promise of a great career or not. Talent takes strange twists and the puny little fellow they gave up for dead as a baby may develop into a Gladstone. Cæsar was anemic in his youth—probably, and Scipio, as a child, had to hold on tight to the railings when the wind blew.

Swat the fly irrespective of sentimentality. If you swat at him and by some seemingly providential intervention of a swinging door you miss him, you may imagine that Fate has decreed he should be spared. Like a whimsical Caliban you may choose to let this particular fellow survive because you've taken a fancy to him. High purpose should know no sentimentality. Don't cultivate intimacies among even the most engaging flies. Swat one, swat all.

A million and a half fly swatters are being distributed just now throughout the country by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company as a part of the health campaign of their welfare division. Definite realization of the disease danger from flies is evidenced in this annual distribution. A thoroughgoing fly-swatting campaign at this season of the year is fostered by private and public health agencies. It has many times the value now that it would have later.

Swat the flies! Swat them now

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL METHODS approved by State & Government Experts

When the boll weevils come from their winter quarters after a fast of several months they lose no time getting to feeding grounds. As their choice, and virtually only "dish," is cotton, they quickly fly to the nearest field and begin devouring the plants. Feeding may take place on the seed leaves or the regular leaves if any have developed.

The insects usually are found in the extreme tip of the plant. If feeding happens to take place at the point where the two seed leaves branch the plant frequently dies, but feeding elsewhere has little effect on the plant's growth. Feeding continues in these places until squares appear when they attack them. As long as there is an abundance of squares not punctured the developing bolls are practically free of injury, but when the weevils puncture a majority of the squares the insects begin attacking the bolls.

As long as the female weevils have nothing to eat but leaves they show no tendency to lay eggs, as they must obtain food from squares before the eggs develop. After the eggs begin to develop practically all the food of the females is obtained from the squares as they bore the egg cavities. The male weevil, however, remains on a square for some time, pasturing it over and over until it begins to become dry.

Weevils regularly take moisture from dew or rain drops on the leaves and other parts of the plants.

The first sign of injury of cotton squares is what is called flaring. This is the spreading outward of the three leaflike divisions of the shuck enclosing the square. The square also turns yellow at this time. Flaring usually takes place from two to three days after the egg has been placed in the square. Virtually all squares which have been fed upon or have eggs placed in them drop to the ground. Usually it is about a week from the time a square receives an egg until it falls.

Tests have shown that the weevil prefers Sea Island or Egyptian cotton to any of the upland American varities, but among the latter no choice is shown.

The boll weevil is sometimes found on plants other than cotton and has been observed in okra blooms. However, it has never been known to place eggs in other than cotton squares and efforts to force it to do so have failed.

Further information may be obtained from the county agent, state college of agriculture or the National Boll Weevil Control Association, Room 220 Whitney building, New Orleans

POOR OR

ALL DRESSED UP AND—GOING TO A CARNIVAL

POOR Jumbo sure has to stand for a lot over in India. All day they have him pushing and hauling timber around, doing sundry other tasks and then when the holidays come around—look what they do with him. They paint up his trunk and head and decorate his tusks to give him a regal appearance. In other words, dress him up to look his best for the glittering carnivals of India's reigning rajahs.

Rather artistic design the fellow in the above picture put on his elephant. Each of the figures is said to have a special religious signification. However, our big mamal friend does not seem very excited about it. The way he stands there—we wonder "What's he thinking about?"

WHAT CHILTON COUNTY IS DOING TO BUILD UP A SYSTEM OF ROADS

Probate Judge Publishes Report of Work Done in Each Beat In the County.

The following report and letter ehas just been mailed to all Road Supervisors, and I am publishing the same so that the people can see what is being done on the roads. This is the money that road subjects have paid, which has been apportioned back to each Beat.

We are going to see that each Beat gets it pro-rata share of road money, and we hope every dollar will be spent on the roads. We will publish July the 1st all receipts, and all disbursements, so everybody can see where the money is spent.

I wish everybody would help on the roads for one year, and then see what can be done, then if the roads are not improved as they ought to be, we will be glad to change our road law.

I am writing Mr. Mack Wyatt, the former editor of The Union-Banner, to write a piece in The Union-Banner next week and tell us what DeKalb county is doing for their public roads, and how the people are helping. Look out for this article next week.

We want to have every mail route in good condition before winter. The mail carriers have to go every day. They cannot pick the weather, nor the roads. I have been over some of the routes, and I was surprised to see the condition some of them were in.

We beg the farmers to give us rights-of-way; not to run the water out of their fields in the roads; not to throw trash in the ditches; but help us make good roads. Will you?

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Chairman, Board of Commissioners.

Clanton, Ala., May 23, 1924.

Dear Sir:

There was apportioned to your Beat to work the roads with the amount of $....., and the records show that you have spent $....., leaving a balance on hand, May 5, 1924, of $..... Do not incur any bills after you have expended the amount apportioned to your Beat, without permission from the Commissioners Court.

The Court also orders you to work those subject to road duty, who have not paid their road tax before you employ any road hands. Do not do any work that the road machine can do, but give your work to the places where the machine cannot work. Also see how much help you can get in your respective Beats to gravel the bad places this summer, the county giving half in money and the people half in work. Please report this to the Commissioners Court by the first Monday in July, as we hope to have all places on the mail routes fixed before the winter months set in.

You must personally o.k. all bills for road work in your beat. Make out all bills in name of the party doing the work, as we want the treasurer's report to show when published, who has received the money.

It is our intention to run the road machine over all the roads during this year. Remember that it is as much interest to you and the tax payers of this county to conserve their money and get the best results possible as it would be in your own private business, therefore employ hands and teams as cheaply as possible and see that you get value received.

Also try to get the people to stop diverting the water out of their fields into the public roads, also to keep all ditches open and clear of litter.

The Court is trying hard to make this a "good roads year" and we have heard many favorable comments so far from the work done and we trust all the people will not knock and kick at the laws, but we trust all the people will help us in our efforts to improve our roads for the general welfare of all the county.

I personally am going to try to give one day of each week on the roads, my time and expense being gratis, as the law allows no compensation for such service.

Thanking you for your continued co-operation, I am,
Very sincerely,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

Practical Nurse Tells

Mrs. N. E. Snow, of Route 1, near Paris, Texas, tells the story of her experience as follows:

"I am 62 years old and I have been a practical nurse for more than 20 years, taking mostly maternity cases. One of my daughters suffered from cramping at . . . She would just bend double and have to go to bed.

CARDUI

was recommended to her and she only had to take about two bottles, when she hardly knew that it was . . . she suffered so little pain.

"My youngest daughter was run-down, weak and nervous, and looked like she didn't have a bit of blood left—just a walking skeleton, no appetite and tired all the time. I gave her two bottles of Cardui. It built her up and she began eating and soon gained in weight and has been so well since."

Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, has helped suffering women for over forty years. Try it. At all druggists'. E-109

—Of A "Fair Return"

The Transportation Act of 1920 permits a rate of return on the value of the railroads' properties of 5¾%. However, in no year since the Act became effective, on September 1, 1920, have the railroads earned anything like the amount contemplated or permitted therein.

The following statement, compiled by the Bureau of Railway Economics, shows the amount of money the American railroads were entitled to earn under the Transportation Act; the amount and the rate they actually did earn; and the shortage of the so-called "fair return:"

Period	Permitted to Earn	Did Earn	Shortage	Rate
4 mos. 1920	$ 626,417,120	$ 520,583,678	$ 105,833,442	3.10%
Year 1921	3,105,297,053	613,945,615	422,351,466	3.33%
Year 1922	1,084,606,253	775,066,939	309,140,333	4.14%
40 Months	$3,772,092,625	$2,590,789,042	$1,131,353,583	4.06%

Note that during the 40 months in which the Transportation Act has been in effect, the railroads have earned only 4% on the value of their properties; and that there was a shortage under the so-called "fair return" of $1,131,353,583.

The reader's attention is called to the fact that the Transportation Act permits, but does not guarantee, the "fair return." If the real earnings of the railroads were guaranteed by the Government, the carriers would now have a sizeable bill of over one billion dollars to present to Uncle Sam.

Left alone and given the opportunity to work out their own destinies under the Transportation Act, the railroads will solve their problems; but further tinkering with railroad legislation is bound to be destructive to the unsurpassed service they are now giving.

Give the Transportation Act a chance to make good; give the railroads a chance to continue to make good—and the Nation will prosper accordingly.

FROM DARKNESS TO LIGHT

HERE'S a historic relic—just brought to light—which is attracting thousands of visitors to the exhibition rooms of the Chicago Historical Society. It is one of five death masks of the great Napoleon and was presented to the Chicago Society recently by Joy Morton, the "salt king."

Cast in bronze, it remained hidden for many, many years in a box owned by Dr. Francois Antomarchi. The latter died in 1838—almost a century ago—while exploring near the Cuban coast.

Two of the four other masks are now in the Louvre.

How Montevallo Campaign Fund From Drive Will Be Expended

Detailed plans for the distribution of the million dollars which the Alabama College is going to realize from its drive for funds, have been worked out by officials of the college. They include many features which should prove interesting to the mothers and and fathers of daughters throughout the State.

The following list of immediate needs of the college which was given out by the trustees will give an idea of the extent of the proposed expansion:

Dormitory and furnishings for four to five hundred students; auditorium and administration offices; academic building and equipment; social religious building; president's residence; gymnasium, two practice homes; dormitory and furnishings for teachers; addition to music building.

Enrollment for 1922-23 was 427 students; 1923-24, 659; approximately 300 students will have to be turned away in 1924 after every available room, including the temporary dormitory, has been filled. A dormitory for 400 students would be filled during the session 1924-25.

Need for Auditorium and Offices.

The present auditorium is inadequate even for seating the present student body. The seats are very poor, the building is old, and it was never designed for the student body or for the artists' concerts and lectures which are held each year by the institution. An auditorium is sorely needed.

For office space, the president, dean, with two secretaries, registrar, and bookkeeper of the college occupy three small rooms in the main dormitory. There is only one place for private conference to be used by the entire administration forces. For lack of space, the records are housed in a room almost a block away from the administration offices. This arrangement handicaps seriously effective work of the executive organization

Need for Academic Building.

The class rooms for the academic courses are scattered from one end of the campus to the other. It is often difficult to find rooms for all the classes that must meet at a particular hour. The teachers have no offices or places where they can meet with students in conference. While they are not holding classes themselves, other classes are being held in their class rooms and hence it is impossible for the teachers to hold necessary conferences with their students. This situation makes it imperative that something be done to provide an adequate academic building.

Need for a Social Building.

The college clubs are forced to use old cottages on the campus and off the campus for their places of meeting. Many of the clubs have no places at all in which to meet. Large organizations such as the student body, the Y. W. C. A., the Technical Staff, the Alumnae Association, and the Newspaper Staff have no adequate places for carrying on their work. The parlors in the main dormitory are entirely inadequate for the uses of the student body and faculty. There is no suitable place for holding the religious services which are held on Sunday and Wednesday nights of each week. For all these purposes a separate building is sorely needed. This building should be the center of the social and religious life of the institution and no institution can properly develop without a building such as this.

Need for a Home for the President.

The president of the institution has for three years been without a home. His home was burned in the spring of 1921. Since that time he and his family have been domiciled in the college infirmary without privacy, without the necessities of home life. A most pressing need of the institution is a home for the president and his family.

Need for a Gymnasium.

Every student who attends Alabama College must take physical education. Hundreds of them engage in games of all kinds. For the physical education work and for the various games which are a necessary part of the recreation of students, a gymnasium building is badly needed. The present building is not half large enough for a single basketball court and not one-third large enough for class instruction. For the proper physical development of the students the institutions must have a well equipped gymnasium.

Need for Home Economics Practice Houses.

There is only one practice home which can be used by the students in this department. A necessary part of their course is a term in the practice home for the purpose of making practical application of the work which they learn in textbooks, lecture-room, and laboratories. This department is seriously handicapped. At least two more practice homes will be required for the courses which are being given.

Need for a Teachers' Home.

It is obvious that if the teachers are to do their best work they must be comfortably situated. The town of Montevallo is very small and does not provide adequate boarding places for the teachers. The result is they must occupy the student dormitories or have a dormitory of their own. The latter plan is preferable both from the point of view of the students and teachers, and it is proposed that one of the first uses of the funds be the erection of a dormitory for teachers.

Need for An Addition to Music Building.

One of the most handsome buildings of the State is Calkins Hall at Alabama College. It is used exclusively for music instruction. It is scarcely more than half large enough for the present demands of the music department. Classes and practice schedules must use other rooms in the dormitory and elsewhere. The present building was constructed with a view to additions. This should be made at once in order to take care of the immediate demands of the students who desire music instruction.

the piano playing during the day was done by Mr. Shaw, one of the Vaughn singers. In most of the quartets Mr. Shaw both played the piano and carried his part of second tenor, and his ability to handle either or both of these jobs displays wonderful talent on the part of the young man. Mr. Shaw is a musician from sole to crown.

The rain and wind storm which came up about 3 o'clock in the afternoon somewhat interfered with the program, however, enough people remained in the building to do some good singing after this. The closing was sung by Prof. Showalter and the benediction was offered by Mr. W. H. Robinson.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

The closing day of the semi-centennial and commencement at the Florence normal school was marked by the decision of the alumni association to erect a memorial to the soldiers of the World war. It will be in the form of a stone and concrete stage for the open air amphitheatre and will have a memorial tablet bearing the names of those who paid the supreme sacrifice.

Date for hearing charges brought against Sheriff P. H. McQueen, of Crenshaw county, by five citizens of the county, seeking his impeachment and removal from office, has been postponed by the Alabama supreme court from July 1 to July 8. Postponement was granted on request of counsel for the sheriff.

"Moonshiners" in Mobile county are using moving stills, according to Sheriff Paul G. Cazalas, after his raiding squad, composed of Deputy Sheriffs Burch, Stringfellow and Hudoff reported that in "still locations" they found 21 barrels of mash, but that the whisky making outfits had been moved.

Alabama City will inaugurate a series of home talent concerts. The first was held at the Methodist Tabernacle. The initial program included vocal and instrumental solos, orchestral selections, duets, trios and literary readings. The concerts are to be continued throughout the summer months.

Post office clerks and rural carriers of Alabama to the number of some 200 met in Montgomery for their annual convention. A business session in the morning at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium was followed by a barbecue at Oak park in the afternoon.

The Troy Kiwanis club was entertained by the Boy Scouts at a fish fry at the river, three miles from Troy. A 100 per cent attendance of the scouts was recorded for the meeting. The boys gave their yells and some demonstrations of signalling, knot tying and first aid.

Three hours after her older brother, Malcolm was taken to the hospital probably fatally injured in an automobile accident, little Mathilde Reeves, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Reeves, was run over by an automobile in Opelika and instantly killed.

C. Homer Billingsley, former food and feed clerk of the state department of agriculture ,pleded guilty to an indictment alleging the embezzlement of agriculture, pleaded guilty to sentence of one to three years in prison by the circuit court of Montgomery county.

Thomasville people, bent on improving their streets since the past winter has shown them the necessity, have passed an ordinance to grade and gravel about six blocks on Wilson avenue and the same number on West Front street.

Albert Kilgore and Owen Lambert were placed under $100 bonds, when they were alleged by officers to have attempted to "shoot up" the Shady Glen school house near Anniston, following the closing exercises at the school.

Revenues derived from the gasoline tax in the State during April totalled $134,729.50. The amount is to be equally distributed among the 67 counties to be used in road and bridge construction.

Nurses Carry Health Education Into Thousands of Workers' Homes; Aid Babes and Young Mothers

To the young mother the tiny new baby is like a piece of bric-a-brac. She is afraid to handle it for fear she might break it. The first bath is such a fearsome ordeal that it has become customary for the nurse who administers the pre-natal care to come and give the little stranger his first good washing.

Education of this sort is part of the work of a visiting nurse. The aid given sufferers of any sort must always be a demonstration as well, so that members of the family may continue the care.

The nursing service of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company reaches 3,955 towns and cities in every state in the union and every province in Canada. In the two winter months of this year nurses made 424,986 calls at 109,395 separate homes. The nurses in more remote sections lead the life of the circuit rider travelling in their flivver over almost impassable roads and often going on horseback or on foot through wild country to reach their destination. It requires dogged determination and physical strength to be enlisted in the service and sometimes on the outskirts of large cities the nurse will spend precious hours tramping through the mud to find a shack which is on no street and has no number.

The account is endless of the sickness and suffering caused by the ignorance of people of the poorer class and especially foreigners. One woman with five children had neglected an infected finger. The nurse summoned by the agent struggled through fields of mud only to find that the woman was sure it was nothing serious. The nurse insisted that a doctor be summoned but the woman did not want to spend the money. When the doctor finally came he lanced it at once and declared that it was only just in time to prevent the loss of the hand if not the woman's life.

Most of the women are eager to learn so that they may give their children the best possible treatment. One young mother, with four small youngsters, the oldest of which was four years, was especially clean and careful, but measles invaded the home. The three oldest children had it, but the nurse said the baby needn't get it if the mother would take proper precautions. This woman's day was not so full but that she could find time to follow instructions to the letter; changing her apron every time she tended the baby, keeping him isolated in a separate room, boiling everything, omitting no smallest detail. Eternal vigilance was the price of success and the baby escaped.

HOW THEY WORK THE ROADS UP IN DEKALB COUNTY

Former Editor of Union-Banner, Now Living in Fort Payne, Writes To People of Chilton.

I have been requested to write an article for The Union-Banner concerning the methods and results of road working in DeKalb County. To begin with, will say that I am glad to do so, because I have found in DeKalb county a spirit among the people regarding road working which I think is worth any effort necessary to plant that spirit in the minds of people anywhere.

I would especially like to see the DeKalb County plan tried in Chilton County. Knowing conditions as I do, it is easy to see by comparison that with the same amount of work done by the people of Chilton County as has been done in DeKalb, much more results could be obtained, because of the simple fact that Chilton County road problems are not as bad as those of DeKalb. This difference will be more clearly understood when you have read this entire artible.

I suppose it was the idea of those who asked me to write this article that I should discuss that phase of road work in DeKalb County which is the voluntary effort of the citizens and is in a way independent of the regular road work carried on by the county, yet in practically all instances done in co-operation therewith.

I want to impress upon those who read this the fact that the people of the various communities of DeKalb county have found that the best way for them to get rid of the bad places in their roads is to get together themselves and do the work and not wait for the county, State of Federal authorities to do all the building of roads. They have learned that the best way to get anything done is to do it themselves, and not simply wait and hope for somebody else to do it for them.

This idea is not born of a feeling that they can have no confidence in the county, State or Federal road agencies, but on the other hand, it is a patriotic willingness among the rank and file of citizens to reach out by their own individual efforts, coupled with their neighbors, to help the county road authorities and assist them in making their road programs more universal and the production of more general results.

The community spirti is a great force here in getting a response from the people in road work. It has been realized and demonstrated that people can do wonders by combining their efforts to overcome certain road difficulties. In many instances where there was a bad place in a road over which the people of a given community had to travel to reach their common trading point, those people in

WORK MOVING ON RAPIDLY ON CHILTON'S HIGHWAY

A recent visit to the part of Chilton county north of Lomax reveals that the work on Chilton county's north section of the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway is assuming the form of a road righ along. Grading and culvert crews are located all along the right-of-way from below Thorsby to where the new road will cross the railroad near Wessington, and they are making sign too. A long stretch of the road is now graded between Strassburg and Thorsby and a crew of graders are working just north of Thorsby. Between Thorsby and Jemison the new road will run very much in the same place as the old one and not very much grading will be necessary there. Just north of Jemison the new road will leave the old one and go to the left or West of it until it gets nearly to Oak Grove. At this point it crosses the old road, crossing back again at Oak Grove and stays quite a distance to the left or west of it until it hits the railroad half a mile south of where the present road goes under the railroad. Work is now in progress on the foundation for the big concrete bridge to be built across the railroad. At the rate work is now progressing the grading and culvert work will be completed within a few weeks.

CLARKE-ADAMS WEDDING IN KANSAS JUNE 5TH

The following wedding announcement has been received by The Union-Banner: "Mrs. Fred A. Clarke announces the marriage of her daughter, Dorothy, to Mr. Sam Wesley Adams on Thursday, the fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four; Lawrence, Kansas."

Mr. Sam Wesley Adams is a former Clanton young man, being the son of Col. Wm. M. Adams who practiced law here for many years. Sam Wesley left here about ten or twelve years ago and little has been heard of his whereabouts since. However, the numbers who cherish the memory of the young man will be glad to hear from him once more and especially to learn of the event of his marriage.

HEN EGG MEASURES 8 INCHES

Mr. O. H. Mastin has a white leghorn hen in his poultry farm near Thorsby which has broken the record so far as we know in laying big eggs. He took from his hen house the other day an egg which measures exactly 8 inches around the shortest way and weighs a fraction over 6 ounces. We do not know whether or not this hen is one of the 300 egg strain, but we do know that if she lays 300 eggs like this one in a year, she will have done a hen's part..

Mr. Mastin left the egg at the Banner office for anyone to examine who might be skeptical.

BOLL WEEVIL FIGHT BEGINS IN EARNEST

Auburn, Ala., June 9.—The fight with boll weevils for the 1924 season is now on. Reports reaching Auburn are that weevils are appearing in larger numbers than was expected, and greater damages is feared, due to the lateness of the present crop of cotton. These reports indicate further that an organized fight will be made on boll weevils this year. Farmers, bankers, and merchants are actively following the leadership of the county demonstration agents in a united fight to the finish.

In line with official recommendations, early-appearing weevils are being gathered by hand, and destroyed. This is considered very important because one weevil destroyed now is equivalent to hundreds, and perhaps thousands, later.

Alabama farmers are certain to use more poison this year if weather conditions warrant it. Large quantities of calcium arsenate have been bought and farmers will begin using it as soon as it appears necessary to do so.

A recent circular published by the Extension Service states that "wherever 20 or more over-wintered weevils per acre occur it is advisable to make one pre-square application of poison. Either home-made calcium arsenate-syrup mixture or dry calcium arsenate will be used. For all applications after squares are formed only dry calcium arsenate is recommended by entomologists and by county agents.

Last year, 1923, an average net profit of over $20 per acre was secured for all cotton properly dusted in experiments throughout the South.

The score was close until the 8th inning. Umpires: Iding and Thomas; Time of game, 1 hour, forty minutes.

ROADS AND CATTLE-DIPPING GOING GOOD IN STUMPS HILLS

Uncle Tom Dorminey, county commissioner from Stumps Hills, says that he is mighty well pleased with the road work and tick eradication work in his district. Mr. Dorminey says that the roads in his section are better than ever before and that his people are responding very encouragingly to the dipping regulations. If the people up there stick to it like they have started they will soon be rid of ticks and will have them some good roads to travel over as well.

UNCLE SAM ADAMS DIED LAST WEEK

At the home of his daughter, Mrs. Josh Henley near Clanton, Mr. Samuel Brannon Adams died last Tuesday, June 3rd at 12 o'clock noon. Mr. Adams is a well known resident of Chilton county, having lived here all the 75 years of his life. The funeral was preached at Walnut Creek church Wednesday of last week by Rev. Gus Gibson, and the remains were placed in the cemetery at that place beside his wife who died about a year ago.

The living children of the deceased are: Billie, Tillman, Albert, Samuel, Neeley and Ocie Adams, Mrs. Ada Mims and Mrs. Jully Henley. All of the children were present at the funeral except three of the boys who live away and could not be notified in time to get here .

As a result of heart dropsy, Mr. Adams has been in declining health for several weeks, but he had been seriously sick for only about a week before his death, during which time Mr. Adams was unable to lie down on account of shortness of breath. He died sitting up in his chair.

Mr. Adams was a good old Christian gentleman, commanding the respect and admiration of a large concourse of friends who join with the relatives in mourning the loss of this faithful father and citizen. Mr. Adams has spent a life of hardships and toil. There are not many men living today who have done more hard and honest work than Samuel Brannon Adams.

CLANTON TO FACE ALL-STAR PLAYERS FROM MONTGOMERY

Booked for Thursday afternoon of this week is a baseball game which promises to be a thriller. The locals will face a picked team from Montgomery, known as the Montgomery All-Stars, composed of college players and the pick of high school players of Montgomery. Clanton still holds her record of beating them all, we having won over Tallassee here last Thursday afternoon 7 to 2. Tallassee was easy picking for the Clanton boys, but very likely the Montgomery team will be able to show them a little fun. Don't miss this game.

APPERSON - CALDWELL WEDDING AT PLETCHER

A wedding of much interest to their many friends over the county and state was that of Miss Elsie Caldwell of Pletcher to Mr. Benjamin C. Apperson of Birmingham, which occurred Monday afternoon, June 9th at 3:00 o'clock at the home of the bride.

The attractive living room was beautifully though simply decorated in ferns and cut flowers. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Kate Mills of Birmingham, cousin of the bride, sang "At Dawning."

Mrs. Rodger B. Kennedy of Tuscaloosa, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and only attendant. She was charming in peach color voile made basque and carried an arm cluster of Ophelia roses.

As the wedding march was being played by Miss Mills, the bride and groom entered together. The bride was a picture of girlish loveliness in a tan traveling costume of Roshanara with hat and accessories to match. She carried an arm boquet of Mock roses. The beautiful and impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. C. D. Messer. During the ceremony "Just A-Wearin' for You," was very softly played on the piano.

G. O. P. CONVENTION MEETS IN CLEVELAND ON TUESDAY, JUNE 10

Chairman Adams Calls Meeting to Order; Burton Arraigns LaFollette and Easterners Cheer.

Convention Hall, Cleveland, Ohio, June 10. — The Republican National Convention was formally put under way in Cleveland's beautiful auditorium Tuesday with the quiet precision of a well oiled machine. No fuss, no feathers, no disorder, and what noise there was was almost lost in the magnificent great open spaces of the magnificent hall.

The picture presented when the opening gavel fell was theatrical rather than political. The hall was almost cathedral-like in its vastness and beauty. "For the last 20 years I have had the soot from the rafters of the old coliseum which would sift down my back when anybody disturbed the air by yelling real loud," said an old-timer. "Here I feel as though I were in a church. If the organ would just strike up 'Nearer My God to Thee,' I'd shut my eyes and swear it was Sunday."

Cleveland certainly showed the big hosts of Republicanism something new in the way of conventions. It was an artistic triumph, no matter how cut and dried the politics of the meeting might be.

The delegates just sat and looked at spaceousness, the soft rose and violet lights shed down from the lofty ceiling and remarked about the absence of the familiar bunting and red, white and blue decorations. There was none of the old familiar panopy and display of other conventions. A huge American flag was the only splotch of violent color in the place. On it were draped three pictures—Lincoln, Harding and Roosevelt. That was all there was in the way of decorations.

The crowd was slow in arriving and strangely enough, the spectators in the balconies that rimmed the spaceous hall were slower than the delegates. At 10:30 o'clock, half an hour before the gavel was due to fall, there were only a hand full of people in the galleries and the first delegates began to appear on the floor. By 11 o'clock, the opening hour, the floor was filled, but the spectators were still taking their sweet time in arriving. Not half the seats were filled at the opening hour.

Adams Holds Gavel.

It was two minutes past 11 o'clock when John T. Adams, grayhaired and smiling, stalked out on the platform and banged the new gavel.

Adams pointed out that Europe was torn with class cleavage and hatred, while America was united and stable, prosperous and free and at peace with all the world.

A part of Chairman Adams' speech follows:

"This is the eighteenth Republican national convention. It was only 60 years since Lincoln was president. In

EDITOR MEETINGS WERE BIG SUCCESS

Prof. Duncan Makes Statement Regarding Conferences and Power of the Press.

Auburn, Ala., June 9.—Recent conferences of editors, farmers, Farm Bureau leaders and Extension Service workers held at nine points in Alabama are pronounced a "remarkable success in every way" by Prof. L. N. Duncan in a statement regarding them. He said that they were "for the purpose of arriving at a better understanding of mutual problems concerning the different forces," and that more than 600 people attended.

F. G. Stephens, Editor of the Southern Democrat, Oneonta, and President of the Alabama Press Association, was commended for his action in calling these conferences, and for his "fine conception of the importance of the work." Mr. Stephens was one of the original thinkers along agricultural extension lines, suggesting it to the Department of Agriculture at Washington as early as 1895.

Prof. Duncan referred to the old axiom: "Whatever you would have people become, teach it in the schools," and said that he would like to change it slightly to read: "Whatever you would have people become, print it in the paper." He added: "The press ranks as an educational institution with the public schools, high schools, and colleges"

Speaking from the standpoint of farmers he said that "farmers are determined to organize themselves into a safe, sane, and business-like constructive organization;" and that "the spirit of co-operation of Alabama editors as revealed at these meetings was such as to assure much assistance along this line." He declared further that "we are all interested in a common goal, which is a more prosperous agriculture and a more attractive rural life."

FINE RECORD FOR BURLINGTON

Not a single case of intoxication has appeared in the Burlington City Court for two weeks. This is said to be a record for this court in several years. Some may say that the police have been on a vacation but the indications are that the reason for the falling off in drunkenness is that it is more difficult to secure the liquor which intoxicates.

One of the reasons why intoxicants are not so plentiful is the excellent work of the federal agents. If the federal officials will continue the good work, Burlington is likely to become an uncomfortable locality for violators of the prohibition laws.

Another contributing factor in this clean-up campaign is the stand which Judge Karland B. Howe in the United States courts and Judge C.P. Cowels in the city court have taken in regard to liquor cases. Judge How has distinctly stated that those convicted in his court of selling liquor will be given jail sentences and judge Cowels has made it a practice of late to stiffen up on all penalties in all liquor cases.

Bootleggers and their kind have no respect for the law itself, but when that law begins to pinch them through strict enforcement they are not so anxious to disregard it. Let the officers and the court continue the good work.—Editorial Burlington (Vt.) Free Press.

ANOTHER POEM BY MISS BERTHA CROWSON

Boys, are you a pal to father,
Working with him side by side;
Listening to his good advice,
And with his love abide.

There is no other like him,
If you could just understand,
You should take his word,
And treat him like a man.

Don't shun him in a crowd,
Even if he is bent and gray,
For he has been working hard,
All along the rugged way.

Don't you think it is kindness
To make his burdens light,
Help him along the rugged road,
With a happy will and might

Mother loves you we know,
And will try to comfort you,
But understand that isn't all;
Don't your father love you too.

Some may treat father good,
Some are disobedient we know,
But remember this dear lad:
You reap whatever you sow.

And when he leaves this world,
To find a better place of rest,
Can you say these few words:
I've treated him the very best.

Please take his good advice,
And try to make a man,
Walk in the narrow way,
And do the best you can.

Woco-Pep—More Miles, More Power, Less Carbon—will take you there and bring you back. Woco Motor Oils and Sunlight Kerosene.

WOMEN'S LAW ENFORCEMENT LEAGUE ORGANIZED

Twenty-five Phoenix women organized a Women's Law Enforcement League, named a govering council of fifteen representing all sections of the Salt River Valley, and launched a determined effort to accomplish something definite in bringing about a more wholesome respect for law, particually the prohibition laws.

Charcter members, being taken into the organization, took the following pledge:

"The prohibition amendment is a part of the Constitution of the United States. Any violation of the National Prohibition Law is unpatriotic and constitutes an act disloyal to my country. Indifferent to the necessity of strict observance and enforcement is undermining to our government. I therefore pledge myself to vote irrespective of party affiliations for those candidates who will most effectively support and enforce prohibition. — A news item in Arizona Republican.

It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. POOR OR

So much space was required last week to announce the most important events connected with commencement week at Thorsby Institute that we withheld some matters of interest to Thorsby people and many other Union-Banner readers until the rush was over.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Tisall and Miss Alithea Parker have gone to New York by steamer from Savannah. Postal cards written while enroute say the trip was delightful. Miss Parker goes to her home near Boston and the Tisalls will spend the summer at the home of Mr. Tisall's parents at a small place about a hundred miles up the Hudson river from New York. Their address will be Route 3, Box 27, Saugerties, N. Y.

Miss Jenkins went with her mother and aunt, who had been visiting her in Thorsby, to Demorest, Ga., where she will visit with them and her father for a week or two, and then go to New York to attend a summer course at one of the Universities.

Miss Lois Leech will spend a month at Clifton Springs, N. Y., and then visit her sisters in Minneapolis and vicinity.

Mrs. Ethel Wright Loveland will go to her home at Downers Grove, Ill., where she expects to rest during the summer.

Miss Nora James went to Piedmont College at Demorest, Ga., where she graduated in 1923, to see her sister graduate and accompany her to their home at Clayton, Ga. The two hope to secure teachers' positions in the same school somewhere. Miss James will not return to Thorsby Institute.

Miss Marian Fairbanks will spend the summer with friends in western Illinois.

Mr. Waldemar Lefstead left Thorsby last Tuesday morning for Birmingham where he will be employed as bookkeeper during morning hours and attend summer school afternoons during the summer. In September he expects to go to Columbia, S. C., to attend a university and Theological Seminary a part of each day.

Members of Thorsby Institute graduating class of 1924 have announced their plans as follows: Miss Lillian McKee takes a 12 weeks summer school course at the University of Alabama; hopes to teach. Miss Etta Foshee goes to Howard College three months and will be a member of the Thorsby public school faculty. Olene Mims expects to go to Jacksonville Normal to prepare for teaching. Fellie Stephens goes to her home in Childersburg, and to college in the fall. Laura Darby will spend her summer at home having a good time and will probably go to some normal school in the fall. Margaret Butler will spend the summer with her parents attending a Chautauqua at Lakeside, Ohio, and in the fall expects to enter Piedmont Colledge at Demorest, Ga. Bernice Rogers and Claudie Smith did not report their plans. Spurgeon Kelly Expects to attend summer school and prepare for teaching. Cody Bell will work during the summer and expects to go to college in the fall or possibly will work a year and then go. Eugene Davenport will work through the summer and go to Auburn in the fall. Gresham Lowery said he was going to work.

It may be of interest to know that Miss Jessie Mims who graduated in 1923 goes to Tuscaloosa with Foshee, and will be a member of Thorsby Public school faculty when school opens in the fall.

Miss Marie Flummer goes to Birmingham Southern for summer school.

Misses Anna Werniss, Agnes Leary and Hattie Davenport were week-end visitors at their respective homes in Thorsby.

Mrs. Emma Adams and son Thomas spent last week with her mother Mrs. F. E. Gronquist. Master Thomas will be here most of the summer. He has been attending school the past year at an Academy in North Carolina.

Miss Agnes Gerald left Tuesday morning for Birmingham-Southern College where she will attend summer school for three months.

Mrs. Charles S. Howard and children, Lloyd and Ella, Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald and the Misses Agnes and Mary Ella Gerald, motored to Marbury Monday morning.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. C. W. Karlson Thursday afternoon, June 9th.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Norton will leave Thursday evening, June 12th to spend the summer with their son, Sereno G. Norton and family at Kenvil, N. J. During their absence, Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald will be in charge of Thorsby Section of The Union-Banner. We bespeak for her active co-operation on the part on Thorsby people in furnishing business and news items that will make our part of the paper to be representative of a live community.

To Union-Banner readers who were interested in Mr. Norton's "Notes of Travel" furnished this paper during his absence two years ago, we are pleased to state that at the request of the publisher, these letters will be resumed and probably continue during Mr. Norton's absence. We bid 'YOU ALLS" Good Bye!

MRS. T. O. SWAN DEAD

A telegram was received in Thorsby last Saturday evening announcing the death of Mrs. Tilly O. Swan, at Washington, D. C. Mrs. Swan came to Thorsby with her parents when there were few people here. Her husband died in Minnesota in 1902, and Mrs. Swan brought up her family of two daughters and one son here. The two girls, Mabel and Harriet, the former now married, are in government positions at Washington, and Mrs. Swan had made her home with them for several years. The son, Harry, is engaged in farming in Minnesota.

Mrs. Swan was a fine type of Christian womanhood—kind, affable and open-handed, always helping others even at personal sacrifice. She was greatly missed when she left Thorsby, and will be kindly remembered by all who chanced to know her.

ALL "CHAINED UP" TO WIN A BET

TONY PIZZO, shown here in the sailor's uniform, has been traveling a rough and rugged road for the last two years or more. Yes, he's had many "ups" and "downs" in his life—the "ups" and "downs" being scattered over some 41 states which Tony has so far traversed on the bicycle to which you see him chained here.

It so happened Tony made a wager with a Denver, (Colo.) bicycle firm that he could cover all of our great 48 states on his two-wheeler—visiting the governor in each state as evidence that he had fulfilled the requirements of the bet.

So, accordingly, Gov. Shoup of Colorado put the handcuffs and chains on Tony, linking him to his wheel on Oct 1, 1921 and bid Tony "Bon Voyage." And Tony's been pedaling his way around the country ever since. This picture shows him as he appeared the other day on his arrival at Miami, Fla.

IN CONTEST FOR LOVING CUP

Dealers in Woco Pep Motor Fuel and Woco Motor Oils in this territory are engaged in a spirited contest for possession of a huge silver loving cup offered by the Wofford Oil Company of Birmingham for the Woco Station that makes the best showing in the "Woco Club Contest" being conducted by the company. Jno. T. Ellis, of the Woco Pep Co., of this city stated Saturday that every effort is being made to bring the big loving cup here and that every local "Woco Pepper" is on his toes.

The Woco Club Contest is a novel scheme worked out by the Wofford Oil Co. to enliven the interest of its dealers in Woco products. The Woco Club is the fun-making branch of the company's organization and membership in the club is merited by showing made in such contests as the present one. The club was organized at the company's annual birthday celebration held in Birmingham on March 15th and the first members were formally initiated at that time.

The club is fast extending its membership throughout the South. A thousand members will eventually comprise the membership roll. Membership is in three classes, designated by bronze, silver and gold lapel buttons, awarded according to records made in Woco sales. G. T. Wofford, president of the company is honorary life president of the club; Thad Holt is president; C. H. Armstrong, vice-president, and W. D. Lindsay, secretary-treasurer. W. F. Stack is a member of the Board of directors with the officers.

The local Woco Pep men expect to put a large delegation through during the present contest and each dealer is hustling to make the best possible showing. A large cash prize of $75.00 goes to the territory making the best showing as a whole.

VISIT COUNTY JAIL AND UNION-BANNER OFFICE

Mr. A. H. Glasscock of Jemison was in Clanton Tuesday afternoon, and he had with him four or five mighty fine looking girls. The group got Deputy Culp to carry them to jail, and they made a thorough investigation of that edifice. After they finished looking over the jail they came in the Banner office and watched us print some papers. We wanted to meet the young ladies and find out their names, but Mr. Glass was too shy to introduce them. Any way, we invite them to come back again, and maybe next time we can find out more about them.

Guy A. Hart, Government Engineer, Will Meet Land Owners to Explain Proposition.

Clanton, Ala., June 4, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

We noticed in the state papers last week that the drainage act, under which we were proceeding to drain the swamps in and around Clanton was declared unconstitutional.

We have written all the land owners who signed the original petition and are notifying all other interested parties that a meeting has been called at the court house Monday night, June 16th, 1924, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of getting together to handle our proposition locally.

We have also notified Mr. Guy A. Hart, who was the government engineer looking over this project about five or six years ago, and he will be with us on this occasion and will be prepared to tell us something of this work and also give us an idea of the expense to each land owner and suggest how the matter may be handled.

Mr. Hart is now engaged as engineer in the Fayette and Lamar County projects.

Yours very truly,
GRADY REYNOLDS.

Mr. H. W. Devaughn went up to Birmingham Wednesday to visit his daughter, Mrs. Jesse C. Jones, who is in the South Highlands Infirmary, having undergone an operation last Sunday.

President Coolidge—"Surely the womanhood of our country, who have lavished upon the sons and daughters of the land such a wealth of affection, who watch over them in every crisis, from the cradle to the grave, with immeasurable devotion, will not hesitate to make sufficient sacrifice to preserve for themselves and those they love 'the last best hope of the world'—American institutions."

From The DeKalb Republican.—Hon. J. Osmond Middleton, a prominent attorney of Clanton, has been nominated as the Republican candidate for Congress in the Fourth Alabama District to oppose Lamar Jeffers, Democrat and incumbent. Mr. Middleton is a top-notch lawyer, a forceful speaker and one of the best campaigners in Alabama. It will be interesting to see him limber up his heavy artillery and begin to shell the fortress of Mr. Jeffers in the Fourth.

Don't forget the drainage meet to be held at the court house in Clanton on next Monday night, June 16th. The State law authorizing such projects to be handled by a drainage district and bonds to be issued to cover the cost has been nullified by the supreme court. But an attempt will be made for the enterprise here to be handled locally. Mr. Guy A. Hart, a dredging engineer of the U. S. government will be here to discuss the proposition to us. Come out and hear what Mr. Hart has to say to us whether you are interested in the drainage proposition or not. Don't forget it—the date is next Monday night, June 16th, the meeting to be called at 7:30 o'clock.

"There are thousands of homes in Arkansas where a greater measure of domestic happiness exists, where less of privation and are to be found, all due to prohibition laws, State and National. Business men, such as merchants, sawmill operators, construction contractors, and manufacturers, tell us that labor condition have been more satisfactory under prohibition than ever before. There is greater thrift, less suffering, and more domestic community tranquillity than during the days of the open saloon."—Governor Thomas McRae, Arkansas,

One editor thinks that shippers who pay high freight rates ought to get some satisfaction out of the fact that, through Federal state and local governments, they get about half of the profits of the roads back in the form of taxes. What a strange line of reasoning! What does it profit the shipper if he taxes the railroads $100,000,000 and then has to pay freight rates to make up the tax? It may be, as the Houston Post remarks, that an indirect tax is sometimes easier to pay, but we do not recollect anyone remarking that he found his taxes easier to pay because paid through the freight office. Undoubtedly a lot of people who pay in that manner do not know that they are paying, and feel sore at the railroad instead of at the taxing authorities, but that does not alter the fact that the tax is a burden. Many a man pays taxes when he pays rent, and overlooks the fact that he is paying the tax, but he pays it just the same. And it hurts his pocket book just as much, even if it does not hurt his feelings. President Harding uttered a very important truth when he declared that what this country wants is not a shifting but a lifting of taxes. Taxing through the mediumship of the railroads is shifting. It is a subterfuge that may deceive the taxpayer but does not lift his burden.

WHY IS IT ?

APOLOGIES ENOUGH WITHOUT THIS

A former friend of Mr. McAdoo asked one of the delegates to the Democratic convention for whom he was going to vote. "I do not know," was the answer, "but I do know I will not vote for Mr. McAdoo or any one else for whom I must apologize when I get home. I am sorry Mr. McAdoo traded his influence with his former associates for Doheny's money." The questioner declares the answer to his inquiry correctly tells the story of how many Democrats feel. They don't want a candidate for whom they must apologize during the campaign.

If that is the thought dominating the judgment of convention delegates regarding McAdoo, what must be said of Senator Glass who, it is suspected by many, will come from behind and win the race? Glass has publicly announced that he is for McAdoo. That means that he attaches no importance to the McAdoo record which will, in the minds of many, eliminate the latter from the race. But if Glass approves of McAdoo without reservation, we must conclude that the Senator would do precisely as McAdoo has done did opportunity come his way. There is no difference in moral principle between McAdoo who acted and others who endorse his actions. The objections to Mr. McAdoo apply with precisely equal force to Senator Glass. With either as their candidate the Democrats would be reduced to a campaign of apology.

BEAR THIS IN MIND

Recently the British House of Commons come within twelve votes of enacting a bill for the nationalization of lands and mines; that is, of adopting the very policy that has been the distinguishing feature of soviet rule in Russia. Not many years ago it would have been impossible to get twelve votes in the whole House for such a measure. The change that has taken place in Great Britain should have a sobering effect on us in this country. If the radical element in Congress, which has held the balance of power during the present session, were to command a working majority it is highly probable that nationalization would be one of its legislative goals. It is but a step from government ownership of railroads and coal mines, which already has been seriously advocated, to the nationalization of all lands and all mines. Before it is too late the people would better consider the recent history of Russia and the depths to which destruction of private initiative always leads.

FOREST FIRES IN ALABAMA

Hundreds of acres of gullied and useless hillside lands are among the harmful effects resulting each year from forest fires in Alabama, according to investigations by the State Commission of Forestry made during the past few months. While this has long been known as a general fact, it was not until the spring rains of this year were observed daily washing away the hillsides from which the forest growth has been burned by repeated fires that the full extent of such damage was appreciated. In some sections former residents returning after a few years absence could hardly recognize the locality due to its changed appearance. In many cases the damage consists not only in stripping the soil from the hillsides but also in depositing the sand, gravel and clay on the cultivated lands below and thus destroying crops. A large amount of silt and sand from the denuded hills is also washed into the dams and reservoirs rapidly filling them up. Many a reservoir which has been depended upon to furnish water supply or power has had its period of usefulness cut in half by being filled from this source. In developing its fire protection work the Commission of Forestry plans to give special attention to the hilly and rolling sections of the State.

BLAMES ANYHOW

The St. Louis Times makes the remarkable statement that "The Republicans in Congress must assume full responsibility for whatever legislation is enacted, regardless of the fact that the present Congress is Republican in name only." Why should the Republicans asume responsibility if they have not had a working majority in either House? They should not. To admit that they should would be equivalent to urging the election of a Democratic Congress next November in order that Mr. Coolidge's recommendations may be carried into effect. This Congress is controlled by a radical coalition in which Democrats have been most prominent, and against whose dominating votes the Republicans have been powerless to assert themselves. If President Coolidge's policies are to triumph in the next Congress a majority of its members must be Republican in fact as well as in name. Then the party will be pleased to assume responsibility for legislation.

CHILDREN'S DAY AND SINGING AT OAK HILL

Last Sunday our hearts were filled with gladness when we were ushered into the front and comfortably seated in front of the beautiful decorated stage with the word welcome in very large letters above it. And the welcome address by Superintendent A. H. Glasscock made us all feel perfectly welcome and at home. Rev. W. P. Lowery in response, took the L out of welcome and made it read we come, and assured those in charge of the exercises that all that great audience appreciated the effort that they had made to entertain them. Not only at that time but many other times they had been entertained by the good people of the Oak Hill community, and how anxious they were to hear the call to come back again on another occasion of this kind. The entire program which lasted about two hours was carried out without a hitch and was very interesting from beginning to ending and brought forth notes of praise from all present, and many expressed themselves by saying it was the best they had ever seen or heard. At the noon hour a table which looked to be about 100 feet in length was loaded almost to its capacity with so many kinds of something good to eat, prepared and placed there by the kind hands of the good ladies of that and other communities.

After giving thanks to our kind and loving heavenly Father for blessing us in so many ways, we did all eat and were filled and still plenty left. After meeting many of our friends, some of whom we had not seen for many years, and after shaking their hands and exchanging our greetings of God's blessings, we almost raced for a seat, for long before the time for the singing to begin the house was filled to its capacity and almost as many more on the outside who could not get in at all, but all this time E. L. Glasscock was on the job arranging that great class of singers so as to get all the different parts together. After singing the opening song, called Rev. T. W. Davis to the front who invoked the divine blessings of God upon us.

The singing then began in earnest with a leader from Clanton whose name the writer failed to get as first director. Then we had the pleasure of listening to other noted directors such as Prof. Akins Collins, Vernon Northcutt, Henderson Hays, Burl Martin, Moxie Boswell, James Franklin, O. B. Robinson, E. L. and A. H. Glasscock. Two quartets were rendered by the home boys, and one by a made-up quartet of visiting singers which was good and enjoyed very much.

Those who presided at the organ were Misses Esther Atkinson, Ellen Coker, Flossie Cobb, Eva Childress, Nora Maddox, Inez Hayes, and Mr. Amie Boswell.

Both the Showalter and Vaughan books were used. Everybody seemed to be at their best, and in spite of the heat and over-crowded room did some real good singing, and we feel sure that everyone who attended was perfectly satisfied and well paid for their trip up there. We are anxious to again hear the call to come back to Oak Hill on another occasion of this kind, for we have always been greeted and made welcome by the good people of that community, and especially A. H. and E. L. Glasscock who have the interest of the church and community at heart.

SINGING AT SARDIS

There will be an all day singing at Sardis church next Sunday, June 15. Everybody invited to come and bring well filled baskets and their new 1924 song books. Prof. I. D. Huett and many others are expected to sing.

The lightning and thunder storm last Friday night was so strong that it jumped the electric switch in The Banner office and burnt out a perfectly good electric motor. We are glad that it didn't burn up anything besides the motor.

Gone are the days of the horses and the steer,
Gone are the days when motors act so queer,
Yes, we have come to a better gas I know,
When Ellis & Sons fills your motor—it must go.

CHORUS
Woco Pep, Woco Pep,
It's the best gas that I know,
And when you want to take a trip,
Just buy—W O C O .

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL METHODS approved by State & Government Experts

Boll weevils are not unlike inhabitants of cities. When "city folks" find the crowds in mid-summer are becoming unbearable they want to get away to quiet places where they will have more "elbow room." When the square "tenements" of the boll weevils become too crowded, they also become restless and take to the air. However, it is not necessary that they be crowded before their movement begins for their migratory instinct prompts them to seek new fields.

The weevil moves from place to place by flight. Although it does not fly far as compared with many other insects, it has been known to cover a distance of more than forty miles in a short time. It is unable to continue flight very long but by a series of short flights, especially when the wind is favorable, it may cover considerable distances.

The first movement is in the spring from winter quarters to the nearest cotton, usually a short distance. After the weevils reach the field there is very little movement except from plant to plant until well along in the summer. Over-wintered weevils and their offspring for several months only move like a slowly advancing overflow. Up until August about 90 per cent of the weevils in any field are those which develop practically where they are found.

About the middle of August an instinct on the part of the weevils to move about becomes noticeable. During this period weevils become restless and take to the air very actively, flying in all directions. This is sometimes due to heavy infestation in the field but seems primarily to be an instinct that has caused the extension of the infested area in the United States year by year until now it covers more than 600,000 square miles.

With the approach of cold weather there is another distinct movement on the part of the weevils. This is into winter quarters in and about the cotton fields, and usually is a short flight.

One of the most striking things about the boll weevil is the rapid advance it has made across the cotton belt. The insect made its way into Southern Texas about 1892 and since has swept across the cotton territory to the Atlantic seaboard and as far north as Virginia. The annual advance has been from 40 to 160 miles.

Under some conditions the boll weevil is sometimes spread by man through the shipment of cotton and cotton products or of any commodity which originates on the farm. Spread by this means, however, has been of very little importance.

NEW HARMONY

Rain, rain, rain. It looks as if the poor old farmers are having a tough time. The land is washed the worst I have ever seen, but still, we have to struggle along and do the best we can while the world goes along and looks to us for a living.

Still, we do not get credit for what we do. We will take up the boll weevil. You see men who do not need to make cotton, who can live without it and they are the ones who are trying to make the most. They will buy poison and make big crops and the little farmer has to go and do the best he can. But I tell you, there will come time when there will be a hault. The man who can live without the cotton is what is keeping the little man down. I will be glad when the day comes that we will have a chance, when all men will have the same privilege.

You see that every other class of people are organized. Well, we say for what. For their protection and because "united we stand and divided we fall. "I will be glad to see the day when we farmers can get together. we will make our stuff and we will carry it to market and ask the store man what he will give us for it, and then we will turn around and ask him what he will take for his goods. Is that right? I say no, ten times no. Well, we want to know how to stop that. Well, when we get together and stand together, we can price our stuff.

We do not propose to fight the store man, but we just want a fair deal. We are not getting it and the world knows it. We want to help the business man and we want him to help us. But still, he gets pay for helping us, and what do we get? You go to a man to borrow money and he charges you 8 per cent interest. Well that is all right but does he ever think of us not making anything above a living. You see a man go into business, and it won't be long before he is on the top shelf. He is riding in a fine car. How many farmers own cars? They may have a Ford and a second-hand one at that. It is all right for a man to own a fine car, but still there is something wrong.

There is less than half the world farming and are feeding them selves and the other half too. Something is wrong. How long will this last? It will last as long as we farmers will let it. When we go to seeing after our own business in a business way it will stop. Now, we are not fighting anyone, but we ought to have a fair deal. W. B. COOPER.

Gained Ten Pounds

"I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks at a time," says Mrs. Hunter. "I could not work. My . . . were irregular and I got very thin. I went from 126 pounds down to less than 100. My mother had been a user of

CARDUI

and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle up I began to improve. My side hurt less and I began to mend in health. I took four bottles in all during the last ten months. Cardui acted as a fine tonic. . . I am well now, I have gained ten pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all and my . . . are quite regular. I know that Cardui will help others suffering from the same trouble."

Take Cardui.

LISTEN TO WHAT I AM GOING TO SAY

Editor Union-Banner:

Please spare me another little space in your paper to say something about cattle dipping.

If I were to say I was dipping cows I would go wrong, for the people are dipping their own cattle. All I have to do in my territory is to keep an account of the cattle and who they belong to, for the people are certainly bringing them from the dark corners. They are doing the best I ever saw to be messed up in this dipping business like they have been in the past.

In Beats 11, 1 and 12 I believe I can truthfully say that ninety-eight per cent have already been dipped. Especially let me say that Beats 11 and 1, except some stock-law cattle, are ninety-nine and a half per cent. And let me appeal to the good people of stock-law one more time, who have cattle in these territories to come on look after their cattle, have them dipped and help get rid of this worrisome thing, and thereby stop the expense to the county, for if you will think one minute the money to keep this thing going, comes out of the fellow's pocket that is having to worry with dipping his cows. So come in and see after your cows, get them dipped and let's all get done with the thing and get in the same boat together and ride.

Yours for getting done with this thing this time, if possible, and yours for the betterment of our country in every way.

Yours truly,
J. M. WILLIS.

EARL COOPER ENTERS STUDEBAKER SPECIAL IN ALTOONA RACE

Second Prize Winner in Sensational Indianapolis Race Trains For Faster 250-Mile Event on Wood Oval —Must Average 100 Miles Per Hour to Qualify.

Altoona, Pa., June 9.—Earl Cooper, sensational winner of second place in the recent Indianapolis Speedway classic with his Studebaker Special, has arrived here and gone into training for the second annual International championship race on Flag Day, June 14.

Paul Sheedy, general manager of the Altoona board oval, went all the way to Indianapolis to persuade Cooper to race for the $25,000 purse in the big 250-mile meet.

Veteran a Favorite

Cooper's record-breaking speed in the 2009-lap grind at Indianapolis, when he was pushing his Studebaker Special at 105 miles an hour and taking the turns without slackening his speed, makes him a favorite contender in the race here.

The Altoona track is known as the world's fastest course. Drivers must qualify at a speed of at least 100 miles an hour. The Studebaker Special's pilot did the 500-mile distance in Indianapolis in 5:06.47.18 time, at an average of 97.27 miles an hour. Jimmy Murphy made a record in 1922 when he did it at 94.48 miles an hour.

Cooper led most of the race at Indianapolis, jockeying at times with Murphy. It was when he was past the 425-mile post that tire trouble delayed him, and Joe Boyer nosed ahead in a Duesenberg. Even then, the speed merchant, Cooper, finished second with less than a lap behind the winner.

Railbird dopesters believe Cooper is due to make 1924 his greatest year in his fourteen years of racing. They point out that his hard luck in 1923 prevented him from being a track sensation. Leading in every race—including the opening of the Altoona track—he snagged into trouble when a few laps from the finish.

Girls Change His Luck

But his luck changed at Indianapolis on Decoration Day. The superstitious ones say it was brought about by the valanche of letters and good-luck mascots sent him by feminine racing fans from all over the country. Cooper sent out a worried S O S for some one to be his "Lady Luck." And nearly 1,000 girls volunteered to inspire him to victory.

All the otheer racers concede that Cooper, driving at a record pace, and leading most of the route, should have copped the checkered flag. But he did get second. Cooper things it means a new deal of the cards. He is confident of winning on June 14.

"My Studebaker Special emerged from the Indianapolis race in perfect condition," he said today. "It did the 500 miles without missing a beat of the engine. I could have gone into another race with it immediately. I have a feeling that the little car and I are going to make a barrel of money this year."

He's Driving Car Faster

Cooper, say the clockers at the track here, is driving faster than he used to. They all say he is "heavy footed," and that his Studebaker Special promises to hang up some new records in automobile racing before the season ends.

If his luck holds out, the veteran racer, it is said, will gain the coveted A. A. A. "Speed Kink" crown for 1924. He's won it twice before. Can he do it again?

He claimed that he was walking along a public road at a point where it intersected the Seaboard Air Line track, when a collision took place between a train and a truck, the respective property of the two defendants with a result that Hall was struck by the truck. The lower court decided for the defendants, but the supreme court held that the trial judge erred in sustaining the defendants' demurrers and reversed the case.

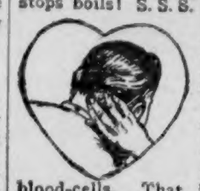
Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S. S. S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaff, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes:



"I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S. S. S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S. S. S. that did it."

A Ton of Freight Moved A Mile for Less Than a Postage Stamp

Large figures are, as a rule, bewildering to the public, but the statistics recently issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the freight operations of the American railroads during 1923, present some easy-to-understand and very significant comparisons.

These figures show that the average revenue received by the American railroads for hauling one ton of freight one mile during 1923, was 1.116c, as compared with 1.176c in 1922 and 1.253c in 1921. The average for 1921 was the highest in recent years; but since then there have been substantial reductions in rates. As compared with 1921, the average rate paid in 1922 represented a reduction of 5%, and that paid in 1923, a reduction of about 11.6%.

These are small figures when applied to one ton of freight, but when multiplied by 413,562,132,100 ton-miles of freight handled by the railroads last year, the slight reduction per ton-mile makes an appreciable showing.

In fact, the aggregate saving in the freight bill of the shipping public since January 1922 has been more than $1,000,000,000.

Think of the figures quoted above—one ton of freight was hauled during 1923 by the American railroads for one mile at a cost of a little over 1c. Figured in terms of an every-day commodity, this represents the movement of 800 pairs of shoes one mile; the actual carrying charges per pair being so ridiculously small as to have no effect whatever on the retail selling price.

Does this indicate that freight rates are too high?

DEMAND GROWS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION

CONDITIONS AT ALABAMA COLLEGE CROWDED SAYS DEAN O. C. CARMICHAEL.

Montevallo, Ala.—No state in the United States has experienced the phenominal growth that Alabama has in high school education and the corresponding demand for higher education, according to figures recently compiled by the Alabama College Million Dollar drive committee at Montevallo. Dean O. C. Carmichael, chairman of the drive, estimated that the demand has increased within the last twelve years by at least one thousand per cent. He believes that it will continue to increase just as rapidly if facilities for its increase are provided during the next twelve years. Already the state has provided for a portion of this growth in the colleges for men and it will have provided similiarly for the women when the million dollar drive is completed.

The increase of students in accredited high schools in Alabama has been practically one thousand per cent according to Dean Carmichael, the number of schools operating having increased from a paltry twenty less than twenty years ago to two hundred and ten. In the last ten years the number of students attending the three state colleges, Alabama, Auburn and the University has increased three hundred per cent.

There were graduated from state high schools five thousand boys and girls in 1923. If the rate of increase keeps throughout the next four years there will be ten thousand graduates in 1927. Ten thousand graduates in 1927, of which more than half are girls, will have to depend largely on the educational opportunities provided by their state.

"Provision has been made for the boys, to an extent, but what of the girls?" said Dean Carmichael. "Alabama has only one college devoted to the interests of feminine education and that one has room for only 650 students if they are crowded in. The need is distressing. The demand in three years will be overwhelming.

Twelve years ago there were seventy-five young women doing college work in state colleges. This year there are one thousand, 650 of them in Alabama College at Montevallo, according to Dean Carmichael. Alabama College increased sixty-five per cent in the number of college students attending in one year. The dean believes that they could increase one hundred per cent next year if they had the facilities to house and teach the girls.

Last year the citizens of Montevallo built a temporary dormitory to house sixty girls. The teachers gave up their rooms in the dormitory and went to live in town in order that more girls might get in.

"Next year if the increase continues at least three hundred young women will be asking for admission and they must be turned down," said Dean Carmichael. "They must be denied entrance because the state has not made provision for their higher training. What will the people do about it?"

HOW THEY WORK THE ROADS UP IN DEKALB COUNTY, ALA.

that community simply set a day on which to come together and work that particular bad place. In many cases the objective of such organized efforts was to overcome the difficulties of roads up and down what we call the mountain gaps.

I will digress here just a moment and explain what we mean by "mountain gaps."

The majority of the people of DeKalb County live and farm on one of the two mountain plateaus, which largely constitute the area of the county. Lookout Mountain plateau extends north and south the entire length of the county on the eastern side. Sand Mountain is similarly situated on the western side. Between these plateaus, splitting the county wide open for its entire length north and south, is the Big Valley between these mountain plateaus.

All the people on the two mountains have to come to some railroad point in the valley to market their produce and buy their farm supplies. Hence, the necessity of the best road possible down the mountain to the place where the plateau breaks into the valley, which places are called "gaps." There are many of them, and in every instance they present road problems that call for much hard work to solve.

The farmers on these mountains certainly know that the county, State or Federal authorities cannot build good roads up all these gaps. They observe these agencies building trunk roads across the county by different routes, and the community effort is brought into action to connect up with the trunk roads by ironing the bad places out of the lateral roads.

In the same way, the people of Chilton County observe the State and Federal authorities building the trunk roads. The lateral roads are left to the county to build. Anybody can see that it is almost an impossible task for the county to build and pay for all the lateral roads. It is even more than the county could do in a generation to build all the fills and the bridges that would be necessary to get rid of the particularly bad places in the roads here and there.

To my mind, it would be a very gracious and commendable thing for the people to organize themselves on the community road working plan and supplement the work that the county is able to do and pay for, in the same manner that a similar situation has been very effectively aided here in DeKalb County.

When the people of a community get together and determine just what place in the road they shall work, and the day or days for the working, they advertise it in the newspapers and by circulars, whereupon, they find that the business interests of the town which they reach by such road are glad to join them in the work. In this way Fort Payne, Collinsville and Valley Head merchants and business men on many occasions last summer actually took picks, shovels, teams, tractors, etc., and helped work the roads leading into these towns.

I realize quite well that there are no mountain gaps in Chilton County like those we have in DeKalb. I have always heard that well-known place on the Lock 12 Road referred to as the "Gap" of the mountain, but it is nothing like what we call "gaps" here.

But there are bad places in the roads of Chilton County, obstacles which are just as obstructive to traffic as the "gaps" would be. For instance, there are swamps and low places where fills need to be built or bridges constructed.

Now, for instance, we will take the roads which lead into Clanton, Thorsby, Jemison, Maplesville, Verbena, or some other town in Chilton County, where they cross one of the many swamps or low places. By the DeKalb County plan, the people on one of those roads who travel that road to town, would set a day to come together and build a fill across some one of the swamps. They would appoint a committee of the citizens to advertise the fact and go to the town to be reached by that road and secure pledges from the business people and merchants of the town to help on the project. The people of the town could donate a day's work, a team, or tractor for a day, or a cash contribution, as might be most convenient or suitable for them.

This committee would also get in touch with the county road authorities in whose district or Beat the project lies, and arrange for county machinery, trucks, tractors, graders, or whatever other assistance the county might be willing and able to furnish for the occasion.

When this committee has seen that every phase of the preliminary organization has been arranged the day comes for the working. The assembly of men, teams, plows, wagons, tractors, scrapes, etc., is all concentrated, the work all divided up into sections, with a competent overseer for each section, and in the day or two days time there may be done a piece of work that will forever be of untold benefit to all who may have occasion to travel that way.

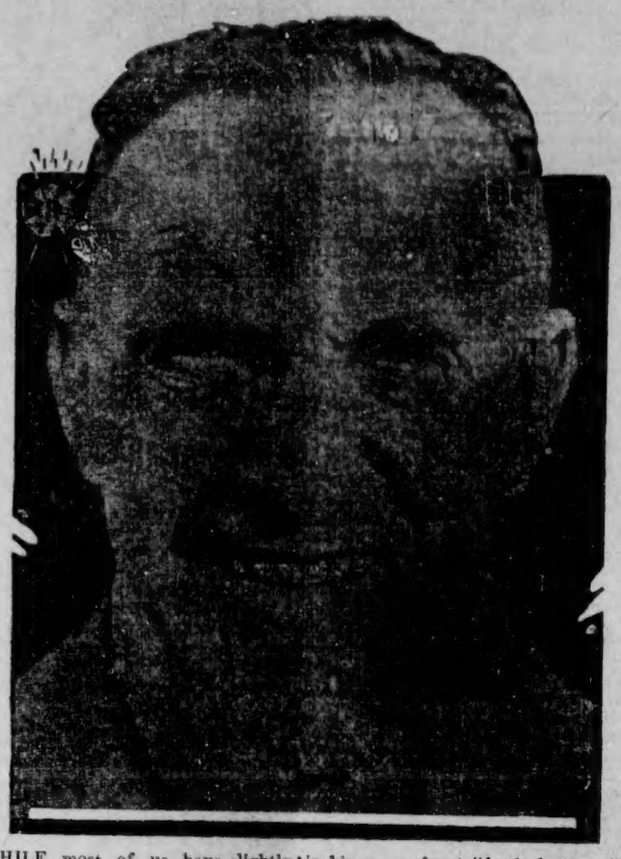
I would predict that if one project of this kind were put over in Chilton County, there would be other communities that would catch inspiration; and there would be many bad swamp roads converted into good fills and bridges before this summer is over.

I know that the people of the rural sections and towns of Chilton County are as patriotic and as ready to co-operate with one-another for the common good as any people on earth. All they need is for somebody to start the ball to rolling.

There is a great future for road improvement just around the corner for Chilton County. The county road officials are getting things organized on a plan that is worthy of the wholehearted co-operation of every citizen. If the people will adopt something like the DeKalb County plan and get right in the harness and help, the results will be most gratifying to all, I am sure.

I would like to write much more on this subject, but fear my article is already too long. I hope what I have said will cause some community in Chilton County to try the DeKalb County plan this summer. The best way to find out what it will do is to try it. It will not build roads for you to read about it any more than you will get good roads by waiting for the State Highway department to build them. Try it. Put some pep behind it. Get the county officers and the town officers behind it, and I will guarantee there will be more than one community road building held this summer.

A GENUINE "SPARKLING SMILE"



WHILE most of us have lightly spoken of "wishing to get a few thousand dollars in our fingers"—look who's here. Here's a man—James London of Toronto, Canada, who has not a few but many thousands of dollars—in his teeth! The money is represented in those six great sparkling diamonds you see set in his upper front "food choppers."

And, so the story goes, it is hard to believe that Mr. London landed on this continent some years ago with only $7.50 in his pockets. The fortune he has made since gave him the opportunity for satisfying his whim for a "glittering smile." And he sure has that.

that brief period our country has enjoyed the greatest moral and material advancement in all history. This has been brought about largely under Republican rule. And at no time have the problems of government been more wisely and effectively met than during the last three years.

"Our party has always stood for constructive progress. It has always endeavored to promote the welfare of the average man. It has always adhered to America's best traditions, both in domestic and foreign affairs. We are here now to pledge anew our faith in American institutions, and to name the next president and vice-president of the United States."

Immediately a band struck into the "Star Spangled Banner," the lights went off and a rose and violet radiance was shed over the hall. From the back of the stage with multi-colored lights playing on it, dropped another huge American flag. There was a round of applause as the band finished and the lights went on again.

Then with John Philip Sousa, the famous bandmaster, wielding the baton, the band struck up the "Stars and Stripes Forever," while sergeants at arms and other supernumeriaries dashed hither and yon getting the stage set for the formal picture.

The floor presented a busy picture with delegates milling around finding their seats and shaking hands with friends and acquaintances. It was more like old time week than a hectic political meeting. Secretary Mellon was the center of the little throng and in the space of a few minutes probably shook more hands than he does in a week in Washington.

The gavel fell again and Adams introduced to the gathering the Right Rev. Wm. F. Anderson of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who delivered a prayer. He spoke at length giving thanks for the great leaders of the past and asking Divine guidance for the future. It was one of the longest prayers that ever opened a national convention. "Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget, lest we forget," he concluded.

The convention delegates, 1,009 of them, will nominate Calvin Coolidge for the presidency, select a running mate for him from among a score of candidates, adopt a platform over which there is little real fighting, and then go home, having done in three days what in other conventions it has taken days and nights of turmoil and strife to accomplish.

There has been no convention like it in 20 years—since 1904—when the Republicans marched quietly to Chicago and nominated Theodore Roosevelt, another man called into the White House by the whim of an inscrutable fate, and then so solidified himself there that his party had little choice but to carry on with him.

Then more music. Under the leadership of a singing master, an innovation introduced four years ago by Will H. Hays, the present day movie czar, the convention stood and sang "America."

A lot of time was occupied with the taking of the convention photograph. The aisles had to be cleared and delegates made to stay in their seats, and this represented a considerable undertaking. The national committee had been liberal in the distribution of assistant sergeants at arms, apparently for there was almost as many officials on the floor as delegates and alternates.

The flashlight exploded with the proportions of a French Seventy-Five. The hall was so large that a cap of powder had to be used to get the picture.

It was 11:20 when Adams finally stalked out again and presented the pudgy figure of George D. Lockwood, secretary of the national committee, who read the official call, just to make everything legal and traditional.

GENERAL DAWES TO RUN WITH COOLIDGE ON G. O. P. TICKET

"Hell Maria" Is Chosen After Lowden Refuses to Accept the Nomination.

Cleveland, June 12.—Coolidge and Dawes are the republican ticket for 1924.

The silent President has been hooked up with the man who sprang overnight into fame by going up to Congress one day and "cussing it out" to its face.

Brig. Gen. Charles Dawes of Illinois, was nominated on the third ballot at the Cleveland convention after Frank O. Lowden had refused the honor which was handed to him during a stampede in the afternoon session. Dawes, one of Pershing's right hand men in France, had recently won international prominence on his work in revising the settlement of the reparations problem.

When the convention re-assembled leaders decided to give both Dawes and Hoover a ride, to see which appealed most to the delegates.

Keep Own Tally

William M. Butler sat at a small desk on the platform with two pairs of glasses on his nose keeping his own little talley. There were indications that at least Secretary Slemp leaned toward Hoover because the southern delegates—Alabama, Arizona, Florida, Georgia and Mississippi—voted for the secretary of commerce.

New York, Pennsylvania and Illinoins gave Hoover trifling votes going almost solid in each instance to Dawes. Dawes went over when Texas was reached on the call of states in alphabetical order.

At the conclusion of the ballot, the delegates voted to declare the nomination unamously. When Texas cast her 23 votes for Dawes his total was 566, about a dozen more than he needed.

Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, mounting the rostrum, declared: "I have no doubt that Coolidge and Dawes will march to victory in November."

The chair recognized Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania and he mounted the platform. Pepper presented a resolution and moved appointment of Frank W. Mondell, permanent chairman, to head the committee to notify Mr. Coolidge of the nomination and to name Representative Theodore Burton, Ohio, the keynoter, to head the committee to notify Brigadier General Dawes. While these formalities were going on delegates gathered up their standards and prepared for a march of victory around the hall.

Miss Wagoner had already been there before but had been back home on a visit.

CARTER-CAPELL WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT MADE

The following wedding announcement will be of considerable interest to the people of and near Clanton, as well as other parts of the State. The announcement reads:

The friends of Rev. P. G. Carter in Chilton county are very numerous. During his pastorship of the Clanton Baptist Church, Rev. Carter became acquainted with hosts of people in Chilton county, all of whom loved and admired him. The announcement of the marriage of this splendid little preacher to Miss Capell will be of much interest to Rev. Carter's friends here, all of whom join in congratulations and wishing them much happiness of married life.

TO BUILD A GRAVEL ROAD TO MARBURY

Bids will be opened at the State Highway Department July 10 for a gravel project from the Roy Bridge, over the Alabama river in Montgomery county, to Marbury, in Autauga county, a distance of 29 miles. The highway commission some time ago voted to spend up to $50,000 in putting this stretch of the road which is part of the old Birmingham-Montgomery highway, in condition. The counties of Montgomery, Elmore and Autauga have agreed to maintain the road after it has been put in condition by the State.

PRESIDENT CALVIN COOLIDGE

Calvin Coolidge was nominated on the first ballot as the Republican candidate for President of the United States at the Republican National Convention in Cleveland, Ohio, last Wednesday. Mr. Coolidge received 1,063 votes, Robert M. LaFollette 34, and Hiram Johnson 10. Only 556 votes were necessary to nominate.

Coolidge's Frugal Life Shows That Wealth Is Not Sole Index of Success

Spendthrifts Astounded By His Living In Half of Rented House At $35 a Month.

(Mark Sullivan in the B'ham News)

Washington, June 14.—There will be a renewed flood now of information about Coolidge—articles about his public career and his private personality, his tastes, his ideals, his points of view, his background in Massachusetts and Vermont. The intention of the present article, however, is merely to cover one angle of Coolidge which seems, indeed, to go as far as any single phase of a man's personality can toward explaining the predominating characteristic of his attitude as president.

We are in a time of changing standards about money. The income tax law takes a larger share of the inheritances that rich men try to pass on to their heirs than ever before. The new federal income inheritance tax, added to the local inheritance tax exacted by some states, will take more than half the fortunes of some rich men when they die—after taking more than half of their incomes while they live.

It isn't done under the pressure of war. It isn't a levy on capital for an emergency of national defense. It is done more than five years after the war is over.

And a remarkable fact about it is that many rich men in the Senate voted for their increase in inheritance taxes, and many rich men outside the Senate assented to it, from a point of view that was partly personal. They felt and said that it is not good for children to inherit too much.

The "Glass Pocket"

Morover, the new income tax law introduces for the first time the institution of the "glass pocket." The amount of tax a man pays, and by a mathematical inference the amount of money he has and makes, is going to be in one degree or another public. Each man's neighbors are going to know his fortune, his profits and his annual income.

Out of this and some other tendencies there are going to be social and economic results too large to discuss here. Nevertheless, let us say in passing that this is but one more of many evidences that America is in a furiously rapid course of evolution, a course which few recognize, toward a destination the still fewer understand.

The one aspect of the nature of our income tax and inheritance laws, both federal and state, and of the prevailing attitude of the government toward both public and private money is that thrift, saving, economy, is not prized. On the contrary, economy in government is on the defensive. Those who fight for it do not generally succeed. In the recent Congress there were many issues affording opportunity for a direct line-up between those who stood for economy and those who stood for increased expenditure. In the great majority of these issues those who stood for economy lost. The same is well known to be true about most legislatures.

Economy Frowned Upon

Not only that, economy in private life, thrift and saving as a fundamental part of the individual philosophy of life, is not in high standing. The proof of that is equally abundant. A single detail of the proof is the practice of Henry Ford in soliciting persons to buy his automobiles on the installment plan—soliciting persons who can save as little as $5 a week to spend that $5 on one of his automobiles.

To an older generation of Americans this would have seemed all wrong. A man who was without enough money to buy a Ford automobile, even a second-hand one, and whose income is so small that he can save only $5 a week, would have been encouraged under an older American point of view to put such narrow savings as this into the savings bank and ultimately into a home.

Now the point of view of Coolidge toward all this is distinctly that of the older American generation. He is for economy in government. That more than any other one thing is the outstanding feature of his record. And his public attitude about economy in government is a part of his private attitude toward money and part of his personal philosophy of life.

Has Little Money

The fact that Coolidge has little money has been one of the conspicuous facts of his career. During all that period when the public was becoming acquainted with this new figure in our national life this aspect of Coolidge kept coming out in the papers. The fact that when he was governor of Massachusetts he refrained from having a pretentious house, and lived in one room in a Boston hotel, leaving his family at their little home in Northampton was constantly discussed.

Many persons regarded Coolidge's lack of money, or rather the fact that Coolidge had not been a money-maker as a reason why his capacity should be looked on with doubt.

When Coolidge was beginning to be talked about as a presidential possibility the writer has had, more times than he can remember, the experience of important men saying, in effect:

"But how can this man be a big man—he has never earned over $2,000 or $3,000 in his life!"

Men reluctant to admit that Cool-

REYNOLDS RETURNS FROM NATIONAL CONVENTION

Judge L. H. Reynolds returned last Saturday from the Republican National Convention at Cleveland, Ohio, where he was a delegate most all last week. The judge reports that he had a grand time at the national convention. He says that this was the biggest and smoothest gathering of big men which he had ever had the pleasure of attending. Judge Reynolds says that everything in the convention was for Coolidge, teeth and toe nail. Of course, LaFollette and Johnson were there with their little radical and insurgent forces, but they were no more than blowing against the wind in that august gathering of Republicans. It is something wonderful how Mr. Coolidge has gained the favor of public sentiment in this country during the few months which he has been at the head of our government.

DRAINAGE MEETING LAST MONDAY NIGHT

According to the call issued two weeks ago, a meeting in the interest of draining the swamps around Clanton was held at the court house in Clanton Monday night. Mr. Guy A. Hart, the government drainage engineer was present and made a thorough explanation of the plans and procedures of the dredging business. The crowd in attendance was rather small, but those who were there manifested quite a bit of interest in the undertaking.

Mr. Hart pointed out that the action of the supreme court in declaring the drainage law of Alabama invalid had greatly hampered the drainage work in the State, and that under the present status it was difficult for a project like ours to be launched. However, a petition for rehearing has been filed with the supreme court, which renders the law still in effect, and those who have cause to know say that there is a possibility of the court reversing its decision when it meets again in August or September.

It was virtually agreed by the meeting that the work of having the district here surveyed and the cost of the project ascertained be gone into in the near future, and probably by that time it will be known for certain what will be done with the state law. Of course, as Mr. Hart explained in his speech, if the supreme court holds on to its decision and still declares the law unconstitutional, some other provisions will be made whereby the drainage work in Alabama may be carried on.

At this meeting an interesting and pointed talk was made by Dr. V. J. Gragg regarding the need of drainage here and the possible advantages which would be derived from it. There are spots of land right here within half a mile of Clanton where the foot of man has never ventured unless it was the Indians, due to the fact that it is so marshy and so thickly vegetated with reed, water grass and flag and inhabited by snakes, frogs, mud turtles and other crocodiles. There are three to five thousand acres of the best land in the county now in these marshy swamps and which would be transformed into excellent farming land should this drainage be done.

If one will look back to last autumn and the autumn before, when the creeks were almost dry and the whole air was filled with these pesky mosquitoes, you can readily see the need of the drainage of our swamps. Soms folks around near these filthy marshy ponds were almost compelled to leave their homes at night and turn them over to the hungry, sizzing and uninvited visitors, rather than stay there and have their epidermis punctured a thousand and one times by the probosces of these greedy little insects. This kind of business will be duplicated every year so long as our swamps remain undrained. And too, the germs of malaria are liable to get started here any time, and when they do the like of malaria fever as has never before been here will be in the midst of us.

So, we for one say, let's launch the drainage project right now and put our community on the road to better health conditions as well as to open up the best farming region in our whole county. Let's have the project surveyed this summer, and by the time the drainage law is finally settled we will be ready to get the machinery here and go to ditching these swamps.

REVIEW SOUGHT ON DRAINAGE DECISION MADE IN ALABAMA

Supreme Court Asked to Change Their Opinion Holding Law Unconstitutional.

Montgomery, Ala., June 13.—Motion for rehearing was filed in the Alabama supreme court Thursday afternoon of last week in the case appealed from Fayette county, in connection with which the supreme court in a recent decision held invalid the so-called Alabama drainage act. The style of the case on appeal is J. N. Collins, Judge, etc., vs. J. S. Hollis.

Motion for rehearing which was filed by Judge T. C. McClellan, Attorney General Harwell G. Davis, S. T. Wright, W. W. Monroe and Judge J. J. Mayfield, is based on the following grounds:

That the court erred in deciding that assessments for local purposes or betterment taxes for drainage purposes is a tax or taxation within the meaning, purview or inhibition of Section 23 or 212 of the constitution of Alabama of 1901.

That the court erred in holding that the drainage act of 1915 or the amendments thereto attempted to delegate the taxing power of the legislature to the drainage districts, its officers or agents.

That the court erred in holding that the drainage commissioners or any other officials of the drainage district provided for in the statute in question were authorized or the statute attempted to authorize them, to levy any taxes in violation of Sections 23 or 212 of the constitution.

That the court erred in deciding that the drainage commissioners or any other of its officers, agents or agencies, in exercising the authority, or in discharging the duties conferred or imposed upon them by the statute in question were levying a tax or a forced subscription for the benefit of corporations, individuals or associations, within the meaning or purview of Section 23 or 212 of the constitution.

Recreation, directed by trained athletes, is also a feature.

There are seventy-five Pastors in attendance at this session. They are being housed in the College dormitories, and are using the classrooms and library of the College.

These admirable facilities contribute much to the efficiency of the School.

"If Your Pain Is There, What You Need Is a Good Tonic For the Kidneys"

The kidneys are the scavengers and they work day and night in separating and the poisons from the blood. Their signals of distress are easily recognized and include such symptoms as lumbago, backache, depressions, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic twinges, dropsy.

People are realizing more and more every day that the kidneys, just as do the bowels, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly working, separating the poisons from the blood. Under this continual and perpetual action they are apt to congest, and then trouble starts. Uric acid backs up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances. It means that you are a victim of uric acid poisoning. Then ask your druggist for Anuric (anti uric acid) and you will very soon become one of hundreds who have been helped by this powerful enemy to uric acid.

CHILTON COUNTY TRAINING SCHOOL

Clanton, Ala., June 16, 1924.

To the Citizens of Chilton County:

The Chilton County Training School which has been recently organized and established in this county, four and quarter miles west of Clanton, for negroes, is expected to prove a wonderful asset for the community and county in general. The location could not be more ideal for the purpose for which these vocational schools are established.

Among some of the aims of this institution, are to give a higher standard of education for the negroes of Chilton county, to prepare the boys and girls for a more profitable and useful living at home on the farm; to train them in the arts of sewing, cooking, house cleaning, poultry raising, stock raising, home-building, and many other things that are brought into every day life.

Also a teachers' training course will be given to prepare young men and women for the profession of teaching, and to teach them the importance of being thrifty and honest, polite, mannerly, kind and useful to the community in which they may live.

We make this brief statement that the citizens of the town and county may have an idea of the purposes of the shool.

We also take this means to thank the public for the assistance rendered in making this school possible, exemplifying the very cordial attitude and friendly relations that exist among the citizens of the community and throughout the county.

Again thanking you for any favors shown.

Respectfully submitted,
I. B. BRYANT, Principal,
Chilton County Training School.

FORD CARS BY THE MILLION

Announcement of the Ford Motor Company that the 10,000,000th Ford car had been produced brings to light the interesting fact that these 10 million cars all are the famous Model T.

The company from its organization in June, 1903, until late in 1908 kept experimenting to determine upon a standard model. Approximately 25,000 Ford cars of different models were produced prior to the fall of 1908 when the new universally known Model T. was developed and introduced to the motor public. Popularity of the Ford Model T. is best told in the following production record by millions:

1,000,000	Dec. 10, 1915
2,000,000	June 14, 1917

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Serving a sentence at Kilby prison, working at the same job there that he filled in civilian capacity at the prison until recently, is the experience of Clayton Peeples of Capitol Heights, a suburb of Montgomery. Peeples was employed at the state penitentiary as an automobile mechanic. A month or so ago county officers raided his attractive new bungalow in Capitol Heights and secured a still, Mrs. Peeples was arrested in connection with the raid. Her husband came into court some ten days ago and told the judge that the still was his and received a sentence of a year and a day in the penitentiary. He is now at Kilby prison, working as a state prisoner at his old job of automobile mechanic, which a week ago he filled as a free citizen.

J. W. Green, locomotive engineer and legislator, of Selma, has won his fight for a judgment against the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for its act of ousting him from membership during the World War. Information arrived from Washington that the supreme court of the United States had refused to consider the appeal, holding the federal court to be without jurisdiction. As a result the labor organization must pay Mr. Green $12,500 plus the interest and penalties assessed by state law.

A third audit of the books of the public improvement department of Comptroller C. E. Armstrong's office, growing out of the shortage for which William L. Lehman, young clerk, was sent to Kilby prison, was authorized by a unanimous vote of the Birmingham city commission. The solicitor would not reveal details of the prisoner's statement or the name of the person said to be involved; but intimated the grand jury would make startling discoveries on the strength of it when it resumes its investigtion June 23.

The city of Jasper is now planning another large paving project, according to Mayor J. H. Cranford. The plan as announced by Mayor Cranford, is to pave First avenue from Nineteenth street to Twenty-second street and Second avenue from Nineteenth street to Twenty-second street; Twentieth street between Third avenue and First avenue; Twenty-first street to Third avenue and Twenty-second street between Third avenue and First avenue.

The incorporation of the Gadsden Coal and Clay Products company disclosed the fact that near the city a vein of fire clay underlying a workable seam of coal is to be developed for the operation of one of the largest brick plants in the city. The coal and clay will be taken out of the same opening, the coal to be used in burning the brick and furnishing steam for the machinery.

Two negroes, Collier Powell and William Price, were killed in a shooting affray, which took place on the Johnny Gray place about nine miles south of Eutaw. It seems that Collier Powell, William Price and Willie Williams got into a fuss over a blind tiger still, which resulted in William Price shooting Collier Powell, and in Willie Williams shooting William Price. Both died immediately.

Approximately 1,000 members of the reserve army training corps arrived in Anniston Saturday to begin their six weeks' summer training course at Camp McClellan. These are the first civilians to arrive at the local army post this year. Col. Raymond Sheldon, commander of the Eighth United States infantry, will be in charge of the R. O. T. C. camp.

W. R. Crew has been elected by the Goodwater council as town clerk, succeeding J. S. Flemming, who recently died. Only two names were placed before the body for the place. W. R. Crew and Robert Wilson, and the vote stood three for Crew and one for Wilson. Z. D. Sprayberry has resigned as chief of police of Goodwater.

The Etowah county commissioners designated one of the Bellevue Highlands streets on Lookout mountain as a public road and ordered it rebuilt from the main Fairview road to the county tuberculosis camp. This was done on the petition of a number of officers and members of the county tuberculosis association.

Denial that he was guilty of the many charges preferred against him in a grand jury indictment, was made in a public statement issued by Sheriff Guy O'Rear of Walker county. Although admitting that he may be guilty of technical violations, he declared, "I have not unjustly taken one cent from anyone."

Summer examinations of graduates of medicine seeking licenses to practice in Alabama will be held at the capitol beginning Tuesday, July 8. The number of applicants at the summer examinations will be greater than at any other period of the year.

In an effort to clear up the general freight rate readjustment being advocated in Alabama for fruits and vegetables, the Birmingham Traffic association has prepared to file two formal complaints before the state public service commission touching on rates for apples, oranges and lemons.

Hattie McClendon, negress, was given a sentence of life imprisonment in Tuscaloosa County circuit court on a charge of the murder of her infant child by administering carbolic acid to it.

COMMISSION OF FORESTRY

Owners of growing timber occasionally wonder why foresters often urge that only the mature trees be sold or cut, leaving the smaller and medium sized trees to continue their gowth. Offhand it would seem that when any part of the stand is sold it would be good business to sell everything that has a present merchantable value. There is nothing puzzling about the foresters' recommendations in this respect, however, when the owner stops to consider the rate of increase in volue in the case of the young trees as compared with those that are practically mature. All trees grow much faster during the first half of their natural life time. In other words, the number of board feet doubles itself more frequently during this early period. The owner in selling at this time liquidates his capital just when it is yielding maximum dividends. Another very important increase in value during the growing period of a tree lies in the fact that the larger trees are worth more per thousand feet. This is because they contain a larger proportion of clear timber. Thus, even if the rate of growth has began to slow up somewhat, it still pays to allow the timber to continue its growth and produce a better class of lumber material which brings a much higher price.

From Pig Iron to Pompano-

FROM PIG IRON to pompano, from shoes to satsumas—the Louisville & Nashville Railroad transports practically every known commodity and luxury from the places where they are plentiful to the places where they are scarce; thus adding to the comfort, as well as to the profit, of both the shipping and the receiving communities.

These figures showing the freight tonnage handled by the L. & N. in 1923, are interesting and instructive: 1,600,000 cars of freight—4,380 cars a day; 57,460,190 tons of freight—157,425 a day.

The reader may form some idea of the practical service being rendered to the American people by considering the articles and commodities of everyday use from the viewpoints of where the raw materials come from and where the finished products are made ready for the consumer.

Look about your home or your office; turn the subject over in your mind when you sit down to dinner today. How many of the necessities and luxuries of life would be yours without the modern transportation systems of America—the finest and most efficient in any country on the face of the globe?

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS 1914-1924

With a view to creating dissatisfaction in the ranks of agriculture, the Democrats persist in their assertion that exports of farm products, under the Republican tariff law, are way below what they used to be and that Republican policies are therefore to blame for the waning foreign market for farm and merchandise. This must be characterized as a bald falsehood. The Democrats make comparison with exports during the war time years, which of course, were far above normal, but they carefully refrain from citing the pre-war figures. In the last two years Europe, which has always been our cheif purcaser of farm and cattle products, has returned to the normal production of grains and other foodstuffs. Nevertheless, our exports of these goods far exceed what they did a decade ago both in volume and value. In some instances the Democrats admit value increases, but they deny volume increases, are due solely to rises in price. Let us compare some of the volume exports for the ten months period ended 1914, and April, 1924, taken from the official figures:

Meats increased from 392,000,000 to 893,000,000 pounds; animal oils and fats (not including fish oils, etc.) from 575,600,000 to 1,100,000,000 pounds; butter from 3,000,000 to 4,400,000 pounds; cheese from 2,000,000 to 3,250,000 pounds; milk, fresh and prepared, from 13,500,000 to 190,000,000 pounds; eggs from 14,000,000 to 28,000,000 dozen; hides and skins from 17,000,000 to 63,000,000 pounds. These are some of the animal products.

Barley, bushels, 5,600,000 to 10,250,000; corn 7,900,000 to 18,600,00; wheat 78,000,000,000 to 71,000,000; rice, pounds, 15,000,000 to 183,300,000; rye, bushels, 1,300,000 to 12,000,000; corn meal, barrels, 263,000 to 416,500; oatmeal, pounds 11,000,000 to 133,000,000; rye flour, barrels, 6,400 to 350,000; and wheat flour 10,000,000 to 15,000,000; and a large increase in grain preparations for table food.

Values only are shown in many of the vegetable articles, so volume comporisons are not available, but the value of the exports in the 1924 period was 5,400,000 and in 1924 it was $15,600,000; dried fruits, lbs., 137,000,000 to 291,500,000; canned fruits $4,700,000 to $15,250,000; huge increases in fresh fruits all along the line. Total value of fruit exoorts increased from $28,000,000 to $77,000,000.

Taking some of the staple items and we have cotton, pounds 4,406,000,000; cigarettes two to 10 billion. we received $567,000,000 for these exports, and in 1924 the bill came to $821,000,000. Tobacco, unmanufactured, pounds, 394,000,000 to 500,000,000; cigarettes two to 10 billion. Refined sugar, pounds, 43,000,000,000 to 154,000,000. Cornstarch, lbs. 64,000,000 to 214,000,000.

Enough has been said to show the enormous volume increases in our export trade of agricultural products, 1924 over 1914. If we take the volume of all the farm products exported in the 1924 period, including tobacco, and manufacturers thereof, we reach a total of $835,000,000; while the same items for 1924 period reached a total value of $1,800,000,00. With the exception of tobacco manufacturers, which increased from $6,000,000 to $21,000,000, the items cited are direct farm products. If we add to these the indirect produces, such as cotton textiles, leather goods, and the thousand and one things our mills fabricate from American farm production, the comparison wiuld be even more impressive. The Democratic party can not get away with the buncimbe that exports are less now than before the war. The figures completely refute them.

THE CORINTH SINGING

Recess, 15 minutes. After recess, Rev. J. D. Hughes preached one of the best sermons it has been the writer's privilege to hear; text Luke 2:44.

After noon the following persons sung three songs each: Lee Robinson, J. F. Dubose, W. A. Cleckler, Archie Jones, J. S. Castleberry, J. W. Cagle and I. S. Holland. Organists, L. F. Cleckler, C. H. THE MAPLE SPRINGS SINGING

The audience was called to order at 10 o'clock by O. L. Devaughn, the local choir director. After a song by Prof. Devaughn, the pastor, Rev. W. H. Wilson, led the congregation in prayer.

The class was then duly organized for the day's service by electing Prof. O. L. Devaughn chairman for the day and J. Z. Mims secretary. Prof. Devaughn directed several selections while the program committee was arranging for the forenoon. The directors before dinner were: L. T. Grant, J. R. Robinson, O. L. Devaughn, J. Z. Mims and R. T. Grant. The directors in the afternoon were: S. M. Yates, L. T. Grant, L. H. Henderson, Curtis Hand, R. T. Grant and O. L. Devaughn. There were two quartets beautifully rendered by the Devaughns and Grants.

Just before the closing song, a short and pointed talk was given by the pastor. After the closing song the audience was dismissed by Rev. J. E. George.

As a whole, the day was a grand success, although the class was very small, compared with the usual class at an all day singing at this place, the class did some good singing which was or seemed to be enjoyed by many earnest listeners.

The organists for the day were: Miss Macie Adams, Mrs. Leatha Sorrell, Miss Jewell McDowell and Mrs. Toy Devaughn.

Yours for more singing and better singing,

O. L. DEVAUGHN, Chm.,
J. Z. MIMS, Secy.

MILK OR BEER?

The strike of the brewery workers in Berlin develops the fact that four cars of beer are consumed in that city every hour and that the brewers are losing $500,000 daily because of the strike. Congress having turned down the gift of $10,000,000 of taxpayers' money to Germany, possibly some of the money spent on beer in Germany might be devoted to the purchase of milk and fats for the German children, as was contemplated had we made the gift.

SOVIET BREAD

Senator Copeland of New York runs true to Democratic form. He believes in letting the government do it. In closing a recent address in the Senate on conditions in city and country he said:

"Agriculture has come to the edge of the precipice. The masses in the cities have come to the breaking point. In short, the individual food producer and the individual food consumer can take no further step without disaster. Sole hope of assistance lies in government."

A COMMON MAN FOR PRESIDENT

In political circles, national, state and county, the question is often raised, Can a man of modest means and limited finance be entrusted with high public office? There has grown, to some extent, in this country the idea that such a man cannot succeed at the head of public affairs, but that men ought to be elected to office who have made for themselves lots of money and enviable records as business men.

But the country is kindly undergoing a revolution in this one respect, and especially as regards the money part of it. Calvin Coolidge is a man of little financial strength, but his ability as chief executive of the United States and his shrewdness in mastering the big political and governmental questions of the times have sprung up almost as if by magic, science fate thrust that horor upon him only a few months ago. The Coolidge family for generations back has been a modest one, even as the President and his immediate family are today. They have never coveted high standing among aristocracy, neither have they aspired to great wealth.

This country is beginning to realize that a family can be too wealthy for its own good. Boys and girls reared up in lavishness, in too many instances, are worthless if not detrimental to their country, while those who are compelled by necessity to work realize what there is in the world worth obtaining, and they go after it. It is too often the case with folks that unless there is some necessity for work, they will neglect it to the extent that their faculties for work actually become inactive.

President Coolidge was reared on a farm in Vermont, and his father still works on that farm. The President keeps his boys working on the farm a good portion of the time, holding on to the old adage that work makes the man and lavishness makes the sluggard.

They're Off—In a Cloud of Dust!

GASTON MEANS FOR POLITICAL ENDS

Washington, D. C., June 16, 1924. —The notoriously bad reputation of the witnesses and the utter worthlessness of the testimony upon which the Wheeler Committee has depended in its attempt to smirch the characters of prominent officials has finally disgusted even the leaders of the Democratic press to such an extent as to arouse their protest. Republicans have generally been willing to let the investigation proceed with little comment, so that if there be any truth in the charges that truth can be made known. Although a few witnesses have been called who were of good character, their testimony was of no consequence. The men and women upon whom the committee rests its case have admittedly been party to crimes or so closely connected that any presumption of innocence is absurd.

Morover, the chief witness, Gaston B. Means, has told stories so incredible that no jury would accept them. He related many alleged facts which he said would se substantiated by his records, but about the time when he would be called upon to produce the records, he came forward with the claim that some one had secured them from him by use of a forged letter. Posing as one of the shrewd? est detectives in the United States, he claims to have been duped at just the right moment to relieve him of the need to prove his assertions. Senator Wheeler is a Democrat, and, naturally, the Democratic press would like to uphold his investigative activities. As one of many instances of repudiation of the Wheeler methods may be cited the Atlanta Constitution, which recently said editorially:

"The testimony, 'under oath,' of this same Means, who has been the Senate prosecutors' star witness throughout the gamut of invesigations that have come out of the political brain-storm that has gripped Washington since, the presidential year dawned, ran the sweep of the North American continent.

"This is the same Means who was tried and acquitted of the murder of a Mrs. King, his rich benefactress, in Concord, N. C., and who subsequently attempted to secure possession of a portion of her estate.

"He is the same Means who has boasted 'under oath' of his connection with transactions in Washington that his own testimony has indicted as shady, if not criminal.

"He is the same Means who is under indictment in New York today for a serious federal offense. He admitted on the witness stand that he has unsettled grudges against men who come under the ban of his indictments.

"He has not supported one charge that he has made with even reasonable documentary evidence, nor has he offered any proof other than his own words, under an oath made by one whose record in the criminal courts of this country do not establish either good character or unimpeachable veracity.

"It is a shame that there are Senators who would blacken the lives of good men, and stick a dirk into the characters of unselfish officials who are serving the country ably and efficiently, as is Secretary Mellon, by such unsupported testimony.

"It shows the depths to which political footballing has degenerated in this country."

Mr. Alphus Downs and family of Birmingham were visitors to relatives Saturday night and Sunday.

PROTECTION GIVES US THE MONEY

Washington, D. C., June 16, 1924. —Proving too much is often the fatal mistake of the advocate of a bad cause. It is a mistake often made by the opponents of protection. Not long ago we had an illustration of that in the case of a British manufacturer who was urging free trade for England and who admitted that he had established factories in a number of protective countries. That admission was conclusive proof of the effectiveness of the protective countries. That admission was conclusive proof of the effectiveness of the protective laws in those countries, for protection secured factories and payrolls for them.

Recently we had a similar illustration in the United States. Opponents of protection issued a pamphlet in which the statement was made that the women of America do the buying for the 25,000,000 families in this country and that they spend for food, clothing, furnishings, etc., about $40,000,000,000 a year, or about $1600 per family. Of course the free trade advocates were trying to give the women the impression that under free trade they would need to spend less.

But that is not the conclusion the women will draw. They will reflect upon the fact, as told to them by the free traders, that they have this enormous sum to spend—and this is the only country in the world where so much money per family is available for spending. And that condition has been reached under a protective system. The women of the country will not take kindly to the suggestion that the tariff system be changed for one that might greatly reduce the amount they have to spend.

"The existence of a low tariff law from 1913 to 1922 does not alter the truth of the statement that our amazing prosperity was developed under a protective system. From 1860 to 1893 we were continuously under a protective system. We had four years of low tariff and hard times during the Cleveland Administration, and then protection until 1913, when the Underwood law was passed. For a few months that law was effective, and some four million men lost their jobs, but the outbreak of the war shut out imports more effectively than any protective tariff, and created new markets for our products. By the time normal conditions began to return, following the war, a new Republican tariff was enacted—in 1922. So the fact is that with the exception of a short time, this country has developed its industries under protection. And that system has given the women of the country, so the free traders tell them, an average of $1600 per family to spend.

Of course, the opponents of protection want the women to get the idea that they could get more for their money if they would throw down the tariff bars and buy goods made in Japan, in China, in England, in Germany, in France, and elsewhere on the continent of Europe, where low standards of living and wages prevail. There are a few women who will accept that line of argument. But there are more who won't. Most women will ask, "What shall it profit me to be able to buy goods at a lower price if my husband loses his job and I have no money with which to buy?"

Losing jobs is one of the necessary incidents of the adoption of a low tariff, for the low tariff encourages imports, and, with more imports there must be less home production and less home productron means less employment, and wages cut off.

The women of the country are not going to vote their husbands out of a job—especially when the free traders tell them that under the protective system they have reached a point where they have, on an average, $1600 per family to spend.

WHERE WOULD YOU GO?

Suppose you were an ax murderer or porch climber, where would you go? Why you would drop up to the big city of Birmingham and play your trade or profession.

If you were an addict of morphine, cocaine and other drugs, or wanted to dispense them, you would go over to Montgomery, where you could find plenty of customers and reap a harvest as dispenser.

If you were a prohibition enforcement officer, or represented the secret service of the government, you would drop down to the Gulf City of Mobile and form you a bootlegging ring and mop up a fortune among the suckers of that port city.

If you wanted to "roll 'em higher" and bather in the waters of Mobile Bay and the Gulf of Mexico, you would just cross over the bay and join the single taxers or some other organization.

If you wanted to be a policeman, there was a time when you would have gone down to Selma in the black belt, but now you would go up in the Northern part of the county and learn sure enough "hill billy" politics.

If you want to learn how to fight, just go to Bessemer and you will soon fight your best friend.

If you want to be fed and treated like a Wall Street banker, we would go right down to Aliceville, in Pickens county, where they will put you on a Brunswick in a few hours.

If we wanted to learn the traffic laws, we would move either to West Blocton or Marion, as neither town has enough automobile traffic to learn the traffic regulations.

If we wanted to meet the cleverest lot of two salaried state officials that can be found outside of the penitentiary, we would go right over to Goat Hill and mingle with the boys. They know how to take it going and coming.

If you want to get in the asylum, move over to Tuscaloosa. The price they are asking for real estate will soon convince you that they are all crazy.

If we wanted a little "white lightning," we would go over in Chilton, where they guarantee not to use any devil lye in the manufacturing business.

If we wanted to sleep, we would stop off between trains at Maplesville.

If we wanted to know all of the hooks and crooks of the country, we would take the law examination.

If we wanted to be a law unto ourselves, and handle the state funds as we pleased, we would join the State Medical society, where your mistakes are never told.

If we were not afraid of the Ku Klux, we would tell you what we would do if we lived in Centerville. But blackberries and plums will soon be ripe, and we may make it through until fall when the average fellow wants to pay his subscription, and where every fellow loves his neighbor and all live in brotherly love and unity.—Centerville Press.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Miller returned to their home near Mobile on Tuesday after visiting here for several days.

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL METHODS approved by Field & Government Experts

Insects are just about the worst agricultural people to face, a writer for a farm publication has declared, and certainly there is no insect problem facing a farmer that it more serious than the boll weevil problem to the cotton farmer, unless he applies correct and proven methods of control. It is impossible to eradicate the boll weevil, it is believed, but by the use of the government method of poisoning with calcium arsenate the insect can be controlled and a profitable crop made.

It will pay to poison, experts say, if the weevils are injuring the crop seriously; if the land is sufficiently fertile to yield at least one third of a bale to the acre with weevil injury eliminated; if the farming organization is such that applications of poison at the right time and in the right manner are assured, and if the farmer is willing to spend the amount necessary to provide an adequate supply of dusting machinery and poison.

One pre-square poison application should be made wherever twenty or more boll weevils appear on an acre of young cotton, scientists say. The treatment should be applied at the first indication of squaring. Home mixed molasses-calcium arsenate mixture applied with a mop to the tips of the plants, or straight calcium arsenate in dust form applied either by machine or shaking the dust from a sack, are recommended at this stage.

The usual formula for the molasses mixture is as follows: 1 pound of calcium arsenate, 1 gallon of molasses, 1 gallon of water, or with extremely heavy infestation and with frequent rains, a stronger mixture containing 2 pounds of calcium arsenate, 1 gallon of table quality syrup and ½ gallon of water. The latter may give quicker and better control. Syrup should always be sweet or unfermented and the mixture should be applied within twenty four hours after mixing.

For the treatment of fruiting cotton the calcium arsenate dusting method is recommended in preference to late season applications of syrup mixtures or other liquid poisons yet tested. Dusting should begin when 10 per cent of the squares show weevil puncture and at least three applications of 5 to 7 pounds per acre should be given at four and five day intervals. Thereafter dust should be applied only as when needed to keep the infestation below 20 per cent until after a full crop of bolls has been set and become grown. Only machinery built especially for dusting cotton should be used.

Visiting Nurses Carry On Intensive Health Campaigns To Save Coming Generation

EFFORTS to reduce the excessive death rate from maternal mortality in the United States will continue during the coming year, according to a report read by Haley Fiske, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, at the annual convention. During 1923, 100,000 maternity cases among Metropolitan policy-holders, received the care of public health nurses, either working directly for the company or under arrangement with local health associations.

The report revealed the fact that an average of 20,000 mothers die each year from causes incidental to childbirth. In order to reduce this rate, the company is carrying on an intensive prenatal service. Visiting nurses see the expectant mother once a month from the time a case is reported until confinement. Following the birth of a child, both mother and baby are cared for daily for eight days. If complications develop, the nurse is privileged to make closer observations of the case.

An important feature of the work is the education given mothers regarding their own health and the health of infants. They are instructed to keep in close touch with a physician during pregnancy and to make ample provision for good obstetrical service at confinement.

New York City leads the country in low mortality due to child bearing. The average in that city is five deaths for each thousand mothers, while the general rate is eight for each thousand.

Nursing associations and other agencies throughout the country are co-operating with the company in its campaign.

COOLIDGE DEFENDED THE BUDGET

The Congress which recently closed its first session has been chiefly notable for its practical scrapping of the budget law. Guided as it was by a coalition of Democrats and radicals intent only on manufacturing political capital with which to beat the Republicans at the fall elections, the recommendations of the Budget were thrown to the winds and legislation carrying huge additional appropriations was passed, largely as a bid for votes. Fortunately President Coolidge, through the courageous use of the veto power, was able to kill two of the major raids upon the Treasury. The general pension increase bill, carrying an added tax burden of some $90,000,000 annually, and the postal pay increase, seeking to load $68,000,000 more on to the tax-payers, were disapproved by Mr. Coolidge and Congress fafiled to pass them over his veto. The bonus bill also met with Executive disapproval, but became a law despite it. However, there were funds available to care for that obligation, and the Treasury estimated that, even with the drastic cut in revenue made by the new tax law, there would be no deficit for at least a year. Numerous other appropriation measures, large and small, not contemplated by the Budget, have been enacted or are awaiting further attention when Congress reconvenes in December. The net result when final adjournment comes on March 4, next, will see Congressional approval of expenditures exceeding the Budget by hundreds of milloins of dollars. The taxpayers' hope lies in President Coolidge, who can be depended upon not to relax the vigilant guard of the Treasury which he has exhibited ever since he entered the White House.

NEW AGRICULTURAL ERA FORECAST

Montgomery, Ala.—(Special)—What agricultural economists regard as the possible beginning of a new era in Southern farming was inaugurated recently when the converted steam plant owned by the Alabama Power Company and dedicated by them to the cause of boll weevil control began production of calcium arsenate according to the newly discovered process of electrolytic precipitation. Officials of the Gulf States Chemical & Refining Company, operators of the plant, expressed themselves as delighted with the first day's production of three tons which, according to J. A. Moore, President of the Company, is sufficient to exterminate or control the boll weevil on 1,200 acres of cotton. "The first day's production," said Mr. Moore "is but a fraction of the daily capacity which will be delivered when the plant is under full operating control and manufacturing processes become synchronized."

The manufactured product is said to equal in every way that prepared by the inventors using laboratory methods and is of such purity that it may be used not only as a boll weevil destroyer but on fruit trees, in gardens and on other plants which formerly required lead arsenate, a more expensive insecticide but one less harsh than calcium arsenate produced by former methods.

The electrolytic process was discovered two years ago by A. M. Kennedy, at that time a member of the engineering staff of the Alabama Power Company and a former close associate of Thomas A. Edison in chemical work. Mr. Kennedy became impressed with the need of an adequate supply of a poison which would facilitate boll weevil extermination or control. Calcium arsenate, is considered to be the only effective poison yet discovered for the South's cotton scourge, but its manufacture by acid methods was cumbersome and the resulting product was not uniform and frequently contained traces of free acid which burned the plants. Mr. Kennedy had spent the greater portion of his life in the study of electrochemistry and conceived the idea of producing calcium arsenate by electrolysis to yield a product free from harmful ingredients and of specific composition. He acquainted officials of the Alabama Power Company with his ideas and received their enthusiastic support, President Thomas W. Martin placing at his disposal all necessary resources for carrying out the work.

Mr. Kennedy perfected the principles of his process, later enlisting the aid of Dr. Stewart J. Loyd, head of the Department of Chemistry at the University of Alabama, who assisted him in making his ideas practicable. Numerous experiments were performed in the State, and later the Power Company secured the cooperation of the General Electric Company who extended to the inventors the facilities of their laboratories at Schenectady where the Kennedy-Loyd process, as it is now known, was perfected.

Realizing the immediate need for tremendously increased production of calcium arsenate in the South, and wishing to place a superior product at once in the hands of the farmers, the inventors, through the influence of Power Company officials, enlisted the aid of J. A. Moore, Jr., President of the Gulf States Chemical and Refining Company who agreed to bring about practical application of their discovery.

Immediate action was necessary to bring out the new product in sufficient quantity to combat the boll weevil during the season of 1924, and realising the futility of attempting to construct a new plant in time to produce the poison during this year, Mr. Moore some months ago appealed to the Power Company who placed at the disposal of his concern, free of charge for a period of years, a steam plant with full equipment which had been acquired by the Alabama Power Company at the time the Montgomery utilities were taken over. Then followed a period of feverish work in which forces of the Power Company joined hands with those of the Chemical concern in the task of converting the plant from a power producer to a boll-weevil death-mill. Conversion was completed recently and the smoothness of performance in producing today's output is ample evidence of the thoroughness of the transformation.

J. A. Moore, President of the Gulf States Company, explained that it is the purpose of his Company to develop further the production of calcium arsenate and other arsenical insecticides through their research department in such manner that production costs can be materially lowered, all of which will react to the ultimate good of the Southern farmer and orchardist. "The location of this plant in Montgomery" said Mr. Moore "assures Southern cotton growers of a source for immediate supply of practically any quantity of calcium arsenate they may wish. Shipping facilities are good as the Gulf States Chemical and Refining Company's plant is served by several reads. Distribution has commenced, and there are enough orders already on hand to keep the plant operating full capacity for several weeks ahead."

A. M. Kennedy, inventor of the process paid high tribute to the Alabama Power Company who, he said, by providing facilities for perfecting the process and in donating the use of the factory and equipment have given to the South its greatest asset in controlling the boll weevil.

Mr. Jim Mims and children of Birmingham came down Saturday evening to visit relatives.

Little Folks Enjoy Party.

The home of Mrs. V. J. Elmore was the scene of a merry gathering of the little tots on Wednesday afternoon, when she celebrated in honor of her little daughter, Olive Ranier's third birthday anniversary, from 4 till 6 o'clock. The guests were greeted by the little hostess, who was attractively attired in a pink voile frock with lace and ribbon trimmings. Punch was served on the veranda from a baby tea table made attractive with streamers of pink crepe papers and covered with a lace cloth over pink. Animal cakes were also served. Misses Jane Roberts and Frances Taylor presided here.

Numerous juvenile games were played on the lawn. Pink glandiolas and pink verbent were in evidence throughout the apartments.

The dining rom was most attractive with a pink umbrella suspended from the ceiling and festoons of pink crepe papers extending to the table which held "Butter Cup" place cards bearing the names of the 25 little folks. The cake held three tiny lighted candles. An attractive feature of the table decoration was an animal parade, cake and cream and lollypops, in the chosen color tones, were served. The cutting of the birthday cake afforded much excitement when Miss Mary Francis Atkinson and Master Billie Greene Retherford each cut dimes. Favors were big balloons and juvenile figured umbrellas. Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. McDavid assisted the hostess.

Mrs. John Browder was hostess on last Wednesday afternoon to the members of the Bridge Club. Baskets of nasturtiums, gladiolas and vari-colored sweet peas beautified the apartments, where two tables for the game were arranged. After a series of rubbers, the club prize was won by Mrs. Oscar Jones, this being a couple of decks of congress cards. Later in the afternoon the hostess assisted by Mrs. McDavid served a tempting salad plate with iced tea.

Mrs. Polk Hostess.

Mrs. George Polk was hostess on last Wednesday afternoon to the members of the Sewing Club at her home. The reception room was given an added touch of beauty by baskets of fragrant sweet peas. Arant were guests of the club for the afternoon.

Old Folks' Ailments

"I began taking Black-Draught over fifty years ago and my experience with it stretches over a good long time," says Mr. Joe A. Blakemore, a Civil War veteran and former Virginian, who is now a prominent citizen of Floyd, Texas. "It is the best laxative I know of for old people. . . A good many years ago, in Virginia, I used to get bilious and I found that was the best and quickest relief I could get. Since I came to Texas I have these bilious attacks every now and then—a man will get bilious anywhere, you know—and I find that a little Black-Draught soon straightens me out. After a few doses, in little or no time I'm all right again."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable liver medicine, used in America for over eighty years. It acts on the stomach, liver and bowels in a gentle, natural way, assisting digestion and relieving constipation. Sold everywhere.

SAM ADAMS OF COOSA CAUGHT WITH WHISKEY

On last Wednesday night Deputies Culp and Foshee, together with their wives and Mrs. Littlejohn, went out to Mims' Ferry just below Lock 12 to a fish fry which was given by Mr. Sam Mims. Shortly after Foshee and Culp arrived at the ferry they scented something in the air which caused them to smell a mouse. They decided that there was something frying around there besides fish. Finally, the officers hid out close to the ferry landing and soon some fellows came across from Coosa on the flat. As soon as the flat hit the Chilton bank one of the men on it, Sam Adams by name, was seen to stick a pint bottle under the oar fastening on the flat. When Foshee pulled the bottle out from its hiding place, the story was told—the mouse had been located in the form of a pint of corn whiskey. Sam Adams was arrested and brought to Clanton. He was released on bond at 11 o'clock Wednesday night.

DR. GRAGG RETURNS

Dr. V. J. Gragg returned to Clanton last Monday from a week's visit to Chicago and Rochester. The first of last week Dr. Gragg was in attendance at the American Medical Association at Chicago, and after that was over he went over to Rochester, N. Y., and looked over the hospitals of that city. Rochester is very noted for its hospitals. The town is not much larger than Clanton and it has seven immense hospitals, one of which is the largest surgical hospital in the country. In Rochester even most of the large hotels devote two or three of their upper floors to hospital work, maintaining operating rooms and everything. In other words, Rochester is out and out a hospital town. People come there from all over the world to take treatment in those medical and surgical institutions. Dr. Gragg reports that the trip was a very enjoyable as well as instructive one.

SIGNIFICANT MEETING IN BIRMINGHAM

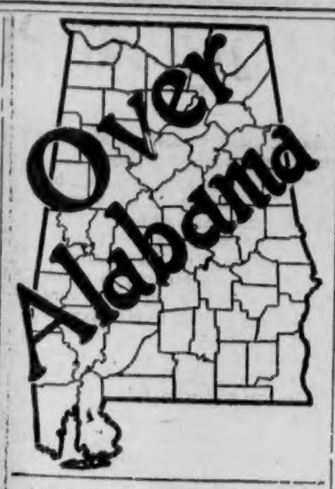
Leaders of Many Organizations Plan To Inform People Concerning Schools.

Heads of many important civic and professional organizations met in Birmingham a few days ago to consider the crisis which educational institutions of Alabama are now facing. Dr. E. M. Shackelford, president of the Alabama Education Association, and State Superintendent J. W. Abercrombie spoke for the common schools of the State; Dr. George H. Denny, Dr. Spright Dowell, and Dr. T. W. Palmer represented the colleges; Dr. Guy E. Snaveley and Dr. J. C. Dawson, the privately owned colleges; Dr. J. E. Dillard, the Alabama Council of Christian Education; Mrs. E. L. Hays, the Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers; Mr. E. A. O'Neal, the State Farm Bureau; Mr. L. N. Duncan, the Government Extension Service; Mr. W. C. Blassingame, the State Board of Health; Mr. J. D. Matlock, the Grand Commander Knights Templar; Dr. Herman Turner, the Rotary Clubs; Mr. W. I. Pittman, the Lions Clubs; Mr. G. F. Stephens, the Alabama Press Association; Mr. Charles Moffett, the Scottish Rite Masons; Mrs. Watt T. Brown, the Daughters of the American Revolution; Capt. Matt H. Murphy, the American Legion; Reverend S. L. Dobbs, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; Reverend L. O. Dawson, the State Baptist Convention; Mr. Lewis Bowen, the Federated Labor Union. Letters and telegrams indicated the thorough sympathy and co-operation of leaders of other organizations not represented by actual attendance.

These leaders, representing thousands of our best citizens, are of the opinion that our State public school system has passed the peak of possible development on existing resources and that a retrograde movement is inevitable unless new sources of revenue can be found. It was pointed out by various speakers that educational advance has been rapid during the past decade particularly, but that, in spite of all efforts, Alabama has fafiled to keep pace with other states of the union. Alabama ranks among the first states in natural wealth, but ranks last in annual income of citizens. This condition is largely due to lack of proper education. Aur state ranks thirty-ninth in bank savings deposits, forty-fifth in expenditure per child for education, forty-sixth in expenditure per citizen for education, forty-sixth in adult illiteracy, forty-seventh in school attendance, forty-third in slary of teachers, and forty-sixth in teacher-preparation. Our ranking, according to national and impartial statisticians, leaves us entirely too much in the forty-odd class to be pleasing to any patriotic citizen.

The idea most strongly expressed in the meeting was that the people of Alabama do not realize the condition of the schools and that they should be fully informed. Chairman Shackelford was directed to appoint a committee to address an open letter to the people of the State setting forh the conditions in a general way; and the heads of organizations represented put themselves on record as favoring an intensive publicity campaign to cover several years, if necessary, with the purpose of thoroughly informing the public and thus bringing about a general demand for improved school conditions.

Mr. J. M. Curlee is now serving as night police of Clanton. Mr. Curlee has had quite a bit of experience in police and deputy work having served in one or the other of these capacities here for the past several years.



ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Mrs. J. F. Halliburton of Sheffield is suffering from a broken arm as the result of an automobile accident a she was traveling from Birmingham in a car in company with Mr. Halliburton their son and John Samples of Florence. Young Samples was driving the car when near Cullman the car plunged down a 30-foot embankment in the water a depth of five feet. Mr and Mrs. Halliburton were pinned beneath the car. Samples and Frank Halliburton, the son, rescued the couple.

The city water department of Gadsden has just completed the laying of 10,000 feet of six-inch mains in the western part of the city, making water connections for a number of homes and establishing 12 fire hydrants in a section heretofore without protection. About 2,000 feet of 10-inch pipe is to be laid into Alabama City to connect with its large distributing system, thus giving that city a water service equal to that enjoyed by Gadsden, according to officials.

A thorough test of Alabama's ancient blue laws is to be made in the high courts by some of the business men of Gadsden who were convicted on the charge of keeping their store open on Sunday. It is said that counsel for the defendants will set up the plea that the law is discriminatory and that it is also unjust. Demurrers filed and overruled also indicate that the drawing of the indictments will be attacked. Most of the 40 odd defendants pleaded guilty and accepted fines of $10 each.

The attempt of the state highway commission to divert the Montgomery Birmingham highway through the town of Prattville, adding about a mile and a half to the distance, has been disapproved by United States District Engineer R. E. Toms. The state highway body first located the road to pass a short distance east of Prattville with a spur to the town. Later, upon Prattville citizens agreeing to pay the extra cost, the commission voted to route the road through the town.

A large quantity of war trophies, estimated at between 15 and 30 carloads will be available for shipment into Alabama as this state's share of World War trophies, according to announcement by Adj. Gen. Hartley A. Moon. The trophies include a wide variety of articles, cannon, including big howitzers; caissons, machine guns, rifles, helmets, Uhlan lances and other articles.

The Alabama officers reserve association will probably hold its annual convention in Tuscaloosa at the same time as the state legion convention meet there July 3, 4, and 5. About 200 are members of the organization and are composed of officers commissioned in the United States army, but not in active service. Col. John S. Sewell, of Birmingham is head of the association.

Ed Kinney, negro, exchanged a probable penitentiary sentence of from one to twenty years for a $50 fine when a Jefferson county jury changed its mind and convicted him of petit larceny after it had previously announced a conviction for grand larceny involving the theft of 367 yards of silk.

Alabama is building roads equal to those being built in North Carolina according to W. S. Keller, state highway engineer, who with members of the highway commission recently returned from North Carolina, where they attended a convention of the American Road Builders' association at Greensboro, N. C.

Organization of a federal intermediate credit association to have headquarters in Montgomery and serve farmers throughout the state by providing credit for production purposes was authorized by the executive committee of the Alabama Farm Bureau federation.

T. P. Littlejohn is arranging for the Dallas county fair, which will be held from October 14 to 18 under the auspices of the Selma Chamber of Commerce and Farm Bureau. Three thousand dollars will be given in prizes for agriculture, live stock, cooking, home demonstration work and the woman's department, etc.

Several calls have been made on the Farm Bureau for poison for the boll weevil, of which there is a heavy infestation in Dallas county for this time of the year.

He's the mightiest foe on earth;

When the devil gave him birth.

Don't bury him Under-wood-en tomb,
He'll sure give you the slip;
But dig a grave and bury him deep
As Hobson sunk the ship.

CHORUS:

Better not play with Barleycorn,
Better for you when he is gone;
Better not compromise at all,

EMMETT CHRISTIAN JAILED FOR FAILING TO DIP CATTLE

Mr. Emmett Christian, farmer of near Maplesville, was arrested by Sheriff Jittlejohn Monday and brought to jail under the charge of failing to dip cattle. Officers say that Mr. Christian had been notified twice of his failure to dip, and he continued to refuse to dip. When the second notice was served Mr. Christian was brought to jail. He remained in jail Monday night and made bond Tuesday morning, each charge being $300. The total bond was $600.

COOLIDGE'S FRUGAL LIFE SHOWS THAT WEALTH IS NOT THE SOLE INDEX OF SUCCESS

idge had considerable good qualities would say:

"Here is a man, a lawyer, who has always lived in one-half of a rented house at $35 per month, and has never even owned an automobile—can you tell me that a lawyer who lives that way can be an able lawyer?"

But, when Coolidge turned to public life, he turned to it as a permanent career and dismissed the idea of a money-making professional career. He knew exactly what he was doing.

Father Also Frugal

Coolidge's attitude toward money, both public and private, arose out of his background. When Coolidge's political fortunes advanced to the point where the newspaper men following him had occasion to come into contact with his personal background, when they began to know something of his father, Colonel John Coolidge, and the latter's circumstances, they discovered that Col. Coolidge is something more than merely a Vermont farmer and retired village storekeeper. In clothes and in his manner of living Col. Coolidge practices the same simplicity as his son. And he practices it for exactly the same reason, namely, that he likes to live that way better than he would like to live some other way.

In the course of a long life of this sort of thing Col. Coolidge has come to be one of this type of leading business man of the village. One observes that he seems to have accumulated anywhere from $30,000 to $50,000.

Will Inherit It

President Coolidge is his father's only heir. He always knew that in time he would inherit that little Vermont village fortune. The $1,500 to $2,500 of annual interest on it (for President Coolidge, like his father, is one who will stick to something like 4 per cent and safety) is not much, but it is the difference between something and nothing.

President Coolidge, in turn, has two sons and for these sons his philosophy of life is the same as it was for himself, namely, that a fortune is a handicap rather than an advantage.

On the day when Coolidge was inaugurated as president one if his sons was working on a Massachusetts farm at ordinary field hand wages. Coolidge wanted his children to have the same attitude toward money that he himself had and his father had. He wanted them to need to work. He wanted them to need to save.

No Fortune

The knowledge of these circumstances about Coolidge's background threw a world of light on him, his personal relation to money, and his public attitude toward money.

Here was a man who, although he had never earned, until he became president, more than $3,000 a year, except for the years when he had the salary of governor of Massachusetts, and later as vice-president, in which offices his necessary expenses were more than appropriate to his salary—here was a man who had no fortune, who did not try to make one, who was content with little, who kept his family in one end of a house rented at $35 a month.

But, at the same time, here was a man who had a perfectly orthodox attitude toward money and the relation of government to money. In his economics he is as sound as a banker. The arguments of bolshevism bounded off his hard mind as if it were New England granite. In his mental attitude, his notions about government and property and organized society, he is a pillar of the ordinary conservative American point of view.

It was the curious case of a man who very much poorer than most labor leaders (some officials of labor unions get salaries as high as $20,000 a year), who made less money year by year than most locomotive engineers, but, nevertheless, believed as thoroughly in the right of every other man to make as much and keep as much as he could—he believed as thoroughly in this as he does in the tenents of the Congregational church.

Politics and Money

Aside from having this fundamental point of view, this personal philosophy of life, about money, Coolidge had a practical, common-sense and a shrewdly cautious prevision in the field of politics where politics touches money. He knew that the American voter condemns unnecessary public extravagance and vents his disapproval on public officials who practice extravagance with the public funds. At least, the American voter used to have this point of view at the time the events of this story occurred. It is one of the best of the stories that Coolidge's friends tell about him.

Sweet Dreams Spray
"A Godsend"

That's What a Big Banker Said About This Wonderful Insect Killer.

We all know that banker's aren't given to idle talk, and that their praises are few but forceful.

Pointing to a can of Sweet Dreams Spray in a drug store at Montgomery, Ala., the president of one of the leading banks of that city said: "That insect annihilator is a Godsend."

He knew, for Bankers never get so rich that their homes can be made inaccessible to insects. His wife had just tried Sweet Dreams Spray for killing flies and ants on the previous day—and it killed them all—while she looked.

And he said that Sweet Dreams Spray was a "Godsend."

You can get a can just like the banker had. While you look, it will kill your flies, ants, mites, bed-bugs, fleas or moths.

Sold by every dealer, everywhere.

DEMOCRATS PUT UP NEGRO FOR CONGRESS IN ILLINOIS DISTRICT

E. B. Dickerson, Negro Lawyer of Chicago, To Oppose Madden In Illinois.

The Illinois state committee held a meeting here Sunday and agreed upon Earl B. Dickerson of Chicago, a negro, as a candidate for Congress against Representative Martin B. Madden, republican.

The negro was substituted as the democratic Congressional candidate in the first Illinois district because of the illness of James Doyle, who was nominated at the primary. Dickerson is assistant corporation counsel in Chicago under Mayor Dever, is a graduate of the University of Illinois and Chicago university, a member of the American Legion and a well known leader among those of his own race.

This is the first time the democratic party has put up a negro for Congress. The first Illinois district has a large negro population and normally is two-thirds republican. But in the recent republican primaries a negro ran against Madden for the republican nomination and received 6,000 votes against 9,000 for Madden. The illness of Doyle give democrats a chance to take advantage of the showing by the republican negro and put up a democratic candidate.

The selection has the sanction of George Brennan, the Illinois democratic boss, who has a large following among negroes because of his anti-klan activity. Negroes have sent him many telegrams since he arrived here with the announcement that he would demand a plank specifically denouncing the klan. Illinois democratic leaders believe this will be reflected in a large democratic vote at the next election, hence the placing of Dickerson on the ticket.—Birmingham Age-Herald, June 23.

MRS. DEDWEILDER DIED IN SELMA LAST MONDAY

The death of Mrs. Nettie Dedweilder occurred at the home of her grand-daughter, Mrs. Ruby Thompson in Selma Monday, June 23rd at 5:40 p.m. The cause of her death is attributed to paralysis. Mrs. Dedweilder was 83 years old and has been suffering for the past several months, being unable to get about without help. She went from her home in Clanton to Selma a few weeks ago with the hopes of regaining strength but the change did not seem to help her. She had been residing for the past several years with her daughter, Mrs. Joe Gore, in Clanton.

The remains were shipped to Maplesville Tuesday morning, where they were taken in charge by Martin and brought to Clanton in the hearse. The body lay in state at the Gore home in Clanton Tuesday night, and after the funeral by Dr. S. J. Ezell, was carried to the Dedweilder family cemetery near the home of O. D. Grooms on Mulberry, where enterment was made Wednesday morning.

The living children of the deceased are: Mrs. Farris Gore of Clanton and Mrs. Birdie Smith of Montgomery. The husband of the deceased died a number of years ago.

TO ASK NEW BIDS FOR HIGHWAY IN CHILTON COUNTY

Second Contract for Road Called Off and Another will be Let by Highway Department.

Bids will be advertised again by the state highway department for the paving of the project in the northern half of Chilton County comprising a section of the Birmingham-Montgomery highway. When bids were first opened some time ago for this project the low bidder was Speed-Parker of Louisville, Ky., but owing to some misunderstanding as to the contract this company was relieved from taking it and the contract awarded to the Schevenel Company of Memphis. This concern, when it came time to execute a contract with the state, was unable to reach an agreement as to the contract and the commission decided Monday to re-advertise for bids. This action will not delay the work it was stated, as a separate contract for grading had been awarded.

Votes Dallas Road.

The Commission voted to build a road from Selma to Plantersville and the Chilton County line toward Clanton, after hearing from a Dallas delegation. This action was made dependent upon Dallas county furnishing the money to build the road, to be refunded by the state after more bonds have been sold. Such action was made necessary, it was stated, by the fact that proceeds from bonds sold have already been allotted to the various counties for 1924-'25 The state will build the bridge project in the usual manner of procedure, without the county being obliged to put up money for this phase of the work. The project will go on the 1924-'25 program as a result of the action yesterday.

RUNNING MATE TO COOLIDGE

REPUBLICANS everywhere are of the opinion that the G. O. P. Convention couldn't have nominated a better man for the vice-presidency than Brig. General Charles G. Dawes. His past record has stamped him as a man of action who gets things done when he wants them done. And, if he's elected, political circles predict he will wield a "fiery" gavel as presiding officer of the Senate.

General Dawes was born in Marietta, Ohio, August 27, 1865. He practiced law in Lincoln, Neb., until 1894, when he migrated to Evanston, Illinois—a suburb of Chicago. He served as Comptroller of Currency from 1897 to 1902 and he's been president of the Central Trust Company, Chicago, since then.

Commissioned as Major of engineers in the national army in June, 1917, he soon rose to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. As Lieutenant Colonel of railway engineers, he arrived in France in July, 1917, and his splendid work with the A. E. F. gained him his present rank of Brigadier General in October, 1918.

OFFICERS RUN DOWN NEGRO AND NEGRESS WITH WHISKEY

Sheriff Littlejohn, Deputies Culp and Foshee and J. L. Gore, woke up nearly everybody in Clanton last Friday morning about 3 o'clock when they were chasing Joseph Leonard and Mrs. T. S. Peavey, both colored, who were transporting whiskey in a Ford automobile.

The officers were going up the Lock 12 highway, when they met the car near the home of Henry Gore. The officers knew from the occupants that the car was carrying booze, so they turned around and chased it toward town. Near the one-mile post, the negroes were commanded in vain to halt, so the officers shot off one of the rear casings of the Ford. But even with one casing missing the negroes did not slow up but came on into town. The officers began to smell whiskey and they could see the negroes throwing something out of the car which later proved to be pieces of a five-gallon jug. It is assumed that the negroes smashed the jug in the car and threw out the pieces.

Just after the fleeing prohibition violators turned the corner at the cemetary, the officers put a hole in the other rear casing, which slowed up the car until the officers succeeded in getting ahead of it. The negroes were forced to stop in front of Mr. Leonard Farley's and the officers took charge of them and the ranshacked Ford. Both Leonard and his female colleague were arrested and placed in jail, they being later released on bond. The car is in the posession of the sheriff.

OODLES OF COTTON BLOOMS

Mr. Sie Foshee, the famous Studebaker and Chevrolet salesman for Polk Brothers, was in our office on Tuesday, he having just arrived from the home of Mr. Charley D. Foshee near Billingsley. Sie had his pocket full of cotton blooms which he had gathered from his uncle's farm. Mr. Foshee has abopt 85 acres of cotton this year, which is looking mighty good.

The first cotton bloom this year, however, was received by mail from Mr. Aldon Davis Monday. Mr. Davis writes that the way for the farmers to head off the boll weevil is to rush their cotton and make it mature before the weevils get a whack at it.

Mr. W. A. Blackmon of Birmingham was in Clanton shaking hands with friends Wednesday. Mr. Blackmon will be remembered as the grist mill man who used to run a mill here with Mr. Hubbard.

PLANE CROSSES UNITED STATES IN 1 DAY'S TIME

San Francisco, June 23.—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan, army flier, successfully completed his daylight-to-dusk flight from New York to San Francisco when he landed at Crissy field at 9:48 p.m. He arrived at San Francisco at 9:44.

The plane in which Maughan left New York at 2:59 a.m., Eastern Standard time, today on his third attempt to span the continent, was first sighted when he circled the field twice in the deepening dusk.

Maughan's landing at 9:48 p.m., made his time for the 2,850 miles air line dash from New York including five refueling stops enroute, 21 hours, 48 minutes, slightly under his original estimate of the time the flight would consume.

Jubilant at Victory.

Apparently almost overcome with emotion and jubiliant at the victory which he had achieved, Lieutenant Maughan seemed unable to speak as his plane came to a stop. His face bore a serious and drawn expression.

He was lifted bodily from the cockpit by his cheering comrades of the air service, and carried on their shoulders through the swirling crowd to a rear door of the army headquarters.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN CLANTON LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

Over $20,000 is Total Loss in Stock and Buildings of Chilton Hardware and City Bakery.

Last Saturday night about eleven o'clock a fire originated in the City Bakery, according to assumption, and totally destroyed the bakery and the Chilton Hardware Store, which was separated from the bakery only by a wood and plaster wall. The fire department was on the scene shortely after the blaze was discovered, but even through vigorous efforts they were unable to extinguish it. There was lots of paint in the hardware store, and when the fire got into that water would have absolutely no effect. The Store of W. A. Kemp, just across the alley from the hardware store caught fire a time or two on the second story, but this was kept under control. The bakery and the hardware store were a complete loss.

Mr. Oscar Jones, proprietor of the Chilton Hardware Company, gives the following figures regarding his store:—Stock, $16,000; Fixtures, $2,000; Insurance, $10,500; Loss, $7,500. The value of the bakery outfit was around $1,200, and reports say that about $750 insurance was carried. The buildings, belonging to Dr. Arthur Johnson, were badly damaged, nothing being left of them except the brick walls and a small portion of the floor and ceiling, which of course will be of no value in rebuilding. Reports say that $1,500 insurance was carried on the buildings.

Miss Annie Lowe and Mrs. Bob Farley and little daughter, Myrtle, of Clanton, left Saturday afternoon for Sylacauga, where they will spend several days with relatives and friends.

WHEN TO LAY-BY IS TOLD BY FUNCHESS OF AUBURN STATION

Repeats Statement That the Chief Object of Plow Is to Kill Weeds. Root Protection Urged.

Auburn, Ala., June 24.—The question now arises: When shall we lay-by? As the production season advances this question is frequently asked by farmers, and Prof. M. J. Funchess, Director of the Alabama Experiment Station, answers it by saying, "Cultivation should continue long enough to keep weeds under control."

Discussing the subject further, Prof. Funchess said that "the chief purpose of cultivation is to destroy weeds;" and that, since this is true, "cultivators man be discontinued as early as the weed problem is solved."

If corn is clean when it becomes waist or shoulder high weeds have a poor chance. Competition is too strong for them, and under this condition further use of the plow becomes unnecessary. Prof. Funchess declared that more corn has been injured than has been benefitted by late cultivation, if it is clean.

The same principle holds true for cotton. Weed control is the chief object of the plow just as it is for corn. It is true for other crops also.

In cultivating cotton, corn, and other crops the roots should not be cut. Each root severed injures the plant, and, consequently, the yield is reduced to that extent.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

Hotels On Wheels

Long distance travel nowadays is a very different proposition from what it used to be since the writer began to go from place to place indicated by black dots on a railroad map. Time, trouble and worry to covel long spaces have been reduced to a minimum, provided you have "the price."

Even for short trips modern improvements reduce discomforts. But when one is to cover hundreds of miles over several railroads, traversing many states he can appreciate the arrangements that have been made for his comfort.

Having decided to visit our son and his family in New Jersey, something more than a thousand miles from Thorsby, and involving two nights and part of two days on the fastest train covering the distance between the two points, we applied to Nels Petersen to secure sleeping car berths from Birmingham and transportation from Thorsby. In due time he notified us of reservation of a certain lower berth in a certain Pullman car at the Terminal Station in Birmingham, where we were to call and pay for our sleeper tickets when we arrived there. Later, for proper consideration, Mr. Petersen supplied us with what are known as "coupon tickets," which indicated payment for transportation from point to point covering the whole distance we were to travel by railroad.

Starting at Thorsby Thursday evening the train conductor tore off from our tickets and gave them back to us. Arrived at Birmingham we found a big transfer bus at the L. & N. station to take us and our baggage to the Terminal station, here the driver tore another coupon off our tickets and gave the remainder back to us. When we went to the Pullman ticket office to pay for our sleeping car reservation, we were told our train would leave at 11:50 p.m., but we could get into the car at 9 o'clock.

The Terminal station is much more commodious and attractive than the old L. & N. station, and we were content to wait there until the caller announced that our car was ready. While waiting, four men bearing a table and chairs took a position just in front of us. We thought they were preparing to play some kind of game. But when we started for the Pullman car the gateman sent us back to those men at the table who proved to be Pullman car conductors, arranging their schedules. When they found where we wanted to go, one of them took our whole string of tickets and gave us in exchange two small tickets bearing only our car and berth numbers, which prove to be all we needed for the remainder of our journey on the railroad.

Each Pullman car corresponds to one floor in a good hotel. It is divided into twelve sections, each having seats for four persons by day, which are transformed into a bed for two at night, and if there are another one or two passengers occupying a part of the section, a bed is provided for them by lowering a portion of the car ceiling directly over the lower bed. Curtains are hung at the aisle side of both upper and lower beds to provide comparative seclusion, even in close quarters. The colored man, called a portor, who acts as a general attendant of the passengers, is required by the rules of the company to prepare all the beds in the car for occupancy, no matter if there are but few passengers in sight, and restore them to order for day travel each morning.

In addition to the sections mentioned, there is what is called a "state room" which furnishes more space and privacy. This room is a sort of imitation of the so-called "bridal chamber" in a hotel, and is often reserved for newly-weds on their bridal tour.

In addition there is always a ladies' dressing and toilet room, and in the other end of the car the gentlemen's dressing, smoking and toilet room. Everything is arrnaged to provide a maximum of comfort and convenience in a minimum of space. Among the conveniences offered is the arrangement made by the railroads by which these cars may be handled by one road after another, without compelling passengers to leave them to make any change of cars even if they wish to go across the whole country. In our trip we traveled in nine states and the District of Columbia and reached our destination in the same car we entered in Birmingham.

Trains, like the one we rode in, are made up wholly of Pullman cars, each accommodating about fifty passengers. They carry neither baggage nor express and stop only at long intervals which enables them to adhere pretty closely to their fast time schedules.

Meals at pretty regular intervals are provided by attaching a dining car, to the rear end of the train and hauling it as far as necessary to give all the passengers opportunity to sit down comfortably at a table, be served according to their selection from the menue and eat while traveling 30 to 40 miles an hour.

These dining cars are an important part of "hotels on wheels." They are fully equipped and well stocked restaurants, each having five tables for four people and five tables for two people, this gives a total capacity for serving thirty patrons at once, but when it is remembered that there are from six to ten Pullmans in the train, each accommodating fifty people it will be understood that the service must be of a high order to serve all in time to prepare for the next meal which is usually done at a station where the diner is cut off from the train and made ready to be picked up by a train going in the opposite direction.

There is something very attraceive about these dining car meals. The food, cooking and service are usually first class. The end of each table stands adjacent to a large plate glass window, the view of the fast gliding landscape is kalidascopic and one can actually have a meal twenty-five or thirty miles long. In no other way can so much of a certain kind of enjoyment, or we might say, so many kinds of enjoyment be packed into the space of a meal hour. As an indication of the care taken to offend no patron we noted that the young man who sat opposite to us at a table, asked for cigars when he had finished his dinner and was politely referred to the smoking room in his car.

The expense, above day coach car fare, for the accommodations mentioned are about the same as at any good hotel that is stationary, but the opportunity to combine such privileges with railroad travel is evidently greatly appreciated by the traveling public.

One of the pleasures of travel is an accumulation of mental pictures that are gathered as flashlights by one who is at all observant of what is passing. Many of the changing scenes and circumstances leave lasting impressions, which like pictures, can be enjoyed long afterwards.

Don't Shake The World's Business Confidence In Uncle Sam ~

Francs, Marks, Rupees, even Pounds Sterling, are having their ups and downs, to the great financial detriment of the Old World. Why is Uncle Sam's dollar—for the first time in history—the best coin on the face of the Earth?

Because of confidence in American business men and business methods—confidence in the fundamental soundness of American institutions; from the great railroad systems (the Nation's second largest industry) on down to the smallest factory, mill or workshop.

Coincident with this confidence, and to a certain extent because of it, this country is enjoying an era of unquestioned prosperity—1924 promising another year of the biggest business in our history.

The railroads must share in this prosperity; because railroads are so largely responsible for good times. But the railroads cannot share in, or continue to contribute to, good business unless they are treated fairly in the matter of regulatory laws; and unless they have the friendly co-operation of the public, to which they are entitled.

The American railroads are valued at over twenty billion dollars; they employ two million people; they do a business of over seven billion dollars a year. Therefore, their position in our economic scheme is substantial and their well-being is vital to all of us.

YOU want to prosper. The Louisville & Nashville Railroad wants to help you prosper. Let's get together and pay together, for all-round prosperity, brought about through confidence.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Trial of United States District Attorney Aubrey Boyles on charges of attempting to influence an officer, scheduled for June 20, has been ordered continued until August 4, following the report of state Solicitor Bart B. Chamberlain that William Holcomb, Jr., deputy sheriff, complainant and chief witness, were absent from the city. The continuance was granted by United States Judge Ervin.

Maxwell Field has been described as a vital link in the government's chain of air stations by Lieut. Col. Charles H. Danforth, newly appointed air service officer of the Fourth Corps area, who recently was in Montgomery for a trip of inspection of the field. Maxwell Field is the only government owned flying field in the area, Colonel Danforth said.

RED CROSS RELIEF WORK

Atlanta, Ga., June 10.—$1,000 was today appropriated by the National American Red Cross for relief work in Carter county, Tennessee, where a cloudburst June 1, killed ten, injured a score more, and left 50 people homeless. Carden's Bluff and Hunter were the communities suffering heaviest.

The Red Cross was requested to take charge and administer all relief at a mass meeting of citizens Monday.

Steps have already been instituted by a local committee to raise an additional $5,000 for the permanent rehabilitation work. Basing relief strictly on need, the Red Cross will attempt to place every family back on a self supporting basis.

The Carter county cloudburst is the third disaster the South has suffered in less than two months. Twenty-two Red Cross workers are now in South Carolina administering a relief fund of approximately $80,000 as a result of the tornado of April 30 which killed several score people in that State and left over 3,000 homeless. Another corps of workers is in Mississippi and Alabama where another tornado May 27 killed over 30 people and left hundreds homeless in the two states.

NEW HARMONY NEWS

Well I am glad to say we are not having so much rain at present. But I can say the farmers shirt is about as wet these few days of pretty weather as if were raining, isn't it so farmers? The grass is about to get us down in this part of Chilton County, the wet weather sure was good for the grass, of course the grass just as well to get the cotton as the boll weevil because one or the other of those plagues are almost sure to get it. While hoeing last week I found eighteen weevils not looking for them.

Our friend Mr. D. L. Henley, of Lakeland, Fla. tells us they are having quite a bit of rain down there. It is raining every day. I am hoping to see a few more pretty days to fight grass.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-70, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

SENATOR TOM HEFLIN DENIED SEAT IN DEM. CONVENTION

Alabama Senator Goes Home Because Seats were not Provided for Him.

Convention Hall, New York, June 24.—Widespread indignation is expressed regarding the situation resulting from a dearth of tickets. For the first time in history the delegates have no extra admissions into the convention hall. The charge is made that the committee furnished W. G. McAdoo with a large block of seats to be filled by McAdoo's friends to counteract the fact that the convention being in New York, is stacked with friends of Governor Smith. This charge is denied at McAdoo headquarters.

Certainly one of the causes of the lack of tickets is the fact that the committee, because of its poverty, sold tickets of admission at the rate of $100 each.

There is considerable indignation expressed by Alabamians at the lack of courtesy displayed by the committee to Senator J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama. Senator Heflin is an outstanding democrat, who has always responded to the call of the party during campaigns. Yet, when he got to New York he was not provided with tickets of admission, or a seat on the platform. Such courtesies have almost invariably been shown senators of the United States. Senator Heflin has returned to Washington.

Alabama's delegates are greatly embarassed because of their inability to accommodate many prominent Alabama people who have come to New York to see the big show. Murray Brown, whose wife is a delegate, thought until the last minute that he would have to remain on the outside, but finally landed a job. He is an usher. And T. V. Patterson of Birmingham is a sergeant-at-arms.

ATTEMPTED TO BURN CONFISCATED AUTO

An urgent request for a road to connect Cullman and Guntersville was presented to the state highway commission by Probate Judge Griffin of Cullman county and Mayor Robertson of Cullman. A store is not a place which a member of the public may enter of his own right. Booth.

Judge Vaughan's offices in the Dallas County court house were entered and $21 in cash stolen. Entrance was made through a window. Checks and valuable papers were scattered about and the only clue is footprints which shows the time to have been after the hard rain

FAMOUS NORTHWEST "MOUNTIES" STIR LONDON

LONDON is host to a distinguished group of visitors these days. It's a detachment of ten members and officers of the famout Royal Northwest Mounted Police of Canada whom you see pictured above. And they're getting no end of attention and admiration from the crowds attending the British Empire Exhibition in which these famous "Mounties" are acting as guards or Canadian Government and Canadian Pacific buildings.

Of the ten fine physical specimens of manhood pictured here—six are Canadian by birth, one is an Austrian, two are Englishmen, and one is Belgian. The detail is in charge of Inspector C. H. Hill of Litherbridge, Alberta, who is seated second from the left in the front row. This brave officer, who stands 6 feet, 3 inches, in stocking feet, was twice wounded during the great war in France. The others in the group are Serg. K. J. Sampson, Corp. H. A. McBeth, and Constables F. Bass, H. C. Foster, J. H. Hellofs, D. L. McGibbon, R. E. Nelson, J. E. Pelletrie and R. L. Trolove. After looking over this fine body of men we can readily see why people speak of the "Mounties" as guardians of the law who "never come back without a man."

An ogry of demagogism has been running rife in the world, and we, here in the United States, are feeling its devastating effects. All good Republicans and all good Democrats, who put their country above their party, demand the beginning of an era of common sense in public discussion.—Gen. Chas. G. Dawes, Republican nominee for Vice-President.

When a fellow goes from Clanton to Birmingham now by automobile, he can certainly see the need of good roads, and in lots of places the need of just a road. When you are not detouring through narrow, bumpy trails and through the woods you are having to drive over piles of sharp rocks and gravel which literally shake up every fiber in your anatomy. But if the work which is under way is ever completed, it will be great pleasure to glide over the long stretches of cement and asphalt. Until this road is completed, if this editor decides to go to Birmingham again by automobile, he is going on the train.

It may be O. K. for church members to have swimming parties in which both sexes indulge in the plunge, for the purpose of raising church funds, but it is hard for a country newspaper editor, who was raised up in the back woods by old-time Missionary Baptist parents, to conceive of the church and modern mixed bathing being carried on under the same canopy. We doubt that money gotten this way will redound very much to the up-building of the church and to the cause of Christ. This looks to us like a string by which the good Christians are allowing the devil to pull them into forbidden paths under the disguise of doing good.

UP TO PHILLY

There has been a reorganization of the Philadelphia esqui-centennial committee, and it is hoped that plans for the celebration in 1926 of the one-hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence will go forward more smoothly and rapidly. The city has an opportunity to arouse patriotic reverence for the Declaration and its signers that should not be permitted to pass. The event to be commemorated was of deep significance to the whole country, and the whole country looks to Philadelphia to provide the occasion for a tremendous demonstration. The celebration should be natich-wide, and the city can count on every state and territory to respond with an enthusiasm that will carry the affair to a triumphant conclusion.

TEST MOBILIZATION

Next September the Government plans to hold a test mobilization of its military and commercial resources to determine the condition of the national defense. Our industrial organizations have already been informed by the War Department what they will be required to furnish if ever again the country is called into war. They have been studying the plan and know how their plans must be re-arranged for war production. The September mobilization will reveal whether the military man-power of the country is prepared for action, and whether the commercial and industrial resources are ready at the places assigned them in the general scheme of national defense. Experience of the world war shows that preparedness of this sort will save the country billions of dollars and thousands of lives if war ever comes to us again.

As Long As We Keep Our 'Little Car on the Sidewalk We're Safe!

A CANDIDATE OF DEMONSTRATED ABILITY

Our Democartic friends are scarcely to be blamed for throwing a few fits of hysteria over the nomination of Dawes for the Vice Presidency, for the selection is one that is peculiarly embarrassing to them. They are compelled to admit that Dawes has a great record of accomplishment, particularly in connection with the reparations conference, but they assert that the Republicans are entitled to no credit for the reoson that Dawes was not an official representative of the Government.

But therein lies the real basis for the claim for credit for his work. In his speech at New Haven a year and a half ago Secretary Hughes pointed out very clearly that the reparations problem is not a political but an economic problem. He said that it could not be solved by politicians but must be solved by business men. It was the Hughes suggestion that the nations interested in the reparations problem invite able business men to study the situation and try to work out a practical solution. He expressed the conviction that Americans, if invited, would be glad to serve.

For about a year European nations failed to act on that suggestion but every other effort put forth by them proved unsuccessful. Finally, finding that nothing else got them anywhere, they turned to the Hughes proposal and adopted it. Dawes was invited as one of the Americans and was selected to head the committee of which he was a member. That committee, under his leadership, worked out a plan which seemes in a fair way to bring desired results. If that plan will not solve the reparations problem, it does not seem likely that anything else will. For any good that may be accomplish Mr. Dawes is entitled to his due share or credit, but, back of him, Hughes is entitled to credit for making the original suggestion.

The fact that Dawes was not an official representative of the United States Government is all the more reason why Hughes and the Republical Administration are entitled to credit. There is no doubt whatever that if the United States had consented to appoint official representatives nothing could have been accomplished by Dawes or anyone else. The reparations conference would have turned immediately to politics international politics and effort to settle the disputes on a business basis would have been abanded. The outcome would have left animosities as deep as ever and a widening rather than a closing of the breach.

Stating the matter briefly, Secretary Hughes is entitled to first credit for devising the plan; President Harding saw its soundness and endorsed it; Mr. Dawes consented to serve and did serve with a degree of aoility that has met world-wide commendation. The Republican convention recognized the fact that Dawes had demonstrated rare ability in his handeing of the budget the greatest of our domestic problems and had done splendid work in the reparations problem a matter in which we are not directly concerned but we have been willing to serve in a practical way. He was nominated for Vice President because of his demonstrated ability. The Republican Administration is entitled to full credit for all that has been accomplished through him. The Administration would have been subject to censure if it had created chaos in the reparations dispute by throwing the whole question into international politics, as our Democratic friends would have done.

The people of the United States will not have any difficulty in determining where to give the credit.

LET'S SEE NOW—WHO WAS IT THAT SAID "NIGGER"?

For the past half a century the Democrats in this country have been practically at sea when it came to a real issue against the Republican party. As a result of this inability on their part to find anything to fight their opponents with, a mock issue with little or no ground has been used against the Republicans with the hopes of diverting the people's mind from the issues that actually concern them, and cause them to become prejudiced over the race question and lose sight of big questions of commercial and civic importance. Such shallow and meaningless epithets as "the bellweather flock," "the black and tans,' and "niggerism," have been flung at the Republican party, especially in the South, until they have become so hackneyed that even lots of the Democrats are ashamed of their futility.

We wonder what tent the good Democrats of Chilton County are going to assume when they read that "A negro has been put out for Congress in Illinois by the Democrats." With this announcement before their eyes, can the Democrats continue to have the gall to charge that the Republican party is "negro"? We suppose that they will, because such a Democratic act is nothing unusual. The highest honor which has ever been placed on a negro was placed by Woodrow Wilson when he appointed Emmett J. Scott as Assistant Secretary of War of the United States to give orders to the white officers and enlisted men during the World War. The negroes themselves, in big conventions, have passed resolutions commending the Democratic party for being the negro's friend. A negro gathering right here in Clanton, less than a year ago, gave three loud cheers for Woodrow Wilson, saying that he had done more for the negro race than any other man.

E. B. Dickerson was substituted as the Democratic candidate for Congress in the first District of Illinois in the place of James Doyle, who was nominated in the Democratic primary in that State. Just the idea of taking a white man off their ticket and substituting a negro in his place—and the dear old "lilly-white" Democratic party did it. The Democrats might as well take down their sign. They, by their own actions, have squandered the only "issue" they have had for the past fifty years. The Democrats in the solid South will hate mighty bad to give up "negro talk" because it has been their "rag doll" for all these many years. But they have used their "rag doll" so incessantly and for such varied purposes that it has long since become thread-bare and has lost so much of its saw-dust that it won't even stand with props on every side. They will just have to bury it, that's all, and hatch up another "issue" from somewhere.

FARM FACTS

With two mules and a cultivator one man can do as much work as two men can do with two mules and single plows.

Good screens will keep most of the house flies out and in this way prevent diseases.

Running water should be part of the equipment of every home. It means much to the farm-wife and family.

With four or five cows farmers are supplying the family with milk and butter, and selling cream to the extent of $20 to $30 a month. There is room for lots more dairying of this kind.

It may not be too late to apply nitrate of soda to corn. The best time is when it is two or three feet high. About 100 pounds per acre is the rate.

"Poisonous Plants of Alabama" is the title of a new bulletin just published by the Extension Service, Auburn, Alabama. It is a very attractive bulletin with many illustrations. Copies may be had from the county agents or by writing to Auburn.

Improved methods, labor-saving machinery, and livestock must take the place of those who are leaving farms.

The farm home should be just as attractive and convenient as the city home. Electric lights and running water will do much to make it so.

Of the club boys neglecting their work: If they follow instructions of the county agents they should make money; if they do not they are almost certain to lose money.

"Poisoning the Boll Weevil' is a valuable little circular now being distributed through the county agents by the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"Four cows are supplying my family with milk and butter, and our monthly sales of surplus cream bring us about $25. We recommend a few cows on each farm."—T. J. Whatley, Opelika, Alabama.

"If a good seedbed is prepared, cultivation that will control weeds is sufficient. Cultivation may be discontinued when weed control is over."—Frank E. Boyd, Alabama Extension Service, Auburn.

Poor land means poor farmers and rich land means rich farmers. Every farmer in this county who has rich land is making money.

The sooner we learn that one man is capable of plowing more than one mule and thereby doing more work when he crosses a field the better off we will be.

It is a rather interesting fact that the average Iowa farmer has four times as much horsepower and makes four times as much money as the average Alabama farmer.

There is room for many more tractors on Alabama farms. We must have more power because more power means greater wealth.

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL METHODS approved by Government Experts

One of the most interesting features of boll weevil control to the cotton farmer is the "cost and profit" of applying measures. Referring to the use of calcium arsenate one expert has declared that, "It does not cost to dust—it does cost not to dust." A comparison of three methods of poisoning in an average of all tests conducted in the South in 1923 has been made and these figures show conclusively that it pays to use calcium arsenate in dust form. The comparison follows:

Florida Method: Untreated check-plats averaged a yield per acre of 388.7 pounds of seed cotton; treated plats average 514.3 pounds, a gain of 125.6 pounds at a cost of $5.82 an acre with a profit of $7.94.

Sweetened Poisons: Untreated check-plats averaged a yield of 668 pounds per acre, while treated plats averaged 769 pounds, a gain of 101 pounds at a cost of $10.17 an acre and a profit of $0.94.

Calcium Arsenate in Dust Form: Untreated checks averaged a yield of 564.6 pounds per acre, and untreated plats averaged 869.3 pounds, a gain of 302.7 pounds at a cost of $7.74 and a profit of $26.56.

Thus, it is shown that application of calcium arsenate in dust form increases the yield, lowers the cost and increases the profit. Poisoning by this method should be even more profitable this year under average weather conditions, as the price of calcium arsenate is somewhat lower and probably will not go higher provided farmers buy their supply early in the season.

Dusting with calcium arsenate should be applied with machines built especially for dusting cotton and the applications made only when the air is calm and the plants are moist. This usually means making only night applications. From five to seven pounds of calcium arsenate should be used to the acre.

There should be an interval of four or five days between applications unless a heavy rain follows one application. The cotton should be thoroughly dusted until the weevils are under control. This usually means about three applications. Applications should be renewed when the infestation again reaches 10 to 15 per cent.

Further information on boll weevil control measures may be obtained from the county agent, state college of agriculture or the National Boll Weevil Control Association, Room 220 Whitney building, New Orleans, Louisiana.

CLEANINGS

Marion Star—The violently partisan papers should get together. We note that one of them refers to the Cleveland convention as "machine bossed throughout" and that another seeks to cast scorn upon it by saying it was "leaderless throughout."

Detroit Free Press—About the best work that can be done toward insuring world peace just now is to put the United States in a position that will make it unprofitable for any other country to try to put over anything.

Fort Wayne Sentinel—If William Pecksniff McAdoo should grab off the nomination at New York, can you imagine anything more ludicrous than Mr. Doheny's attorney maligning officials who were corrupted by Mr. Doheny's cash?

Minneapolis Tribune—"It will be a pleasure to be associated with you in public service," said the President to the candidate for Vice-President. And watch what pleasure the people will have in voting for the pair.

Atlanta Constitution (Dem.)—The quiet, unassuming, silent and yet forceful leadership of Calvin Coolidge, as President, is a source of more comment than any feature connected with national politics this year.

Omaha Bee—The expected happened when Senator Walsh reported on the oil lease inquiry. Every Republican from Harding down was denounced, but no word was said of McAdoo, Daniels, or any other Democrats.

Boston Transcript—Speeches by Governor Coolidge were published under the caption: "Have Faith in Massachusetts." Speeches by President Coolidge might appropriately be entitled "Have Faith in America."

Troy Times— Coolidge and Dawes! A good ticket to nominate, a good ticket to elect; and good men for the people's confidence as public servants in the highest offices.

St. Louis Times—Even the radicals in Europe are ultra-conservatives when it comes to considering payment of their nation's debts to the United States.

Boston Transcript — The Japanese are talking of deporting all Americans, but you can't scare an American much by proposing to send him to the United States.

Fort Wayne Sentinel—Europe is making the first serious effort to get down to peaceful business and industry since 1913. The cause? Dawes.

Kansas City Journal—If a candidate for the Presidency was ever named by the people, it is Calvin Coolidge.

Washington Post — Coolidge and Dawes, Coolidge and Dawes, Stand for the old Constitution and laws.

Marion Star—Off hand, we assume that the emblem of the third party will be a wrecking bar.

Rev. W. W. Robinson of Providence filled his regular appointment here Sunday and Sunday night. Two excellent seremons were preached at 11 o'clock in the morning and at 8 o'clock in the evening. A very good crowd was present at these services.

The singing society met Sunday afternoon and engaged in two hours of good singing. Altho the organ was in bad shape a right good singing was enjoyed. The directors were T. G. Wyatt, Prof. Dewey Huett and Prof. C. C. Parrish.

At the singin services the announcement was made that Prof. Huett was going to open a singing school at Friendship on July 7. The school will run for eighteen days. The people of the community are urged to patronize the school and furnish Prof. Huett a good class.

It was definitely announced after preaching Sunday night that the annual revival of the church would begin on Sunday, July 20, the third Sunday, at 11 o'clock. Rev. Marion W. Mims of Verbena has been secured to help Bro. Robinson in the preaching.

DIESEL ENGINES FOR MARINE

The Shipping Board is beating no retreat in its fight to keep its ships on the seas. On the contrary, it is constantly devising means to make the operation of American vessels more efficient and assure their success in competition with foreign rivals. The board is preparing to spend about $25,000,000 in putting Diesel engines in about 60 of its large steam cargo ships aggregating 600,000 tons. A survey has been taken of those now out of service and 375 have been selected for eventual conversion into motor vessels. It is declared the Diesel engine consumes fuel equal to only one-third of that consumed by a steam ship at sea and only about one-tenth at port. It may be operated with a reduced engine room force, thereby saving wages and subsistenance costs. In addition to converting its own ships the Shipping Board is giving encouragement to private owners to make similiar conversions. Through amendent of the Merchant Marine Act, the Board is authorized to make loans to private companies equal to one-half the cost of substituting motors for steam equipment.

America's "Speedist Bet" For the Olympics

Joy has displaced gloom over America's sportdom now that it looks very probable that Charlie Paddock, the cinder path "speed king," will represent the United States in the Olympics. An injured tendon in one of his limbs gave the great record-breaking sprinter some trouble for a while, but, according to latest reports, he has fully recovered from his injury and will be ready in time to step out with the world's fastest track men over in France.

This unusually good photograph of Paddock was made on his private cinder path at Los Angeles where he has been going through daily workouts in preparation for the big international meet. It shows him making a fast get-away from the starting mark—a feat that experts claim he has down to perfection and in which he is showing greater speed than ever before. Well, here's hoping he shows 'em all his heels across the pond.

BECAUSE IT IS LAW

President Coolidge worked hard to defeat the bonus bill, but, now that it is a law, he is working equally hard to save the veterans any loss or inconvenience because of the bungling work of the Senate Democrats in defeating the appropriation bill that would have provided bonus funds. In the words of Mr. Burton in his Cleveland keynote speech, President Coolidge believes that "Laws are not to be observed merely by those who favored their enactment, but by everyone in this broad land." It is a statement of principle that many thousands need to take to heart.

Mullins-Speer Wedding.

Of unusual interest to a large circle of friends was the marriage of Miss Mary Mullins to Dr. Carey Speer, which took place Wednesday morning at the home of the aunt of the bride, Mrs. W. I. Mullins. Only close relatives and a few intimate friends were present. The home was lovely with summer garden flowers with pink gladiolas predominating. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Hance Allred and preceding the ceremony Miss Roberta Curry sang sweetly "All for You." The bride was handsome in a loud going-away suit with lavander hat and accessories. The impressive ring ceremony was performed by Dr. S. J. Ezell in his usual charming manner. The groom is a well-known young man of sterling worth and connected with a drug business in Marianna, Fla. After a brief visit to Birmingham they will go to Florida where they will make their home.

Bridge Club Entertained.

A delightful game of Bridge was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Oscar Jones on last Wednesday morning, entertaining her Bridge club. Tables were arranged on the porch, which was especially attractive with pot plants and vases of sweet peas and nasturtiums. Upon the arrival of the guests punch was served from a prettily appointed table by Mrs. J. C. Jones. After several rubbers of the game the top score was held by Mrs. N. S. Johnson, who was presented cards. After the game a lovely luncheon in two courses was served in the dining room. The table held as its central decoration a tall vase of exquisite pink gladiolas. The guests of the club for the game were Mrs. Hosea Downs, Mrs. Knowlton Mahan and Mrs. J. C. Jones.

Mrs. White, Hostess.

A lovely afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. M. L. White on last Wednesday when she was hostess to the Sewing Club. The guests were entertained on the spaceous veranda, made attractive with wall vases and bowls of summer flowers. Some enjoyed fancy work and "42" was also the diversion of the afternoon. Later a refreshing ice course was served. Besides the club members Mesdames McDavid, Kate Hayes, O. O. Roper and Renfroe Mullins were present.

Visitors Honored.

As a special courtesy to her house guest, Miss Gladys Jones of Birmingham, Miss Inez Harris was a lovely hostess at a swimming party on last Wednesday afternoon at Gore's Pond. The congenial group, chaperoned by Mrs. John Browder, Mrs. J. C. Harris, left town and motored to the pond. After a delightful swim, the guests enjoyed a most tempting picnic lunch before returning home. The party included about 20 of the younger set.

Miss Rita Arant is spending this week in Deatsville as the guest of Miss Gladys Willis.

Mr. and Mrs. George Polk and children spent Sunday in Columbiana and were accompanied home by Miss Sunset Polk.

ANOTHER COTTON BLOOM

Just as we were going to press we received from Mr. Luther Patterson, Clanton Route 4, a cotton blossom. Mr. Patterson sent in a good specimen but it was about two days later than the first one received.

HE'S HIS OWN "ADVERTISEMENT"

EVEN the rickshaw men down in Durban, South Africa are strong believers in that well known slogan—"It Pays to Advertise." As proof we offer the above photograph showing a Durban rickshaw man wearing a unique headpiece which serves to attract trade. It must have made a hit with the youthful gob so contentedly seated in the "rick" and evidently sensing some humor in the outfit on his "human horse."

As we said before, the fancy headgear is used as an advertising medium and is composed of the horns of steers decorated with gay feathers, snake skins and natural flowers. No—he's not wearing white shoes. A city ordinance compels all rickshaw men to paint their feet white.

Competition, they tell us, is keen between these rickshaw men and they use various means of attracting business their way through such grotesque decorations.

Wouldn't there be some fun if taxicab drivers did the same thing in our cities?

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

W. B. Allgood, state auditor, was victorious in the case involving claims of William Chandler, former sheriff of Etowah county, for sums of money for feeding prisoners, which has been decided by the supreme court. The case had been decided in favor of Chandler in the Montgomery circuit court but the supreme court reversed the Montgomery court and then rendered a decision in favor of the state auditor, dismissing the petition of Chandler for writ of mandamus to require the auditor to issue his warrant for the sums claimed.

Completing a two-year investigation of the possibility of sending photographs through the air, with the assistance of the radio, Alfred Marchant, of Mobile, has announced he had perfected the invention and is ready to "demonstrate it if given assurance that protection will be given the secret." Marchant refused to divulge any part of the method used to "broadcast pictures," fearing his secret would get out and that he would lose the benefits of two year's study and work.

Sheriff Leath and deputies have begun arresting Sunday blue law violators on warrants at Gadsden. Four proprietors of business houses were the first to be served with papers. All of them were indicted by the recent grand jury and were fined in circuit court but they have been open nearly every Sunday since the grand jury adjourned. Sheriff Leaf announced that all stores keeping open on Sundays in Gadsden or in the county would be served with warrants at once.

All arrangements have been completed in connection with the transfer of the Tuskegee Railroad company into the hands of the Mitchell company of Atlanta. The purchase price was 95,000. The new ownership will extend the spur line that now comes to the government hospital on through the normal institute grounds and into Tuskegee. Gasoline coaches will be placed on this track at an early date, and all the traffic turned to Chehaw over this new route.

A large audience witnessed the graduating exercises and a presentation of the nurses' home to the Druid City hospital at Tuscaloosa. Dr. J. J. Doster, dean of the summer school at the University of Alabama, delivered the graduating address and J. T. Horne presented the nurses' home to the hospital. The home was a gift of Mr. Horne. Sam F. Clabaugh accepted the home in behalf of the hospital students and Dr. L. O. Dawson delivered the dedicatory prayer.

The executive board of the Colonial Dames of Alabama held its first meeting here since the election of Mrs. A. D. Pitts to the presidency, on the resignation of Mrs. J. Morgan Smith of Birmingham in March. Several important matters of business were dispatched, one being the collection of the remainder of Alabama's quota for the Sulgrave Manor Fund, which it was decided would be paid.

Many college students from states in the fourth corps area which covers the entire southeastern section of the United States, have been rejected by military authorities for R. O. T. TEN MILLION FORD CARS IN ONE PARADE !

With Ford No. 10,000,000 scheduled to cross the United States on the Lincoln Highway, a genius for figures has worked out the matter of staging a parade of the entire 10,000,000 Model T Fords.

Here's the way he figures it.

The road selected is 24,840 miles long circling the earth at the equator. He parks the Fords in one place at the side of the road, sets a pace of twenty miles an hour for the parade and starts the cars at intervals of thirty seconds.

Drivers are to have an eight-hour day the same as that enjoyed by all Ford employes and are, of course, to have Sundays, Christmas, New Year's and Fourth of July off.

If you were inclined to watch such a parade and would remain until the last car passed, you'd have to stick at your place along the line for thirty-two and a half years.

With all the Fords remaining in line, it wouldn't be long before you would find yourself in the center of a whirling corkscrew of cars, as the genius has already figured it, if you remained to the finish, and were observant, you probably would have noticed that the first car passed you sixty-seven times before the last or ten-millionth car had left the parking ground.

Furthermore, figuring Ford production on the time basis of the last million, 65 million more Ford cars would have been built while you were watching the parade.

FORESTRY IN ALABAMA

The Alabama Commission of Forestry is occasionally asked why longleaf pine does not reproduce itself. It is pointed out that over large areas from which longleaf pine has been cut the new growth often consists of other species of pine or of scrub hardwoods. By some it is believed that longleaf pine seeds really produce another species of pine, such as loblolly or short-leaf. Most logging operations leave sufficient small or defective trees to serve as seed trees. Longleaf pine produces seed only once in from three to seven years. Loblolly and short-leaf pine, however, seed more frequently. If the longleaf is cut between seed crops, any loblolly or short-leaf pines near-by may seed the land first. When the next long-leaf seed crop occurs, the ground may be already pre-empted by the other pines, thus creating the impression that long-leaf is unable to reproduce itself. If the other pines or scrub hardwoods do not first take the ground, the long-leaf seedlings will spring up by the thousand after the first seed crop.

Reduce the acreage and increase the per acre yield is one way to beat the boll weevil.

"We can if we will—we WILL control the weevil" by applying methods of control approved by state and government experts.

The boll weevil collects the profits on the cotton crops where proper methods of control are not applied.

More cotton to the acre, not more acres to cotton, and weevil control will put money in the bank for farmers.

"Do it right or not at all." say boll weevil control authorities.

"We drove the automobiles out of the Delta," said the boll weevils, "and we can drive the farmers off the farms if they don't stop us soon."

Save your money by saving your cotton from the boll weevil.

Weevil control will help farmers who help themselves by using the methods approved by THEIR experts.

Tests and experiments by experts prove that it pays to apply cultural methods of boll weevil control under all conditions and calcium arsenate in dust from where the soil will yield as much as one third of a bale to the acre.

Farmers should help their cotton crops to early fruiting and maturity before the boll weevils have had a chance to destroy them by planting selected seed and applying intensive cultivation.

Applications of calcium arsenate in dust form should be made on cotton when 10 per cent of the squares have been punctured by boll weevils. From five to seven pounds of poison should be used to the acre and the application should be repeated two or three times at four and five day intervals.

Others have proved that boll weevil control pays. Prove it yourself by using government methods and check the result on a small tract where control measures are not used.

Boll weevils go into winter quarters before frost occurs. Reduce the number by burning trash and burying the stalks as soon as the crop is gathered.

Apply calcium arsenate in dust form to boll weevil infested cotton when the air and the plants are moist, perferably at night.

OFFICERS OUTWIT BOOTLEGGERS ON LAST SATURDAY

Three Men Caught at Cove, Bringing Moonshine Whiskey Over into Chilton County.

A little bird having whispered in their ear, Sheriff T. J. Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee stole away from the habitat of civilization shortely after noon Saturday and went down to the Cove on Coosa River. The officers arrived at the place about one or two o'clock and sought them out a place of concealment. They waited for something to turn up, but everything seemed to be on the quiet until about dusk, when they heard the familiar noise of paddles being bumped against a boat down at the river. So they knew that something was going to happen. The officers held their post near the trail in the vicinity of the Littleton old house about half a mile from the River. About eight o'clock three men were spied coming up the trail, each one just a few paces ahead of the other and each carrying something. When the men got even with the officers they were flushed, who were found to be Oscar Miner, Henry Easterling and Benjamin Easterling. The Sheriff latched on to Henry who was carrying about one gallon of whiskey in bottles. Foshee made a pass at Oscar Miner with a 2-gallon jug of moonshine. There was no one to wait on Benjamin, so he broke his gallon jug which he had in a corn sack and took to the bushes. Oscar Minor also took down through the woods and Foshee took after him. When the young man got to Cove Branch, where the water was about knee deep, Foshee caught him, and the two had a rather lengthy scuffle in the water, first one being ducked and then the other. After they scuffled for about fifteen minutes Foshee called the sheriff to his help, who was holding Henry Easterling back up on the trail. Easterling assured the sheriff that he would stand, and for him just to go ahead. So the sheriff did. After Foshee and Littlejohn succeeded in putting the hand cuffs on Oscar, they returned to the trail to find that Henry had disappeared.

Oscar Miner and his two-gallon jug were brought and placed in jail about ten o'clock Saturday night. The officers went Sunday and got Benjamin Easterling and brought him to jail, but as yet, Henry Easterling has not been caught. Both Oscar and Benjamin have made bond and have been released from jail.

"THE LIFE OF CHRIST" TO BE SCREENED AT HIGH SCHOOL

According to announcement just made, the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church have just completed arrangements for the presentation on the celebrated motion picture production, "The Life of Christ" at the high school auditorium on Friday, July 4, at 10:30 a.m., 2:30 and 8 o'clock p.m.

This is an adaption based on the famous Oberammergau rendition of the Passion Play, and it has been enthusiastically received everywhere it has been presented. The picture beautifully and impressively depicts the life of Christ, beginning with the annunciation and taking up His birth, His boyhood days, work and miracles on earth, last supper, crucifixion, resurrection and ascension, dealing with it in a strikingly NON-DENOMINATIONAL spirit.

It is obvious that great good can be derived from a teaching of this kind and the impression created is everlasting. Things seen are remembered usually, where often soon forgotten if heard only.

An appropriate musical program accompanies the picture throughout and critics say the picture and music combined represents one of the most impressive, instructive and pleasing programs ever offered.

The presentation is complete in every detail. Two experienced, competent operators are in charge and with two motor-driven machines, with standard size screen and a direct current generating plant, they give service equal to that rendered by the largest theatres. Recent endorsements say the film is in good physical condition, assuring clearness.

In order to give everyone an opportunity to attend this program, the tickets will be sold at a nominal figure. They will be 35 cents for adults and 20 cents for children.

The amount realized by the Missionary Society will be used strictly for church purposes, and the support of the community is asked.

OFFICERS GET MAN IN STUMPS HILLS TUESDAY

D. B. Tidwell of Birmingham, formerly of this county, was caught by Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee in the Stumps Hills settlement Tuesday morning with a quart of moonshine whiskey in his Ford car. Tidwell, when the officers took hold of him, assured them that what he had in his bottle was wine, or at least that had bought it for wine, but upon close examination, it was found to be regular old Stumps Hills corn. So Tidwell and his Ford were brought to town, the man being placed in jail and the car being taken into custody by the sheriff to await court proceedings.

Tidwell professed to be a chicken and egg peddler out of Birmingham, and at the time he was caught with the whiskey he had a few eggs and chickens with him. The officers allowed him to dispose of his produce, that is, his chickens and eggs, after they got to Clanton.

Why Do We Celebrate July Fourth As a National Holiday in America?

A bit of American History Touching on the Nation's Birth, and the Reason its Birthday is Dear to the Hearts of Americans.

Our national holidays are too much given over to mere outward manifestations of observance and too little to recognition of the underlying ideas which give these festivities importance.

Independence day should set the American people thinking of the real and permanent meaning of the Declaration of Independence, and the vital significance of the Fourth of July.

The story of the birth of American nationality is one of the most inspiring in all the annals of mankind. No other nation has been born of such high purpose, broad vision and unselfish spirit of service to humanity.

The Declaration of Independence was signed by a company of greater men than ever before had been joined in the founding of a nation. Their act represented something far higher and nobler than mere personal dissatisfaction with the existing order. They were men who would have better served their personal advantage by desisting from this act. Moved by the purest patriotism, they launched defiance against a powerful military organization, supposedly capable of crushing the feeble forces of the colonies, knowing that monarchy was sure to define their act as treason and probably would punish them for such action with death.

No mere question of taxation, or even of insubordination to the British crown, moved these heroic men to their historic deed. The time had come for the American people to cast off the outward garments of Europeanism and assume the garb of independent nationality.

The European governmental and social order was no longer suitable to the situation of 3,000,000 colonists who had left the shores of Europe behind them, had here erected free commonwealths, and now were ready to turn their backs on European institutions. The European system of caste and class had never taken deep root in New World soil. Circumstances leveled conditions and made men as equal as variations of talent and industry would permit. No arbitrary system of rank based upon birth could survive in the free air of the virgin forest and field where men were thrown upon their own resources, where success, or even survival, depended upon individual qualities.

And so at Philadelphia, on July 4, 1776, the hour had come when Europeanism must end and Americanism begin. The Liberty bell rang forth a message which was destined to echo throughout the world or all time to come. For this new Americanism was to affect not only the continental domain of a new republic but the civilization of every land to be penetrated in the years to come by the principles proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence.

The union of the states was not to be achieved until the passing of eight years of war and five years of peace, but it was foreshadowed in this Continental Congress where the freedom of the colonies was proclaimed. Unity in the struggle for freedom was to be followed by union in the perpetuation of the results of that struggle.

Have faith in America! Have love for America! For love of this republic is love of humanity, which this republic through all its life from the beginning has served so well by example and action.

Let us honor the men who risked life and fortune that this republic might live, by rendering unyielding loyalty to the nation for which they were willing to surrender everything.

Let us resolve that this republic, despite the persistent effort of malevolent or misguided men, shall be kept true to the ideals of the patriots of '76, and of the long line of brave and wise men who after them have unselfishly served the nation.

UNCLE DOCK WELLS GIVES GOOD NEWS TO OUR READERS

Early last monday morning, just a few minutes after we had opened up the Banner print shop, Uncle Dock Wells came in and told the editor to take a seat at his desk, that he had some good news which he wanted to tell the readers of The Banner about. We got our pencil and pad and began to jot down Uncle Dock's dictations.

He began by saying that he had just returned from a trip which had carried him almost all over the county, and that he had had a most enjoyable time. Uncle Dock said that the crops of the county, generally speaking, were the best he had seen for years. Of course, he said that he had seen some grass and some poor spots among the crops, but as a general thing, they were very good. The firm belief was expressed by the old gentleman that the people of the country are entering an era of better times.

"On my round," said Uncle Dock, "I have heard lots of talk about protracted meetings to take place during July and August. I diden't find any wild-cat whiskey, diden't see any and diden't smell any. I heard but little said concerning politics. I found what I consider a nice crop of frying-size chickens—enough, I think, to last through the revival meeting season. Some of the chickens were slightly affected with sore-head, but that dosen't matter for preachers don't care for chickens' heads no way."

Uncle Dock was wonderfully elated over his trip, saying that his friends were all mighty glad to see him, and that it was a great pleasure to him to be out among them.

The interesting discourse was closed with his good wishes to the Banner readers, and the hope that he might see lots of them in the big meetings over the county during the next few months.

STORE BROKEN INTO AT COOPERS THURSDAY NIGHT

On last Thursday night, June 26th, burglars entered the store of Cooper Produce Company through the sky light and carried away dry goods, shoes, etc., to the amount of around $400.00. This is the fourth time this store has been broken into during the past three years. It is owned by O. D. Deloach of Coopers and Tom Taylor of Clanton.

Some parties passing the store at midnight that night saw some men whom they say were two white men in the store with lights, but they thinking that it was probably Mr. Deloach thought nothing of it. Messrs. Taylor and Deloach are offering a reward for the arrest and evidence leading to the conviction of the guilty parties.

NEGRO WITHOUT LIGHTS RUNS FORD INTO WHITE MAN'S CAR

A rather unpleasant and, according to reports, uncalled for incident occurred on the Lock 12 Road near the home of Tug Willis last Saturday night about 10 o'clock, when a Ford car driven by Carl Peavey, a negro, was headed into another car driven by a man by the name of Smitherman. Reports say that Smitherman was going up the highway when he saw a car coming at reckless speed and without lights, so Smitherman drove his car out in the ditch beside the road to give the approaching car plenty of room to pass. But instead of passing, the car driven by Peavey was turned so as to head right into Smitherman's car.

As soon as the negro's car stopped, Carl Peavey got out with a double-barrel shot-gun in his hand and Peavey's wife got out with a revolver in her hand. The negroes said that they thought the car which was stopped beside the road was that of the "damned officers," and that they were going to have it out with them right there. When the negroes found that it was not the officers' car, Smitherman and the women and children who were with them were ordered to take on up the road and not to mention anything of the affair. Mr. Smitherman, being unarmed, had to obey the orders of the negro.

Someone in the community called the Sheriff at Clanton, so Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee went out there. When the officers arrived on the scene, they found only Carl Peavey there with the wrecked cars. A quantity of whiskey was found poured out in front of Peavey's car and a broken 2-gallon jug was found a few feet away. The officers asked the negro what was the trouble, to which he answered that the white man ran into him. The negro said that he knew nothing of the whiskey and the jug. As yet, no arrest have been made regarding the affair.

COOPER READY FOR BIG GO AT KANSAS CITY ON JULY 4th

Famous Pilot Hopes to Overcome Jinx That Trailed Him at Indianapolis and Altoona Speedways.

Kansas City, Mo., June 30.—You can't break the heart of a Nebraska farmer's son. Out in Marion county they still talk of the way young Earl Cooper, at the age of 10, mastered an intractable farm horse and made it cakewalk like a stage performer.

Cooper, one of the world's famous race drivers, veteran of a thousand contests, came to Kansas City today with his tiny blue Studebaker Special. And he's devoting his waking hours to schemes for beating Old Man Jinx and winning the fast Fourth of July races at the Speedway here.

Inspired by good-luck trophies and keepsakes from racing fans all over the country, Cooper set a terrific pace at Indianapolis in the 500-mile classic last month.

Forced Into Second.

His average of 97.99 miles an hour was faster than the oval had ever known. And then, while leading at 125 miles, his right tire threw a steaming hot tread, and he was forced into second by a tire change.

Then, at the 250-mile Altoona, Pa., speedway on June 14, Cooper drove his Studebaker Special at a reckless speed, climbing steadily toward first place. Bing! Old Man Jinx stuck a loose nail in his rear right tire on the fifteenth lap. Another tire burned up on the thirty-first lap.

But Cooper wheeled right on, after a tire change of 9 1-2 seconds. Two more tires burned out from Cooper's mad wheeling around the track, and Cooper was forced to finish sixth, behind Tommy Milton.

"I was leading at Kansas City just a year ago," said Cooper, today, "but trouble kept me from winning. This July 4th I hope to set a new world's record. This Studebaker Special is plenty fast. Just let me have an even break, and the checkered flag will be mine."

Cooper is known in the racing world as a "laboratory racer." His charts, blue-prints and scientific tests, which accompany him to every race course, have attracted much interest. He shares every improvement with his fellow racers. And they are wondering what the "Little Napoleon" is planning to do here in the big race.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

Last week I told you about "Hotels On Wheels." This time I shall attempt to give you some idea of what we saw along the way and since our arrival at the home of our son in Kenvil, New Jersey.

From Birmingham to Atlanta was a night ride of which we knew but little, except that the road bed of The Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railroad seemed to be pretty rough which together with frequent stops and bumps prevented a good sleep.

Arriving in Atlanta at 6:15 a.m., we were supposed to leave at 8 a.m., attached to a train coming over the West Point road from Montgomery. While strolling in the train shed we met the Conductor of our car who told us the Montgomery train was twenty-five minutes late, and we would have plenty of time to get breakfast, so we climbed the long stairway to the street level and went into the Station Restaurant. The service, equipment and food were such as to make us feel that we would look for a more satisfactory place next time.

Going down to the R. R. tracks again we found that our car had been moved, as we had been told it would be, but in due time we located it at the rear end of that train from Montgomery, now being made up as a solid Pullman train to run as far as Washington, D. C., over the Southern Railroad.

At Gainsville, Ga., we set our watches ahead one hour to conform to Eastern Time. At Seneca, Ga., 115 miles from Atlanta, the dining car is put on and dinner served and another hour's run brings us to Greenville which is the last stop we make within the state of Georgia.

We noted a great difference in appearance of the farms of Alabama and Georgia. While the Georgia farms for the most part were more free from stumps and scrubby growth trees, and had by far better buildings than our average Alabama farms, vegetation in the broad fields looked mighty sorry compared with what we left in Alabama. Corn, only 4 to 6 inches high was of a sickly green, and cotton was barely above the ground. The fields looked clean and well cared for, but so little was work in the fields evident that we saw only one lone man with a mule in the four hours ride before we left the State. One thing I did notice that our farmers might well adopt—every plowed field was liberally terraced, and instead of leaving the terraces to grow up to grass and weeds, they were invariably planted to corn, which was up and looked far better than any in the open fields.

When we reached North Carolina at Charlotte about 4 p.m., we at once noted great improvement in the appearance of everything visible. The stock in the fields looked good; everything indicated a spirit of progress among the people. Manufacturing of various kinds was in evidence and good roads were the rule instead of the exception. Fine school houses were noted in many places and we understand that they are common in all parts of the State.

It took just about four hours to cross North Carolina. We had supper in the diner and reached Danville, Va., soon after 8 p.m. As it was then growing dark we could see nothing of the passing show. Our route led through Charlottsville, the seat of a great University, Lynchburg. Manassas, of historic interest, Alexandria, all Virginia cities, to Washington, D. C., where we caught a glimpse of the dome of the Capitol building. Thence over the Pennsylvania railroad to Baltimore, Md., Philadelphia, Pa., Wilmington, Delaware. Thence through several important New Jersey cities to Newark, where we arrived soon after breakfast. Newark is a city of 600,000 population and a great manufacturing center, sending its products far and wide. Before we got away from the R. R. Station we saw a huge motor truck or covered van, painted a glistening white, bearing on its sides in large gold letters the one word "Mennens" which every mother in the land knows through magazine advertising or personal experience.

In this section of northern New Jersey one is certainly in the midst of things. Within an area no larger than the state of Alabama there is concentrated probably 20 per cent of the population of the United States. A hetereogeneous accumulation of all types of humanity in the known world. Greater wealth and deeper poverty, more beauty and greater squalor, more of good and more of evil than can be found within a like area anywhere in this land of ours.

Just now the eyes and ears of the world are attracted to the great Democratic convention assembled in New York. It is my privilege to "sit in" at a Radio receiver and hear all the proceedings very distinctly. A wonderful opportunity and entertainment. Here is some of it.

It is not my purpose to attempt to report speeches in the convention. Readers of The Union-Banner will no doubt have read them long before they could be published in any weekly paper, nevertheless there were many items of interest, a Radio audience scattered over a wide area as atmospheric conditions on Tuesday, the first day of the convention were almost perfect, and arrangements for broadcasting at the convention were first class so that every word or sound was distinctly audible, with very little of interfering noise.

The convention was called to order at 11 o'clock a.m., daylight saving time, which is one hour earlier than Eastern time and two hours ahead of Alabama time. For some reason the National Committee and the delegates were slow in assembling and were not ready for business until 11:30.

In the meantime the audience, comprising about 12,000 people were entertained by a talented concert singer, Miss Anna Case, whose strong, resonant and beautiful voice seemed to fill the vast spaces and charm not only the great audience within the hall but the much larger Radio audience. The Radio announcer was an adept at his business and gave such graphic descriptions of all that was going on that it seemed as if we were present and could visualize the whole show.

At last all was ready and we heard the gavel of the chairman of the National Committee pounding for order (Mr. Cordell Hull), and his voice announcing the convention had come to order. Next came the earnest invocation by a well known Bishop, whose name has escaped the writer. Business moved along fast and smooth, several committee reports were made, then the chairman announced the nomination of Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, by the National Committee, to be temporary chairman of the convention, and recommended his election. The recommendation was put to a vote and carried without a dissenting voice. A committee was appointed to escort Mr. Harrison to the platform, and at his appearance a great roar of handclapping and vociferous applause greeted him.

Senator Harrison lost no time, except to express his thanks for the honor conferred upon him, then started at once on his keynote speech. His voice was clear and his every word could be as distinctly heard as though we were seated by his side. He had prepared a "roast" for the Republicans and presented it in good style.

He then extolled the Democratic administration of Woodrow Wilson. When he mentioned the martyred President by name the audience rose as one man and the cheers and yells were deafening. The different delegations siezed their banners and started a march in the aisles, the audience stood on their chairs waving whatever they happened to have with them and each trying to outdo his neighbor in making a noise. This demonstration lasted for about fifteen minutes before order was restored and Senator Harrison was permitted to finish his speech. At its close there was another outburst of applause cut short by the band playing Dixie. After a welcoming speech by Mayor Hylan of New York City, in which he offered "The Freedom of the City" to delegates, alternates and visitors, there were a few resolutions presented and adopted, some announcements made and the convention stood adjourned until 11 o'clock Wednesday. It is worthy of note that many women were among the delegates and committees of which women were chairmen in some cases.

Wednesday was a strenuous day at the convention, which was supposed to meet at 11 a.m. Delegates, committees and the crowd were slow in coming and more slow in getting down to business. The temporary chairman called many times for delegates to clear the aisles and be seated but it was near noon before they came to order.

After some routine business, including the report of committee on permanent organization which announced the nomination of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, "a tried and true democrat and the greatest investigator in the land," for permanent chairman, and Mr. Walsh's election by acclamation, a committee consisting of two men and two women were appointed to escort him to the platform. After a brief word of thanks for the honor conferred upon him, he began his speech, which lasted about an hour.

The announcer reported the hall insufferably hot and the delegates uncomfortable and uneasy.

Soon after Senator Walsh finished his speech he announced nominations for President in order and instructed the clerk to call the roll of States; Alabama being first on the list Hon. Forney Johnston was recognized by the chairman and in an eloquent and forceful speech nominated Alabama's illustrious son, Oscar W. Underwood. When he finished any Alabamian might be proud to claim citizenship with a man of the character and qualifications he gave Senator Underwood. A little later a delegate from Maine was given the floor and seconded the nomination. After listening to all the nominating and seconding speeches for each of the sixteen candidates put in nomination for the presidency by this Democratic convention, I can say no one of them was more fittingly nominated or graciously seconded than Alabama's "Favorite Son."

The next man nominated was Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas. It struck me as decidedly humorous that at the conclusion of the nominating speech the band should strike up "Old Black Jo."

California was next called and Senator Phelan of that state took a foul hour in denouncing the Republican party and its administration, extolling the virtues of the Democrats, eulogizing President Wilson and finally getting down to the purpose of his remarks set off in glowing terms what a good fellow was William Gibbs McAdoo, whom he nominated for president.

Then another demonstration broke loose. Delegates, Alternates and friends of the nominee by thousands marched in the ailes, waving bnners, flags, hats and arms, all yelling vociferously, keeping up the racket which came to us over the Radio, like the roar of Niagara. And lasting for an hour, as night approached a sudden and terriffic electrical storm arose and we abandoned the Radio.

Next morning, Thursday, when the convention opened, Connecticut was called and the chairman of that delegation annouced they would give place to New York. This gave opportunity for the nomination of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York. During the recess the Smith adherents had provided themselves with a great variety of noise making mechanisms, even to a great siren borrowed from one of the battleships in the harbor. With the aid of these implements of torture they monopolized the time of the convention with human and mechanical noise (called a demonstration) of more than an hour, just to beat the McAdoo crowd, and all day long whenever Smith's name was mentioned by seconding speakers or otherwise they went at it again until the patience of many was exhausted and the chairman announced "If we are not permitted to conduct our meeting here we will go elsewhere." After this, things were more orderly, and by night ten candidates in all had been enrolled, leaving twenty-five delegations yet to hear from.

Friday morning, it soon became evident that machine enthusiasm had been eliminated, and whatever of applause occurred was of human origin.

The entire session of the fourth day of the convention was spent in nominating and seconding speeches and demonstrations by the audience and delegates, and the day's work wound up with a contingent of six more nominees.

One can imagine the heroic struggle which faces the convention to secure the 762 ballots necessary to a choice of any one of them and possibly a dozen more who may be voted for without nomination.

The convention is so big that anything like a full report of any one day's proceedings, fills the pages of our largest daily papers.

I have only attemepted to give glimpses by an "ear witness" and if the readers of The Union-Banner have been agreeably informed and have obtained a fair idea of the proceedings, my efforts will not have been in vain.

Mrs. S. E. Smith of Jemison Route 3 was a pleasant caller at our office Tuesday morning.

NEW DORMITORY AT WOMAN'S COLLEGE OF ALABAMA

The Woman's College of Alabama will complete its new dormitory by September 1st, according to President Agnew. This new building, which will cost $110,000, was made possible by the people of Montgomery and Mr. Victor H. Hanson, editor and publisher of the Birmingham News, who gave $10,000 on conditions that the citizens of Montgomery raise $50,000 more and that the building be called The Weenona Hanson Hall. The canvass, which was initiated by the Chamber of Commerce of Montgomery, was successfully completed with a little over the amount desired subscribed. Rev. Richard Wilkinson, Rector of St. Johns Episcopal Church, was chairman of the campaign committee.

The new building is to be 142 feet long and four stories above the basement. It will accommodate 130 students, in suites of two rooms and a bath. The basement will contain the heating plant, the laundry and the kitchen. On the first floor there will be a suite of three parlors and offices for the Dean of Women.

Alabama is growing, as no other state, in educational desires and the higher institutions of learning are hard pressed to keep up with the demands created by the increase of high school graduates. The Woman's College of Alabama is enlarging her facilities as fast as possible in order to provide for the girls who may desire a college education.

The Railroad Dollar of YESTERDAY and TODAY

How the Railroad Dollar Has Shrunk

Although everybody realizes that "everything has gone up" amazingly and distressingly, the general public does not know of the great increase in the cost of operating American railroads, as shown by a comparison between the years 1916 and 1923—and the corresponding shrinkage of the purchasing power of the railroad dollar.

As a pertinent illustration, ta the following figures from the records of the L. & N. Railroad:

In 1916, the L. & N. paid for labor 37c out of every dollar received, while in 1923 the cost had increased to 50c; the average cost of coal per ton at the mines was $1.10, which increased to $2.65; the cost of passenger locomotives increased from $16,575 to $51,500; freight cars, from $1,127 to $2,008; rails, from $30 per ton to $43; bridge steel, from $50 per ton to $83; cross-ties, from 51c each to $1.18; track ballast, from 10c per cubic yard to 23c—and so on.

In 1916 the L. & N.'s payment for taxes was $480 per mile, while in 1923 it was $1,265; an increase of 164%. During the same period the book value of L. & N. property increased 30.4%; but its net operating income decreased 6.4%.

All of this increase in cost was beyond the control of the management of the L. & N. Railroad; yet despite the new problems and burdens which it created, the L. & N. has consistently improved its service and added to the facilities of its transportation plant. The efficient and able management of the Nation's Railroads, of which the L. & N. is typical, alone has enabled them to meet the changing conditions, and shortened revenues, above described and still not only maintain their service to an equal standard, but actually improve it.

The extension of this road by the institute will mean a saving of $15,000 a year on freight rates to the institute.

TRUSTEES TO SPEND PROCEEDS MILLION DOLLAR CAMPAIGN

Montevallo, Ala.—Funds collected in the million dollar campaign, launched on June 2nd by the board of trustees for Alabama College at Montevallo, with Dean Carmichael in active charge, will be expended by the regular board of trustees of the college, headed by Governor W. W. Brandon and President T. W. Palmer of the College.

The money will be turned over to this board to be used for expansion purposes exclusively, the building of additional buildings and installation of additional equipment to take care of the growing needs of the college. The school, according to Dr. Palmer, has reached the limit of its service to the state and it is for expansion, not maintenance that the million dollar fund is being asked of the people of the state.

The first thing that will be done with money collected in this drive will be the erection of a large dormitory to raise the capacity of the school in boarding accommodations to at least a thousand students.

This will be followed by the erection of an academic building in order that the classes, which have been meeting in rooms from one end of the campus to the other, may be gathered together in one building for the sake of convenience and efficiency.

Following that the board of trustees is planning to erect a modern chapel, to be a memorial to the Alabama Women of All Wars, which will replace the oldest and most inadequate building in the entire campus the present auditorium of the school

The program of expansion will cover a period of five years just as the collection of funds realized from the drive will cover a period of five years.

Members of the board of trustees have also been appointed members of the state-wide executive committee to handle the million dollar drive. The personnel of the committee is as follows:

Dr. T. W. Palmer, president, Governor W. W. Brandon, Judge W. H. Tayloe of Uniontown, M. V. Joseph of Birmingham, A. V. Lee of Gadsden, W. T. Sheehan of Montgomery, Dr. J. W. Abercrombie of Montgomery, Dean O. C. Carmichael of Montevallo, L. M. Moseley of Union Springs, W. J. Dansby of Butler, Judge R. B. Evins of Birmingham, J. B. Ellis of Selma, Virgil Bouldin of Huntsville and Landers W. Sevier of Birmingham.

ALABAMA ENTERS EXPOSITION IN N. Y.

Will Take Part In South-Wide Show In Metropolis, January 19 to 31 Of 1925.

Montgomery, Ala., July 1.—An opportunity is now presenting itself to the people of Alabama to give the people of New York first-hand information as to resources, conditions, and opportunities in Alabama. A Southern Exposition will be held at the Grand Central Palace, New York City, January 19-31, 1925, and a concerted movement is now in progress all over the State for Alabama to take her proper place at this Exposition.

The plan is to have an exhibit which will accurately and effectively represent Alabama. It is to include manufactured products of all kinds, agricultural products, minerals, sea and tropical products from the Mobile Bay district, and also special exhibits which will be arranged by many towns of the State. It is hoped that a mineral exhibit will be prepared by the University of Alabama and that an agricultural exhibit will be prepared by the Extension Service at Auburn. Mining and manufacturing concerns and cities and towns expect to prepare special exhibits.

O. L. Bunn, Secretary, Chamber of Commerce, Birmingham, is chairman of the Alabama committee which is directing this work; and Jesse B. Hearin, of the Farm Section of the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce, is secretary. Dr. J. M. Clark, Russellville; J. B. Brosious, Tuscaloosa, E. A. Osbourn, Bessemer, W. F. Black, Montgomery, and W. H. Butler, Gadsden, are other members of the committee.

Approximately 7500 square feet of space has been alloted to Alabama, and, according to Mr. Hearin, 5000 feet of it have been conditionally reserved. He is handling all requests for space.

THE UNITY FIFTH SUNDAY AT MT. CREEK CHURCH

The eastern section of the Unity Baptist Association met with the Mt. Creek Baptist Church Sunday, June 29th, 1924, in its regular Fifth Sunday meeting.

The audience was called to order about 10:15 o'clock a.m., and was organized by electing Dr. S. J. Ezell chirman and R. L. Duffey secretary for the day.

Rev. E. A. Norris conducted the devotional exercises, after which Rev. J. D. Hughes delivered a splendid address on the subject "Necessary Preparations for the Revival."

Rev. M. W. Mims being absent, the subject, "Stewardship, the solution of our Baptist Problems," was ably discussed by Rev. E. A. Norris, followed by splendid remarks by J. Z. Mims, Rev. Trice and Rev. J. D. Hughes.

The eleven o'clock hour was filled by a splendid address by Dr. Ezell on the subject, "Completing the Task." You who have heard Dr. Ezell may imagine to some extent what a treat this address was.

At noon there was a table spread in the grove fitting for a king.

After noon, the meeting was led in prayer by Rev. Trice, after which the subject, "Our Sunday School Problems," was introduced by Bro. W. T. Johnson and was followed by short interesting talks by Arby Abernathy, J. Z. Mims, J. D. Hughes and E. A. Norris.

"Teacher Training," was ably discussed by Bro. H. S. Shaw.

Mrs. L. Gilbert not being present, "The W. M. U. Accomplishments and Plans," was spoken to for a few minutes by Dr. Ezell.

"The B. Y. P. U." was very ably and fittingly spoken to by Bro. J. Z. Mims, and was followed by fitting remarks by J. D. Hughes and E. A. Norris.

I am very sorry that there was not more churches and Sunday Schools represented. Only about six, I believe. I pray God that more of our preachers, Sunday School teachers and interested laymen will wake up to the importance of our fifth Sunday meetings. It should be a love-feast for the interested workers of the Vineyard. The meeting gave a rising vote of thanks to the Mt. Creek Church and community for its hospitality, after which we adjourned in order.

R. L. DUFFEY, Secy.

Mr. Clarke Harper Jr., and little son, Clarke III (sonny boy) of Columbus, Ga., spent Saturday with their mother and grand mother, Mrs. Clarke Harper, Sr., in Clanton.

SMALLEST HOUSE OF WORSHIP

IT is doubtul if there's a smaller church than this one in the world. At least, this tiny edifice—the St. Anthony chapel, situated near Fort Atkinson, Iowa—has the reputation of being the smallest. And from the description sent us, it very likely is.

The chapel seats only eight persons. It was built in 1848 by F. J. Huber and John Gortner, who migrated to Iowa from Ohio. And, we're informed, it is still in very good condition—a sort of landmark that all Fort Atkinson natives point to with pride.

SOUTH CALERA

Misses Ida and Leola Cooper, after a week's visit to their aunt, returned to their home in Marble Valley last Sunday.

Miss Mexa Tate spent several days in Calera last week attending the Baptist revival.

Mr. Mack Busby of Elmore, after a visit to his son in Colorado, returned by South Calera for a few days visit to his sister, Mrs. Davis Green.

Mrs. Tom Busby and two children, Vera and Era, spent a part of last week in Pelham visiting relatives.

Mr. George Lee was in Montevallo one day last week.

Mrs. Mary Griffin is visiting friends in Calera.

Mrs. George Lee went to Birmingham Sunday to be the guest of her daughter for a few days.

Mr. Will Jones spent the week end with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Burgess and Mrs. E. D. Crim motored to the River near Wilsonville Sunday.

Miss Dora Campbell came home Saturday afternoon from Siluria to visit her mother, Mrs. C. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Busby and little daughter from Pelham came Sunday to spend the week with relatives in South Calera.

A number of new additions were made to the church during the Baptist revival in Calera for the last two weeks. Bro. E. B. Farrar did the preaching. The meeting was among the best ever held in Calera.

Mrs. Horace Busby was the guest of Mrs. W. N. Jones Monday.

FIFTH SUNDAY MEETING AT MULBERRY CHURCH

After devotional, which was conducted by Dr. John A. Pool, Bro. B. Lawrence was made chairman for the day.

"The Outstanding need of our Association," was spoken to by Bro. W. J. Billingsley. "The Remedy," as given by Bro. Harper, is a re-consecration of our lives to God's service.

At this point, by request, Mrs. W. J. Billingsley was given time to discuss W. M. U. After a most inspiring talk on this subject, a collection of $8.00 was taken for Dr. Ayers, a Missionary in China.

An address, or sermon, by Rev. S. H. Bennett, was a real treat for all who heard him. His appeal was to the individual. "Get yourself right and that will right the church."

After this sermon a dinner sufficient for twice as many people was spread.

At 1:30 the house was again called to order and the remainder of the program was rendered. Bro. T. J. Deason took care of the subject, "What shall we do about it?"

"The B. Y. P. U." was spoken to by Miss Lena Franklin. You know the ground is always covered when she gets through. We hope all who heard her will heed the advice given.

The last subject, "Laymen Movement," was taken care of by Paul Oden and Bro. Bennett.

The writer is not able to express in words through these columns the inspiration derived from this meeting. We wish it were possible to pass every good thought that was given to the entire Chilton County Association. Bro. Bennett is a whole team and surely things must move wherever he is found.

Friends, avail yourselves of every opportunity to learn of the conditions surrounding you, and then try to have a part in righting the wrong and taking care of the things that are good.

HOWARD R. ODEN, Secy.

ALABAMA ENTERS EXPOSITION IN N. Y.

Will Take Part In South-Wide Show In Metropolis, January 19 to 31 Of 1925.

Montgomery, Ala., July 1.—An opportunity is now presenting itself to the people of Alabama to give the people of New York first-hand information as to resources, conditions, and opportunities in Alabama. A Southern Exposition will be held at the Grand Central Palace, New York City, January 19-31, 1925, and a concerted movement is now in progress all over the State for Alabama to take her proper place at this Exposition.

The plan is to have an exhibit which will accurately and effectively represent Alabama. It is to include manufactured products of all kinds, agricultural products, minerals, sea and tropical products from the Mobile Bay district, and also special exhibits which will be arranged by many towns of the State. It is hoped that a mineral exhibit will be prepared by the University of Alabama and that an agricultural exhibit will be prepared by the Extension Service at Auburn. Mining and manufacturing concerns and cities and towns expect to prepare special exhibits.

O. L. Bunn, Secretary, Chamber of Commerce, Birmingham, is chairman of the Alabama committee which is directing this work; and Jesse B. Hearin, of the Farm Section of the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce, is secretary. Dr. J. M. Clark, Russellville; J. B. Brosious, Tuscaloosa, E. A. Osbourn, Bessemer, W. F. Black, Montgomery, and W. H. Butler, Gadsden, are other members of the committee.

Approximately 7500 square feet of space has been alloted to Alabama, and, according to Mr. Hearin, 5000 feet of it have been conditionally reserved. He is handling all requests for space.

THE UNITY FIFTH SUNDAY AT MT. CREEK CHURCH

The eastern section of the Unity Baptist Association met with the Mt. Creek Baptist Church Sunday, June 29th, 1924, in its regular Fifth Sunday meeting.

The audience was called to order about 10:15 o'clock a.m., and was organized by electing Dr. S. J. Ezell chirman and R. L. Duffey secretary for the day.

Rev. E. A. Norris conducted the devotional exercises, after which Rev. J. D. Hughes delivered a splendid address on the subject "Necessary Preparations for the Revival."

Rev. M. W. Mims being absent, the subject, "Stewardship, the solution of our Baptist Problems," was ably discussed by Rev. E. A. Norris, followed by splendid remarks by J. Z. Mims, Rev. Trice and Rev. J. D. Hughes.

The eleven o'clock hour was filled by a splendid address by Dr. Ezell on the subject, "Completing the Task." You who have heard Dr. Ezell may imagine to some extent what a treat this address was.

At noon there was a table spread in the grove fitting for a king.

After noon, the meeting was led in prayer by Rev. Trice, after which the subject, "Our Sunday School Problems," was introduced by Bro. W. T. Johnson and was followed by short interesting talks by Arby Abernathy, J. Z. Mims, J. D. Hughes and E. A. Norris.

"Teacher Training," was ably discussed by Bro. H. S. Shaw.

Mrs. L. Gilbert not being present, "The W. M. U. Accomplishments and Plans," was spoken to for a few minutes by Dr. Ezell.

"The B. Y. P. U." was very ably and fittingly spoken to by Bro. J. Z. Mims, and was followed by fitting remarks by J. D. Hughes and E. A. Norris.

I am very sorry that there was not more churches and Sunday Schools represented. Only about six, I believe. I pray God that more of our preachers, Sunday School teachers and interested laymen will wake up to the importance of our fifth Sunday meetings. It should be a love-feast for the interested workers of the Vineyard. The meeting gave a rising vote of thanks to the Mt. Creek Church and community for its hospitality, after which we adjourned in order.

R. L. DUFFEY, Secy.

Mr. Clarke Harper Jr., and little son, Clarke III (sonny boy) of Columbus, Ga., spent Saturday with their mother and grand mother, Mrs. Clarke Harper, Sr., in Clanton.

SMALLEST HOUSE OF WORSHIP

IT is doubtul if there's a smaller church than this one in the world. At least, this tiny edifice—the St. Anthony chapel, situated near Fort Atkinson, Iowa—has the reputation of being the smallest. And from the description sent us, it very likely is.

The chapel seats only eight persons. It was built in 1848 by F. J. Huber and John Gortner, who migrated to Iowa from Ohio. And, we're informed, it is still in very good condition—a sort of landmark that all Fort Atkinson natives point to with pride.

SOUTH CALERA

Misses Ida and Leola Cooper, after a week's visit to their aunt, returned to their home in Marble Valley last Sunday.

Miss Mexa Tate spent several days in Calera last week attending the Baptist revival.

Mr. Mack Busby of Elmore, after a visit to his son in Colorado, returned by South Calera for a few days visit to his sister, Mrs. Davis Green.

Mrs. Tom Busby and two children, Vera and Era, spent a part of last week in Pelham visiting relatives.

Mr. George Lee was in Montevallo one day last week.

Mrs. Mary Griffin is visiting friends in Calera.

Mrs. George Lee went to Birmingham Sunday to be the guest of her daughter for a few days.

Mr. Will Jones spent the week end with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Burgess and Mrs. E. D. Crim motored to the River near Wilsonville Sunday.

Miss Dora Campbell came home Saturday afternoon from Siluria to visit her mother, Mrs. C. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Busby and little daughter from Pelham came Sunday to spend the week with relatives in South Calera.

A number of new additions were made to the church during the Baptist revival in Calera for the last two weeks. Bro. E. B. Farrar did the preaching. The meeting was among the best ever held in Calera.

Mrs. Horace Busby was the guest of Mrs. W. N. Jones Monday.

FIFTH SUNDAY MEETING AT MULBERRY CHURCH

After devotional, which was conducted by Dr. John A. Pool, Bro. B. Lawrence was made chairman for the day.

"The Outstanding need of our Association," was spoken to by Bro. W. J. Billingsley. "The Remedy," as given by Bro. Harper, is a re-consecration of our lives to God's service.

At this point, by request, Mrs. W. J. Billingsley was given time to discuss W. M. U. After a most inspiring talk on this subject, a collection of $8.00 was taken for Dr. Ayers, a Missionary in China.

An address, or sermon, by Rev. S. H. Bennett, was a real treat for all who heard him. His appeal was to the individual. "Get yourself right and that will right the church."

After this sermon a dinner sufficient for twice as many people was spread.

At 1:30 the house was again called to order and the remainder of the program was rendered. Bro. T. J. Deason took care of the subject, "What shall we do about it?"

"The B. Y. P. U." was spoken to by Miss Lena Franklin. You know the ground is always covered when she gets through. We hope all who heard her will heed the advice given.

The last subject, "Laymen Movement," was taken care of by Paul Oden and Bro. Bennett.

The writer is not able to express in words through these columns the inspiration derived from this meeting. We wish it were possible to pass every good thought that was given to the entire Chilton County Association. Bro. Bennett is a whole team and surely things must move wherever he is found.

Friends, avail yourselves of every opportunity to learn of the conditions surrounding you, and then try to have a part in righting the wrong and taking care of the things that are good.

HOWARD R. ODEN, Secy.

Coolidge and Dawes; Coolidge and Dawes:
One at each end of the crosscut that saws.

Another Senatorial investigation is under way in Washington. But this time the tables are turned and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the leader of the Democrats, is the object of inquiry. In playing a game of golf on one of the most fashionable and exclusive courses at the National Capital things did not go to suit him. Reason fled, the primordial instincts of the cave man gained the ascendency, and the individual who had the temerity to question the Senator was laid flat with an awful soak in the eye. Now the governors of the club are looking into the matter to determine whether the distinguished Democratic statesman shall be asked to resign, or whether he will be tolerated a while longer.

"Government extravagance must stop," President Coolidge curtly told the Democratic-Radical combination at the Capitol responsible for the $68,000,000 postal pay bill when he returned that measure to the Senate with his veto. "The money must come from the pockets of the taxpayers. To the extent that we create further obligations which must be met from the moneys derived from taxation, to the extent do we reduce the possibility of further reduction in taxes. Before such obligations are created it should be conclusively shown that they are essential in the best interests of the Nation." Every citizen can say "Amen" to that proposition, and every voter will substantially endorse it with a Coolidge ballot next November.

LENIN MUST HAVE LAUGHED

Communists and anarchists in their palmiest days and nothing on the Democratic members of the Rhode Island State Senate when they undertook to put into effect their slogan of "our program or bust." The Democrats wanted to put through a measure for a popular referendum on the calling of a convention for revision of the state constitution, and insisted that the Republicans give it their support. The Republicans thought otherwise, whereupon the Democrats, aided by a presiding officer of their own party, proceeded to ram the proposition down Republican throats. Free for all fist fights punctuated the proceedings, police reserves were rushed to the Senate Chamber, and gas bombs were exploded that rendered a number of Republicans horsdu combat. Finally 21 of the 22 Republican Senators left with the determination not to return, after the chairman of the Republican state committee declared he had advised hem to leave the State to escape probable violence at the hands of "thugs and gunmen."

There is no difference in principle between what has transpired in the Rhode Island Senate and the recent proceedings of committees in the Demo-radically controlled United States Senate. The one found expression in physical violence, while the other was an exhibition of moral and mental depravity seldom found in any legislative body. In Rhode Island bodily harm was perpetrated upon the Republicans by their opponents. In Washington character assassination was the weapon which the Demo-rads relied upon to accomplish their ends. There are plenty of lessons that our voters can draw from these incidents, the chief of which is "Keep cool with Coolidge."

CLEANINGS

Boston Transcript—Owners of railroads are forming an organization apparently for the purpose of reminding the Government and the public that, after all, the people who invested their money in the roads have some rights.

Marion Star—In a word, Secretary Hughes, couching his note in words of the utmost friendliness, points out to Nippon that we do not care to exercise that as a privilege which is ours as a right.

Fort Wayne Sentinel—In a Washington alley, a cat was found the other day nursing five pups. That's nothin! We know of a certain political party that is nursing a whole flock of bolsheviks.

Minneapolis Tribune—What the country needs is not only a continuation of Calvin Coolidge in the White House, but the election of a Congress which will give him whole-hearted support.

St. Louis Times—With the national debt reduced by two and a half billions the Democratic party will find difficulty in puncturing the financial record of the Republican Administration.

Providence Journal—"League Issue to be Dropped by Democrats."—Headline. Having previously been dropped by a seven million plurality of the voters of the United States.

Omaha Bee—One outfit objects to Dawes as being too conservative, and another is against him because he is too explosive. The voters will like him because he is progressive.

Springfield Union—Both directly and indirectly the work of General Dawes in Europe has been the most helpful and promising thing done for the American farmers.

Boston Transcript—Secretary Davis predicts that it will be a 10,000,000 plurality for Coolidge—a landslide plus a tidal wave, so to speak.

St. Louis Times—Calvin Coolidge has more followers today than any other man in the United States of America. He is our greatest leader.

Philadelphia North American—Washington was a good enough Father of his country but what the communists are looking for now is a Foster father.

Los Angeles Times—With Coolidge and Dawes as candidates few will need to read the platform. It's a good one, at that.

Portland Oregonian—Liberty bonds of late have been selling above par, perhaps due to the Coolidge and Dawes incident.

Providence Journal—The Democrats need not flatter themselves that General Dawe's pipe is a pipe of peace.

W. M. U. WORKER

THE FARMER'S CARVING SET

The New York "World" has been throwing fits because the Republican tariff imposes too heavy a tax on the things the farmer must buy, and it cites carving sets as an example. All you farmers who feel burdened by the tax on carving sets please stand up and be counted.

In most farm homes the carving is done with the same meat knife that is used in the kitchen. If the farmer has a carving knife with a special bone handle, he probably paid about $2 for it, and it will easily last him for 40 years. Even if the total cost was due to the tariff, the tariff burden would be only five cents per year.

Of course the whole price of the carving knife would not be due to the tariff, and probably none of it would be. You will remember that in 1890 when the McKinley bill proposed to put a tariff on tin, the Democrats said that this would mean increased prices for everything the people buy that is put up in tin cans. But experience proved them to be ignorant of the effects of a tariff. Under the Republican tariff on tin we built up a domestic industry and the price of tin went down instead of up. We were freed from the foreign monopoly.

The same thing may be true of carving knives. It very likely is. There is no monopoly in the manufacture of carving knives. Anyone can make them who wants to, and it does not take a very big plant, either. But the tariff compels the foreigner to pay a tax into the United States treasury before he can market his carving knives here, and gives the American knife maker a measure of protection from the cheap labor of Europe. When our own knife industry is operated on a large scale it can cut the price, just as the price of tin was cut.

But, in any event, we guess the American farmer will not be greatly agitated by the solicitude of the New York "World" for his welfare in the matter of carving knives. The "World" is more interested in getting its partisan in the White House than it is in the American farmer. And the farmer has sense enough to know it.

STAYED NEUTRAL

Absolute frankness and honesty in politics seems to be beyond the comprehension of some people. We have an illustration of this in the failure of many delegates at the Cleveland Convention to take President Coolidge at his word when he said in advance that he would make no recommendation as to the selection of the candidate for the Vice Presidency. Mr. Coolidge maintained the attitude he had indicated. Many delegates and many newspaper correspondents who cover conventions did not think he would. Consequently there were reports, more or less credited, that Coolidge had indicated his preference for one candidate or another. It was assumed by some that whomever campaign manager Butler preferred must be the choice of Coolidge also. As a matter of fact, Coolidge did just what he said he would do—leave the selection of a candidate for the Vice Presidency to the convention. Mr. Dawes was the choice of the convention, as he should be. The Republicans of the country sent an overwhelming majority of the delegates to Cleveland instructed for Coolidge for President. Those delegates were not instructed as to candidates for Vice President. They were free to exercise their own judgment, and they performed the duty well.

FARM FACTS

The boarder hen should be culled from the flock and the cost of keeping her eliminated. A thorough culling of every farm flock is now in order. Over 25 percent of the hens have been removed from flocks without reducing the egg production.

Announcement has been made at Farm headquarters, Montgomery, that over 100,000 hens have signed for cooperative egg marketing. The Alabama Farm Bureau Poultry Association is now assured. The membership campaign will continue until July 15, with indications that at least a quarter of a million hens will be signed.

The wise housewife buys early her supply of canning rubbers and throws away the old ones. The cost of a rubber ring is a lot less than the value of a jar of spoiled fruit.

"In the beginning when each farmer produced and manufactured at home most of the things that he and his family needed, selling very little, there was no great need for organization. But we are now farming in a different age, and under different conditions. A business organization of farmers held by capable and constructive leaders is an absolute necessity."—Prof. Duncan, Director, Alabama Extension Service.

Over $10,000 worth of Alabama cotton of the 1823 crop went to market by the cooperative route. It demonstrated the many advantages of marketing this way.

Mr. O. D. Deloach of Coopers was in Clanton Tuesday on business in connection with the robbery of his store at that place Thursday night.

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL METHODS approved by State & Government Experts

Boll weevils are greatly influenced by weather conditions at all times of the year. The rate of increase in the spring and summer depends on climatic conditions as do the length of time they remain in winter quarters, the death rate during the winter and the time of coming from winter quarters.

By far the most important check the weevil receives is dry weather during June and July. It has been found that in Texas and other Western states an average of about a quarter of all the grubs in the fields are killed by heat and dryness. If the weather is sufficiently dry a weevil in a square which falls to the ground is soon killed by the heat or by the fact that the square soon becomes so dry that it does not furnish suitable food. Even in fallen bolls as many as ten out of a hundred of the grubs are sometimes killed by these conditions. The bolls which do not fall to the ground do not become so heated as to affect the grubs.

In very dry weather, and especially when the cotton plants are small so there is very little shade, even the grown weevils are killed in a few seconds when they happen to fall upon the ground, provided they do not fall in a place where they can crawl immediately upon some object from which they can fly back to the cotton plant.

The seasons in which the boll weevil will always do the most damage are those with much wet weather in June and July and in such cases efforts to check their progress and rapid multiplication must be redoubled and the fields watched closely to determine the time for applications of calcium arsenate in dust form.

The greatest movement of the weevils into winter quarters is when an average temperature of 60 degrees is reached, especially if the nights are cold and the days comparatively warm. Under such conditions there is a very noticeable activity on the part of the weevils in the fields.

This generally takes place in October and November and is a gradual rather than a sudden movement.

The conditions most destructive to the weevil in the winter are more or less frequent changes from low to high temperatures. A number of changes of this kind will kill many more weevils than a very low temperature alone. During very warm spells in the winter the weevils are sometimes found flying about. Activity of this kind seems to weaken them and when a cold spell comes they usually cannot withstand it.

REV. CARTER AND BRIDE HERE

If anyone should ask, you may tell them that Pastor Carter is actually married. He was in Clanton one day last week, and he had the proof right with him. The Banner wishes to give its most hearty congratulations to both Rev. and Mrs. Carter. We feel sure that with the aid and encouragement of this noble lady as a life companion, Rev. Carter will be able to do his work as a Baptist minister even more efficiently and more strongly than he has in the past. We were indeed glad to meet Pastor Carter and his "better half."

HER FACE LOOKS FAMILIAR?

SURELY many of our women readers will recognize the simply but fashionably attired beauty pictured here. Her lovely brown eyes and haunting smile have graced hundreds of magazine covers and pages of fashion periodicals. Who is she? Well, if we must name her—she is Miss Lillian Grace.

Miss Grace is famed throughout the country as a remarkable beauty and is always in demand by photographers, artists and fashion experts. She appeared in person recently at the Fashion Pageant held in New York City where hundreds sought the chance to get a close glimpse of her.

With such beauty—should think she would make a good "drawing card."

Sick Headache

"I have used Black-Draught when needed for the past 25 years," says Mrs. Emma Grimes, of Forbes, Mo. "I began taking it for a bad case of constipation. I would get constipated and feel just miserable—sluggish, tired, a bad taste in my mouth, . . . and soon my head would begin hurting and I would have a severe sick headache. I don't know just who started me to taking but it did the work. It just seemed to cleanse the liver. Very soon I felt like new. When I found Black-Draught so easy to take and easy-acting, I began to use it in time and would not have sick headaches."

Constipation causes the system to re-absorb poisons that may cause great pain and much danger to your health. Take Thedford's Black-Draught. It will stimulate the liver and help to drive out the poisons.

STUDEBAKER WINS TWO "FIRSTS" IN REMARKABLE RUN

First Prizes in 1882-Mile Contest Staged at El Paso, Texas, Awarded to Studebaker Light-Six and Special Six for Economy and Endurance.

El Paso, Texas, June 30.—Two first prizes, one for economy and the other for endurance, were won by standard stock Studebaker cars in the Economy and Endurance run staged by the El Paso Herald.

The Studebaker Light-Six, competing against four other well-known makes of cars, covered the 1882-mile route across Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, which included paved roads, desert wastes and rough mountain trails, in the prescribed 12 days, using but 95 gallons of gasoline and six quarts of oil.

This is an average of 19.8 miles per gallon of gas and 813.65 miles per quart of oil.

Won Handsome Trophies.

The Special-Six carried away the honors for endurance against a field of other well known cars. The only two points scored against it were those assessed because the driver, who was unfamiliar with all the rules, purposely shut off his motor in a traffic jam. Otherwise, it had a clean score.

First prize for economy, won by the Light-Six, was a large, handsome plaque, while the endurance trophy was a beautiful silver loving cup. Both trophies were suitably inscribed.

Violations Penalized.

The entire course was covered by officials, press representatives and "checkers." All drivers were required to check their cars in and out at pre-determined "control points," each morning, noon and night. Strict A. A. A. rules governed the contest and penalties were assessed for all violations.

These two new records follow close on the heels of numerous equally impressive road victories for stock Studebaker cars in Florida, California, Pennsylvania, South Africa, the Syrian Desert and Australia.

The wide interest aroused by this economy and endurance run has influenced the sponsors to establish it as an annual event. Next year it will probably attract even a larger number of entries.

NEW HARMONY

There was an ice cream supper at the home of Mr. Harmon Headley on ost Saturday night, given in honor of Mrs. Headley's sister, Miss Fannie Vance. There was a large crowd out and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

Mr. Fletcher Carter and little son, Tommie, from Birmingham, are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Eugene Jaskson.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henley of Memphis, Tenn., are here on a visit to relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Huey Guinn of Sylacauga are expected to arrive in Clanton next Thursday to be here on a week's visit to the latter's grandmother. Mrs. Guinn will be remembered as Miss Ruby Cooper.

We have singing each second and fourth Sunday afternoon at Pleasant Grove, and extend an invitation to all who can to come and help us, especially all singers. We have our new organ now, and of course, our singing is lots better.

We have Sunday School each Sunday afternoon except the first Sunday, which is the regular preaching day, when our Sunday school is at 10 o'clock and preaching at 11 o'clock. We also have 30 or 40 minutes of prayer service after Sunday school and several have expressed this as being the most enjoyed feature of all.

It has been announced that Mr. Harvey Culp will preach next Sunday instead of Bro. Gibson, the regular pastor. Mr. Culp is one of our own boys and a devout church worker. So let us all extend to him a hearty congratulation for his past work and wish him God speed in the work that God intends for him to do.

7,000 ALABAMIANS WILL GET $185,000

DIRECTORS ALA. POWER CO. DECLARE 17TH QUARTERLY DIVIDEND—CHECKS WILL BE MAILED JULY FIRST.

Checks amounting to $185,000.00 will be issued to over 7,000 Alabamians in every quarter of the State on July 1st, when the seventeenth quarterly dividend will be paid on Alabama Power company preferred stock, according to Thomas Bragg, manager of the company's investment department who stated that the board of directors declared the 17th consecutive dividend at their last meeting. More than 10,000 Alabamians own Alabama Power company's securities of different kinds.

Mr. Bragg stated that customer ownership, the goal for which practically all utilities in the country are striving, is coming rapidly nearer for the Power company as a considerable percentage of all users of the company's power now own its preferred stock and this number is being augmented by leaps and bounds. "In purchasing stock in the largest Alabama corporation," said Mr. Bragg, "our citizens are not only investing in the company but in their state as our growth has been and will continue to be parallel with that of Alabama."

Mr. Bragg presented interesting figures showing that the Alabama Power company, despite the fact that it began marketing its securities but a short time ago, is now leading all public utilities in the customer ownership field and that, since 1920, when the stock was first placed on the market, each year has witnessed the doubling of sales over the previous year. He considers this a remarkable tribute to the confidence held in the company by investors and the public, and to the usual advantages offered in the stock.

REFUGE SINGING

The all day singing at this place the fifth Sunday was called to order about 9:30 by Chairman O. R. Robinson; prayer was offered by Rev. M. J. Parrish. Committee for arranging program was appointed as follows: T. N. Miner, G. C. Powell, L. F. Cleckler.

Program for the morning was J. W. Cleckler, S. L. Baker, R. M. Robinson; quartet by E. L. Powell, R. M. Robinson, L. F. Cleckler and Ethel Powell. After three songs by E. L. Powell, another quartet was rendered by O. L. Devaughn, E. L. Powell, Mrs. Maggie Robinson and G. C. Powell.

A 15 minutes lecture on Singing was made by Rev. W. W. Robinson, which was extra good. Adjourned for dinner; dinner being spread, everybody came up and ate until they were filled, and there was about half of the good eatables left. May God bless the good ladies for preparing such a fine dinner.

Called back to order at 1:30 by the chairman; J. E. Miner, O. L. Devaughn, W. H. Robinson; quartet by G. C. Powell, Ethel Powell, L. F. Cleckler, and E. L. Powell; L. F. Cleckler, C. H. Robinson, J. A. W. Mims; quartet by J. A. W. Mims, Evie Mims, R. E. Powell and Miss Beanie Mims; G. C. Powell, R. E. Powell, all directed three songs each.

Closed by a short but interesting talk and one good song by R. Robinson. Dismissed by Rev. M. J. Parrish.

We wish to thank all for their coming and helping. We are made to believe that the day was well spent in praising God in song service. We are forced to say that it was the best that we have ever had at this place. Behavior was good, with just a little exception, but by the good people and our wide awake officers, we will take care of all this by and by.

I would like to make mention of lots more, I will not consume any more space. Thanking the editor and all for their good help, will close, asking you to come again. There will be preaching here next Sunday.

J. E. MINER, Secy.

BIG FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION HERE A SUCCESS; BIG CROWD

People of County Come Together and Join in Celebrating July 4th.

Independence Day was fittingly celebrated at Clanton last Friday. Early in the morning people began to gather from all sections of the county, and by 9 or 10 o'clock all the east side of town near the high school grounds was working alive.

The first feature of the program was a speech by Dr. Frank Willis Barnett at 10 o'clock. Dr. Barnett spoke in his usual style of combining wit and humor with profound philosophy, attracting the attention as well as amusement of his many hearers. His speech was very instructive as well as entertaining.

The base ball game between Clanton and Mobile was called at 10:30, a large number of spectators availing themselves of seeing a good game, which resulted 4 to 3 in favor of the home team.

About 11:30 the attention of the gathering was directed to a speech made by Col. Bibb Graves of Montgomery. This noted gentleman with a military record and a literary standing as well made a fine speech which was altogether in line with the occasion. He spoke for forty-five minutes and held the undivided attention of a goodly number of earnest listeners. His speech was fine indeed.

Then came the biggest event of the day—the big free barbecue. A pile of nice juicy barbecued meat consisting of beef, mutton, and kid was spread out on the long table, and everyone present was invited to come up and help themselves, and to say the least of it, the hungry crowd did its part nobly, and they were well pleased too.

The greasy poll was there with top of it. All day, the boys and men dollar bills sticking all around the were doing their best to reach the money, but it was late in the afternoon before the goal was reached. Master Joe Luckie of Clanton, with the assistance of several other boys, succeeded in getting the money. The greasy pig was caught by one of the Mobile ball players. The pig was sold, bringing the sum of $4.00.

Another base ball game was pulled off between Clanton and Mobile at 2:30 in the afternoon, the result being 10 to 1 in Clanton's favor.

Another feature of the day was the motion picture, "The Life of Christ," which was shown twice during the day and once at night. This was a splendid picture and was seen by a number of people.

All during the day cold drinks, ice cream, candy, balloons, walking sticks and whips were sold by the ladies of the Methodist church, and from these operations a nice sum was realized which will apply on the new church building.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sims and two sons, Harry and James Coplin are leaving July 16 for a western tour. They will visit Mr. Sims' brother in Denver and a sister in New Mexico before returning.

Mr. Joe Dorough of Birmingham was the charming guest of Miss Mabel Baker last Sunday.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERTSON HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

A rather serious automobile accident happened just north of the Reese Mullins bridge on the highway above Clanton late Monday afternoon, when the big Buick Six driven by a Mr. Robertson, a hosiery salesman from out of Birmingham capsized. No one was in the car except the man and his wife, both of whom were sharply injured but not seriously. The two injured people were taken from under the crushed automobile and carried to the Central Alabama Hospital, where treatment was administered them. The automobile was brought into Ellis' shop, where repairs will be made.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, it is said, were on their way from Birmingham to Quincey, Florida.

S. L. HAWK IS SHOT BY A NEGRO LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

A posse of from two to three hundred men were scouring the woods in the vicinity of Wetumpka early Sunday morning in search of a negro, Luff Murrell, who shot and seriously wounded S. L. Hawk, city nightwatchman, late Saturday night.

The bullet tore through the fleshy part of Mr. Hawk's arm, while three other shots from the negro barely missed the officer, it was reported. Mr. Hawk was rushed to a Montgomery hospital where he was reported as doing nicely early Sunday morning.

Murrell, according to the officer, was known as a dangerous negro, and has a police record in several cities. According to Mr. Hawk, a negro approached him late Saturday night and requested protection from Murrell, who he said, had threatened his life.

Mr. Hawk, at the direction of the complainant, sought to place Murrell under arrest. As he approached the negro, Mr. Hawk turned the glare of his flashlight full on the accused man, who in turn immediately opened fire.

Only one bullet took effect, Mr. Hawk collapsing in his tracks. The negro then fled. Friends nearby rushed to the aid of Hawk and took him to the hospital.

Citizens procured the aid of bloodhounds from Speigner prison, and all fully armed, the midnight search got under way. The deep baying of the hounds as they picked up the scent echoed and re-echoed through the valleys surrounding Wetumpka.

The negro had approximately an hour's leeway, and until an early hour Sunday morning he had not been apprehended.

MAN ARRESTED FOR CELEBRATING FOURTH OF JULY

Sheriff Littlejohn and Harvey Foshee arrested Sam Paul Mims of Refuge community in Clanton on the evening of the Fourth of July. Sam was celebrating the national holiday, but he was celebrating it in the wrong way. All indications went to show that he had been drinking something besides lemonade. He was arrested for violating the prohibition law and placed in the county jail. He was later released on bond.

G. D. Retherford, police of Clanton, arrested Jim Thompson on the Fourth for violating the prohibition law. Jim was placed in jail, and was later released on bond.

CLANTON DEFEATS COLUMBIANA HERE 4 TO 1 MONDAY

In a fast ball game at the high school park Monday afternoon of this week, Clanton defeated Columbiana with the score of 4 to 1. The Clanton boys starred several times during the game. Julius Burnett pitched for Clanton and did excellent work. Jack Hayes bunted a ball with a man on second and a man on third; Columbiana fumbled the ball, letting the two men on bases come in and letting Hayes safe on first. Roper made a beautiful peg to the plate after catching a high fly in back left field, Columbiana having a man on third, who was out at home. Parrish also made a sensational catch of a hot liner while playing on third base.

Clanton plays Mignon Mills of Sylacauga this afternoon (Thursday). This club has the reputation of being one of the fastest in the State, they having defeated LaFayette two games last week. Two real ball clubs are going to tie up; you will miss a real game if you do not see this one.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM THE FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE ASS'N

To the Farmers of Chilton County:

We would like very much to see you personally and discuss together the problems having to do with our mutual welfare but as it is impossible for us to see everyone at this time, we ask you to take a few minutes of your time to read what we wish to call to your attention.

This is one of a series of letters that will appear in this paper for the purpose of bringing to your attention the Farmers Co-operative Association and outlining to you the possibilities contained therein for the farmers of this county. We come to you not as someone from a foreign field with a cut and dried formula which has been prepared by someone used to conditions entirely different from ours, and which you are asked to swallow whole. We come rather as your neighbors and permanent citizens of this county inviting you to consider if it would not pay you well to join hands with your fellow farmers in this county in an effort to improve the conditions under which we exist.

We realize that with a larger membership the association can be of greater assistance to each individual member and can render this assistance at a smaller cost to each individual member. As duly elected officers of the association we feel that it is our duty as well as our privilege to invite your co-operation in the great work of helping to bring about the economic independence of the farmer.

This organization was formed by a group of men who had been among the most active in the Chilton county division of the United Farmers during the past two years. The change was made by them because, in view of certain developments in the aforementioned organization, a change was necessary if we were to have an active organization of the farmers of this county, and they were unwilling to be without such an organization. They knew that it had been demonstrated that an organization of the farmers could be of inestimable help to the members. They believed that if they would form a home organization based on a practical business plan, operated at a reasonable expense to each member and directed by men selected by the members and under the control of the members at all times, that the farmers of this county would rally to such an organization and make it a permanent institution for the handling of their business.

The purpose of this organization is to market the products of its members to the best possible advantage and also to purchase for its members at wholesale prices such articles as its members wish to purchase thru the association and will include the following: Fertilizers of all kind, seed, feed, fruit trees, flour, salt, farm tools and other farm supplies.

In future articles to appear in this paper, we will outline to you in more detail the plans of the organization and the methods that will be followed in its operation.

Yours for co-operation,
J. S. WELDON,
W. B. COOPER,
R. M. FOSHEE,
Executive Committee, F. C. A.

NEGRO'S HEAD CUT OFF BY TRAIN HERE ON MONDAY NIGHT

Early Tuesday morning the body of an unidentified negro man was found under the overhead bridge across the railroad in north Clanton. The head of the negro and his right shoulder and arm were in one piece and the rest of his body in another. It is supposed that the negro lay down across the railroad track to rest and dropped off to sleep, and a train came along putting him to sleep forever. The negro appeared to be about twenty years old.

JUDGE REYNOLDS AND TOM ROCKETT VISIT IN BALDWIN

Judge L. H. Reynolds, accompanied by Mr. J. T. Rockett, left last Saturday morning for Robertsdale in Baldwin county, making the trip by automobile. Judge Reynolds went down there to make a Sunday school lecture before a community Sunday School Children's Day exercise which was held Sunday at the Union Hill School house, a few miles out from Robertsdale.

Both Judge Reynolds and Mr. Rockett report that they had a most enjoyable time while in the midst of those people in Baldwin county. There are a number of people in that community who are former Chilton county people, and the Judge and Mr. Rockett were very enthusiastically received. The former Chilton people now living there consist of the Campbells, Northcutts, Lowerys, DuBoses and Robinsons. There are around a hundred former Chilton county people living in that vicinity.

Judge Reynolds was booked to speak to the gathering at 11 o'clock, but he being a little late getting there, his part on the program was postponed until after noon. At 2:00 o'clock the judge spoke to the gathering on the subject, "The Benefits of a Sunday School." There were more than five hundred people present, and Judge Reynolds says they were the most responsive crowd of people he has ever spoken to. The judge was invited to speak before this meeting by Mr. C. M. Northcutt, a former Chilton county man, who is now Superintendent of the Sunday School at Union Hill.

Sunday afternoon the judge and Mr. Rockett went on down to Foley and from there to Fairhope, a noted summer resort, where they spent the night. They returned by way of Greenville, arriving back in Clanton Tuesday morning.

ANOTHER AUTO WRECK TUESDAY AFTERNOON

A frightful yet not severe automobile wreck happened on the Wesson Hill just north of town Tuesday afternoon when Claude Reynolds' Dodge car, driven by Miss Sara Luckie took into the bank on the side of the road. Reports say that the girl was attempting to pass a wagon on the hill when a front wheel of the car got in a small ditch. The steering wheel was given a quick turn to get it out of the ditch and the car lammed into the bank on the other side of the road, turning over on one side. The left front wheel, the right front fender and the rear right fender were demolished. One or two other girls were in the car with the driver, but none were hurt more than sustaining a scratch or two.

OSCAR GILES JUMPS IN RIVER WHEN OFFICERS APPROACH HIM

On last Thursday morning about 2 o'clock, a.m., Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee were waiting on the Chilton side of the river at Mims' Ferry, when they heard someone on the Coosa side call for the ferry. In answer to the call, a man got in a boat on this side and went across. The flat was already on the Coosa side. In a few minutes the flat came across with a Ford car and three men on it. The men tried for some time to land the flat but failed, so the officers came out and took charge of the car and one gallon, three pints of whiskey. Littlejohn went after Oscar Giles, who came across on the flat and who was the owner of the Ford car, but Oscar jumped in the river and swam up stream around the cliff called the Rock House. The officers did not chase him further, but getting the ferryman to come down there and land the flat, took the Ford car and whiskey and brought them to Clanton.

Oscar Giles was arrested in Clanton Thursday morning and placed in jail. He was later released on bond of $500.00. The car is in the possession of the sheriff.

CALVIN COOLIDGE, JR. DIES OF BLOOD POISON IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

President's Younger Son Succumbs After Brief Illness of Five Days.

Washington, July 7.—Calvin Coolidge, Jr., son of the President, died tonight at Walter Reed Hospital of blood poisoning.

The end came after the boy had battled with the utmost bravery and fortitude for five days against a disease which had racked his body with pain and sapped the reserve strength of his frail constitution.

President and Mrs. Coolidge, who had maintained constant vigil at the hospital, were at his bedside, hopeful and cheering and comforting their son to the last.

A sinking spell, it was said, had occurred which every effort was made to check through the use of restoratives and stimiulants.

For some time fears of such a development had been felt and the President and Mrs. Coolidge had not left the hospital for dinner. The report was the most serious which had yet come from the sick room.

With what success the collapse was combatted was not immediately apparent, no indication coming from the sick room. He survived sinking spells last night, however, and this gave a faint hope to anxious watchers.

The spark of life still was in the boy at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced, and he was partly conscious under a flow of oxygen.

Six physicians worked over him while the president and Mrs. Coolidge were at the bedside. Scarcely any hope, however, was held out for his survival.

In the face of repeated requirements of treatment today the doctors found themselves constantly assisted by the boy himself and they also found a refusal on his part to weaken under the pain of the manipulation and injections.

One of the observers said that it had never been necessary to do anything but to inform young Calvin, who has clung to consciousness, of the time and place where a given operation would bring pain.

A sinking spell, the fourth he had suffered in 24 hours, brought death. Notwithstanding the use of oxygen and other restoratives, the courage which had withstood crisis after crisis and had beaten death off repeatedly, was unable to meet the attack. The collapse began at 6:30 o'clock and he gradually sank into eternity. He died at 10:30 o'clock.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

Different

One of the educational advantages of travel is the easy way to learn how different in many ways are people and conditions in the various sections of our common country.

I have been very much interested in watching proceedings on a field across the street from our temporary home. First a good crop of hay was taken off it. Then a man with a pair of horses weighing about 1600 pounds each, with a plough cutting a furrow six inches deep and 12-ins. wide, which was turned upside down, not set on edge, went carefully over the field. Next it was harrowed both ways leaving a seed bed friable and even above the bed of humus in the inverted sod. The field was then carefully sown with millet, to be grown for hay. After sowing it was again harrowed both ways and finally a heavy roller went all over it leaving the surface smooth and even. Millet seed are round and smooth and about the size of red clover seed. The processes employed imbedded each particular seed in close fitting soil while underneath it the earth was loose for root growth and the decaying humus will furnish all the fertilizer needed. Today this field looks as if each particular seed has started to grow, and the farmer tells me he will get a good crop of hay off it in time to put in a crop of winter wheat or rye in the fall, which in turn will get the benefit of all the root growth of the millet for humus or fertilizer. What is the result. These farmers do not depend on one crop a year. What they grow is fed to stock, mostly high grade milch cows, which in turn are producers of milk and its products, but an abundance of the very best kind of fertilizer, which is carefully preserved and put where it will do the most good. These people do not have "all their eggs in one basket." They live in comfort and are not of the class crying to congress for relief. Their homes are well furnished, and their children attend fine schools. Last Sunday evening our son took us for a ride to Long Valley, about fifteen miles away. This valley was settled probably 150 years ago by a colony of Germans, each securing a broad tract of land, these homesteads have been handed down from generation to generation, each one practicing the best ideas in agriculture, and all the present owners are wealthy, but most of them remain on their farms amid the visible evidences of this prosperity.

During this ride we were shown an institution which is a fair representation of business methods a hundred years ago. In a small hamlet, just a few houses and a general store at a cross roads, also a small station on a railroad, there was a factory building, a machine shop, and a warehouse. The concern which is now conducted by decendants of the founder of the business, which consists of the manufacture of engines, turbines and castings. Their power is supplied from a small stream flowing through the valley where their works are located. Their products are widely known and I am told they are doing a prosperous business. One can readily see how these people can compete with big concerns located in congested cities where their help is often unskilled and expensive. Each man employed in this country factory has probably grown up in the business and knows well whatever he has to do. Power is provided at lowest cost, shop expenses are low, and labor strikes are unknown, insurance and taxes are not big items in overhead expenses. That is the way business used to be done. Many a prosperous town of today has grown up around some factory started when the place was small. And even today, small towns all over the land are seeking factories who want more room and better living conditions for their employees, and once they get started others follow so that within a few years many small towns have grown to prosperous cities.

As an instance of how this process produces wealth the writer, about fifty years ago bought a home in a small village 12 miles from Chicago. The land was valued at $500 for five lots 50x150; a short time ago that tract of land sold for $50,000; needless to say it had long ago passed out of my possession. In and around New York City, property, or land, values increase rapidly. Manhattan Island has become covered with buildings, and so great is the demand for space that it takes but a small bit of land to sell for a million dollars. The only way in which such an investment can be made profitable is to occupy sky space, piling story upon story hundreds of feet in the air and then rent the space at prices that would make ordinary country dwellers gasp.

I have just received detailed information of plans for the erection of a skyscraper church by a New York Methodist Episcopal church. The plans have been drawn and approved, and work will begin soon. The building will be located on the highest ground on Broadway at the intersection of One Hundred and Seventy Third Street and will be 24 stories high with a central tower topped by a cross that will be higher in the air than the top of the Woolworth building.

The space used by the church, within the building, will comprise an auditorium seating 2,200 people, Sunday school rooms and church offices. All available space on the first floor will be used for stores and offices for rent. Two corners of the building will be devoted to small apartments while the central tower will contain 500 rooms to be rented to young men students at low rental.

In the basement there will be a gymnasium, swimming pool, club rooms and a cafateria. The plans call for an expenditure of four million dollars on the entire project, and it is expected that the income will meet the running expenses of the church in lieu of endowment which many older churches have. Trinity Episcopal church is probably the richest in the world—it is more than 100 years old and owns acres of land in lower New York City, in the vicinity of Wall Street, which they rent on long term leases. These acres are now covered by many of the largest and most expensive buildings in the city.

Only yesterday I read in a New York paper of another Methodist Episcopal New York church, which is having plans prepared for a church and apartment building to cost $6,000,000 which they figure will pay interest, insurance, taxes, etc., and still leave about $20,000 annually for church expenses.

In this section of the country any project that does not involve millions is a small affair. This is a land of millionaires. Few of them ever did earn or make it by trade, but real estate owned by ancestors has converted thousands into millions, and there are hundreds of square miles of it—one does not need to wonder how it all came about.

Another thing "different" noted among the very wealthy is the fact that many of them, by their wills, leave their estates to be administered by Trust Companies, who pay the heirs stipulated sums, or shares of the income from the investment, and do not leave their millions to be squandered by the young people who have been brought up in luxury and never knew how to work or the real value of money.

The weather is most always a matter of interest, and it is certainly very different here from what we learn from reports that it is in Alabama. We have been told once or twice since we came here, "This is a hot day," but we failed to recognize it, because we were not uncomfortably warm. Most of the days are so cool that a little fire in the house would feel comfortable, and as for the nights our bed is equipped just about the same as the one we had all winter at home. There have been very few mosquitoes so far, and we sure do enjoy the entire absence of red bugs.

Oh yes, there is something else here that is "different;" maybe it has been mentioned in some of our Alabama papers. But the Democratic National convention is certainly unique. This great concourse of people were supposed to assemble here for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and vice-president.

Having closely attended, by radio, the proceedings of the convention, I am convinced that there was never a greater demonstration of the art of "How not to do it," and a determination to prevent by every known process the nomination of anybody. In the first place the rule that a successful nominee must have two-thirds of the votes of the convention, is "different" from the recognized Democratic rule for all kinds of mass meetings. This rule was originated by Andrew Jackson, to punish somebody who had peeved him because this man's wife refused to recognize as a social equal the wife of one of his political pets. And being Democrats the party have not changed it in a hundred years. This is the 11th day and the 14th session of the convention. The last ballot I heard was the 72nd which was but little altered from the first. The convention has descended to an acsemonious fight in which the chief element is human endurance. Surely this is different from what it should be.

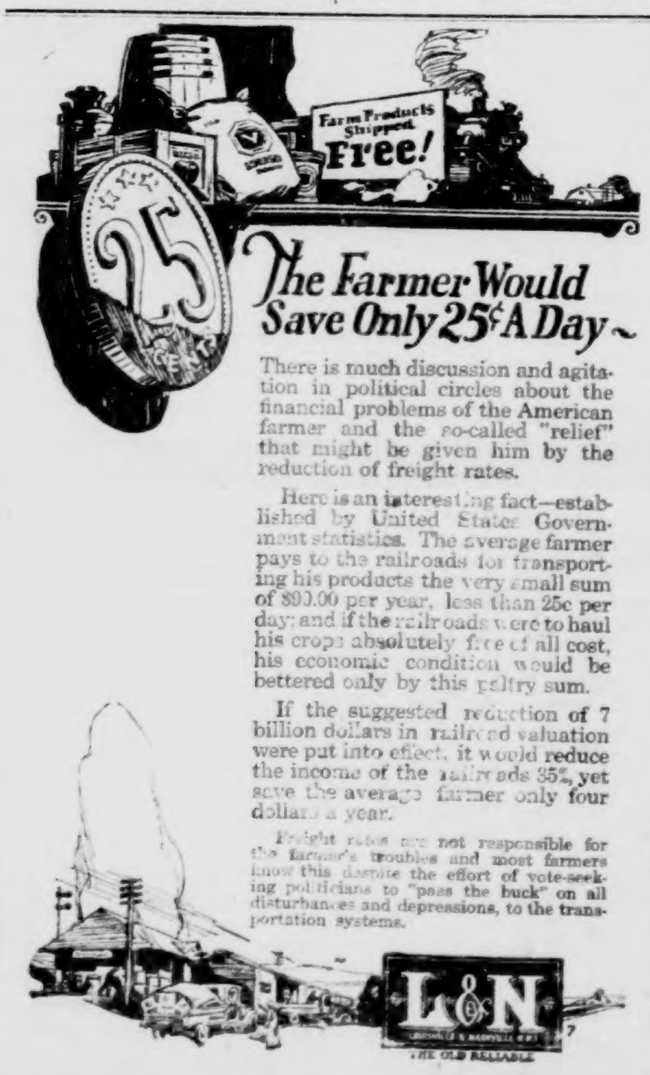
A HEN WITH A RECORD

Mrs. Annie Armstrong of Clanton is the owner of a hen which has a rather good laying record. The hen, says Mrs. Armstrong, lays an egg every day, every other one being a two-yellow egg and measuring about 7 inches around and weighing about a quarter of a pound. On the between days the hen lays a smaller egg, which is only slightly larger than ordinary eggs.

The pedigree of the hen is a cross between the Rhode Island Red and the Minorca.

Our friend, Mr. J. F. Anderson of Pletcher was in our office a few minutes Monday morning. Mr. Anderson said that the rain missed his section Sunday.



The Farmer Would Save Only 25¢ A Day

There is much discussion and agitation in political circles about the financial problems of the American farmer and the so-called "relief" that might be given him by the reduction of freight rates.

Here is an interesting fact—established by United States Government statistics. The average farmer pays to the railroads for transporting his products the very small sum of $90.00 per year, less than 25c per day; and if the railroads were to haul his crops absolutely free of all cost, his economic condition would be bettered only by this paltry sum.

If the suggested reduction of 7 billion dollars in railroad valuation were put into effect, it would reduce the income of the railroads 35%, yet save the average farmer only four dollars a year.

Freight rates are not responsible for the farmer's troubles and most farmers know this despite the effort of vote-seeking politicians to "pass the buck" on all disturbances and depressions, to the transportation systems.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells,—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes venus-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S. S. S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S. S. S. at once, and give yourself what you have been working for, for years.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

Future Champion?

SOME big frame of muscle and bone this fellow, isn't he? "Strength" is his middle name, although most of the wrestling fans know him as Hans Steinke—latest European contender for the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world. He's in this country, wrestling most of the runners-up for the world's title, which—at this writing—still rests securely on the brow of our own Ed ("Strangler') Lewis.

That Steinke, who is a German, possesses almost a superhuman strength has already been evidenced in his bouts to date. He decisively defeated both the huge Charley Cutler and Stanislaw Zbyszko—the latter the former titleholder—pinning their shoulders to the canvas in jig time. If he does as well with one or two others he must meet before getting a chance at the title, Champion Lewis is in for one of the toughest matches of his career.

Doctor To Make Race For Congress In Seventh District

GADSDEN, Ala., July 8.—Dr. B. S. Cooley of Gadsden was Tuesday afternoon nominated for Congress by the seventh district republican convention here. He defeated Ignatius Polisk of Cullman, by a vote of 104 to 17, the Cullman dellegation being the only one to vote for its candidate. Dr. Cooley is medical examiner for the war veteran bureau. The convention adjourned until 1 o'clock out of respect for young Calvin Coolidge.

George McEldery of Talladega delayed the work of selecting a candidate by making a speech in favor of a high tariff, asking the convention to name a man who has sense enough to vote for protection. His particular reasons concerned tariff on vegetable oil.

Hegeman Laboratory is Dedicated To Conduct War On Tuberculosis

The dedication of the Hegeman Memorial Laboratory at Mt. Mc Gregor near Saratoga Springs, N. Y., marks a step forward in the fight on tuberculosis, according to the medical authorities who participated in the ceremonies recently.

The new stone structure is a harmonious architectural feature of the sanatorium group of twenty-two buildings, which the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company maintains for the benefit of the sick among the 30,000 of its field and home office staff.

It was provided for by a fund of $300,000 in the will of the late John Rogers Hegeman, president of the company from 1891 to 1919, to whom the building is a memorial. "We hope—we even expect," declared Haley Fiske, now president of the company, "that some discovery will be made here that will be connected with the name of the donor and will be of lasting benefit to future generations."

Dr. Edward R. Baldwin, head of Trudeau Sanatorium at Saranac Lake and one of the foremost authorities on tuberculosis, welcomed the new laboratory into the field of scientific research. "The sanatorium represents what we know about tuberculosis," he declared. "The laboratory represents what we do not know, but must find out."

An interesting figure at the ceremony was the Rev. Father P. NL. Waggett, famous British scientist and theologian who studied with the great Pasteur, foremost scientist of the nineteenth century. "Only to-day we are beginning to understand the greatness of Pasteur," he said. "The world knows nothing of its greatest men, the unseen workers, secret, cloistered, hidden, world-forgetting, they pursue their studies tirelessly until one day the world learns that they have discovered a cure for some disease."

The Metropolitan sanatorium has been the chief means, directly through its treatments, and indirectly, through the instruction passed on to fellow workers by former patients, in reducing by 50 per cent the death rate from tuberculosis among the company's employees, within a period of ten years.

LETTER ON FORESTRY

Pines will come back on burned over land if there are any pine seed trees in the vicinity and if the burning is discontinued, according to a statement issued by the Alabama Commission of Forestry. Frequent fires usually result in replacing valuable pine growth with scrub hardwoods, such as blackjack and turkey oak. Many persons believe that after conditions have reached this stage the original pine forest has become permanently transformed into a scrub hardwood type possessing neither timber nor pasturage value. Southern pines, however, possess great vitality. If any seed trees are left and if fire is kept away from the area the young pines will make fairly rapid headway. Their thick bark which they acquire at an early age protects them against injury from the hardwood branches. In a comparatively few years they will grow up through the scrub oaks and shade them out and thus reclaim the land for valuable uses.

STEWED FISHES IS NEW BOUNTY OF THE COOSA

F. P. Ansley of Sylacauga has a tale that will put all efforts of followers of Izaak Walton to shame, and he brought his witnesses to The Age-Herald office to vouch for the facts as they were related.

Mr. Ansley believes Providence will provide for the hungry and especially on the Fourth of July. His belief was rewarded when he had failed after an all-day effort to land enough of the finny tribe to provide himself and family with a good picnic dinner while fishing on the Coosa river near Talladega.

"I was just about to give up," Mr. Ansley said, "when I noticed a bulky white object waddling about near the surface of the water and not far off shore.

"At first I couldn't make out what it was, but knew it was something alive and grabbed my dip net and succeeded in landing a five-pound blue ca. During the afternoon I hauled in three of the same variety, weighing in al about 15 and 20 pounds and al anded under the same circumstances.

"Believe it or not, they were all drunk," Mr. Ansey explained, "just pain drunk, and I set about to locate their source of supply. I found it not far up stream and it evidently had been in operation just a short time before. At any rate there were drunk cat fish in the Coosa river on the Fourth day of July and I got a good mess of 'em. The water edge where the sour mash had been poured was alive with fishes, drunk and getting drunk."

"No, sir, I'm not a very strong prohibitionist," Mr. Ansley continued.

MUST GROW ITS OWN FOOD

Atlanta, Ga.—(Special.)—"Few people in the South realize the enormous drain there has been on the South's wealth through the steady food and grain buying during the past fifty years. What's the greater pity of it is the fact that most of this money comes directly out of the farm pocket," said H. G. Hastings, of Atlanta, Chairman of the Farm and Marketing Bureau of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

"For fifty years or more the cities and towns of the Cotton Belt have been furnishing food and grain to the farmer instead of our farmers feeding the cities and towns. While the cities and towns have had the best of this unnatural business, it has really impoverished both country and city."

"As nearly as can be ascertained, my own state of Georgia has spent in the last 25 years not less than two and one-half billion dollars for food and grain from the North and West, real hard cash money that ought to be sticking in our farmers' pockets. That money is gone never to return.

"It is no over-statement or exaggeration to say that twenty-five billion dollars of the South's money has gone that way in the last fifty years. It was good, hard worked for farm money. What we have been doing is spending our lives growing cotton, trading it off for bread and meat at no profit to ourselves.

Are you paying the doctor for the screens you don't have? Many a farm is doing just that thing.

Observers at the Democratic convention complained that there was too much speech-making. Similar comments have been heard of the conduct of Democrats in the Senate Chamber at Washington. It looks like a windy campaign.

A widely broadcasted photo of Temporary Chairman Harrison of the Democratic convention shows him in the pose of a well known vendor of patent medicine, with finger pointed skyward in prophetic warning. The posture seemed to fit him quite naturally.

With Calvin Coolidge to do the thinking and Charles G. Dawes to do the putting over, these two will make a strong executive department at Washington. The Democrat or the radical who can beat these two in November has not stuck his head up yet, and he won't because there is no such animal.

It took the Democrats five days to determine the issues upon which they would make their appeal to the country. If the Democratic leaders themselves don't know what they are fighting for how is any other citizen expected to cast an intelligent vote for their candidates.

Various group leaders at the Democratic convention threatened to bolt the party and go over to the radicals unless their candidate won the nomination. It remains to be seen whether they will carry out their threat, but the incident shows that much of Democracy's support is inspired by individuals rather than by party principles. In other words, Democracy's leaders seek a government by men rather than by laws.

It will be interesting to hear Cotton Tom Helflin when he comes back to Alabama this fall campaigning in the interest of Al Smith or McAdoo or whoever the Democrats nominate—if they ever nominate anyone. Wonder if he will mention that New York Alternate, a negro, who came out on the platform with Frank Roosevelt to enter Al's name for nomination. We wonder also if he will tell how he himself was denied a seat in the Democratic national convention. That Democrat convention has got the dear old Rooster in a mell of a hess.

AUSTRALIA ARMS

Australia is preparing to construct two 10,000-ton cruisers. It is contended that the Washington armaments treaty does not adequately safeguard the peace of the Pacific, and that the British navy was so weakened by that treaty that it cannot extend suitable protection to the dominions. However that may be, the fact remains that foreign navies are being strengthened while our own remains at a standstill or worse. Fortunately there is pending in the Senate, having already passed the House, a bill to add eight cruisers of the 10,000-ton class to our fleet and to modernize some of the older battleships. The passage of the measure at the last session was prevented by the dilatory tactics of Democrats, but it is hoped to put it through when Congress reconvenes.

WHY IS IT?

UNCLE TED'S BED-TIME STORIES

A Man of the People For the People.

"It certainly is an exciting time," said Jack as he and his sister were eating supper. "I wish I were old enough to vote next November. It must be a great feeling to step right into a booth and be able to cast your vote for the man you really want. I know I'll be proud to do it when I am old enough."

"And so will I," answered Ruth. "I can vote when I'm old enough too. You aren't the only one."

"Sure you can but whom would you vote for if you could vote right now?" asked Jack.

"Why, I don't know," answered Ruth. "I guess I'd have to think about it for a while."

"Well, of all the stupid things I ever heard of," replied Jack. "What in the world would you wait for? You know very well that there is only one man to vote for and that man is Calvin Coolidge, who now occupies the big chair at the White House."

"Why certainly, Ruth," spoke up Uncle Ted who had been listening to the conversation from the other room. "It seems to me that Jack is quite right. We have in the White House today a man who is one of the safest presidents the country has ever known. He has shown in a hundred different ways that he can be trusted to carry the country on through the next four years not only with safety but in a manner to make every American proud of these United States.

"Now the Republican party has nominated this man as its candidate at the polls next November. No, Ruth, there should be no reason for you to hesitate as to the man you would vote for if you were old enough to go to the polls next fall."

"Won't you please tell us a story right now?" asked Ruth.

"Yes, Ruth, I will go right ahead and tell you some things that perhaps I have not told you in the past about Calvin Coolidge. As I have told you before, this man of the common people was born on July 4, 1872, in a farm house among the rugged hills of Vermont. He was just a plain New England boy on a plain farm, receiving his early education in the district school of the village. He worked for his father before and after school and while they were not poverty-stricken they had few luxuries. The Coolidge family had to be careful of their money. This necessity has been carried through life by Calvin Coolidge. When he was governor of Massachusetts he refused to sign a bill raising the salaries of legislators from $1,000 to $1,500. He is as careful of the public's money as he is of his own. He knows the plain people and understands their problems because he has always been one of them.

"When he was Mayor of Northampton he cut down the city debt just as today as president he has demanded that taxes be cut down and the national debt reduced. There are many ways in which Coolidge is much like Lincoln. They were both born in a small house in the country. They both have been noted for their common sense, their honesty, strength of character and close knowledge of what the people want and need. Calvin Coolidge is not a dreamer. He is of the strong stock of people who do things instead of talking about them.

"You remember me telling you about Mother's Day not so long ago. I thought of President Coolidge at that time, for those who have seen his office know that ever since the day he took up the work left unfinished by the late President Harding, a picture of his mother has occupied a prominent place on his desk. That picture has always been before him. It was on his desk when he was Mayor of Northampton. It was there when he served the people of Massachusetts as Governor and it was there when he sat behind the Vice President's desk at Washington.

"All of these things tell you what a man really is, kiddies. He has shown in every move of his home and official life that he is a thorough, honest, home-loving American citizen. As you know, he studied law in a law office in the town where he was afterwards elected mayor. He studied hard and when he began to practice was known by all those with whom he came in contact as honest, careful and thorough.

"You know that President and Mrs. Coolidge have two sons. Their home life is the finest you can imagine. Calvin Coolidge was married in 1905 to Miss Grace Anna Goodhue, who at the time was a school teacher. At the University of Vermont, from which she was graduated, Mrs. Coolidge was a leader in all important affairs and one of the most popular girls in the University. Their two sons are fine, unspoiled boys. You couldn't help but like them both.

"I was reading an interesting thing the other day. It was the speech made by Judge McCamant, of Portland, Oregon, who placed the name of Calvin Coolidge before the Republican convention four years ago for Vice President. At that time he received 674½ votes to 146½ by his nearest competitor. One thing that stands out in the speech of Judge McCamant was this:

" 'He is big enough and sound enough to be President of the United States, should the occasion require.'

"Judge McCamant little thought then what the result would be but he did know the man whom he was nominating. Calvin Coolidge, unlike many men in the past, took the work of the Vice Presidency very seriously. He studied the problems of the Nation earnestly with the result that when he was called to the White House he was ready to handle the job well.

"Now he is the nominee on the Republican ticket as a result of the fact that the voters want him kept in the White House. What finer type of man could we have at the head of our Nation?

"Bed-time is here so off to your dreams.

"Good-night!"

WHEN BAKER WHITEWASHED

Senator Harrison declares it is the duty of his party to drive corruption from government. Does he think it could be done any better under Democratic auspices? Wherever there has been evidence to indicate fraud or misuse of power, President Coolidge and his Republican Administration have taken every proper means to punish the guilty and protect the people from the results of their wrong-doing. Mr. Harrison cannot say as much for his party attitude toward transgressors among its own members. Charles E. Hughes investigated the aircraft scandal and recommended the court martial of those responsible. They were all whitewashed by President Wilson on recommendation of Secretary of War Baker. It remained for a Republican Department of Justice to investigate the notorious war frauds and bring indictments against almost a hundred former officials and other individuals who had mulcted the Treasury of millions of dollars. As a cleanser of government, the people are not likely to select a party that has been the chief inspiration of corruptionists.

Mr. Homer Lowe of Birmingham is on a visit here to relatives.

PEOPLE OF TODAY AS COMPARED WITH PAST

"People today can appear in public with a perfectly innocent countenance after having committed sins which a few years ago would have completely ostracized them from public and social favor." The above, or words to that effect, were spoken from the Baptist pulpit in Clanton last Sunday night by Rev. Ezell, and the assertion is just as true as truth itself. The sense of shame, which is one of the greatest assets of the human race, has almost become a myth. The time when the young people, the girls included, would blush at a slight remark by another, has seen its day, but now-a-days, instead of displaying any sense of modesty, the second person strives to spit out something just a little worse than the first one, and generally succeeds. In society the young men desire "action," and what it takes to satisfy this desire, the girls just even have it. The sense of shame in the human race is fast becoming totally extinct.

For an error to be corrected, first a thorough study of the cause of the error should be made. The question may be asked, "Why is it that people now-a-days have so little sense of modesty and shame?" Our answer to this question is that the on-coming generation is cultivating the repression of these senses. The sense of shame in a person cannot be expelled in an instant or even in a day or even in a year, but it can be totally expelled by constant practice and by continually venturing just a little further and the next time just a little further.

One Sunday afternoon some boys in a car were driving up the street when they met two young girls walking. The girls were asked to take a ride. At first the girls flatly refused, saying that their mothers would not allow it, but by thirty minutes of persistent persuasion, the young girls boarded the car and sped away. At first they would not think of it, but after a while their conscience was overcome and they did.

What are some of the most prominent modern indulgences which serve to lessen the sense of modesty and shame in people? To this question we will answer—the mixed swimming pool, automobile riding, the moving picture show, and the dance hall. From infancy on, mothers used to teach their girls that it was not nice for their nude person to be exposed to men and boys. But what do you see today? In the swimming pools may be seen children six or seven years old and from that up to grown folks with two-thirds of their body naked, mixing and mingling together, in open view of the prying eyes of dozens of onlookers—the same sights often deck a great part of the motion pictures which are shown in our theatres.

Even after permitting their children to indulge in these forms of pastime, the parents of today wonder why it is that their children are so devoid of modesty and care so little for what they do and say in public. This wondering is useless. The reason is right before our eyes almost every minute of every day. Just as long as our young people are allowed to indulge in the things that tear down modesty and shame, just that long the human race is going to drift deeper into shamelessness and immorality.

We do not like the idea of preaching pessimism, but we have got to face the facts or else the result is going to be disastrous. Just think, if you can, where the race will be two decades hence if the present pace is continued. There is only one remedy to these conditions, and that remedy lies within the hands of the parents of the coming generation. They can better conditions or they can remain silent and let the race go to the dogs. Which are we going to do?

With the advent of cool weather in the fall, usually in October and November, boll weevils begin to seek protection against the winter. The majority of the weevils leave the fields and fly to the nearest shelter which may be adjoining timber, grassy turnrows or buildings. The direction of their flight is governed partially by the prevailing winds. The movement takes place when an average temperature of 60 degrees is reached.

The movement into winter quarters is not sudden and many weevils may be found in fields after a majority have left. In some cases it has been observed that more than a thousand weevils have been found in fields as late as December 18.

The most favorable places for wintering are those in which there are the most even temperatures and where at the same time the conditions are comparatively dry. Spanish moss probably is the most favorable shelter weevils obtain, but many survive the winter outside of the region in which Spanish moss occurs, in grass, stumps, cracks in the ground and similar places. Very few are ever found in cotton seed.

During the winter the weevils take no food and ordinarily do not move from the place they have hidden but sometimes during very warm spells a few in the exposed places may be seen crawling or flying about.

The weevil passes the winter in the adult stage. When frosts occur immature stages still may be found in the squares or the bolls. If the food supply is sufficient many of these immature stages continue their development at a very slow rate and finally emerge as adult weevils. Thus, there may be a somewhat continuous production of adults during the winter. Ordinarily, however, this is not the case, since the frosts that destroy the cotton generally kill the grubs.

The number of weevils living through the winter varies greatly from year to year as shown by observations made at many localities for a number of years. In one year only one weevil out of a hundred survived, but, in another case, twenty out of each hundred lived through. The latter figure is undoubtedly exceptional and it appears that under average conditions throughout the greater part of the cotton belt not more than five weevils out of a hundred lived over to attack the crop the following year. The largest number lives through where there is heavy timber.

Enough survive any winter to cause heavy damage if the spring and summer favors.

Certainly—It's Bobbed

AGE need not deter any woman from having her hair "bobbed" and "shingled"—as they call it—nowadays. Look at Mrs. J. M. Hawkes of Los Angeles, in the above photograph. Though she's old enough to be the grand-mother of most "flappers"—her hair is bobbed and, what's more, she's mighty proud of it.

"Women should maintain their youthful appearance and one of the best ways is to have their hair bobbed" says Mrs. Hawkes, who is at present so-journing in Europe. We're inclined to agree with Mrs. Hawkes. Her bobbed hair is really becoming to her.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

The Troy Messenger and the Troy Herald, two daily papers have been combined and will be published hereafter under the name of the older and longer established paper, the Troy Messenger. The Troy Daily Messenger was established in 1892 by W. J. Blan, father of S. H. Blan, secretary of state, and has been in publication since. The Daily Herald began publication last September. The Herald will be published twice a week as formerly and the weekly Messenger will also be published. M. N. Dodson, an experienced newspaper man, will be editor of the Messenger and B. G. McCalman of the Herald.

Building activities in Bridgeport continue. J. Luther Troxell has recently begun the erection of two more business buildings on the lot formerly known as the Hoffman block. When finished this will give almost an entire block of new brick buildings on one of the city's principal streets. All the completed buildings in the block are already occupied. The E. P. Jacobs building, another brick structure, is nearing completion.

Coffee county commissioners have appropriated $1,800 per annum for farm work, beginning July 1. The appropriation means that R. G. Arnold, who has been county agent since Jan. 1, will continue his work. At a recent meeting 75 farmers urged the commissioners to vote the necessary money voicing appreciation of the work Mr. Arnold is doing. Until this year there has been no county agent in Coffee County for several years.

P. W. Wolford, who earned fame in Birmingham by organizing a suit club, is back in the county jail after serving a six-month term at the Trussville convict farm. Wolford, who was convicted on charges of embezzlement in connection with his alleged dealings with Birmingham persons, now faces a charge of failing to refund money which he is said to have taken from local investors.

R. B. Evins, of Greensboro, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, has certified to Secretary of State S. H Blan names of all party nominees in the Democratic election of May 13 for state, district and circuit offices. These names in due time will be certified by the secretary of state to all probate judges in Alabama to be placed on the ballots for the general election in November.

Hundreds of Sacred Harp singers and music lovers from all over east Alabama assembled at the Cleburne County courthouse on the Fourth for the annual singing program, some of the best leaders in Alabama and Georgia being present for the all-day exercise. A basket dinner of the before-the-war type was served on the lawn at the courthouse at the noon hour.

A citation issued by the Alabama public service commission to the Fairhope Single Tax Corporation some time ago, relative to conditions and maintenance of wharves owned by the corporation at Fairhope, was dismissed, it being shown that the wharves had been voluntarily repaired by the single tax corporation.

A. E. Jackson, superintendent of banking in Alabama, has signed the certificate of merger affecting the Tennessee Valley Bank and the Alabama Bank and Trust Company of Cullman. The latter institution now becomes a part of the Tennessee Valley Bank, made up of 16 branch banks with the parent institution at Decatur.

Any Birmingham police officer who receives 75 demerits in a year will be subjected to trial before the civil service board of inefficiency and untfitness as a police officer, and expulsion from the force, it is shown in the rules of the merit and demerit system, inaugurated in the Birmingham police department.

The number of insurance agents licensed in Alabama to June 30 was 11,685, according to figures furnished by Frank N. Julian, state superintendent of insurance. The total for the present year will probably exceed the number licensed in 1923 by over a thousand.

The lowest temperature ever recorded in Mobile in the month of July was reported July 3 when the thermometer showed a reading of 62 degrees. The mark establishes a new record for the 50-year weather bureau history there.

State Superintendent of Banks A. E. Jackson has issued a call to all state banks for statement of condition at the close of business on June 30. The call is the first to be issued by the state superintendent of banks this year.

Papers of incorporation were filed for an abstract business to be located in Russellville under the name of the Franklin County Abstract and Title company, Inc., and has installed a camergraph which will photograph the real estate records.

George Ragsdale, head of the police training school at Louisville, Ky., visited Birmingham to confer with officials of the civil service board in connection with plans to establish a similar school in the Magic City.

With present unfinished work expected to occupy 60 days more, it is unlikely that further road work will be undertaken in Jefferson county this year, Claude A. Rogers, county highway engineer, said recently.

An active good roads association which has as its object the securing of more state and federal aid for road projects in Madison county, has been formed at Huntsville.

ACCOMPLISHMENT UNDER THE BUDGET

Washington, July 7.—The success of the Budget System as a factor in keeping down expenses and in establishing harmony between the Executive Branch of the Government and the Legislative Branch, was impressively shown by Congressman Madden of Illinois, Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations. In an address in the closing days of the recent session of Congress, Mr. Madden reviewed the record of the Republican Congress which came into power in March, 1919, when Wilson was still President, and after showing that the Republicans had saved the nation more than $3,800,000,000 by cutting demands made by the Democratic regime, he took up the Budget matter, saying:

"The new Congress at once realized that the conduct of the finances of the Government according to safe principles could not be accomplished without the inauguration of a systematic procedure. It accordingly prepared and presented to President Wilson the Budget bill. His veto of that legislation postponed until the advent of the present administration the enactment of that important measure. The new law was signed by President Harding on June 10, 1921. Its operation has covered the period of three full fiscal years of expenditure and the preparation of the budget for the next fiscal year.

"The accomplishments under the new system have exceeded the expectation of those who championed its installation. The outstanding principles are, namely: (1) The placing upon the President of the responsibility for the submission of co-ordinated expenditure and revenue proposals to Congress; (2) The business control required to be exercised by him over expenditures after the appropriations have been made; (3) The centralization over the making of appropriations in a single committee in each the Senate and House of Representatives; and (4) the creation of a centralized and independent audit of accounts.

"To the late President Harding and his first Director of the Budget, General Dawes, are due great credit for the successful inauguration of the executive phase of the system. To President Coolidge and the present director, General Lord, who have followed earnestly and courageously the standards set by their predecessors, merited praise should be accorded. The success of the Budget is in direct proportion to the interest taken by the President of the United States in shaping its proposals and the Republican incumbents have begun and carried on a procedure that has not only placed the finances of the country on a sound basis but has given to the Nation a permanent system that will inure to its benefit in the future.

"The change in the procedure in the Senate and House to accord with the changed methods in the executive branch has worked equally well. The wide margin between Executive estimates and congressional appropriations has narrowed. The past year and the year just closed find the appropriations made by Congress not more than $10,000,000, less than the proposals submitted by the President. The co-operation of the executive branch of the Government with the legislative branch under the Budget system has been the chief factor in the success in keeping down the appropriations and expenditures of the Government and making possible the natural sequences of such efforts, namely, tax reduction and diminution of the public debt."

SOCIALISTS VOTE PLANK ON KU KLUX KLAN IN CLEVELAND CONVENTION

Order Specifically Condemned In Final Resolution; Intensive Campaign to Be Launched.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 8.—A resolution condemning the Ku Klux Klan by name was adopted by the socialist national convention late today.

The resolution adopted was a substitute for a resolution condemning the klan by name, but which was referred back to the resolutions committee by the convention because it was connected with a declaration on the economic condition of the negro.

The substitute resolution when brought in, said:

"We emphatically condemn the Ku Klux Klan and every other effort to divide the workers on racial or religious lines and to affect political purposes by secret or terroristic methods."

A substitute was offered along the same lines, but omitting specific mention of the klan, the explanation being made that the party was concerned only with economic and not religious issues. A bitter fight broke out over the merits of these two resolutions.

Convention Adjourns.

The convention adjourned sine die at 6:40 p.m.

Eugene V. Debs today was elected national chairman of the socialist party of America, a new office, by the national convention. Too ill to continue his activities with the national executive committee, Debs was given the new place by acclamation after Norris Hillquit, New York, had explained that the federal election laws required the election of such an officer.

A committee was appointed to wait upon Debs at Elmhurst, Ill., and convey to him the affectionate greetings of the convention.

Plan Publicity Plan

An intensive advertising and publicity campaign will be inaugurated by the committee on organization.

The advertising expert would prepare copy for use in announcing meetings and organization plans. His efforts would be supplemented by a publicity manager who would prepare material or use by the campaign managers.

The committee further suggested that "socialists of prominence broadcast by radio" appeals for funds and excerpts from speeches and the platform.

Local organizations were urged to form LaFollette clubs "and other sympathetic organizations."

WHY IS IT?

99TH BALLOT SHOWS LITTLE CHANGE FROM DEMOCRATS' FIRST

Democratic Convention Votes 99 Times Without Naming Candidate For President.

News from Madison Square Garden in New York City Wednesday morning stated that the 99th ballot had been cast in the Democratic National Convention without a candidate being named yet. The 99th ballot Stood: McAdoo, 335.5; Smith, 353; Davis 210; Meredith, 37. It is not known what will be the ultimate outcome of the Democratic convention. The leading contenders for the nomination seem to be relentless in turning loose what strength they have, consequently a two-thirds majority by any one nominee is impossible.

In regard to the Democratic convention and the Democratic party Mr. Raymond Clapper in the Birmingham Age-Herald has this to say:

"This amazing political drama is moving swiftly toward its climax. Whether the Democratic convention will end in a tragedy for the party, or a happy reconciliation is a matter of doubt at this hour.

"Representatives of the various candidates are in conference now seeking, without much sign of progress, to find some way of breaking the deadlock between William G. McAdoo and Al Smith, which has run through 99 ballots without signs of cracking.

"They believe that the convention is fast becoming disgusted with the spectacle of two candidates who are willing to see the party smashed rather than abandon their ambitions to get the nomination.

"The party is now engaged in an internal conflict, second in intensity only to that which shook it on the eve of the Civil war, when it was trying to go on half slave and half free.

"If McAdoo and Smith hang on as they have been, no one can forsee what disaster will overcome the democrats. If both let go now, they will hold the party together, even if chances of winning the November election are gone.

"Only the most optimistic democrats now believe that the country would entrust its welfare for the next four years to a group of leaders who have made such a bungle of their party convention.

"What a spectacle for the shade of Woodrow Wilson, but five months gone! The party, which, seven years ago, led the nation through the greatest military adventure of all tme, and then came within a hair of reshaping the political structure of the world, has now sunk to such depth that it deserts the League of Nations—not because it is opposed to it, but for reasons of political expediency. It has ignored the economic conditions which have sent one out of four farmers in some sections to the poorhouse, in order to indulge in a barber shop argument over religion. Lastly, it has submitted weakly to the supreme humiliation of seeing its two leading candidates drive the party to the verge of destruction because of their own ambition."

Weak Nervous

"I was weak and nervous and run-down," writes Mrs. Edith Sellers, of 466 N. 21st St., East St. Louis, Ill. "I couldn't sleep nights, I was so restless. I felt tired and not in condition to do my work. I would have such pains in my stomach that I was afraid I would get down in bed. . . My mother came to see me and suggested that I use

CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

I felt better after my first bottle. I had a better appetite. It seemed to strengthen and build me up. I am so glad to recommend Cardui for what it did for me. I haven't needed any medicine since I took Cardui, and I am feeling fine."

Nervousness, restlessness, sleeplessness—these symptoms so often are the result of a weak, run-down condition, and may develop more seriously if not treated in time.

If you are nervous and run-down, or suffering from some womanly weakness, take Cardui.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE NAMED FOR ALABAMA COLLEGE CAMPAIGN

Montevallo, Ala.—Prominent men and women from all parts of the state have been appointed by Gov. W. W. Brandon to serve on an advisory committee to give aid to the Alabama College Drive for a Million Dollar expansion fund.

Leaders in every section of the state have signified their willingness to cooperate in this effort of the state college for women to meet the needs of the young womanhood of the state by offering adequate educational advantages at the lowest possible cost.

The aim, according to Governor Brandon, is not only to collect a million dollars but also to secure 50,000 subscribers who are residents of Alabama and who will be more vitally interested than ever in the welfare of the institution by reason of the fact that they have given their money to help build it. Although a million dollars is worth just that much, the Governor says, the good will and active interest of 50,000 citizens of Alabama is worth at least a thousand times more to an institution which has as its main service to the youth of the state.

The following men and women have been asked to serve as members of the advisory committee by the Governor:

Ex-Governor B. B. Comer of Comer, Ex-Governor Charles Henderson of Troy, Ex-Governor Thomas E. Kilby of Anniston, John W. Altman of Birmingham, Mrs. E. D. Brown of Birmingham, A. H. BOLL WEEVIL FIGHT IS NOW UNDER WAY

Appearance Greater Than Expected, And Organized Control Work Is In Progress.

Auburn, Ala., July 7.—The annual boll weevil fight is now on in Alabama—and in the South. It is being waged with more intensity and on a larger scale than in any previous year, because leading farmers thruout the State are convinced that artificial control measures properly applied pay handsome dividends.

In larger numbers than was expected boll weevils have appeared in many counties. Infestations as high as 30 per cent have been reported, while a 10 per cent infestation is sufficient to make poisoning profitable where soil and crop conditions would indicate a yield of one-third bale per acre, or more. Thus the imporaance of poisoning is obvious.

Reposts fnom county agents are that Alabama farmers have bought and are buying calcium arsenate in much larger quantities than usual, and a special effort is being made to apply it at the right time and in the right way. Proper machinery is being used and the general ambition of farmers seems to be to destroy the early appearing weevils because the death of one weevil now is equivalent to several hundred a few weeks later.

Bankers and business men are encouraging poisoning, and are co-operating with farmers in doing so. Another encouraging feature is that fake boll weevil catchers and poisons are meeting poor encouragement in Alabama. Growers are staying close to official information as given them by the county agents. Under their leadership effective and efficient control work will be done.

Mr. W. H. Robinson of Providence was in Clanton a while Monday morning. Mr. Robinson reported that he had a fine rain Sunday which was indeed welcome.

Mr. O. B. Thompson was in Clanton recently. Berney is now living in Ensley, where he is back on the his old job with the T. C. I. He is looking fat and fine, having greatly improved in health since last here.

FARM FACTS

The next Alabama State Fair will be held in Montgomery, November 3-11. It will be an opportunity for each county in the State to show to the world what it produces and what it can produce.

Better get after Bill Boll Weevil. Give him calcium arsenate in dust form.

Frank Rasch, a very successful Lauderdale county farmer, says that "the way to make money farming is to build your land in the winter and work it in the summer." The best way to build land in the winter is to plant hairy vetch seed in the fall. Now is a good time to see the county agent about ordering vetch seed.

Successful home gardeners say that now is the time to begin work for a fall garden. It is the best time to plant rutabagas. Plant Irish potatoes now for the fall crop, and make successive plantings of snap beans and sweet corn. A statement from Auburn says that the Big Boston variety of lettuce should be planted now.

"Every farmer and farm boy should take at least one farm tour with his neighbors this summer to see what other farmers are doing. County agents will arrange tours."—Prof. L. N. Duncan, Auburn.

BOOTLEGGERS IN SHELBY FALL OUT AND ONE KILLED

Three Suspects Held After Body of Calera Man is Found In Outhouse.

Columbiana, Ala., July 12.—Fear that he might inform upon them led a gang of moonshiners to kill N. L. McElroy of Calera, officers believed Saturday in investigating the finding of McElroy's body.

McElroy, after being killed, was placed in an outhouse near Calera and the building set on fire.

Three men have been arrested in connection with the case. Will Carden and son are in Shelby County jail here, while Reggie Lucas was taken to Birmingham for safekeeping. They are alleged members of the gang of moonshiners.

The slain man was missed about ten days ago. A search had been made for him and this search finally led to finding the body.

It is believed, however, that the body had first been put in the water, but that the slayers became afraid of detection and attempted to destroy all evidence of the crime by burning the body in the outhouse. The body was identified by means of a ring. The hands and feet were tied with wire.

At the request of Solicitor John J. Haynes, Walter K. McAdory, head of the state law enforcement department, has sent Agent Tom Williamson here to work on the case. Williamson reported Saturday that he was accumulating evidence to show that dissension in a "liquor ring" was brobably back of the killing of McElroy. More arrests might be expected, he intimated.

MORE TO AUTO WRECK

Last week The Union-Banner carried a sketch of the automobile wreck of Claude Reynolds' car, driven by Miss Sara Luckie, which occurred Tuesday afternoon of last week. Since last week we have learned some more of the facts of the wreck.

According to an eye witness to the incident, the Dodge car, driven by Miss Sara Luckie and in which were two more girls, was coming down the Wesson Hill at a very reckless speed. Mr. Frank Massey was coming into town with a two-mule wagon heavily loaded with cinders. Mr. Massey heard the car coming and pulled to the right side of the road. The car ran into the rear of his wagon, breaking his coupling pole, knocking part of the cinders off the wagon and causing the mules to run away. The mules were going at a fast speed with the rear wheels of the wagon out of alignment, the coupling pole being broken. The mules were not stopped until they had crossed the fill at the foot of the Wesson Hill. Mr. Massey, who was still on the wagon, was in a very dangerous predicament, since he had no way to guide the wagon and his brakes were put out of commission. It was only a miracle that the heavily loaded wagon did not run off the fill and probably kill the driver and the mules.

Reports say that after the wreck was over the Dodge car was turned completely around and was headed back up the hill.

REV. EZELL AND FAMILY ON THREE WEEKS VACATION

Rev. S. J. Ezell, wife and son, left the first of this week for a visit of three weeks to Mrs. Ezell's relatives in Virginia and the preacher's folks in North Carolina. Rev. Ezell will be away from his pulpit at the Baptist church for three Sundays.

Rev. G. A. Hornady will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday at 11 o'clock. The following Sunday, two State workers will be in Clanton and take charge of the regular hour's service. On the third Sunday which the pastor is away, Rev. P. G. Carter of Geneva will fill the pulpit. Complete announcements will be made later.

The Spiritual Side Of Co-operation

By John R. Hutcheson, Director Extension Service.

There are many people who profess to believe that co-operative marketing associations are purely business organizations, but those who have thought the matter through know that they have a distinct spiritual side, which must be reckoned with in the final analysis. Co-operation is simply getting rid of little petty jealousies and selfishness and doing unto others as we would have them do unto us. Some of our greatest business men have demonstrated the power of religion in business. The late John Wanamaker is a suitable example.

Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture recently made this statement: "I regard true co-operation as applied Christianity. For almost three years the men and women, boys and girls on the farms have been passing through the most distressing experience in our agricultural history. It has been a time of trial, privation, worry, and discouragement—a time which ought to challenge the sympathy and earnest endeavor of every man who truly wants to serve the best interests of American agriculture, which means the best interests of the nation. Surely in such a time personal ambition, pride of opinion, irritations, growing out of clashing personalities, should be forgotten. Each man should serve where he best can serve and all right-minded men should co-operate in the task of restoring agriculture to a condition of happiness and prosperity."

Co-operative marketing associations are business organizations and every member should play his part in a business-like way. Members must not expect the impossible. They must remember that every organization has to meet and overcome obstacles, especially in the early stages. Co-operative associations are composed of human beings. If every one of these human beings is still so human as to expect to get without giving, the association is doomed to failure, for this is not co-operation. Some one has said that "God is with the co-operatives." This is only true when the co-operative is composed of real co-operators who take a real interest and have real faith.

Up to the present time most of our co-operative associations have met with considerable success. Some of them have failed from lack of intelligent management on the part of members and officers. The largest co-operative association in Virginia at the present time is the Tobacco Growers Association. This association has been in operation about two years and has succeeded not only in maintaining prices in face of a big crop, but has even increased the general price paid to those both in and out of the association. Even the enemies of this organization admits this. Yet, we find a number of selfish members who are dissatisfied because they did not get more. They are sore because "Bill Jones," who is not a member of the association, may have gotten one cent more per pound than they did. They forget that their association made the extra cent for Bill Jones possible. Or, if they remember it, they are so selfish as to be willing to give up the whole thing rather than see some one else get more than they do. Such members are not real co-operators. They are found in every association. They have never learned the spirit of giving as well as taking.

There are quite a number of members in every co-operative association who do not take enough interest to really study their association and who are easily discouraged. They hear of great problems confronting their association, they listen to propaganda put out by its enemies, they magnify difficulties, and lose faith. They are like the children of Israel in the wilderness who wanted to turn back when ever they met with serious difficulties. They do not have faith in themselves, their neighbors nor their God. Let any such think what would have happened to the children of Israel if Moses had listened to the brumblers and weak-kneed instead of having faith. What would have happened to our country in its early history if George Washington had listened to the discouraged ones at Valley Forge? Instead of being discouraged when things do not go exactly right, let us follow the example of Stonewall Jackson, who, when confronted with a particularly difficult task, made this significant statement, "You can do whatever you earnestly undertake," or that of William Cary, who rose from a cobbler's bench to a professor's chair by the practice of his life's motto, "Expect great things from God; attempt great things for God." This is the spirit which has inspired every man who has ever accomplished anything, and this is the spirit which must inspire the leaders and members of our great co-operative associations if they are to continue to succeed.

Let us remember that no great movement was ever put through without great sacrifice and great faith, and let us all join that group of co-operators whose number is daily increasing, who keep in close touch with their association, attend local meetings at least once a month, who criticise their association when criticism is necessary, but never in the presence of a non-member, who go to headquarters for information, reason with their weak brothers and do everything else in their power to make their association a success. When we have done everything humanly possible, we can then have faith and "EXPECT GREAT THINGS."

STATE BUREAU OF MARKETS CHIEF TO VISIT CLANTON

The Farmers Co-operative Association has arranged to have Mr. N. H. Brown, chief of the Bureau of Markets, attend a meeting to be held in the court house in Clanton Saturday, July 26th at 1:30 p.m.

Mr. Brown, in his address at this meeting, will discuss the marketing problems of the farmers of the county and state and give us the benefit of his study and experience in marketing work. As chief of the bureau of markets, he is acquainted with all phases of the marketing situation and his suggestions will be well worth the attention of every farmer in the county.

Strawberry production and marketing will be discussed at this meeting by Mr. J. M. Smith of Thorsby and Mr. W. T. Bean of Clanton. Also some time will be devoted to outlining the purposes, form of organization and plans of operation of the Farmers Co-operative Association.

Everyone is urged to be on hand at the opening hour so as to get the full benefit of the meeting. We are especially fortunate in being able to have Mr. Brown visit us and should make the most of the opportunity given us by his presence.

Remember the date, Saturday, July 26th. Everyone is invited and will be welcome.

Local meetings for the purpose of explaining the plans, purposes and methods of the Farmers Co-operative Association will be held at the following places on the date stated:

Cross Roads, 2 miles south of Thorsby, Friday night, July 18th.

Collins Chapel, Monday night, July 21st.

Enterprise, Friday night, July 25.

All members in these communities as well as all other farmers who are interested in co-operative buying and selling should attend these meetings. It is planned to start these meetings early so it will not be necessary to stay late, therefore, everyone is urged to come early.

FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION.

REVIVAL BEGINS AT FRIENDSHIP NEXT SUNDAY, JULY 20

The annual revival at Friendship church, a mile and a half north of Clanton, begins next Sunday at 11 o'clock. Rev. M. W. Mims of Verbena will assist the pastor, Rev. Robinson, in the preaching. Rev. Mims is now taking a summer course at Howard College, but he will stay away from his work there to preach at this revival.

The public has a cordial invitation to attend these services. Preaching will be held twice daily, the morning services beginning at 11 o'clock and the evening services beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Bro. Mims is a very interesting and instructive preacher, and it is hoped that the people of Friendship Community will join in making the meeting a success.

Prof. Huett is teaching a singing school at this place, it having begun on July 7th. Prof. Huett reports a nice little singing class and that the school is making splendid progress. Prof. Huett will have his class in trim shape to do the singing for the revival.

PREACHING AT MASONIC HALL SUNDAY

Announcement is made that Rev. A. C. Windham of Wetumpka will preach at the Masonic Hall next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock for the Clanton Presbyterian church. Rev. Windham recently graduated from the Theological Seminary, and is a very able preacher. The public has a cordial invitation to attend.

Prof. and Mrs. J. W. Moore left last Friday for a few weeks' visit to their daughter, Mrs. W. P. Crump and Mr. Crump in Jacksonville, Fla. Before returning they expect to visit St. Augustine and other points of interest in the Land of Flowers.

OFFICERS GET NEGRO WITH GALLON AND HALF OF BOOZE

Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee arrested Bob Burden, negro of Lawley last Friday near county line at Shoults School house. The negro had a gallon and a half of corn whiskey, which it is alleged he was bringing into Maplesville. Burden was brought to Clanton and placed in jail. He made bond a day or so later.

The officers found and destroyed two barrels of beer one mile west of Thorsby last Saturday morning. The still had not been placed there up to that time.

ALABAMA FARMERS ARE PREPARING TO TAKE ANNUAL TOUR

Will Go in Parties to See What Other Farmers are Doing and Get Practical Information.

Auburn, Ala., July 14, 1924.—Following several busy months in the fields, Alabama farmers are now beginning to complete cultivation and thinking of a rest period during the hot summer days. Cultivation has been strenuous and a vacation is now in order.

Reports from county agents show that large number of farm tours or excursions will be conducted during the next few weeks. In conducting them the same general plan will be followed over the State. Working with their county agents farmers decide where to go to receive the most information suitable to their conditions. They do so in automobiles, making a complete tour in one day. If they go to distant points a two-day tour is necessary. Arrangements are made in advance with the farmers who they expect to visit, and in this way the best results are obtained from the trips.

Several years ago the Alabama farmers began taking tours of this kind, and reports are available of those who have made very important changes in their farming systems as a result thereof. With a definite purpose in mind, practical information is always obtained and definite improvements follow.

Aside from being an opportunity for study and for learning, such tours have a decided advantage, serving as vacations for farmers and their friends.

PRATTVILLE MAY GET THE STATE HIGHWAY YET

So Chairman Rogers of State Road Board, Back from Washington Says.

Montgomery, Ala., July 7.—There is yet a chance that the Birmingham-Montgomery highway will pass thru Prattville instead of being connected with that city by a spur from the main highway, Chairman John A. Rogers of the State Highway Commission, who returned Saturday from Washington, D. C., says.

Mr. Rogers conferred with T. H. McDonald, chief of the United States Bureau of Public Roads regarding the proposed diversion of the highway through Prattville. He says he did not get a definite decision but that the bureau still has the matter under advisement.

Some time ago the highway commission approved the diversion of the Birmingham - Montgomery highway through Prattville on the condition that the extra cost of construction amounting to around $32,000 be born by Prattville. The condition was met but the proposition was turned down by United States District Engineer R. E. Toms.

Chairman Rogers said he explained to the chief of the federal roads bureau that the diversion of the highway contemplated is vital to the future of Prattville, which is the largest town between Clanton and Montgomery. Eight of Alabama's ten congressmen and both senators are supporting the proposal for diversion of the highway through Prattville, Senator Rogers stated.

OFFICERS GET 2 MEN AND STILL IN COOSA COUNTY

Lonnie Patterson and Dixon Lewis were brought to the county jail in Clanton Tuesday afternoon by Federal Officer Gillespie, State Officers Thompson and Lynch, and Deputy Harvey Foshee. The officers arrested the men while they were operating a 75-gallon copper still just across the River from the mouth of Walnut Creek. The still was destroyed together with 350 gallons of beer and three or four gallons of whiskey.

The officers say that two or three more men were at the still when the bunch was flushed, but all got away except Patterson and Lewis. Both these men are natives of Coosa County.

B. IGO GOT AWAY BUT DIDN'T GET FAR

The report goes that, B. Igo, having skipped two $500 bonds for violating the prohibition laws in Chilton County a few months ago, was taken up in Birmingham. Chilton County officers were notified to come after him, so Deputy Bill Culp went up and got Igo, bringing him down on No. 9 Wednesday morning. Culp started on up the street bringing the prisoner to jail, but Igo decided that he preferred going some place else, so he tore out up by Wade's ice plant and on up through the lumber stacks with Bill in after him. The other officers here heard of what had happened and joined in the chase. Thirty minutes search located Igo hiding under Maddox's warehouse. He was dislodged from his temporary hiding place and brought and placed in the county jail. The brazen attempt of Igo to outwit the officers gained him freedom for only a few minutes.

How to build up your Weight

TO be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger also is more economical.

Efficient Radio Service

It is not only what we see that gives us information, our ears also perform a very considerable aid in the process. This aid has been wonderfully reinforced in recent years by the great development of Radio service, which obviates the necessity of personal presence in the vicinity of the initiating force of sound, but makes sounds clearly audible at an incredible distance.

The very efficient service rendered by the Bell Telephone and Telegraph company from Station WEAF in New York during the great Democratic National convention at Madison Square Garden, has been a revelation to millions of people who have been permitted to "listen in" to hear the proceedings. Their powerful equipment covers a radius which includes Washington, D. C., Boston, Buffalo, Pittsburg, Atlanta, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Saint Louis, and Kansas City, and so disitnct was the delivery of messages to these important centers that they could be easily relayed by their less powerful equipment to thousands of cities, small towns and homes within their reach.

At a recent electrical convention it was decided to change the name of this service from "Broadcasting' to "Radiocasting,' as better descriptive of the operation.

For about a month past the writer has had access to a fine Radio receiving set within fifty miles of WEAF Radio Station. Only once within that time has effective service been interrupted and that by a terrific electrical storm. He has distinctly heard all the proceedings of the Democratic convention even to the 103rd ballot with its accompanying landslide which gave John W. Davis the nomination as a candidate for the Democratic party for president. He declined to sit up until 2 a.m. to hear the nomination of Gov. Chas. W. Bryan for vice-president.

Now that the convention is over it will be possible to avail ourselves of this great service, in features of entertainment and instruction that will ble of great benefit to people in millions of homes scattered over a wide area.

For instance, last night the "announcer" informed us that a part of their program would be an hour of dinner music by an orchestra in the Waldorf-Astoria Rose Room. With a little stretch of imigination one finds himself seated at table in this luxurious dining room, amid the fashionables from everywhere, listening, and eating, during an hour to exquisite strains of music which came as real as if he were in the Rose Room itself. One can realize the scene about as much better as he would a base ball game by having a seat in the bleachers instead of reading about it in the newspapers. He becomes a part of of it, there is no separation apparent, one seems to be strictly "in it."

Even the young children are not overlooked in the daily program of the Radio, just before their bedtime a soft voiced lady appears to tell them Fairy stories and legends suited to their age and capacity to absorb things beautiful and wonderful. One must faintly understand child nature who would deprive them of these flights of imagination which stimulates the mind to visualize things that are beyond their little noses.

After the little folks have had theirs, we can often "sit in" comfortably at a concert, in which appear a great variety of artists with a program intended to enable every one in the audience to find something that suits their particular ideas of what is good, in music. Or it may, on occasion, be an opera program that a more limited audience can enjoy. Just here is where the educational feature of Radio is apparent. People will listen, partly because they have nothing else to do, or in hope something of their kind will come along soon, all at once some particular part seems mighty good to them, they "sit up and take notice" before the concert is over there may have come to them two or three beautiful selections, well within their comprehension, which stimulates a desire to hear it again or something of a like nature. A new door has been opened and the path is easy to follow along until one becomes really fond of a higher class of music, than jazz and ragtime which has recently had a big run.
